COMBINED SEA PATROL TO PREVENT AGGRESSION

War Danger is Averted By Anglo-German Plan To Guard Naval Patrol

Incident of Attack on 'Deutschland' Closed Says Berlin

RUSSIA IS SILENT

Capt. Eden And Von Ribbentrop Agree on Naval Unit

(By The Canadian Press)
London—Foreign Secretary Eden and German Ambassador Von Ribbentrop were understood to have agreed on a proposal to combine the Spanish patrol fleets of Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy in a coordinated attempt to prevent further indiscriminate acts as the bombing of the German Battleship, Deutschland by Spanish Government warplanes, Premier Baldwin in the House of Commons reflected an easier feeling over Spain.

Rome—Premier Mussolini returned to Rome by plane from his conference with the German War Minister Von Blomberg. He arrived from Berlin, flying by plane. The newspaper Il Piccolo urged "a punitive campaign" to "suppress the Spanish Government, but it was reliably said the paper did not reflect the Government's views.

Bombing Incident Closed
Berlin—Germany, having exacted an "eye for an eye" in the retaliatory bombing of Almeria, declared the Deutschland bombing a closed incident.

Almeria—The known dead as a result of the German Naval bombardment reached 74, with additional sales said the dead would reach 200 when debris of the wrecked town is cleared.

Valencia — The Spanish Government charged Germany and Italy with waging a "war of invasion" against the Spanish Republic.

Paris—Political circles and the press regarded the danger of war as having been averted.

Moscow—The newspaper Izvestia said the Almeria bombardment "unquestionably increases the menace to peace". No word of the Kremlin attitude to the conference of United Comrades of Protection London, June 1.—(CP)—Herald—A plan to have the entire International fleet patrolling Spanish coasts Act as an answer against any (Continued on Page 10)

Why the Weather?

(By Major A. H. Tilesson, Gardens Editor, The Star)

The wet fall this month, and indeed that of late spring also, occurs largely with thunderstorms. Gardens must be watched between showers. In the North the gardening season will continue to plant sweet corn, cauliflower, and now even cabbage turnips and late beets for winter use. Start peppers also, even though it may not done last month. Set out celery plants, after loading the ground. In the South set sweet potatoes for table use, and more parsnips and vegetable oysters. Continue planting beans, thrice through the season, and cucumbers for pickling. For next winter plant beets and rutabagas.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, June 1 (CP)—A moderate depression, centred over Cayce, has a shallow trough extending southward to the lower lake region, while pressure is low over Northern Ontario and the northwest States. Showers and thunderstorms have occurred in parts of Quebec also in parts of Ontario and the Maritimes provinces, and the weather has been cooler in Northern Ontario and Quebec. Elsewhere temperature is about normal in the Western Provinces.

Lake Superior—Moderate winds; fair and comparatively cool today and Wednesday.

Lake Huron—Moderate winds; fair and comparatively cool today and Wednesday.

Northern Ontario—Moderate winds; fair and comparatively cool today and Wednesday.

Western Provinces—Mostly fair today and Wednesday with seasonable or little lower temperature.

Sir Robert Borden Shows Improvement

Ottawa, June 1. — (CP)— Sir Robert Borden, Canada's Wartime Prime Minister, rallied this morning, his physician Dr. Campbell Laidlaw today, Dr. Laidlaw spent most of the night at the bedside of his distinguished patient, suffering from a heart ailment.

"Sir Robert is considerably improved today," Dr. Laidlaw said and added he had not given up hope the veteran statesman would recover. He has been confined in his home for several days.

ALMERIA VISTA OF DESOLATION

One Projectile From Warship Rips Into Roof of Hospital

Almeria, Spain, June 1.—(AP)—Estimates of the cost of some 90 persons killed and 200 injured when wrecked on this Mediterranean port ranged as high as 200 dead and injured.

The most conservative figures was 74 dead and 150 injured, but hospital townsfolk said they expected the total would exceed 200. The number or injured taxed Almeria's resources for aid yesterday and, moreover, one of the projectiles had ripped into the city's largest hospital.

Almeria was a vista of desolation. Thousands of survivors of the dawn attack feared to spend another night in the havoc-ridden city and fled to the surrounding hills.

Long lines of men, women and children in autos and carts wound inland, jamming the roads from Almeria in all sumptuous. Some sought refuge from farmers; many spent the night in the hills.

Some of Almeria's narrow, twisting thoroughfares were blocked by masonry and blasted timbers. Streets that still bear the stamp of Moorish planning piled with wreckage 20 feet high. Crews of workmen dug into the heaps in a search for dead.

Customs Collections Total $107,293 For Month of May

Attributed to continued increasing general betterment of business through the country, customs returns as collected as the local Port of Customs and Excise at Canadian ports over the same month a year ago. Without exception, Canadian ports reporting today showed higher figures.

Amusement Tax

Origin of the Amusement Tax of Ontario which has been abolished, with collections amounting to $2,000,000 has been explained by a local resident. It was enforced for the first time on April 3rd, 1917 as a War Tax, which was believed by amusement house owners to be just a temporary one. It was continued after the war, however, under the new name of Amusements Tax. Toronto was the first time since 1911 theatre goers as well as patrons of other amusements will purchase only single tickets for the performance.

EARHART OFF ON ROUND WORLD HOP "JUST FOR FUN"

Leaves For San Juan, Puerto Rico, in Fine Take-off

HAS NAVIGATOR

Says She Will Return To Miami if Plane Goes Amiss

San Juan, Puerto Rico, June 1.—(AP)—Amelia Earhart landed at San Juan at 2.30 p.m. E.D.T. today on the first hop of her proposed "just for fun" flight around the world.

Miss Earhart, flying at a record she called humorously, doubled the 1,033 miles from Miami in seven hours and 33 minutes.

The slim aviatrix waved a bare hand and "Putt" and then gunned the big, twin-motored monoplane across 2,200 feet along the runway before she lifted it easily into the brilliant tropical dawn.

Miss Earhart planned to cruise the 1,033 miles to San Juan at a leisurely 150 miles an hour to test her motors, and then the half-hour would return to Miami if anything went amiss.

B. C. VOTERS TREK TO POLLS TODAY

Candidates Number 186 And Liberals Have Largest Number

Vancouver, June 1.—(CP)— From the wooded shores of Abel Creek to the slopes of Zagadelchino Mountain, voters converged on polling booths today to select British Columbia's next legislature.

Only a few straggled trek from the shadows of Zagadelchino to vote in the sunshine of Vancouver's northernmost Atlin riding and there won't be many from the last of the communities—Telegraph Creek and nearby Lake Windermere in the Fort St. John constituency in southeastern Cranbrook riding, but they will help swell the poll, which is expected to top 250,000 registered voters. Candidates number 186.

WEDDING PLANS NOW COMPLETED

Ceremony to Take Place Thursday Morning at 11.30 A.M.

Monte, France, June 1 (AP) —The Duke of Windsor's wedding will take place Thursday at 11.30 a.m. (6.30 a.m. E.D.T.)

He said the change was arranged in order to give ample time for the wedding breakfast.

The Duke and Mrs. Wallis Warfield also turned their attention to final plans for their honeymoon. The Duke bought three English yachts, apparently to take along with him as he and Mrs. Simpson continue his newest form of exercise.

Meeting has almost ceased golf and tennis in his interest and he is understood to be the best golfer and expert in handling the implement.

Pastry cooks in the chateau kitchens were busy "building" a wedding cake that will stand 19 inches high. The cake will be decorated with 83 forget-me-nots, representing the couple's combined ages.

The first of the wedding guests to arrive were Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Carter, from London. They did not appear on the official wedding list and an indication had been given they were expected.

Eight Foot Tamping Pole Blown Thru Man's Chest

Nick Mullick Injured Tamping Cap in Drill Hole on Highway Work Near Gilmour, Lies in Precarious State at Belleville Hospital

Madoc, Ont., June 1.—(CP)— Both lungs punctured by an 8-foot pole which ripped through his chest, Nick Mullick, 45-year-old highway worker, was rushed to Belleville General Hospital in a critical condition yesterday. Authorities hold little hope for his recovery.

Mullick, working on highway construction on 33 Gilmour, 20 miles north of here, "was preparing to dynamite a section of the road" say when a fuse exploded. The pole he was using to push the lighted fuse into the dynamite was hurled upward by the explosion, passing through his chest.

The injured man was given first aid by fellow workmen while Dr. Madore and 10 miles from Madoc to the scene and rushed the man to Belleville.

Mullick was still reported to be in a very critical condition by Dr. O. H. Meikle, who is attending the injured man in the hospital today. "It is nothing short of miraculous that the man survived the excruciating pains that must have followed, as the pole was driven with such force that it penetrated right through the right side of the man's chest," explained Dr. Meikle as he further explained that the tamping pole, to penetrate Mr. Mullick's lungs, must pass his neck and each inches in diameter.

Mullick injured into a state of unconsciousness after receiving first aid at the scene of the accident, but regained consciousness during the night. Little hope is held out for his recovery however.

Quebec Cheesemen Interested In Forthcoming Exhibition

Translator in Demand at Local Office Translating Rules

QUEBEC TROPHY

A French translator was in demand at the local office of the Central Ontario Cheesemakers' Association today for the purpose of translating from English to French rules, entry forms and prize lists of the Dominion-wide cheese exhibition to be held in Belleville next to the Province of Quebec.

One thousand of these entry forms and prize lists have been requested for that Province by M. H. Hinton, Chief of the Quebec Department of Agriculture, who in a communication received by the office of secretary the cities support in the project, the first of its kind to be held in Canada.

The communication further states that a generous number of the instructors of that province was called, at which the outline of the contest exhibition was given.

In a second letter received from Mr. Hinton, secretary-treasurer of the Central Ontario Cheesemakers' Association, a request for a challenge trophy for highest scoring cheese from Quebec Province was made.

"The Government of Quebec has been very generous in the past and the consensus of opinion is that the trophy should remain," J. G. Leclair, who was a pioneer cheese manufacturer of Quebec," stated Mr. Hinton.

It is hoped to have Mr. Leclair in Belleville to award the prize to the successful cheesemaker in person.

BUILDING PERMITS TOTAL $14,000

Much of New Construction Made Possible by Home Improvement Plan

Number of Building Permits and estimated expenditure on new construction for the city reached new high levels for May, just ended, since the year 1934. New work under Section 37 of the Home Improvement Plan loans has been directly responsible for the total. The total is tabulated by City Engineer Chas. Mott through building permits which were issued. Total construction expenditure has been recorded at $14,000 for the month, the following permits listed:

Anna Armstrong, home alterations, 190 George St., $1,500; Mrs. Stewart Lyon, residence, 15 Lyon Avenue; residence, South George Street, $800; Chas. Hailey, Herchimer Avenue, additional to Public Education, housing over boiler house, $225; R. Allen, kitchen addition, 90 Dundas East, $350; Bruce and Hagerman, store front, $200; Milton Batchford, residence, Ponton Street, $1,750; Wm. Holley, garage, Church St., $150; Mrs. Hamilton Barker, cottage, Johnson Street, $600.

Estimated construction costs according to permits issued: 1935, $11,300; May 1934, $27,790; May, 1935, $1,725.

70,000 Motors Cross Border at Windsor Over the Weekend

Windsor, Ont., June 1 (CP)—Exceeding expectations, an estimated 70,000 motor cars crossed the international arches across the border at the several ports of entry in Windsor during the Memorial Day week-end.

Saturday, it was predicted there would be approximately 50,000 automobiles handled, 15,000 more than on Monday, Decoration Day, but while official figures for all ports of entry for Monday are not yet available there is little doubt but that the estimate was exceeded by at least 20,000.

300 DELEGATES AT CONFERENCE

Little Boy Travels From Africa to Visit Relatives in Brantford

Brantford, Ont., June 1—(CP)— From the heart of Africa, John S. Hough, three, has arrived here to live with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Macdonal.-The child was born in Brantford while his parents, missionaries in Africa, were here on furlough.

Taken to Africa when six months old, the boy contracted blackwater fever, and doctors decided he should be sent back to Canada. He left Africa early in May in the care of another missionary and his wife.

W. SCHREIDER IS FOUND GUILTY ON THEFT COUNTS

Remanded For Sentence by Judge Deroche Until June 8

MISSING CAR KEYS

Judge States Evidence Circumstantial But Facts Stood Out

Committed for trial before his Honour Judge O. E. Deroche at the County Court House buildings this morning, Wallace Schreider, found guilty on all counts of the theft of an oxy-acetylene welding torch from the Canadian National Railways, the theft of a car lamp and bracket, heater and numerous other articles, property of the Canadian National Railways of this city, and the theft also of an automobile from Ed. Shapiro of Belleville, was bound over for sentence until Tuesday morning, June 8th at ten o'clock in the morning.

In his summation before address to the jury, Crown Attorney Deroche commented, that while the evidence presented by the prosecution was in the nature of purely circumstantial evidence, the circumstances stood out strongly in the testimony heard. The missing car keys, for example, taken from the garage in which the car was stored; the numerous marks on the body of the wrecked and abandoned car, made with a file, one inches in diameter, when a hammer would have been found to the place of the accused. His work as body worker at the garage where he was employed and knew Shapiro's dealt.

Question of Screw Driver

The screw driver found in the abandoned car, apparently home made and of exceptional material found in and about the Canadian National Railway shops where accused worked at one time.

"These facts are sufficient to convict, but there have been other factors which have been also submitted.

"A car door handle found on the premises matching the door in question. A piece of beading also found at his home, which matches pieces, which were lying about the garage, when found. Door handle door found....I do not think the (Continued on Page 10)

THE KING KNIGHTS STANLEY BALDWIN

Now Designated as Sir Stanley Baldwin, K. G.

London, June 1.—(CP Cable) The King today knighted Stanley Baldwin and invested him the insignia of Knight of the Garter.

The correct designation of former Premier Baldwin now is Sir Stanley Baldwin, K.G. He will not be Earl Baldwin of Bewdley, as many of the Earldom have been issued under the Great Seal. When this will be done is not known.

A few minutes afterward His Majesty invested Mrs. Baldwin with the insignia of Dame Grand Cross of the British Empire.

A private investiture was also held in the morning for old servants of Buckingham Palace and others long associated with the King and Queen.

Among those honored was Inspector William Hill who for eleven years was resident inspector of Police at the Palace. Events covering the late years of the reign and illness of George V, two royal marriages, death of George V, abdication of Edward VIII and the Coronation of George VI. He was invested with the silver medal of the Royal Victorian Order.

A similar medal was awarded Albert Seymour Churcher, who was for seventeen years Wardrobe keeper at the Palace and before that served on the Royal Yacht Victoria and Albert.

BOOM OF BOAT BUCKLES

Newport, R.I., June 1 (AP)—The main boom of the big, blue-hulled sloop, Endeavour II, one of two defenders competing for the America's Cup, buckled today, crippling the racing yacht as she prepared to set out for a trial spin.

Failure to 'Disavow' Attack by Mundelein Brings Gov't Accusation

Berlin Irritated as Attack is Left Unanswered

CURIA IS BLAMED

Normal Relations With Vatican Endangered Says Note

Berlin, June 1.—(AP) —The German Government today formally accused the Vatican of endangering normal relations with the Reich by failing to "disavow" the critical speech of George Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago.

A note, handed to the Holy See by Diego Von Bergen, German Ambassador to the Vatican, said it "is the Holy See must realize that its unexpected and incomprehensible attitude in this matter, so long as it remains unremedied, has removed the pre-conditions for the normal course of relations between the German Government and the Roman Curia."

The Roman Curia is the body of congregations, tribunals and offices through which the Pope governs the church.

Von Bergen's Departure

The Foreign office said the note did not mean that relations with the Vatican were now being broken off. Von Bergen, it was explained, was leaving Rome on his usual summer vacation, which it was stated, "he will not go back for some time."

Earlier the German Government had made formal representations to the Vatican against Cardinal Mundelein's speech, in which he called Germany's anti-Jewish campaign "an Austrian paper hanger and a poor one, at that" and assailed German trials of priests and lay brothers on immorality charges as "atrocity propaganda".

To those representations, it was pointed out here, Pope Pius had received a verbal reply which later was confirmed in writing. It has not been published, but obviously it was not satisfactory to the Germans.

To-day's note said:

The German Note

"The German Government, in the interest of German-Vatican relations, has moved today to take up through its ambassador in the ex-pectation that the Vatican State would be concerned with averting injury to relations between Germany and the Curia as the result of Cardinal Mundelein's attacks.

"The German Government assumed as matter of course that the Holy See would disassociate itself from the Cardinal's utterances, rectify them and express its regret, as has been customary in cases of international intercourse.

"To its sharp surprise and deep astonishment, however, the Holy See deemed it to be below its dignity to make representations unanswered on the grounds that the Cardinal's statements contained only allegations constituted, at most, a retort in kind.

In Eyes of the World

"The German Government is convinced that the Holy See and Immediate responsible attitude in this matter, so long as it remains unremedied, has removed the pre-conditions for the normal course of relations between the German Government and the Roman Curia."

The Roman Curia is the body of congregations, tribunals and offices through which the Pope governs the church.

Mr. Roy said that not even a pane of glass was broken during the General Motors strike, despite the fact that many newspapers stressed the menace of the C.I.O.

Strike Settlement Planned for Today

Windsor, Ont., June 1 (CP)—Another attempt to settle the strike which has curtailed production in Walker Metal Products, Limited, since May 13, will be made today when a committee from Local 195 of the U.A.W.A. meets with H. M. Gregory, manager of the plant.

Announcement of the meeting came before the Union's claim its "normal" day, declaring a boycott on Walker-made parts in the Union shops of Kelsey Wheel Company, Ltd., and General Motors of Canada, Ltd., was successful.

Premier Hepburn has organizer, said he had assurance from both Kelsey's and General Motors managements no more Walker-made parts would be received at their plants for further manufacturing. This was confirmed at the plants where Union employees refused to handle shipments from the strike-crippled Walker plant.

LEATHER COMPANY CLOSES PLANT

Workmen Objected to Re-Hiring of Former Employee

Toronto, June 1.—(CP)—A. R. Clarke, Company, leather tanners, closed its plant here today when 400 workers refused to go to work when they learned the company intended to re-hire a workman who had left the factory to join the special police force organized by the Ontario Government during the General Motors Strike at Oshawa.

When the workmen learned the Company planned to re-hire the man yesterday, Local 204 Leather Shoe Workers' Union and allied crafts provincial Employees congregated at the factory today and negotiations between their committee and company officials resulted in the announcement the men would be paid off.

NO COALITION GOV'T FOR ROWE

Reaffirms His Former Statement There Will be No Union With Liberals

Kingston, Ont., June 1 (CP)— "There will no coalition government in Ontario during the life of my present humble leader," said Hon. Earl Rowe, Ontario Conservative leader, speaking at a Conservative banquet here today.

Hon. Mr. Rowe missed the annual meeting of the Frontenac Liberal-Conservative Association by coming to a gathering after the meeting had been concluded.

Mr. Rowe said that when Premier Hepburn got into power he had an opportunity of keeping in fulfill the promises he had made to the electors but failed to do so. He spoke of how H. Hepburn had Mounted Police sent to Toronto from Ottawa for the Oshawa strike. Mr. Rowe said that not even a pane of glass was broken during the General Motors strike, despite the fact that many newspapers stressed the menace of the C.I.O.

City and District News

NO WORD REGARDING REPLACING OF FADED LICENCE MARKERS

No word has been received by the local office from the department regarding the free replacement of faded car licence plates, it was stated today by S. E. Vermilyea, motor licence issuer for this district.

According to a previous announcement of J. P. Bickell, Provincial Registrar of motor vehicles for the Ontario Department of Highways, faded plates whose red background have been ground turning orange to the color will be replaced free of charge.

On many plates, it is reported locally, the red sections have faded comparatively to a dull orange color, while the white letters have also undergone a change from white to pink. Highway traffic officers have been instructed to report any such plates they see.

STEAM ROLLER USED ON BALL DIAMOND

The city steam roller commenced the task of levelling and rolling the soft ball diamond on Coleman Plain which has been under construction for some time past. Considerable more work is necessary, however, to put the diamond in proper finish for the season's games.

MOST FARMERS HAVE SEED GRAIN PLANTED

Farmers of the district are catching up rapidly with the seeding on farms after a delay of weeks in their spring work caused by early season rains. Taking advantage of last week's warm and dry weather, the majority have now planted nearly all seed grain, while even gardens that have been placed with some difficulty earlier are showing promising growth above ground. Due to the combination of continued rain and ground moisture, growing produce is reported growing almost visibly, while early seed crops are also showing heavy sprout. Ideal conditions of plenty of water in creek and cistern, well moistened ground, and lush pastures for cattle grazing now exist on the majority of farms. It is reported following a week of survey.

CABIN CRUISER FROM U. S. DOCKS HERE

First waterway tourist of the season to enter local port warped at the dock of a local oil company in the harbor on Saturday afternoon, a trim-lined cabin cruiser, which after refueling sailed out into the lake and up the bay, ostensibly bound for the canal. The cruiser which flew the United States flag aft was not identified by name.

LUMBER FIRM WORKS 24 HOURS A DAY

Working feverishly, lumbermen of the Rubelle interests are busy at the mills. Lumbermen are working 24 hours a day, and with the exception of over seven million feet of lumber will be cut in the Rubbell timber preserve during the season ending in December. Cutting operations will also be on a large scale, it is stated, in Belleville, Ont., recently purchased by the same firm.

LITTLE DEMAND HERE FOR BEEF CATTLE BY U. S. BREEDERS

The disrupted condition of the New York State Milk markets through the recent abandonment of milk control is being reflected in a much reduced demand for export dairy cattle through Belleville, to date section, it is reported by middle-men buyers and local farmers. For some time sales of dairy cattle for export have been slow, with only a few carloads of choice animals crossing the border, as against the heavy sales made last year. The outlook for future trade is none too sure, it is stated.

BELLEVILLE SCOUTS GOING TO WASHINGTON

Two members of the Belleville Boy Scout Association have been selected to represent this city at the "World Scout Jamboree" at Washington, D.C., this summer. The Belleville scouts are holding a euchre and dance evening at the Quinte Yacht Club on Thursday night to assist in raising funds to send the Belleville's two representatives to Washington and the Scout Jamboree, that will be held June 30th to July 5th.

It is felt that a Belleville scout is afforded the opportunity to attend the Scout World Jamboree and that efforts to assist the Scout cause are always worthy ones.

Canadian tourists are given every encouragement and assistance and are regarded as the most welcome visitors.

FREE BUS FOR WEDNESDAY SHOPPERS

The Wednesday afternoon half holidays inaugurated by Belleville businessmen and in force for some time, begin this Wednesday, June 2, with closing of stores and other business places at twelve o'clock noon. To mark the occasion and remind citizens of the availability of shopping early Wednesday morning and thus co-operating with the plan, the Belleville Retail Merchants Association has arranged with the Ravale Bus Line to carry passengers downtown free between nine and twelve o'clock tomorrow (Wednesday)—any Ravale bus, anywhere, between the hours named. The Capitol is down for Early and Often! and give the employees of stores and other business places generally the half-holiday a chance to get away on the half-holiday without being detained by late shoppers, and hustled and harried at the last hour when they should be busy with closing up requirements.

JOHN CANNING JOINS CITY FIRE DEPARTMENT

John Canning has joined the personnel of the Belleville Fire Department, and will take the places of various firemen while away on their annual vacation.

RUBBISH BLAZE DOES NO DAMAGE

Firemen answered an alarm yesterday when a blazing box of rubbish on the city market near the City Hall threatened nearby cars and buildings. The blaze was reduced without any resulting damage.

TALL PRISONER HAS NO PLACE TO SLEEP

Officials of the Cobourg Jail are looking for a "long" bed. When Clarke Staples of Bethany was sentenced recently to three months in jail, officials were confronted with a novel problem. For Staples is six feet ten and one half inches in height, and the question puzzling authorities now is "where will he sleep."

Campbellford Rotary Hosts to Belleville And Trenton Clubs

Campbellford Rotary Club acted as host Monday evening to a large number of Rotarians from both places. Belleville was represented by nearly fifty members, while Trenton sent over twenty. A very fine dinner was served in the Parish Hall, and a fine program rendered which was fully appreciated by all. The guest speaker, Rev. J. O. Herity, Past President of Belleville Rotary Club, who spoke on the subject "The Philosophy of Commonplace" brought many highlights, beauties and usefulness of things so apparently commonplace that they are seldom noticed, and apparently unseen by many, carrying the complement from inanimate to animate things, human and otherwise.

Brief addresses were made by Tom Hall, President of the Campbellford Club; Cairns Graham, President of the Trenton Club, and Ken Greenwood, Trenton; Malcolm Robertson, William Illsley, Rotarian of Winnipeg, Jeuthyr Jones, Y.M.C.A. of Belleville; also Edgar Bolman, of Campbellford, who acted as master of ceremonies.

Vocal solos were rendered by Miss Bonnycastle, of Campbellford, and John Bonnycastle, of Belleville.

Harold Sanders, of Belleville, Stan MacKay, of Trenton; Earl Bell, of Campbellford, acted as Sergeants-at-arms.

Tuesday Market

"Plenty of asparagus for a month yet," stated a veteran on the city market this morning. "We will continue to have that kind of weather that, then let the vegetable get to seed." The quality of the crop this season, he said, has been above that in a number of years, due to the dampness of the Spring which has brought warm weather thrown in.

Prices this morning showed no change from those of the week-end, being quoted at fifteen, twenty and twenty-five cents per pound and bunches. Eggs maintained their week-end prices selling at eighteen cents per dozen. Fresh dressed Rhubarb sold at five cents per bunch and lettuce, onions, carrots and radishes.

Potatoes held firm at thirty cents per peck, while tomato plants were offered at seventy-five cents per hundred.

UNITED CHURCHMEN READY ON CONFERENCE

Smith's Falls, Ont., June 1 (CP)—The Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church of Canada will open today and continue until Sunday.

Rev. R. T. Richards of Napanee, Ont., will open the conference today by delivering his presidential address. At the evening session officers for the ensuing year will be elected.

Devotional address Wednesday morning and Friday will be given by Rev. Harold Young of St. Paul's United Church, Toronto. Ordination service on Sunday will be given by Rev. Peter Bryce of Toronto, Moderator of the United Church of Canada.

The closing session Sunday evening, Rev. James Semple of Bridge Street Church, Belleville, Ont., will deliver the sermon.

POLICE BLOTTER

Routine activities kept the local police busy during the past 24 hours, although no charges were reported. Fender damage resulted when a motor car, driven by Mrs. Gingras, Toronto, collided with a motor truck at the Pinnacle-Dundas St. intersection, according to the arrival of Detective Fred Isard, however, an accurate settlement had been arranged.

Owing to the warm weather and considerable damage suffered in Ontario this week a general diminishing in the number of tourists to apply at the police station for lodgings has been noticed. For instance, last night when the station recorded, while last night only four sought shelter there.

Strange Occurrence in Nature Told by Allisonville Farmer

Has Perspired Only On Right Side of His Face

'TRIVIAL' HE SAYS

Two men sat in a city drug store on Saturday afternoon. Between draughts of long cool drinks they talked of things agricultural and current topics of the day.

Suddenly one stared at his companion. His eyes dilated in astonishment at the strange phenomenon unfolding before his eyes. For down the cheek of his friend, many rivulets of perspiration poured in a steady stream, coming downward from his hairline to the coat below. Noting his friend's embarrassment, and stopping a now sweat-drenched face with his handkerchief, Edward Gilpson, farmer residing near Allisonville, Prince Edward County, came to his aid with a strange story of a freak of nature which has seldom been heard in this or any other locality.

Gilpson in his fifty one years of life has never perspired but on one side on his body, and that is on the area on his face extending from the upper part of the upper lip to the bottom of the lower jaw, on the right side of his face only.

As long as he can remember, Gilpson has never shed one single drop of perspiration on any other part of his body. In the heat of summer sans, or in the subzero days of winter his body retains its dry state. But a strange fact in this remarkable story is, that without warning perspiration will break out upon from the right side of his face. Tiny globules of water appear without any moisture glands collect in small streams and run down the side of his face. Then it stops as suddenly as it starts.

But this is only a trivial matter, Gilpson states.

"I wear the heaviest of underwear the year around but during the summer, but it doesn't affect me. I have seen men drop almost with the heat of the sun on a certain day during the haying season, but I am as comfortable as though the temperature was normal. My body is gone dry the year round irrespective of what the thermometer is registering."

Consulted Many Physicians

"Naturally, I have consulted physicians regarding this strange affair, but not because I feel any different to any other healthy specimen of humanity. I have been examined by specialists in Toronto, Kingston and Ottawa, but they cannot explain why this should be. One doctor I consulted, stated that it was a reflection of my teeth which was responsible. Accordingly I had seven removed but the perspiration stayed unchanged."

Gilpson has no control over the actions of the part of his face that perspires, that is insofar as the actual perspiration operation is concerned. Physically, it is normal. He has also a feeling of heating in the face as every way the same as those of any other person.

"I cannot tell what moment the sweat will break out on my face," he said. "It comes without warning and cannot be stopped until it decides to do so itself."

"There are times though" he added with a laugh, "when I think the appearance of the moisture is a forerunner of dire things to come. For instance, last winter when I stayed up rather late with the boys, the wife waited up for me with the figurative verbal pulling pin. Coincidentally this happened on occasions when the perspiration appeared on my face a few minutes before reaching the house. So now, it is with misgivings that I go home at a late hour if the perspiration appears on my face before reaching the house."

Obituary

MRS. JOHN CAIN (Harold)

The death occurred at the Belleville General Hospital early last Tuesday morning, June 1st, of Mrs. John Cain, R.R. 1, Harold, Ont. She was 85 years of age and had been a patient at the hospital since May 11th.

ROGER N. COLDEN

The funeral of Roger Newton Colden, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Colden, Harold, Ont., took place from the residence of his grandfather, Mr. W. H. Colden, 5th concession of Tyendinaga Township, on Monday afternoon, June 1st. Service in the house and at the graveside in Zion Methodist cemetery was conducted by Rev. F. C. Beaver, Rector of the Belleville Church of the Mohawks.

MERCHANT IS FOUND GUILTY OF POSSESSING OF FURS ILLEGALLY

Robt. Thompson and Clifford Davidson, Bancroft and W. A. McMurray of Gilmour, appeared before Magistrate J. L. Lloyd in Madoc yesterday charged with the possession of beaver, otter and muskrat skins. McMurray was convicted of the possession of 13 beaver skins, 1 otter and 1 raccoon skin. A fine of $300.00 and costs was levied and paid in cash. Game Inspector Herb McCabe, who prosecuted, stated that this was the minimum possible under the Game and Fisheries Act. R. C. Denman K.C., County Crown Attorney, prosecuted.

After viewing the disposition of the McMurray case Thompson and Davidson appeared before the Magistrate, their charges being similar to that of McMurray's, pleaded guilty. The latter's men's bail of $1,000 was renewed and their cases enlarged for two weeks.

TOMATO PLANTING IN FULL SWING

Armed with shovels, trowels, and a number with machines to do the work, hundreds of local and Hastings Counties farmers invaded planting fields this week. Trucks, buses and wagons and other means of conveyance are working far into the night transporting tomato plants from greenhouses to the fields. By the end of the week it is estimated that over two thirds of the fifteen millions of the plants to be planted in Prince Edward County will be set out in the fields.

U. S. ANGLERS HAVE QUOTA CUT

Only One Day's Catch of 'Lunge' to be Taken Out of Country

Instructions from the Provincial Game and Fisheries Department today revealed, that citizens from the United States, when enter Ontario primarily for game fishing, will find their quota of game fish reduced this season. Inspector Herb McCabe announced today that American anglers would be limited to take two days' catch of all game fish back home with them, except muskinonge of which only one day's catch is permitted by non-resident fishermen.

The quota permitted United States anglers is two lunge, 18 bass, pike or pickerel to be taken out of the country. The bass and muskinonge fishing season is scheduled to reopen on July 1st, but unofficial reports are to the effect, that this season may possibly open a few days earlier, but no definite information has been announced regarding a premature date for the opening of bass and lunge season as yet.

Inspector McCabe announced, however, that residents' gun licences had expired for the season year to-day, June 31st, but that special gun licences for the shooting of groundhogs, skunks and crows were now available for the sum of one dollar.

J. ANTENILE IS HELD FOR FRAUD

Alleged by Police to Have Operated 'Racket' in Shannonville

An alleged new racket was reported to have been introduced into the village of Shannonville recently but saw the subsequent apprehension of one who gave his name as J. Antenile, alias J. Allin, and who is held in the custody of provincial police stated today.

According to Provincial Constable Everett Smith, who investigated, the man who gave his name as J. Antenile arrived in Shannonville and approached J. F. MacFarlane, local general storekeeper, with a proposition whereby he would canvass the village and solicit orders for a new article, which he stated he sold. The genuine article was described as there would be a profit on the manufactured article as well as the sold article.

After canvassing the village Antenile returned to Mr. MacFarlane's store with a lengthy list of orders, in the neighborhood of $100 Mr. MacFarlane had seen in some time. Naturally as the list was signed by local village tradesmen, Mr. MacFarlane paid the new-found agent his commission and he left the village to await the customers who had been contacted, but they failed to appear.

The matter was reported to the Provincial police and Constable Smith arrested Antenile, alias Allin, on a charge of obtaining money under false pretences from Mr. MacFarlane. Antenile is now in custody.

Many Records Broken In O. S. D. Meet Today

Three Boys' and Two Girls' Records Shattered in Morning Events

Under ideal weather conditions the annual track and field meet of the Belleville District Collegiate opened this morning on the school campus, the field day commencing at 9.30 and continuing long enough to necessitate a full day's activities in track and field events.

The contesting athletes showed little regard for records, which had been established in the past when compared to previous years' meets, events were run off with a keenness that morning. Three boys' records were established, while in girls' events, four girls' records were shattered during the morning meet. The programme will continue and the school athletic champions in the various categories will be determined at the conclusion of the day's activities late this afternoon.

The girls' section of the meet is under the direction of Miss Mildred Bell who is being assisted by a number of the teaching staff are assisting as officials of the course, starters, timers and judges.

DRIVER OF CAR HELD BLAMELESS

Provincial Analyst Says Sero's Stomach Contained Alcohol

Picton, June 1.—(Special)—A jury enquiring into the death of Manley Sero, Indian, who was knocked from his bicycle by a car driven by Vincent Hicks, on May 22nd last, found that the man came to his death from injuries received in the accident and in their opinion, the driver of the car was not to blame for the accident.

Dr. Norman Leavens who performed the post mortem with Dr. Walmsley stated, the man died from a ruptured stomach and other internal injuries, while Dr. Jocelyn Rogers, Provincial analyst, reported, that an examination of the stomach disclosed a considerable quantity of alcohol and in his opinion, the man was too intoxicated to ever ride a bicycle. Kelly Corby at whose home the deceased spent several hours previous to the accident, stated Sero drank considerable wine and was "tiniated" when he left his home. It was also disclosed by the testimony, that the bicycle did not have a light on the front, as required by law. Percy Hicks, son of the driver of the car and an occupant at the time of the accident stated, his father did everything possible to avoid striking the bicycle, which evidence was corroborated by Vincent Hicks, the driver. Other witnesses were County Constable James Croxford, Ward and Sero drank Butler. Dr. D. F. Whitehall presided at the inquest.

Official Testing Grounds Urged by Local Examiner

Convinced that the present system of using city streets and public roads for the examination of applicants for motor vehicle licenses was becoming outmoded and unsafe, Clarence R. Clapp, official license examiner of this city, has indicated his intention of suggesting to the Ontario Department of Highways the setting up of official testing grounds in the larger communities of the province.

Men in these specially built and equipped grounds, testing under conditions duplicating any traffic emergency or ordinary driving, could be carried out safely and expertly without inconveniencing traffic or danger to applicant or examiner as at present. Ever-increasing amount of traffic on streets and roads, has, he believes, made serious consideration of this matter necessary.

"A place like the Belleville Fair Grounds where no one ever bothers much would be an ideal location for both examiner and applicant," stated Alderman Clapp who has an average of one applicant a day who must be examined in actual driving tests. "At a place like that could be set up regular traffic signs, parking lines, lanes marked out by posts on either side, through which the driver of the car would have to put his machine, and other duplicates of regular driving on street and highway.

"As it is now we have to use the city streets. It's unsafe. When an applicant is taken out I have to have him drive up Church street or Murney Hill, and other streets where traffic is heavy and the danger of accident is ever present. Fortunately, however, we have yet to report an accident in this regard.

Regular testing or driving grounds for applicants of licenses should be set up all through the province, and I intend to call the matter to the attention of the Highways Department at once."

In 1934 when he first accepted the official post of examiner, he has held since, a total of 537 applicants were examined by Alderman Clapp.

Madoc and District

Madoc, June 1.—On Friday, May 28, the Madoc Women's Institute's monthly meeting was held at the home of Mrs. James Kincaid, Madoc Township, with an attendance of forty. With the president, Mrs. T. L. Nickle presiding, the meeting was opened with the Institute Ode and community singing. After the business period Mrs. Nickle introduced the guest speaker for the afternoon, Mrs. C. Clancy, district president of North Hastings, who, after receiving her year's work as president gave an address on "peace" and the women's part in helping to promote peace throughout the world. Mrs. George Bailey of Harold, a visitor spoke briefly also. Mrs. George White gave a fine talk on current events for the month after which the election of officers for the coming year followed with the president's address and financial statement given by the secretary, Mrs. R. P. Wellman. Reports were given by the convenors of the standing committees and splendid work has been accomplished by the Institute during the past year and a substantial balance in the bank to start the new years work. Mrs. G. Whytock was asked to take charge of the election of officers as follows: President, Mrs. L. Nickle; first vice-president, Mrs. L. McCarey; second vice-president, Mrs. B. Tanner; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. W. Rullin; district director, Mrs. R. Bristol; branch directors, Mesdames James Whytock, J. Irwin, A. Kincaid, A. Smith, W. Whytock and G. West; committees: Memorial, Mrs. E. West; Home Economics, Mrs. Carl McCoy; Health and Child Welfare, Mrs. G. White; Education, Mrs. J. Irwin; Relief and Community activities, Mesdames A. Smith, A. Parks and B. Tanner; Agriculture and Canadian Industries, Mrs. N. Bronson; Peace, Mrs. C. Johnson; Publicity, Mrs. Rullin; Flower, Mesdames C. Henderson and S. Ashley; Music, Mesdames G. White, S. Ashley; delegates to convention, Mesdames T. L. Nickle, R. Bristol, C. Henderson, A. Smith, B. Tanner; alternates, Mrs. L. McCarey and G. Whytock; auditors, Mrs. West and Mrs. Davies. After a vote of thanks to the district president, the meeting closed with the singing of "The Maple Leaf and National Anthem. A pleasant social hour followed with a buffet luncheon served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Bonny and Mrs. G. Whytock.

On Sunday a very impressive service was held in Trinity United Church, it being Flower Sunday and in charge of the of the Sunday School. A profusion of lilacs and tulips were very beautiful with two singing canaries which added much to the fine service. The Sunday School in class form marched in a body. The service was in charge of Rev. T. E. Kennedy assisted by Mr. Percy Holland, superintendent, and Messrs. R. P. Wellman and W. McBain, past superintendents. Special music was given by the C.O.I.T. Girls and a chorus by the Sunday School.

Mrs. McPherson of Toronto, Mrs. Dewar of Picterboro, visited their sister, Mrs. W. Gray, this last week.

250 Men are Busy Repairing Roads In North Hastings

"With four rock-crushers, and approximately two hundred and fifty men working almost continuously through the months of April and May, maintenance, road-resurfacing and other work done on the roads of the County of Hastings constitute a record for these two months. At least it is the greatest amount done since I have been on the job and that grants since 1930." Road Superintendent Simeon Fox, stated today.

"We have employed men in the districts in which the work is being done and have used no outside labor," Mr. Fox continued. "We expect the work will last until well into the summer. Unlike other counties, we have experienced no trouble with the men regarding the wage scale. They are satisfied and appear content to get the work."

Superintendent Fox, and members of the Road and Bridges Committee of the County Council will conduct their annual inspection of the roads and bridges of the county tomorrow.

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

W. R. MORTON, PUBLISHER

A technician in a Montreal industrial concern has stirred attention by an invention which leaves a printed message should no one be present to answer the telephone. There is still secrecy about it, but it is fitting that this should be invented by a Canadian, one of the same race as Alexander Bell who gave the world the telephone.

The messages are printed on a strip of paper, and any number may be recorded. The words of the message are spelled out by the sender on the ordinary dial telephone and are recorded automatically at the other end.

The procedure of the person telephoning is approximately as follows: The number will be dialed in the ordinary manner. Should there be no answer a slightly different signal will be heard after a brief interval. The sender of the message knows by this signal that the automatic switch at the other end of the line has transformed the call from the telephone proper to the recording instrument.

The sender of the message will then proceed to spell out his message using the letters on the dial, and if he desires the figures. This message is printed on a tape similar to ticker tape and when the owner of the phone returns, he will get the message.

The printing instrument is a small box attached to the ordinary telephone and in no way interferes with telephoning in the usual way. It is said to be inexpensive.

Will it be possible some day to have a record taken not only of your friend's voice but also of your own voice if you wish it? The panorama of interest which widens up at this is very large. Business would not have to have any letters of confirmation of "our telephone conversation of today" because it will be possible to have a record of everything said and perhaps even a sample of the voice recorded so that there is no escape.

Vast complications could even result if there were a recording. What of quarrels over telephone, traps set to catch the voices and words of other persons "cutting in" on one's private affairs, lovers and their quarrels on record! That would be too serious.

As a matter of fact many things are spoken which if recorded would stir up a real trouble, but spoken words are often forgotten, at least the exact words and phrases are forgotten. With some new invention it may be that we shall shun the street convention or the office meeting, trusting everything to the telephone and its accessories for proof.

THE DEUTSCHLAND INCIDENT

Another shuffle of the cards on the great international political table has taken place and Anthony Eden like other diplomats is in it again. Captain Eden has been in the Baldwin cabinet and is carried on into the new Chamberlain Government, though some changes have been made. Had there been change here, the man who would have succeeded would have been plunged right into the turmoil of the seething situation which has developed in the civil-war-stricken land of Spain by the incident of the air bombing of the German warship Deutschland by a Spanish Loyalist plane. Eden has had experiences like this before and it was no surprise to learn that he had taken the sensible English way of offering advice that nothing be done by Germany which would accentuate the difficulties of the new situation.

From the seriousness of the situation one can easily understand how many opportunities there have been and are for trouble developing out of a civil war. There is little doubt that there are persons of both parties who to draw in outside powers would not hesitate to cause trouble. It is a situation fraught with all the possibilities of trouble if a few leaders should lose their discretion.

Every age has its problem, by solving which humanity is helped forward. — Heinrich Heine.

DREAMS

Dreams—are the idleness of man
Springing from nowhere, yet they can
Lift him above the earth he tread,
Make him forget his daily bread;
Lead him entranced, unto a land
Where all is bliss, and any hand
Which binds him shall be freed and he
May walk with joy,—eternally.

Dreams—are the solemn hours made
Into swift coaches. Man may parade
As king, in pageantry all day,
Or walk a meadow's quiet way.
All roads are his, he may explore
The relics of historic lore
Or onward glide into those lands
As yet untouched—by dreamer's hands.

IT IS NOT ALWAYS THE BIGGEST PAPERS THAT ARE BRIGHTEST, many a small town paper is bright and peppy and original, but seldom gets credit for it outside of its rather limited circle. Brighton Ensign is not the largest newspaper in the world but it is always as bright as a new silver dollar, and in its last issue certainly scored a Front Page Beat in the following:

The Canadian poet, Wilson MacDonald of Toronto and Montreal accompanied by his wife, enjoyed a cruising holiday to Mr. F. Bullock, at Presqu'ile Point last summer and an enjoyable acquaintanceship sprang up between the two families. At Christmastime Mr. and Mrs. Bullock received the following poem, beautifully done in the author's own penmanship as a framed picture and which we are greatly pleased to have the opportunity of putting on to our readers. Wilson MacDonald, as a Canadian poet of outstanding merit, is no stranger to many readers who will appreciate the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Bullock in sharing this fine contribution with their friends.

GALILEE

Galilee speaks in the wind today
And fisherman's talk is on its breath;
The Lord is walking on Presqu'ile Bay—
The Lord Who conquered death.
The nets of Peter are on thy shore,
Singing low by a fresh sea-wall
The voice of Stephen is at my door
And yon's the boat of the shipwrecked Paul.

Thomas, the Doubter, still in doubt,
Walks the shale in a fearful way,
Nor heeds the ache of his lord "Come out
And walk with Me upon Presqu'ile Bay".
The shore is dark with an ancient horde:
Here's Bartimeus, now keen of eye;
And here comes Mary to greet her Lord
Running the waves with a loving cry.

Across this Bay of the Singing Sands
Nearer and nearer the Master comes
And Pilate goes down to wash his hands,
And outcasts wait for the fallen crumbs
But the priests and rabbis, as of old,
Pore over their laws and creeds and say,
With learned lips that are hard and cold,
"The Lord walks not on Presqu'ile Bay."

If you would behold a Cross still
As once, on Calvary's hill, rose;
Say to the rich and the proud and the wise,
The Lord of the Living is now gone
And as of old upon every hand
The fools will laugh, but cannot see
That all the earth is a Holy Land
And every water is Galilee.

"Two pounds, dear," replied his wife. "That's little enough to buy a bed with, isn't it?"

A large number of people availed themselves of the beauties of the day to visit the cemetery on Sunday. The site is all that could be desired, but a little money spent in trimming the overgrowth of grass and in levelling and raking the drives and walks would add much towards beautifying the place.

At the meeting of the Provincial Board of Health of Toronto recently Dr. Oldright presented the report of the committee on sewage and drainage in connection with the proposed waterworks for the City of Belleville. The committee in the main approved of the plan of supply which the city is about to adopt. The water is to be drawn from the bay of Quinte and the committee gave instructions that the pipes should extend a distance of 1,600 feet out in the bay, beyond the marshes and weeds. The committee did not approve of the sponge filter which the city had decided on but suggested instead some other system of filtering. Hyatt's for instance. In the opinion of the committee the sewage of Trenton, ten miles distant from Belleville, would not contaminate the water supply of the latter city. A plan was also submitted for the disposal of the sewage from the D. & D.Institute. The report was adopted.

Making Temperance Easy

PROHIBITION, it has been definitely proved, does not make temperance easy. In fact it makes drunkenness "smart".

We—the Brewing Industry—submit that the path of moderation is the way to true temperance.

We realize that our championship of the present law in Ontario will be ascribed by prohibitionists to self interest.

For it is true that we are in business to earn money. In fact directly and indirectly we provide a living for thousands.

This circumstance however does not prevent us from having the same sense of social responsibility as other decent citizens.

In fact, to make temperance easy is our only sensible policy, because in a temperate community agitators for prohibition can get no foothold.

And we know that in fact only by temperance winning its battle, can we defeat the bootlegger and save this province from the evils he brings.

Consider what has already been achieved since the repeal of prohibition . . .

Respect for law and order is being restored . . .

Secret drinking has been reduced to the minimum . . .

Illicit manufacture has been made unprofitable . . .

Youth is no longer faced with the temptation to consider law-breaking clever, drunkenness a distinction!

Let us not play into the hands of the bootlegger by substituting prohibition for self-control.

NEWS BRIEFS AND ODDITIES

Janetville, Ont., June 1 (CP)—Old Sol is proving useful in more ways than one these days. Besides drying out land and aiding crops the sun is assisting in domestic chores. With the thermometer 88 in the shade, a woman set her bread dough on the verandah and it rose perfectly before being rolled into loaves.

St. Catharines, Ont., June 1 (CP)—Newsmen got a scare when a little red bug which at times turned gold on specimens, flew out of the container in which it was being examined and stuck to the ceiling of the office. They were relieved when they learned from E. A. Neff, agricultural representative, that the bug was of the beetle family, of no value, and "quite harmless."

Edmonton, June 1 (CP)—Travelling in a "log cabin" automobile, Ernest Oney, Whitecourt, Alta., farmer, is en route to visit in New London, Ohio. The "log cabin," 14 feet long, 11 feet high and seven feet wide, was built on the chassis of a truck. The cabin is made of spruce poles about four inches thick.

Sargent, Neb., June 1 (AP)—Lulu Nethaway of Sargent entered a contest which offered a prize to the person having the "biggest anything." She entered this list of jobs she has held:

Jackson, Mo., June 1 (AP)—A perfect testimonial that Barnum was right was given here. A trick cyclist had entertained a crowd. Finally he mounted a high one-wheel affair and told the audience he would pick up any and all coins tossed on the sidewalk while he continued his act.

After the onlookers had contributed, he jumped from the wheel, laid it down, sat on the seat and gathered the coins.

Auburn, N.Y., June 1 (AP)—W. R. Blakely, 91, United States civil war veteran, arrived by train for Memorial Day exercises at a nearby cemetery. No one met him.

"I thought there would be someone around," said Blakely, "and when there wasn't, well, I knew the way to the cemetery, so I footed it."

We was eating breakfast and pop said to ma, I had a good dream to wake up from last nite. I dreemed I promised you I'd play bridge with the Hewses again tonite after just going through the torture of playing with them last nite. I dreemed you woke me up out of a sound sleep and in my helpless condition you got me to commit myself. Yee gods I never remember having such a vivid dreem, he said.

No wonder, because it wasn't a dreem at all, it was stern reality, so be sure you're not late for dinner this evening because the Hewses will be over quite early. I've already had Maud Hews on the fone this morning, ma said, and pop said, Well then by golliss you can play 3 hardest bridge with them, because I expect to be detained at the office.

But Willyum, I've got your promise, ma said, and pop said, but how did you get it? By force and trickery and low cunning and unorthodox means, so therfor it's illegal and I repudiate it. The idea of breaking into a man's hard earned slumbers for any such scurvy purpose as that, he said.

Now Willyum the Hewses are very anxious for a return match, and I didn't wake you up for any such purpose, the idea, ma said, and pop said. But for Pete sake you just got through admitting you did.

Nothing of the kind, the idea, ma said. I woke you up to make you stop snoring, and when you were awake I took the opportunity to ask you about giving the Hewses a return match, so in other words you started the whole thing by snoring. Do you expect me to lie idly by and listen while you snore? he said, and pop said, I dont expect anything, and what do I get? Yee gods it's a woman's world, he said.

And he folded up his paper shaking his head and left for the office shill shaking it.

CANADA CEMENT EMPLOYEES START SAFETY CAMPAIGN

ADDRESS GIVEN

J. H. G. Dempster, Director of Safety for Company is Speaker

Sharply at eight o'clock this morning, Joseph Hill, veteran employe of the Canada Cement Company's plant at Point Anne, jerked a halyard at the foot of the flagpole, which graces the lawn in front of the company office. Instantly a green flag, bearing a white circle and green cross enclosed, fluttered in the morning air at the head of the flagstaff. A ripple of cheers arose from the employees of the plant gathered at the base of the staff.

Simultaneously the flags broke out at the necks of the flagstaffs of one hundred and fifty-nine plants of the cement industry in the United States and Canada, inaugurating a June-month Safety Campaign for the prevention of accidents and sickness. One hundred and forty-thousand employes have given their pledge to observe safe and sanitary methods.

Today the "Safety Flags" flutter from these flagstaffs for the first time, marking the first day of a thirty day safety drive to operate to the month of June without an accident in the entire cement industry. Flags will remain at the staffs until an accident occurs, when the flag, where such occurrence takes place will be lowered.

Sweetest Thing is Life

In an impressive appeal yesterday the employees at the Point Anne plant for care in the pursuance of their daily duties. In which he stressed the importance of attention to minor cuts and scratches, Mr. J. H. G. Dempster, Director of Safety of the Canada Cement Company, of Montreal, told a large group of interested employees and officials that "the sweetest thing we have in life, is life." The one word I will leave with you and which I ask you to think of all the time is "Think."

In moving to the new Chemical and Physical Laboratory Building of the company, Mr. Dempster told his listeners, that cement companies had had so far this year more than 1,000 accidents in a single year. "Lost-time accidents were on the increase," he said, "and it is only by an intensive safety drive such as that the company hope to bring these figures down."

June had been chosen as the month for the drive because it is this month that cement companies reach the peak in production and shipping. And quite naturally it follows that they reach the peak in accidents, too.

"You men in plant No. 5 (Point Anne) have a record to which you are justly proud," declared the speaker. "If you have not had an accident here over a long period, and the object of the June drive is such plants as yours, is not so much the instilling of extra care but the prevention of accidents. It is in lending your moral support to these plants, which have a bad record."

Stressing the importance of the care of minor bruises and cuts, Mr. Dempster stated that: "Every small piece of ash removed by accident is taken as a potential fatal injury and should be treated as such. No man should be too big or too indifferent to come to the first aid department to have a small scratch dressed."

"You fellows know more about accidents and their prevention than I do," he continued. "No white-collar man can tell you how to operate your machinery, but some of them can offer you advice about the care, that . . . should be taken."

Keep Bodies Fit

Warning his listeners against the many small hazards which occur daily, the speaker impressed upon them the importance of keeping their bodies in perfect physical condition. "The injuries which occur in the plants, we can guard against," he said, "and in 99 times out of 100 they can be prevented. These are not accidental but occupational injuries."

"Our bodies are worth approximately ninety eight cents in chemical value, but the human beings they are worth millions and are composed of joy, happiness, beauty and contentment. The story of accident prevention is not the horrible picture of men bleeding and maimed; it is the picture of glorious life you see about you, or partaking in it and being able to see it with your own eyes."

"For those men, too, if you get something in your eyes, come to the first aid department. We have the most modern equipment here. Use it, please."

Mr. Dempster was to-day working with the company in this safety campaign but by your assistance we are helping 40,000 men. By your record we have shown that it can be done. That is why we are making the promise by the flagpole, to help reduce accidents. After all, one of the sweetest things we have is life." In closing it would not pay to try and think of one word. That word is "Think."

Mr. Dempster was officially thanked on behalf of the employees by plant superintendent J. H. Logade.

Work in Conjunction

Previous to his address, Mr. Dempster stated to newspapermen that so far this year the Canada Cement Company, a member of the Portland Cement Association, had had no lost-time accidents in any plant or branch. The June campaign means that the employees of this company are working in conjunction with 40,000 employees of other companies, who are taking a like pledge to respect the laws of safety in operation.

Yesterday morning Mr. Dempster gave a fine address to the school children of Point Anne, during which, by means of posters, he brought home to the children the terrible toll of life exacted each year by accidents.

"These facts are sickening, terrible," he said, "when you consider the story these posters tell. From a baby to five years of age, 7,000 lose their lives. From five to eighteen years, 12,000 are killed every year and from 18 to 30 years of age another 7,000 boys and girls lose their lives each year. In other words, accidents take a toll of 27,000 lives each year of people between the ages of one and twenty".

"Scattered over this big country of ours are very little statistics of the number of accidents, but the figures remain. That they do occur and it is high time every one of us put forth every effort to help eliminate this needless sacrifice of human life".

Large Percentage in Homes

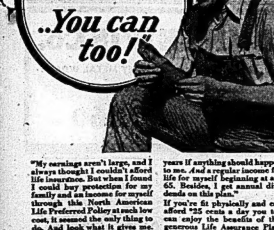
"According to accurate records maintained by the National Safety Council", Mr. Dempster stated, "the largest percentage of these accidents occur in the homes. The knowledge that the family is 'Safe at Home' is often a mistaken sense of security and only the use of safety precautions will help make one home less liable to have accidents take place.

"The second largest percentage of accidents to children occurs on the streets of our towns and cities either while going and coming from school or while playing."

Mr. Dempster pointed out that practically every one of these accidents can be laid to the lack of safety education and training." Parents should first set a safe example", he said, "so that the children can follow them. Then they should see that the children develop safe habits."

"If parents allow their children to form careless habits, and they do get by without being seriously injured or killed they will be sadly handicapped when they start to make their own way in the world. They must have safety training, or suffer."



"The causes of the greater part of accidents to children can be removed by the parents themselves" the speaker asserted. "They can keep dangerous articles safely out of reach and by showing older children the correct safe way of using them. Well-lighted stairways kept clean of all material will prevent many falls. The medicine cabinet should be locked at all times. Firearms should be kept out of reach always. Mothers must realize that going out and locking the children in the house is nothing short of criminal. Prompt attention to minor scratches will avoid many cases of infection, and a knowledge of first aid should be in every mother's possession."

Use Playgrounds

"For the safety of parents", continued Mr. Dempster "especially those caused from playing in the streets, yards, roads, etc., the schoolgrounds and regular playing grounds can be used and the children can have their fun in safety. All children should learn to swim and should know the safe swimming rules."

"Industrial employers today", concluded Mr. Dempster "are realizing the protection of Safety Education of children in all cities, towns and villages. In doing so, they are not only helping to keep present safety programs and gaining results unrivalled, but are assured a future supply of workers who will be trained to promote their own safety and the safety of others".

By painstaking care and by good example on the part of the parents and the teachers, habits will be developed in the children, which will lead them to conform to the rules of safety in the home, on the streets, at play and in later years in industries throughout the community."

"My earnings aren't large, and I always thought I couldn't afford life insurance. But when I found I could buy protection for my family and income for myself through this North American Life Preferred Policy at about its cost, it seemed the only thing to do. And look what it gives me. $50 a month to my family for 10 years if anything should happen to me. And a regular income for life for myself beginning at age 55. Besides, I get annual dividends on this plan."

If you're fit physically and can afford "25 cents a day you too can enjoy the benefits of this generous Life Assurance Plan.

Field Assaying Outfit Latest Aid to Prospectors

BY MEANS OF "COLOR REAGENT" NEW COMPACT ASSAYING KIT MAKES IT POSSIBLE FOR MINER TO ASSAY INFORMATION WITH HALF HOUR'S PROCESS THAT CAN BE PERFORMED IN THE FIELD WHILE PROSPECTING

DESIGNED TO ELIMINATE GUESS WORK

While the Securities Commission and other governmental departments have been busy modernizing to smooth the pathway by which hard-working prospector may take in cash from the public to develop his finds, other lines of activity have been stirred up to aid him in the technical side of his tasks. A new compact prospector's kit called the "Alfens" assay outfit contains the equipment and material by which the prospector may make assays for gold while in the field and on the spot where his discovery may be found, has been developed, stated the Timmins Times."

A letter explaining the "Micro-Spot" outfit says:

"This is a chemical process which has been developed as a rapid field method for determining the approximate value of gold ores. It involves the use of a small light prospector's kit containing the necessary chemicals and apparatus that can be easily carried wherever a prospector goes. It is designed to replace the prospector's "pan", and any other previously used field assaying outfit. The time to perform an assay varies from about fifteen minutes to about thirty minutes. Exact directions for conducting the assay accompany each kit.

"The underlying principles of the method are the following: The ore is treated in a special dish over a candle flame, or the coals of a camp fire, with a powerful solvent, which dissolves the sulphides, gold compounds such as tellurides, and whatever free gold is present in the ore. This process converts the gold whether free, combined, or enclosed in sulphides, into a chemical solution of gold. In other words, the gold is in the ore. In whatever condition the ore is, is converted into a soluble chemical compound of gold, which remains in solution, much like common salt remains in solution when dissolved in water. We know the common salt is present, although we cannot see it. Likewise the gold is present in the solution, although we cannot see it. The next step involves the elimination of the amount of gold present in the chemical solution. This is done by a process accomplished by adding a color reagent, which in fact colorizes to the precipitation of gold, which acts upon etc., as well as the ore. In other words, it eliminates the "Guess Work" from the task of prospecting for gold."

compared with a series of colored strips to be found on the color chart accompanying the kit. The more gold, the more color produced. Each colored strip corresponds to a definite gold value per ton which is marked under each strip.

Although the above mentioned chemical treatment may sound quite simple and logical, the actual solving of the many difficulties that have arisen in working with a wide variety of ores, has involved tremendous amounts of intense research work. Numerous materials for coloring the ore into solution have been tried. Very many color reagents have been investigated, but the best weight of sample of ore to be used had to be decided upon. Numerous metals and rook material commonly encountered in gold, tend to react with the color reagent to produce colors which mask the color of gold. In the use of a small light prospector's kit containing the necessary chemicals and apparatus that can be easily carried wherever a prospector goes. It is designed to replace the prospector's "pan", and any other previously used field assaying outfit. The time to perform an assay varies from about fifteen minutes to about thirty minutes. Exact directions for conducting the assay accompany each kit.

The baffling problems arising during the development of the final process, before being now successful, users of the method will find that the directions for performing assays are so simply and accurately carried out, after the first or second assay has been made, no further reference to the directions need be made. Absolutely no chemical knowledge is required to make the test.

Prospectors are well aware that the commercial assaying of precious ores involves many difficulties, especially with heavy sulphides, and gold compounds such as telluride. Further, much very fine gold is washed over the pan and lost. Also roasting the sulphides does not necessarily liberate the gold that is entirely enclosed by the sulphides, since sulphides, when roasted are converted to basic sulphates, which may still retain the gold.

The "Micro-Spot" method, on the other hand, actually puts into solution the sulphides, gold compounds, etc., as well as the gold. In other words, it eliminates the "Guess Work" from the task of prospecting for gold."

OILING TO START ON CITY STREETS IN NEAR FUTURE

Council Purchases Material From Different Companies at Good Price

LITTLE BUSINESS

Checkerboards to Warn Drivers to be Placed Near K. G. School

Despite the fact a large and representative delegation, attended at the regular meeting of the City Council on Monday evening, requesting that body to inaugurate Daylight Saving Time during the summer months in this district, members thanked the delegation for their constructive criticism but believed they were unable to make any move because of the fact, that a by-law was carried by vote, that Daylight Saving Time should not be in force in this city for two years. The delegation wished the council to go on record of requesting the Provincial and Dominion Governments to legislate for Daylight Saving Time for the summer period and thus end the confusion, that comes each year when a majority of municipalities accept fast time, while others stay on Standard time. In this respect the council appeared to be in accord. The delegation was headed by Alex Moore with H. J. Allin for the Board of Education, Dr. C. Gordon representing the medical profession, W. C. Mikel, J. R. Kinnear the dental profession and Rev. A. G. Sinclair the Ministerial Association. Aldermen Harvey and Lewis were in accord with the suggestion to bring the matter to the attention of the two governments, while Alderman Harvey objected to the council being put on the spot by a letter, which recently appeared in the press.

Business Light

The business of the council was light at their regular session last evening, but it is expected a special meeting will be held some time this week to discuss the possible change the by-law with regard to parking on Front Street. There is a possibility that the by-law making angle parking on Front Street north of the intersection will be rescinded and that parallel parking will prevail in that area the same as it prevails south of the intersection. A meeting with the merchants and others interested will be held before any action is taken by the council in this respect. There were no by-laws and no reports or notices to transact.

P. J. O'Neil, who had charge of the collection of garbage last year to be paid the money held back on his contract in full according to a motion passed at the meeting. There was some discussion about the collection during the last days of his agreement but he was declared, that only part of the work was left undone and that was caused by the closing of certain streets due to the Coronation parade. Mr. Glass, who has the contract for this season also rendered a bill for $21.50 for extra work in cleaning up and the council felt, that he was entitled to his money and passed the bill accordingly. Both Aldermen Baldree and Thompson expressed the opinion, that some streets in West Belleville were neglected on Coronation Day but that the East Hill had been well covered, while the City Engineer reported, that Mr. Glass had done a good job in cleaning up and also stated, that a lot of extra garbage was taken away by him on his first few days on the job.

Make City Liable

Alderman Baldree suggested, that an unemployed man be detailed to direct traffic at the corner of Dundas and going to school at the dangerous crossings. They have been approached by Alderman Armstrong believed, that by the provision, that the city would have the liability if any of them were injured. Solicitor Arthur B. Collins K.C., called in to the chairman agreed with that view and the matter will be left over. However, the school children especially at Victoria Public School will have some protection as three checkerboards will be erected near that school at a cost of $4.50 each, warning motorists to drive slowly. One will be placed at each approach to the overhead bridge and one at College street. Another was also passed to repair the broken sidewalk at Queen Mary and Queen Victoria streets, to complete the roadway from Octavia Street to Queen. School accommodation is to be requested by the Board of Education but no extra cost is borne by the Board of Education.

Oil, Tar Purchased

A report from the City Engineer respecting the oiling of the streets during the present month received a recommendation passed for the oiling of 2,000 tons of tar and 6,000 gallons of B. A. oil will be purchased at 11.75 cents a gallon. 6,300 gallons of tar from the Dominion Tar and Chemical Company at 14.3 cents a gallon and 1,000 tons of tar washed three eighth inch of pea gravel from the Peterson Construction Company at a cost of $2.00 per ton. It is expected the oiling will start about the end of June. Alderman Clapp asked for the use of sweeper in the streets but this was voted down.

The agreement was reached with H. Belsey. Alderman Baragar and Mayor Ellis, when asked if reliable and honest and his work was satisfactory but he believed his health was not sufficient to stand the long walks, that were required of him as one of the city constables. There will be no sale of soft drinks, food stuffs or other articles at the City Hall Square during the summer commencing according to a motion passed at the meeting. Belleville Softball Association was given permission to hold a Tag Day on June 26 to raise funds to repair and complete the new softball diamond on Coleman Flats near the C.N. tracks. A report was given by the committee, who visited the Municipal Board, on a matter of importance and it was moved by Alderman Lewis, that the report be received but no action was taken. There will be further discussion of the matter at a later meeting of the council.

No Action Taken

A letter was received from a ratepayer complaining of the building of three garages next to their property but by a report of the City Engineer the buildings are according to the building by-laws and that the residents erecting same has the right to put the garages on any part of his own property of the council did not council had the petition and took no action. The claim of J. B. Ives against the city, was referred to the City Solicitor with instructions, that no action be taken in court if it was necessary. The dust nuisance on East Bridge Street from Coleman Avenue to the Belleville Club was discussed after the Ratepayers Association had written and requested the council to help pay for the cost of alleviating the nuisance. The council decided to take no action as it was claimed there was no money available for the purpose. All accidents of city employees will be reported immediately to the Compensation Board and settled on their authority.

Appoint Committee

Under the head of enquiries Alderman Baldree asked if a committee had been appointed to go into the cost of a sewer system on Foster Ward and he received a negative answer but Mayor Arnott appointed Aldermen Baldree, Bellhouse, Cushing and Clapp with the City Engineer and Clerk Bush Secretary and report to the council.

Alderman Lewis drew attention to sign beneath the traffic light could not be removed as it was contrary to the act but he was informed that the Police Commission had intended doing away with the sign because it was a protection at a dangerous intersection. Alderman Lewis asked if any report had been received respecting the questions asked the government on the reduction of membership of the council and City Membership and the Alderman was told, there had been no communication received as yet. Alderman Harvey brought up the question of providing the city police with 1936 comfortable uniforms and head-gear, but Alderman Armstrong stated he believed, that to be a matter for the Police Commission and if any change was requested by the C.N. tracks. A report was given by the committee, who visited the Municipal Board, on a matter of importance and it was moved by Alderman Lewis, that the report be received but no action was taken. There will be further discussion of the matter at a later meeting of the council.

ICED TEA

Iced Tea is a deliciously different tool drink and it is very easily made.

Use 6 heaping teaspoons of Salada Orange Pekoe Tea to one pint of freshly boiled water for six minutes. Strain, and pour liquid into a two-quart pitcher containing 1½ cups of granulated sugar, and juice of two lemons.

Place in ice cubetrays well filled until sugar is thoroughly dissolved. Fill container with cold water. Do not allow Tea to stand before adding the cold water; otherwise, liquid will become cloudy.

This is now ready to serve in tall glasses with chipped ice or cubes, with slice of lemon and sugar if desired. The above will make two quarts of iced tea, or 7 tall glasses.

Montreal Star Editor Honored by McGill

Former Belleville Resident, Albert Carman is Given LL.D Degree

A splendid tribute, particularly fitting in view of the fact that a few days ago Albert College celebrated its eightieth birthday, was paid recently to Mr. Albert R. Carman, editor-in-chief of the Montreal Daily Star, and Methodist layman, when it conferred upon him a doctor of laws degree.

Mr. Carman is a son of the late Rev. Dr. A. Carman, former principal and chancellor of mathematics at Albert College, and was educated there. He was born in Belleville and has been in journalism for a period of fifty two years.

With the exception of a few years spent on the staff of the Philadelphia Ledger, Mr. Carman's life has been associated since 1891 with the Montreal Star in the capacity of parliamentary correspondent, editorial writer and editor-in-chief.

MARMORA

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Kerr Observe Golden Jubilee

Marmora, June 1.—On the eve of their golden wedding Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Kerr, residents of Deloro for the past twenty-four years, were tendered a reception in Deloro Hall on Friday evening, most of the homes of the community being represented. The evening was spent in dancing for which music was supplied by K. Doyle, B. Kouri and G. Booth. Other features of the evening were a wonderfully executed step dance by Mrs. William Foster who is now in her seventy-second year and a tap dance by Lois Rusk, and Frank Leal was master of ceremonies. Shortly after 11 p.m. called upon by Reeve S. B. Wright to make the presentation of a substantial money gift to Mr. and Mrs. Kerr on behalf of the community, in his brief speech, Mr. Wright expressed his congratulations to the honored couple and asked Mr. and Mrs. W. Foster, golden wedding celebrants of last year to step forward and extend their congratulations. He also remarked that not often in the history of a village in the size of Deloro were two golden wedding celebrations held in the space of a year. Mrs. Foster was first to respond with words of heartfelt thanks, and after both had been showered with confetti her genial awain said he felt that though not a speech maker he should say a few words. He had not been aware of the presence of so many friends until this happy occasion came around and said both hearts had been gladdened by the receipt of congratulatory messages from various parts of the province. A bountiful lunch was served at the midnight hour after which dancing was resumed. Out-town relatives who were home for the golden wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Wood-stock, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Condey and daughters, Cleo, June and Ella of Kapella, Avenue, Toronto. The happy event commenced by the marriage of the couple on May 29, 1887 at the home of the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kerr, parents of the bride when the Rev. Benjamin Longley, pastor of Queen Street West Methodist Church, Toronto, united in marriage Helen Tracy and Mr. William Kerr, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kerr of the same city. Both Mr. and Mrs. Kerr still enjoy dancing and were in dances held in Deloro Hall, whether round or square. Mr. Kerr's chief sport is black bass fishing. Other hobbies are smoking and reading. Mrs. Kerr is active in women's work and has been a member of the Deloro Group of St. Paul's Ladies' Guild for several years. Thirteen years ago Mr. Kerr erected an attractive cottage on Crowe Lake which he named "Pal o' Mine". This is one of the first cottages to be occupied with the arrival of summer. One of the pretty features of flower gardens is seen at the lakeside which flanks the grounds. Children of Mr. and Mrs. Kerr who were present for this fiftieth anniversary of their marriage are Mrs. G. Woodstock and Mrs. A. G. Condey, Toronto, and William, Deloro.

Win High Honors

Marmora High School boys rose again brought to their school in receiving a high number of points at the Eastern Ontario track meet held at Kingston on Saturday. The boys competing were Norman O'Neill, Boyd Lowden, Cus'Leonard, Ray Osborne, Joe Bertrand and Richard Gould. The boys did very well, much credit goes to Mr. G. A. Gordier, B.A., who helped them a great deal in training. Norman O'Neill, senior, received a first in the hop, skip and jump, a first in the 120 yards high hurdle, and a second in the 220-yard dash. Floyd Lowden, senior, received a second in the mile run. Gus Leonard, intermediate, obtained fifth in the 440-yard dash, and the hop, skip and jump. Richard Gale, junior, came first in the 220-yard dash and second in the high jump.

At a meeting of the Deloro Division of the Marmora, Marmora and Township and Deloro Liberal Conservative Association held in Deloro Hall on Friday evening under presidency of C. G. Condey, Toronto, Mr. Kerr was elected delegate to represent the municipality at the forthcoming annual meeting and convention of the Liberal Conservative Association for the riding of West Hastings.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Montgomery and family of Stirling visited Mrs. Montgomery's mother, Mrs. W. Forestell.

Rev. Jack Thrumbeck of Peterboro visited friends in Marmora on Sunday.

Professor S. Laycock of Saskatchewan University, Regina, is visiting his brother, Mr. T. Laycock, for a short time. Prof. Laycock gave a very inspiring talk in St. Andrew's United Church on Sunday.

Mr. C. Compeau of Peterborough visited friends and old home in Marmora.

Mr. John Driscoll of Toronto visited relatives in Deloro for a few days this week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Condey and family of Toronto visited Mr. and Mrs. W. Kerr over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Donald of Peterborough spent the week-end with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Potts at their home at Crowe Lake.

Group No. 2 of the Ladies' Guild of St. Paul's Anglican Church held their meeting at the home of Mrs. Wednesday evening. High scorers for the evening were Mrs. Smith and Mrs. R. Linn.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Regis spent Sunday in Port Hope.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Gould and Mr. and Mrs. C. Frankland and daughter Betty spent Sunday in Cobourg.

Flowers on the altar at St. Paul's Church on Sunday were the gift of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Kerr in grateful appreciation of their wedding anniversary of their wedding on the previous day.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hall of Rochester visited Mr. and Mrs. B. Gaffney, Deloro.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Mills and son William of Toronto spent the week-end at their summer home at Crowe Lake.

Mr. Harry Whitehorn of Toronto spent the week-end at Marble Point Lodge.

Mr. A. H. Cavanaugh of the Dominion Bank staff spent the week-end at his home in Napanee.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Lawson and sons of Brion, Tenn., were guests at the Park Hotel on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Ebert of Rochester, N.Y., were present for this fiftieth anniversary of their marriage held in Mr. C. Woodstock and Mrs. A. G. Condey, Toronto, and William, Deloro.

"Romeo" Tops List of Triumphs of Thal Ace Director, George Zukor

No grubstake of the Broadway stage has ever pitched into the more intricate task of producing a picture with more enthusiasm or more success than George Cukor. Cukor's list of film successes, including "Little Women", "David Copperfield," "Dinner at Eight", and the forthcoming "Romeo and Juliet" reads like a list of banner productions of the past five years.

A young man filled with tremendous force and vitality but still ranked as one of the most patient and considerate of Hollywood's cinema-makers, this director makes no secret of his preference for the screen over the so-called "legitimate stage."

"Hollywood has helped the stage by giving it new ideas" he says. At the same time the films have shot far ahead on the heart to stage can possibly do in point of entertainment vigor and scope. I approached pictures with great skepticism. Sound had not been in vogue very long and everyone of the one Eastern stage directors weren't very welcome. I was sharply disappointed. Not only was I made to feel like a long lost relative, but discovering motion pictures offered far more engrossing and interesting problems than had the stage.

I think the fact that Dickens and now Shakespeare have been intelligently and effectively handled for film, deals a body blow to the art of mothballs and handled in a stereotyped slide manner.

Some of Cukor's greatest triumphs have been scored with multiple-star casts. "David Copperfield", for example had the best variety for every character part, and "Dinner at Eight" also had a starring cacnes, and "Romeo and Juliet" has Norma Shearer, Leslie Howard, John Barrymore, Edna May Oliver, Basil Rathbone, Reginald Denny and other luminaries. Cukor has the knack apparently, of being able to make all these temperamental stars flow more smoothly together than any other director in Hollywood.

Born in New York, Cukor graduated from De Witt Clinton High school just in time to be a member of the student training corps for the duration of the war. After the war he determined to ally himself with the theatre. He got a job in 1919 as assistant stage manager of the Chicago company of "The Better Ole". He soon proved himself a proved technician. He acted as stage manager for the Shuberts and Elgar Selwyn, then ran a stock company in Rochester N.Y. that proved one of the most successful in the country.

"Shall We Dance?" departs the high-comedy tradition of two famous people lends a melodious theme to "Shall We Dance," Gershwin Radio's new Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers musical to be presented at the Belle tonight for the last time, and rated as their grandest hit since "Top Hat".

Spectacular dance numbers, with Harriet Hoctor, America's leading ballerina, adding her premiere dance talents to the work of the two stars and six song hits written by Geo. Gershwin, make up the highlights of the film. Eric Blore and Edward Everett Horton battle for laughs in this outstanding musical hit. The Belle Musical new feature, and "Cupid Gets His Man", a clever and funny cartoon complete the program. Two complete shows will be presented tonight at 7.10 and 9.10.

PRESENTATION

On Monday evening the Y.P.U. held their closing meeting for the year at the home of Mrs. W. F. Cessford. The members of the Y.P.U. were joined by a large number of others as a farewell party for Mrs. A. Anderson who has been Junior Room teacher in Massassaga School and who was president of the Y.P.U. during the term of 1935-36. The young people played games on the lawn and after a splendid display of fireworks all went inside where a program was given with Miss Alma Ackerman as chairlady. Among those taking part was Miss Gladys Ackerman, and sir, of London, Ont., who gave a piano solo.

Mrs. Anderson was called upon to take a chair in the centre of the room and Mr. Roy Dulmage read the following address:

"May 24, 1937.

"To Mrs. Anderson.

"It is with heavy hearts that we young people have assembled here tonight to bring you a tangible expression of our good wishes and tender feelings toward you and your husband.

"You have been one of us for the past four years and we have all enjoyed our congenial social association with you. You were president of our union. During that period it surely prospered under your capable guiding hand. We all considered it a privilege to have you for our leader.

"Combining our willingness with your delightful work and measure less advice you were rewarded with the glorious success of our union in the winter of 1935-36.

"During the year you directed our one and only play, helping us to successfully stage three times. Your husband played an active part in our play. Both of you always appreciated his willingness to assist us in any possible way.

"You, Mrs. Anderson, are the possessor of many talents and have skillfully exercised them all while among us. You governed and took the leading role in our Christmas Concert a year ago and willingly granted all our desires.

"We regret that so many miles will separate you from us. We will miss you and hope your absence with us on all gala occasions.

"As a parting message we would like to leave with you one of an unknown author with you.

"As you climb the hills of the years
May you travel in high and never shift gears,
With plenty of power and never a knock,
And a big filling station in every block.'

"And now, Mrs. Anderson, at the close of our term, we ask you to accept the appreciation of every member here. This gift is not of price-value and we ask you to use knowledge it not for its worth but as a token of love and will in which we young people all share a part. May it continually remind you and your family of pleasant relationships and happy hours spent among us.

"We hope you will not help to ornament your home but take it's place in the everyday life that is loved there.

"May God bless you both.

"Signed on behalf of the M.Y.P.U.
—Alma Ackerman, Roy Dulmage, Beatrice Hall, Wilfrid Cessford."

Miss Beatie Post presented the gift—a lace tablecloth on behalf of the Young People and the Young Women's Union.

Mrs. Roy Valleau then read the following address on behalf of the community.

"At Mrs. Osborne's Home,
"May 24, 1937.

"Dear Grace: This is another evening that we have gathered together to do honor to a dearly loved friend and to extend to you and Gordon our very best wishes. You have endeared yourself to both young and old and we feel appreciative that we witness your leaving our community.

"We do feel, Grace, that your departure from us will leave a vacancy that will be hard to fill. We had hoped that Gordon might be here also for this event that we might thank you both for your pleasant willingness to aid in the success of any work which has been a source of help to everyone and we would like to take this opportunity to show appreciated. Your sweet voice has been a comfort and inspiration in time of sorrow as well as joy. So this occasion offers us an opportunity to express some tangible form the esteem and respect in which you are both held.

"We hope you may have pleasant memories of the years you have been with us and we ask you to accept these gifts from your Massassaga friends with the wish that He who is the Creator and preserver of all things, may give you and yours many blessings and many years of happy life."

Mrs. Osborne and Mrs. Nightingale presented Mrs. Anderson with a silver cream and sugar bowl on a dish and box of chocolates.

Lunch was served and a guest book was passed around. The autographed book was given to Mrs. Anderson in which the names of the one hundred and thirty guests were signed.

DAILY SHORT STORY

To Be Married in Due Time

By Queena Pollack

"When will these men learn to ask me?" complained Anne Hartley, her blue eyes flashing, and she hung up the receiver in a gesture of disgust.

"What now, langhed Lady from the South" and the brisk and businesslike Lillian Fraser, who had entered the room in time to hear the question flung in her general direction, looked up from a list of Saturday noon. A whole list of banns and the still glorious week-end free with nothing to do. Anne was telling about the fact that men don't give you time enough to consider whether you want to accept their invitations."

"It's not that exactly," counleced Anne, her southern inheritance of loyalty flashing to the foreground. "It was Jim again. Always ringing me to go to the game with him on the very morning of the day it happens. And—"

"Am I to understand that for the united front this season you've refused to go with Jim because he asked you at the last moment?" the older and more experienced girl interrupted.

"Yes."

"Listen, Lady," Lillian said, reverting to her pet name for the little southern girl she fostered in the office, "Jim's a darling. He's crazy Jim to the mercies of some girl who doesn't understand him nearly so well as you—"

"No!" cried Anne, impulsively, her head high. "I don't know he'd rather have me than anyone else, and, if he can't take me, he probably go alone. It's not that he neglects me intentionally. He's so busy, so engrossed in his work, he just counts on me. And I'm through for this event that my pals to come around to my way of thinking about engagements."

"He will probably be taught to keep engagements by some one else," Lillian replied impatiently replied.

Suddenly the telephone jangled. Mechanically, Lillian lifted the receiver.

"Hello, dear," a pleading voice echoed. "I'm sorry again, I was cruel to reconsider your refusal. Again?"

"Just a moment, Jim. I'll put Anne on. She has a request to make coldly.

"Oh, Lil, don't freeze 'me so," he called over the wire while palpitant silence filled the room. As Lillian handed the telephone over there was their eyes met. Anne looked a little wistful while Lillian endeavored to show Lillian that she meant. Then, after a few unintelligible moments before, she spoke slowly into the mouthpiece.

"I'm sorry," she told Lil what you wish again, Jim. It's no use asking me again. I told you I'd be sorry to go this afternoon. I have so many things to do."

The clock pointed twelve. Already Lillian was ready to leave the office. She slipped over the outer office and mumbled ok the telephone.

After a sandy lunch which lasted like paste Hazel to her, she went to her boarding-house home.

While sunbeams beckoned lurringly through the windows of her room, Anne set herself to perform the duties she chose as a way left for Sunday morning. Finally, when the sun faded into twilight, she went out for dinner. As she was entering the little inn nearby, she caught sight of a happy crowd, presumably coming from the theatre. Anne felt wretched, and her misery strengthened when she saw Lillian and Jim, the handsome couple, so evidently Anne found herself jealous.

"But you know, about she thought. But tantalizing thoughts stabbed at her until she arrived at the office on Monday morning, ready for the next week and ready for Lillian's cutting remarks.

Lillian offered none. "Perhaps you does not know that Jim and I seen together." Anne pondered. The bulk of the mail was already opened, and sorted when Jim called from Jim. Had Lillian told him of their discussion and warned him in time? Their separate secrecy about the game date did not attend, and which they evidently did, puzzled her.

Curiously, she found herself not enjoying the gatherings of gayety she attended with Jim. Spontaneity was gone. A warmth about their relationship was lost. The impulsive happiness she used to sense in his presence toned down to routine. Coming from a dance one evening, he was meditating almost bitterly, when Jim rocked quietly at her and said: "I want to marry you, Anne."

Her heart stopped its clamorous beating as she cried expectantly, "When?"

"In due time when I consider and you can prepare—"

"Oh, make it now, Tomorrow," she implored breathlessly, as her arms curled about his neck in supplant capitory. "Telephone a to swift stream of invitations given carelessly in advance of the event came

The Consumers' Guide to Quality

More than a century of service to the public has made the advertising columns of the daily newspapers the accepted source of commodity news in two million Canadian homes.

News of goods and services is necessary to every household. Comfort and economy depend on it. The success of every enterprise is determined in the home where the relative values of products or services are analysed and their claims for preferential treatment supported or disproved. Sales volume for any product is the sum of all these individual preferences.

The confidence consumers feel toward advertised goods is the result of personal experience. They realize that advertising reflects the integrity of the manufacturer and the merchant's belief in the value of the goods he thus publicly offers for sale.

Consequently, the advertisements in the daily newspapers are not only news, they are recognized guarantees of quality.

Today, Canadian consumers everywhere from coast to coast read their local daily newspapers for the latest information regarding the commodities and services they need. The advertisements are their guides to quality and their aids to thrift.

Daffiness Boys of Brooklyn Put End to Hubbell's Streak Clouting Him Out in 3 Frames

Carl Laughs It Off Saying It Had to Come Some Time

TIGERS DROPPING

Indians Take a Pair From Detroit to Move up to Second

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

It just had to be the Dodgers.

It was in the cards, that the daffiness boys from Brooklyn — the zinc outfit that has knocked over Giants more times than Bill Terry cares to remember—should be the one also in the whole National League to finally catch up with Carl Hubbell's amazing streak and end his record-making run.

But even though the Ruby's 24-game string ranged in all directions history over a two-season stretch is over, there's no one who will say "Sugarpants" isn't just as good a loser as he is a winner, and isn't still a pretty fair pounding ringer.

Just after the Dodgers belted him out in a 12-6 slugging yesterday and went on to an 18-hit, 10-3 win in the opening game of the holiday double bill, Hubbell showed definitely that he can "take it."

"It had to come," he said as he tossed the clubhouse after the long walk from the mound in front of the 20,000 crowd, that jammed the Polo Grounds.

"It was great while it lasted, but no one can go on forever. It was just a lot of luck. It just ran out on me." There was never a chuckle in his voice, never that the heat's off, maybe I can do a little real pitchin'."

The rest of the Memorial Day program was little different on the diamond world. The baseball faithful didn't care so much that the Giants came back to take the second game 5-4, or that the Cleveland Indians grabbed the Tigers twice, or that the Cubs, winning a double bill from the Cardinals, climbed from Dean for 15 in their opener.

The big thing was Hubbell's streak begun last July 17, was put in cold storage by the always bewildering Brooklyns, at that.

Tigers Drop to Third

However, strange as it may seem that the lowly Dodgers did it, they were the only ones to take the villain role. They are the one team in the league to have topped them more times than not. And they are throughout his career. And they are the perennial foe, the bete noir of the Giants,—ever since Terry's historic crack at the Dodgers' park in this league" which cost the Giants the pennant in 1934.

For the rest of the program, the American League double whipping by the Indians knocked the Tigers 12-4 and 6-5—the latter going 11 innings —was overshadowed by the Indians' second place, dropping the Tigers to third.

Pittsburgh's Pirates maintained a 1 1-2 game National League lead by trimming Cincinnati, 4-3, after dropping the nightcap 7-5 after dropping the opener 8-3. The American League champions, the Yanks, came from behind to win the first game from the Red Sox 4-3 and then fell 8-2 in the second.

Bill Lee and Clay Bryant each pitched six-hitters as the Cubs conquered the Cards 5 and 6-3.

The Phillies and second off Boston Bees 6-3 and 9-4. Washington walloped the sinking Chicago White Sox 6-1, and Chicago White Sox did the same to St. Louis Browns 5-2 and 9-8.

MONTREAL TEAM EXTENDS STREAK TO NINE IN ROW

Seem to be Only Team With Chance to Stop Bears

LEAFS GOING DOWN

Buffalo Bisons Hand Toronto Team a Pair of Defeats

(By The Associated Press)

Just when it appeared that the rest of the International League had given up the whole thing up as a bad job Montreal Royals took up the task of trimming Toronto Bears.

Royals won the second game of a double header on May 30. Since then they have been hot. They won seven in a row up to yesterday's making eight out of nine and moved into second place, dropping the Tigers to third.

They are the second Canadian team to challenge the Bears for first leadership. Toronto Maroons kept up with the Bears through the first week of play, but wilted before the fire of the Newark attack. Since then they have been making only vague passes toward the league leadership.

Royals had a good pitching yesterday. The ancient Ted Lisenbee won his first win of the season, three men and Orrp Polli took the second. Henry Johnson, appearing as a pinch hitter, drove in the only winning run in the second tilt. Ivy Jeffcoat relieved Lisenbee in the Royals' attack in the first encounter.

Bears Keep Pace

The Bears also kept in with the Royals, however. Jersey City fell before the Bears 5-2 in the first game at Jersey City, 8-0, and Newark repeated the triumph in the second encounter, 7-2. Ralph Winegarner, Yankee castoff, stretched his string of scoreless innings to 18 in the morning game as his mates clouted Glen Gorbous for 10 hits, including home runs by Joe Gordon and Babe Dahlgren.

Leading Jersey's attack a man on base in the second game won for Newark's Joe Beggs over Ben Cantwell, whose streak was snapped at seven straight.

Buffalo Carnegie, hard-hitting Buffalo outfielder, helped the Bisons take two games from Toronto Maple Leafs, 10-7 and 12-7. Carnegie hit a pair of four-baggers in the first clash, Toronto first sacker, also got two, for four in two days.

The defeat dropped Leafs' losing streak to six straight. Bellaflamme, Leaf hurler, was the double bill to Syracuse Chiefs, 10-5, although they outhit the Chiefs 9-8. Scrooge Martin, Syracuse first baseman for Baltimore Orioles but the Orioles made four errors. It was a twilight contest.

FAMILIAR FACES WRESTLING CARD

At the continued popular requests of local wrestling fans a contingent of well-known and popular crowd-pleasing faces are included on the card presented by Promoter Ted at the Belleville Arena on Friday night.

Included in the night's card is Frank Slavik, the Polish lightheavy, who was a crowd favorite here in Belleville for his fast clean and aggressive rasslin'. Slavik opposes Leo Arch Gravelle in the main event of Jim Wilkins, the Cleveland 187 pound contender and master of mat-ological tactics. Wilkins and Slavik have staged innumerable hair-raising bouts in Belleville in the past and can always be depended upon to provide the fans with thrills galore.

Howard Anderson, alias Chief Lynx, alias Buffalo Joe, the Rama Reserve Indian chieftain, has offered no introduction to a local grappling audience. The wily and crafty Indian has been signed to meet Al Dunlop, veteran Toronto and-Clever-and grappler, in the semi-final bout of the night. In their last meeting in Belleville the dusky-skinned Indian and Dunlop concluded hostilities outside of the ropes and the girls on hand both declared qualified following the most hectic and hair-raising bout ever witnessed in Belleville.

As John Katan has not been defeated in Belleville a suitable opponent for the former Canadian heavyweight champion, 198 pounds weight is complete the card for Friday night at the Arena.

K-I-Y SOFTBALL

A brace of games played in the Ki-Y league last evening resulted in wins for the Bluebirds and the Redwings.

At the Queen Victoria School grounds the Bluebirds practically doubled the score of the Nationals, as the "winged lads" won 12 to 7. At Queen Mary School grounds practically the identical same score was registered when the Redwings triumphed over the West End nine by the score of 12 to 7.

The line-ups: Bluebirds—Carson, Morgan, Thompson, Barriage Tomkins, Greene, Whitter, Burdge and Archer. Nationals—Adams, Ashmore, Thompson, Dell, Anselstine, Brown, Davis, Rolland and Young. Score by innings.

Bluebirds 1 5 1 0 1 0 3—12 runs
Nationals 5 0 1 0 1 0 0— 7 runs

The Redwings—Ellis, Hall Scott, Thompson, Burns, Cook, Sword, Reid and Hibbert. West End—Cunningham, Orr, Wylie, Pratling, Bradford, Anderson, Zebedee Saunders and Palmer.

Umpire Bateman and Symons.

GOOD HURLING IN SOFTBALL LOOP

Corbina Easily Defeat Ciacos Behind 4 Hit Flinging of Bawden

High class hurling on the part of league pitchers seems to be the feature of the Belleville Intermediate Softball League this season, Johnnie Bawden being the outstanding player-er last night as the Corbina pitcher the Ciacos 11 to 3 at Coleman Flats. Bawden allowed only four safeties, shut out of a possible 21 put outs and struck out seven batters, the only runs all being registered in the fourth frame when the Barriage-led Corbyites batted around for seven counters on solid base blows. Bawden watching the side attack in the fourth next eight of the remaining ten batters to face him, however. Only one Ciaco batter reached first safely after the fourth and that one on an error.

The Bawden-led Corbins donned their batting togs to connect for 15 safe blows from the delivery arm of Sager. The Ciaco moundsman, "Shiz" Ehler let in the pasture with four safeties Henn, Rigby, Reid and Tuttle each contributing a brace of hits to the winning attack. Two extra hits that resulted in three runs in the fourth for Corbina came from Ian Bats of Howlett, Latchford, Kiser and Bawden. Percy Cox player counted at least one hit, except one, Sager whiffed six Corbin batters Bawden, both hurlers showing plenty of control, however, as walks were issued by each pitcher.

The big game of the early season is slated for Wednesday night when the Ashton Cup series gets the league leading and undefeated Dutch Anne aggregation at Coleman Flats.

RUN STRING TO SEVEN STRAIGHT

Oswego Netherlands Grab Both Ends of Double Bill

By the Canadian Press
Oswego Netherlands are going places in a hurry as they head into the Canadian - American Baseball League trail, Netherlands coming out in front of the league, ran their string of victories to seven straight and made Memorial Day complete by shoving Ottawa Braves into the cellar.

Netts grabbed both ends of a double header at Ottawa and from Braves. Oswego smacked out 17 hits off two Ottawa hurlers to register a victory in the first game, while their own pitcher, Nick Peters, held only six Ottawa batters half of them off the big bat of right-fielder Jones.

Joe Fortin, taking the mound for Nets in the second game, was robbed of a no-hitter in the fifth when Ottawa pinch hitter, Mickey Kelly failed to handle two fly balls, the only hits he gave up. Johnny Mc-Donald went the full route for Ottawa in the second, allowing 13 hits.

Perth-Cornwall Bisons dropped into a tie with Netherlands for first by double header to Gloversville Glovers 10-9 and 10-1. Brockville Pirates were the only Canadian team to chalk up a victory yesterday as they split a twin-bill with Rome Colonels. Pirates lost the first game 7-6 and then shut out the Colonels 9-0 in the second.

THREE RECORDS GO BY BOARDS AT TRACK MEET

SENIOR GIRLS TIE

Doris Gardner And Margaret Griffin to Share Honors

Athletic records of long standing were shattered during the annual track and field meet of the Belleville Collegiate Institute and Vocational School at the Fair Grounds yesterday as competitors proved keen and at times rose to torrid point. In the senior boys' group a new school record for the 220 yard dash was established by Spencer Evans, the school champion, as he broke the tape in 24 seconds flat. Two intermediate records were shattered, when Dick Burns tossed the discus for a distance of 85 feet, 10 inches and Jack Stewart jumped 3 feet, 2 1-2 inches for two new intermediate records at the B.C.I. and V.S. So close was competition in some classes, that a tie for the senior girls' championship was created in the total points emmassed by Doris Gardner and Margaret Griffin who will share their hard-fought honors equally.

Beneath a blazing torrid sun, the Belleville Collegiate and Vocational athletes from the Belleville Collegiate were handicapped slightly in their efforts to break records on the Grounds as the conditions for field events were anything but ideal. An adequate or satisfactory to the contesting athletes, who entered into the day's activities.

The B.C.I. and V.S. annual field day for boys at least was marred by miss Allison, girls' athletic director and George Laughlin, who holds a like position with the boys' athletic supervisor. The entire results were not available at 1am Mary Kerr, who acted as clerk of the course for all classes. Other officials were Bill and Mr. Laughlin aided today they would compile a list of the girls' and boys' team in this district event.

EVEN CHANCE TO RECAPTURE CUP

Australians Routed 5-0 By U. S. Davis Cup Team

By Alan Gould
Associated Press Sports Editor

New York, June 1—(AP)—It may be optimism, or patriotism or a combination of both, but the impression prevails in American tennis circles today, following the 5-0 rout of the Australian Davis Cuppers at Forest Hills, that the United States team has at least an even chance of recapturing the famous tennis trophy tomorrow and Friday.

They may need a few more "breaks," such as they got through the epidemic of silliness that extracted the threat from Australia's Jack Crawford, the combination of redhead Don Budge, mighty little Gene Mako, Budge's doubles partner looks to be equipped for the United States' most formidable challenge in at least five years.

Sports Roundup

By Eddie Briefs
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, June 1—(AP)—The Brooklyn is still in the league.....

Carl Hubbell still is "King of Swat."

The big crowd at the polo grounds yesterday howled when Burgish Bonura batted in Van Mungo to protect a five (count 'em) run lead.....

James J. Braddock and Max Schmeling are advertised to fight "in the round, at the same old weight title.....Without 15 rounds it would be what the doctor ordered.....This corner will risk a few bucks that Pedro Montanez will be in the heavyweight picture.

There is nothing quite like the rivalry between the Giants and the Dodgers.....They clogged all ailing Neacher seats for yesterday's doubleheader at 11 a.m.....Some guys, particularly in baseball, prefer their sweeties along, cheerfully paid $10 for a pair of $1.10 seats.....At 12:30 p.m. the cops wouldn't let you out of the subway unless you could show a reserved seat ticket .....They'd say, "Keep riding, Mac," and push you right back into those cars.

Don Gutteridge, Dashy third sacker of the Cardinals, is the thrilling National League fans with his speed .....The last few days he has made more than his share of infield singles.....Pitta haven't seen much of that kind of stuff since Ty Cobb was around.

CALLING 'EM Between the Lines

Ken J. Colling

The athletes at the Belleville Collegiate showed little respect for previous records established by their predecessors during their annual track and field meet yesterday at the Fair Grounds, as the youthful sporting three previously records with absolute competition was keen in practically all events on the program, whether it was girls or boys. Taking into consideration the fact, that the annual field day was practically tossed on the student-athletes without warning, the performances made remarkable showing in all events. Many of the students been afforded a little more practice there is little doubt, but that more broken records would have been broken and maybe interscholastic standards attained.

Spencer Evans broke the finishing tape in the 220 yard dash in exactly 24 seconds for a new school record in the senior boys' division being the new school senior champion as well. The previous 220 senior record was held by Fred Johnson in 24 4-5 seconds. In the intermediate boys' 220 dash, the new school champ for 1937, broke the former record by over one second, 1934 when Burns tossed the discus 85 feet 10 inches, Larne's distance was 82 feet 8 inches. Jack Stewart established a new intermediate record in the broad jump as he cleared five feet 3 1-2 inches beating Ralph McCabe's effort of 1935 by one-half an inch.

Competition was keen in the senior girls' class than a bit for the championship was created between Doris Gardner and Margaret Griffin, the two girls, joint titlists, today. Congratulations are also in order for Marjorie Hilchon, intermediate and Winnifred Soady, junior girls champion in the junior boys' class Bob Sockis was given a tough tussle by Warren Gannon and Will Mills before the former won. Dick Burns bested Jack Stewart for the intermediate championship, while Spencer Evans headed Tom Hughes and Ralph McCabe, for the senior track and field championship of the B.C.I. and V.S. for 1937. After counting the competing contestants yesterday we firmly believe there is a great, healthy interest in track events in Belleville and that more interest and support from parents and those athletes who desire to enter this field or athletic endeavours. At least they are amateurs.

After numerous and repeated requests from the Belleville fans we are finally broke down the barriers and will present each week a column as Chief Lynx, alias Buffalo Joe, Frank Slavik, the Polish lad who always goes through, Howard Wilkins and Mike Domenic to a special show for Friday night at the Arena. "The customer is always right as if this interest and desire to attend the bouts, when we have the ultra-heavies, we are willing to do our endeavour to bring in the lighter grapplers," assured one wrestling official today.

Although little is known of the ability of personnel of either team the Belleville Rovers, fifth in the league behind the Oshawa Athletics, are considered the league opener at the Trenton Arena tonight, including seven from Belleville and a trip through the game that includes the clubs' new coach, Indian Jones, the former Russell Smart, Honey Tompkins, while Spencer Leslie, Bert Hall and Doug Goodfellow goalie. Dick Logie are the quartette from Belleville. An Oshawa aggregation coming to Quinte at the Rovers, they still remain in the league race and will remain so ever. Tonight's tussle with the "Flyers" will give the local interest a chance to take a stand or gander at their material available.

The local guilted-stick amateurs are not playing a home game until early in July, as they will not be able to secure a playing site. Efforts are being made by the local executive are now in the making, however, in the near future. Players are scribe letters the Belleville squad will have so many strangers on its roster, they will be like the workmen around the tower of Babel, unable to distinguish friend from foe. That guy sure has a sense of humor, but can he take it?

Pitching being seen to be the factor of local softball games over on the Coleman Flats these evenings. Last night, when Corbins bested Ciacos, Johnnie Bawden, on the Corbins' mound whiffed 14 Ciaco batters in seven innings. As a matter of fact the Ciacos only found Bawden for four hits and three runs, all coming in the fourth inning rally. The Corbins won 11 to 3. Tomorrow night Alpha's Junior-Point Anne game should be an interesting affair as the "crowned villagers" have yet to taste defeat.

"Twig" Woodley's Kiwanis kids are improving each time out and should be a ball in their first South Hastings, League victory against the league champion Foxboro nine Wednesday evening at the Exhibition Park. Manager Dr. Harry Blakely, the Belleville National star infielder when Belleville won its last provincial title in 1928, is at the helm of the Foxboro nine but may climb in over the local juniors or relinquish the league leadership to others. Foxboro will present the same strong combination, Bud Wilkins, while Skipper Bill Hepburn, Ken Kelleher and Letty Weeks, all primed for the occasion. With ideal baseball weather in our midst for the last few days and a refreshing breeze blowing through the grandstand, the local fans should be in an ideal place to enjoy a ball game and more. The local kids clubbed up an 11 inning game during their previous engagement on the local diamond.

The lowly Dodgers from across the river in Flushing Intermediate Carl Hubbell's lengthy winning streak in the National League yesterday. It was the first defeat Hubbell had suffered since July 17th last when the Cubs beat the Giants 7-5. The Dodgers made a good job of it, although that was to be expected sooner or later. Hubbell ran his string of consecutive victories to 24 straight games over two years of two seasons. A remarkable record indeed.

There is to be a modern and up-to-date artificial ice auditorium built in Belleville this summer. The Cleveland interests are angling for a berth in the National Hockey League while Canadian Pacific Montreal Maroons may move there. This is highly desirable, that is considering the Ottawa franchise is still available and at a much lower figure.

SHAW GAMBLED ON TIRES, GAS SUPPLY TO WIN ROAD RACE

Indianapolis, June 1—(AP)—Cheques totalling more than $30,000 were held today for Wilbur Shaw, who gambled on his tires and gasoline supply to win the 500-mile Indianapolis Motor Speedway race after seven attempts.

Shaw, along with other drivers in yesterday's race—the fastest, the greatest in the modern history—will attend the annual dinner for pilots tonight to get their checks from the owners.

For Shaw there will be a $20,000 purse for winning the race. He will get others amounting to $5,500 for his prize money, and a flock of gifts from manufacturers whose mobile accessory and gasoline companies.

Shaw a native of Indianapolis roared to victory in a car he designed and built himself yesterday afternoon, with Ralph Hepburn, another Indianapolis veteran, only two seconds behind him. Hepburn came just that close to putting an end to Shaw's long jinx. Shaw had a car never wins two races. He was driving the one job that Louis Meyer drove to victory last year.

The speed of 123.580 miles an hour was the fastest ever driven in a 500-mile race. In fact, the first four finishers broke the previous speed record of 109.069 miles an hour set last year by Meyer.

Shaw, who is 34 years old, who won second last year was the third driver to win the classic twice. The fourth place after a masterful bit of driving by the latter stages of the race, Cliff Bergere of Hollywood. Calif., was fifth. Fred Frame of Los Angeles, driving relief for Bill Cummings of Indianapolis was sixth; Billy Devore of Kansas City was seventh; Tony Gulotta of Kansas City was eighth, George Connor of San Bernardino, Calif., was ninth and Louis Tomei of Portland, Ore., was tenth.

"THE BRIGHT HILL"

by Clarissa Fairchild Cushman

She vanished to say, "Then leave me Donald—buy the worst stock in her throat. "Would it be better to say, "Will you leave me Donald?" Oh, could—do—something, anything, either. In her mind she tried it, and saw that Donald spread upon his face, his lips grow a little coarse as he said, "Not a chance. I warned you at first."

So she said nothing; just sat and looked at him. Then he looked at her, smiling a little, tenderly, and put his hand, a firm, strong hand, over hers, stopping the twitching that was trying to escape.

Carl brought down his chair with a snap. "Well— if that's all it's going to be—" He reached for his hat, where it lay on the desk.

A last Kerin heard Susan's voice saying, "He can't mean what he's saying." She seemed to see Annie Beardsley looking around, laughing furtively.

Perhaps Alan saw her too for he was suddenly upon his feet. "Carl, you'll go through the motions of asking like a gentleman—whether or not you care or not!"

Kerin felt frozen in her seat. Never had she heard, of thought to hear, such violence in the voice of gentle Alan MacCleg.

Carl looked up, his lips still smiling, but his eyes narrowed. "Oh you'll throw me out the window?"

"By Jove—I'll try to!"

Carl relaxed his mirthless smile. "Well, I give you leave to tell it all over the community—how Carl Kingsbury sat in his chair and Alan MacCleg didn't throw him out of the window."

Kerin rose, trembling, and came over to the desk.—"Carl—" she said, and her eyes besought him, "don't bother about Alan. I've come to talk to you. Please, Carl."

Quickly Carl tilted back in his chair and clasped his hands on his chest. He elaborately ignored Alan. "All right," he said. "Talk. I'm listening." He glanced at Alan. "What could be deemed more private?"

"You could stand up," said Alan hoarsely, "when your wife stands!" Carl eyed Alan for a moment in genuine amusement. Then of a sudden he burst into a roar of laughter. "Oh, Alan!" he cried. "You are rare! A rare fool! I don't know why I get mad at you. Sit down, man! Sit down! Is this an afternoon tea? Let Kerin sit down, she wants to. Lord! That's all I'm doing—letting Kerin have her own way. What the devil's the matter with you all, anyway. Kerin wanted to leave and she left, didn't she? She wanted to stay away and she stayed, didn't she? And she stayed—" the chair swung forward with a sudden leap, and the smile was gone from Carl's face—"and for this, Alan, and face the fact—she stayed, not only the one year she had contracted for, but she is staying a second. She made a new contract. How about that, dear Alan? How does she explain that?—since you seem to be her confidant and her champion."

"Carl, I wrote you—"

"Sure, you wrote me. You sent me these."

He yanked open a drawer and pulled out some papers. It was as though he had kept them there in readiness. "Read them, Alan. No—I'll read it. Dear Carl. I am sorry to do it just this way, but you must see that anything I would say to you is impossible. Also, it seems to me that Donald should go with me." I don't, understand, Kerin.' How will that sound in court? Sounds pretty good, doesn't it? Here's your own answer." He flipped the sheet and read from an attached telegraph blank. "Provided you leave Alan going. Protest against your taking Donald. Hope you'll have time to reconsidered.' What have you to say to that? That's clear, isn't it? And then there's this one. I won't read it. It's valuable. 'Dear Carl.' It was evidently one of her letters, a short letter she had written, she remembered now, just after getting to Amberley. But how queer the phrases sounded! Not at all as she had meant them when she wrote. If she were leaving Carl for good. It could be so, it would be so. But a judge could construe them. "I'm sorry that I feel that I have to go. I'm sorry that I had to run away as I did. But I felt there was nothing more to say, and we were only going to get more hurt and more angry. I do realize that you want me to stay, and it ought to make me happy. But I can't, Carl. I just can't. After all, I feel that I have a right to freedom of judgment in regard to things that concern me. Surely you see that? And if you are hurt—I've been hurt, too. I'm only trying to do what I think is best for all of us. There's no bitterness, no rightness in my staying on when I feel this way. Surely you see? Oh, Carl—do try to forgive me, Kerin."

INSTALLMENT THIRTY

"Well—" Carl slapped the three papers on his desk. "That's all pretty final isn't it?" He leaned toward Kerin looking up at her. "My wife takes a job from which she makes no effort to be released when I ask it, although—perhaps because—she knows she would be granted. She runs away from my bed and board. She does not return when I ask her to. And she didn't return after all reasonable excuse was used up. Now, more than a year. It's four months since her original contract was up. She made a new one, although there's no question but that I adequately supported her. And here," he pointed to the letters without taking his eyes from Kerin, "are her letters. That's my case. The court will find it waiver light. Well, what have you further to say?" He flung the words at Kerin, standing rigid before him.

So that was his case—made up, every bit if it, cruelly dishonest—to get the best of her. How could she mention Donald? To bargain for him, to beg for him, to have Carl laugh in her face: it was impossible. If Carl could deliberately do this, he would do anything. The thing was almost incredible. There were all her older letters. Slowly Carl. I wrote you, asking you whether I should stay—

"Asking me what? Where are the letters?"

"Why—you have them—"

"I'm sure I don't have any letters."

Carl's bright blue eyes, his wide smile licked over Kerin's face, recalling. Stead that, No— I'll over Alan's face grew slowly a dark crimson. "Kingsbury," he said quickly, "I wish I could thrash you. It's impossible. Also, it seems to me that Donald should go with me." I don't understand, Kerin.' How will that sound in court? Sounds pretty good, doesn't it? Here's your own answer." He flipped the sheet and read from an attached telegraph blank. "Provided you leave Alan going. Protest against your taking Donald. Carl's bright blue eyes, his wide smile licked over Kerin's face, recalling. Stead that, No— I'll over Alan's face grew slowly a dark to gather together and beat down Carl's shoutings, "I'm not a woman for you to bully." And as Carl would have spoken, something in Alan seemed to snap, and he suddenly bellowed into Carl's face, "Shut up! Shut up for once, yourself, Kingsbury, and listen! For I'm warning you—and Lord knows I wouldn't do it for you, but I'll do it for Kerin. I tell you that if you divorce your wife under these circumstances—wasting no time, taking advantage of a legal opportunity you yourself virtually created, trading on your position as a member of a respectable law faculty—and with Annie Beardsley in the background—"

"Stop!" shouted Carl.

"All right—with Annie Beardsley in the foreground! I'm telling you, Kingsbury, and I'm telling the truth—you'll find every decent university community closed against you. I advise you to think it over."

"Bah!" Carl threw up his great arms over his head in a gesture of repudiation. "What do you think I'm made of, McCleg? I don't spend my life being dictated to by a bunch of gossiping women, if you do." He looked from one to the other "Lord! You're a couple of school teachers! Dishwashers—both of you. Well—I'm done talking."

He turned swiftly on his desk but quick as he was Kerin was before him. She caught him by the arm, her eyes lifting to his in a kind of agony.

Carl, I won't contest it, if only—"

He shook her off. "Then don't contest it," he said, and strode into the hall. "Either way, it doesn't matter to me. I'm going to win the case—you might as well save your money." And the two were left alone, hearing in the empty hall, the striding, retreating steps.

Kerin listened to him going until the bang of a far door marked his departure. Then she looked at Alan's flushed face and said incredibly, "Oh, Alan!" and put up her hands before her eyes as if to shut out—so shut everything out. "Oh Alan!" she whispered. "Oh, Alan!"

Alan came over to her and put his arm around her. It was a gentle arm, for all it was hard, and trembling. "Come on, Kerin," he said. "You've got to stay. We can't have come. Let's go home."

"Tomorrow," said Kerin. "I must see him again."

"It's utterly hopeless, Kerin. You'll only break your heart again, Kerin!" Contempt and disgust flamed in Alan's voice. "Let him go! Let him get his divorce! Surely you can't want Carl, ever again in this life!"

"I want Donald. I'll pay any price for Donald." There was complete inflexibility in the quiet voice. In the slight figure usually so yielding "I'll fight the divorce, I'll drag in Annie Beardsley. He shan't have Donald."

"I'll tell you what I'll do." Alan rallied his tired will. "I'll drive you back and then I'll go over and see if Griffiths is at home. He'll know what is best to do. He'll tell us the dope—what chance you've got, what your defense should be, and all that. And he's a shrewd, hard-headed chap. Had a lot of private practice before he taught. That's the thing to do." And, he thought, it will be a relief to hear some one else say something about Carl's mind.

When in the course of an hour Alan came back to a very silent Kerin, a subdued Susan, he looked rather beaten. He drew up a chair to the open fire before which the women sat, and in answer to Kerin's wordless question came straight to the point.

"Well, Kerin,—maybe this will make you happy. It makes me sick. Griffiths thinks Carl's grounds for divorce are not too sure."

Kerin was instantly upon her feet. "You mean—he can't get it?"

"I mean," Alan looked at her fixedly, "that you've got a fighting chance—if you want to fight. And it would be a fight! You're touching Carl in two places—and one of them is his professional pride. He can't bear to lose a case —any case; and this one probably least of all. He would be laughed at—which I think is one thing Carl couldn't stand. But it's up to you. You do have a fighting case. You went away to keep's virtual, even if not a signed, contract, and the contract was made in good faith, with Carl's consent, when Carl himself was going to leave you. You, wrote to Carl offering to return—your word against his. That's practically what the case will be, your word against his. On his side is the fact that you would undoubtedly have been released from your contract had you asked, that you have since made a new contract, and—that letter, Kerin."

TARZAN'S QUEST By Edgar Rice Burroughs (© United Feature Syndicate, Inc. — Newspaper Feature Service)

The Jungle Lord took new hope when he considered that soon he would effect a junction with his band of mighty Waziri warriors. They were few, but they were strong and fearless. With them at his side he could fight and conquer a vastly superior force.

At that moment, the Waziri were surveying the Kavuri village from the forest. Then they ventured out upon the plain for a better view. Suddenly they halted and listened. A low droning caught their attention. A few seconds later a big plane appeared.

The fliers had been sent out from Nairobi to search for Jane's party, but now the searchers had become lost, and only a little fuel remained in their tanks. The pilot looked below, saw the village and decided to risk a landing on the rocky plain.

As he spiraled down he discerned the Waziri, primitive black savages. Then saw the Kavuri, emerging from their village. These, to his amazement, were white. No, he chose to land near the village, believing the whites would be friendly. Tragic error!

TORONTO STOCK EXCHANGE CLOSE

Toronto, June 1 (CP)—A dribble of selling was the industrials a slightly lower price level on the Toronto market today but these losses were not large. Advances in the base metals, based on substantial gains in the London market for the metals. Noranda, International Nickel and Consolidated Smelters closed higher, brokers adding about four points. Golds, while still off slightly on the day, showed a slightly better tone at the close than at the low period of the day. Oils including the seniors and the juniors registered minor net losses.

Along with the big base metals the close was up for a majority of the cheaper issues including Wright Amulet, Aldermac and Base Metals Corporation. In the silvers, Elder-rado and Mining Corporation recorded minor losses.

Weakness in the golds was based on reported proposals from Europe that the gold export situation be remedied by restrictions on production. Lake Shore declined to 48¼, showing a loss of 3-4 of a point and Dome dropped a half point to 28¾.

Pickle Crow hit $6, selling in fairly heavy volume and among the cheaper issues the close was off a few cents for Jellicoe, Hard Rock, Wright Hargreaves, Little Long Lac, Caribou, Perron, Sullivan and Shawkey.

Penyn golds were heavy, Madsen losing ten cents, Lapa Cadillac 5, Francoeur 5, Gold Eagle 2, Bidgood Kirkland 3 and God's Lake 2.

WALL ST. CLOSE

New York, June 1.—(AP)—Stocks sloughed off fractions to 3 or more points in today's market.

Dealings were unusually slow during the greater part of the session. A few leaders received mild support at intervals, but the majority were no, far from bottom near the final hour.

Transfers were at the rate of less than 800,000 shares.

Board Room Gossip

As supplied to Biggar and Crawford by Financial Service.

MARKET COMMENT

The news at the opening of the market yesterday was of a nature to bring about some selling, advices from London intimating that the situation in Germany with regard to Spain while delicate, was not serious. The reason for selling from the other side was the fear that the instability of a number of houses there, the result of efforts of having not fully corrected the trouble. The next settlement day is June 10th.

The Trader in Barron's states that improvement in the market level over the last month has effected little in the way of thawing out the tremendous number of trading accounts completely frozen by the rigid marginal requirements. Inability of hundreds of speculators to make fresh purchases—without lightening up on old commitments—is another factor that renders difficult an acceleration of operations for the rise. Professionals find it harder than in months to capitalize occasional flurries. Sooner or later the impasse represented by the extinguishment of buying power in the average trader must be broken and, notwithstanding the obvious lack of pressure of late, the cautious-minded are disposed to bide their time in order to determine whether additional liquidation will prove necessary permanently to clear the speculative atmosphere.

The same reasoning is being applied to the status of foreign operations, on the theory that the comparatively moderate turnover in the two weeks prior to late April, which were punctuated by only one 2,500,000-share day and two 2,000,000-share days, may not have been big enough to have economically sound selling that should be expected to flow from the biggest upsez in the London market since 1929. At the same time, it must be admitted that only drabbling liquidation has been coming from overseas, some 8,000 shares on Wednesday from a Paris clique, while arbitrage houses regained sufficient courage to bid Steel common up as the close Friday in anticipation of a possible strong Tuesday.

A general increase in wages applying to all departments went into effect recently in the Atlantic Sugar Refineries, Ltd., in Saint John, N.B., it is learned. The advances became effective from May 9th.

Income Tax Up $16,881,000 for April and May

Ottawa, June 1 (CP)—A net increase in income tax collections of $16,881,247 for the two months ended May, 1937, compared with the same period of 1936 was reported today by Revenue Minister J. L. Ilsley. The respective totals were $76,568,973 and $59,687,726.

The Toronto district was in first place with a total of $27,135,507, an increase compared with the same months last year of $4,671,561. Collections in London were $7,943,730 compared with $1,782,806.

ANGLO-AMERICAN TREATY PLANNED

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, June 1 (C.P. Cable) — Draft proposals for an Anglo-American trade treaty have, it is understood, been submitted to the Canadian delegation at the Imperial Conference with a request that they be considered.

Negotiations are being conducted with Canada's approval and that the proposals would, it is reported, entail amendments to the Ottawa Agreements Act, Pact signed at Ottawa in 1932. Consent of the Dominion Government would be necessary before Anglo-American trade proposals could be put into final stage.

The new Anglo-Canadian agreement, if it passes the British House of Commons for approval as part of the Finance bill, the measure which gives legislative effect to the budget proposals. Under another bill of the treaty the United Kingdom undertakes to grant certain tariff concessions to produce of manufacture of Canada"— certain stated margins of preference.

Produce Prices on Montreal Market

Montreal, June 1—Both butter and cheese markets were a little firmer yesterday. Eggs were steady, poultry was unchanged and potatoes were easier. Receipts were 2,147 cases of eggs, 17 tons of butter and 989 boxes of cheese, excluding truck arrivals.

Western butter to arrive was offered at 24 3-4c. On the open market, the only sales were at 34½c. This was quoted in the afternoon from 34 1-2c to 35c, mainly 34 3-4c, to finish at 34½c. Small fall fresh eggs were quoted by jobbers at 25 1-2c for solids and 24½c for checks. The cheese market was 14 7-8c to 15c, for No. 1 Ontarios, current arrivals.

On the egg market graded shipments, for fresh extras, were 26c spot, at 21 1-2c for A-large, 20½c for A-medium, 19½c for B and 18 1-2c for C, while storage packed car lots were offering at 22 1-2c for A-large, 20 1-2c for 21 1-2c for A-medium, 20 1-2c to 20 1-4c for B, and 18 1-2c to 18 3-4c for C.

WAR DANGER

aggression by either Spanish belligerent against the vessel of any third party was unfounded. That act, he evolved today at a meeting between Foreign Secretary Eden and German Ambassador Joachim Von Ribbentrop.

The proposal was understood to have come from the German envoy and to have been approved by Eden, who immediately took steps to place the project before the French Government.

The plan would also recognize the right of any patrolling ship to open fire on and destroy any force attacking it. Patrol vessels would, moreover, be given the right to enter any Spanish port.

Four-Points on Mutual Aid

Establishment of this system of mutual aid would be accompanied by a clear-cut warning to the Spanish belligerents that the powers intended to protect themselves.

JAMES A. CASKEY, BREEDER, DIES

Prominent Holstein-Friesian Breeder, Well Known in County

Madoc, June 1—(Special)—James Albert Caskey, prominent Holstein-Friesian breeder, and life long resident of Hastings County died at his home one mile east of Madoc early today after an illness which had extended for two years. Mr. Caskey had been a patient in the Belleville hospital for the past two weeks but on Monday evening was taken to his home and he succumbed to his illness a short time afterwards. The late Mr. Caskey was born in the Belleville Settlement, 67 years ago being the son of the late John Caskey and Mary Jane Coulter and 56 years ago removed to his present home, where he has continuously resided and became one of the most progressive farmers in the community. For many years ago he decreased became interested in Holstein-Friesian cattle and shortly after the war his herd became one of the most prominent in Canada. Specializing in the breeding of United States buyers and in some cases received almost a record price for his stock. Not only was the late Mr. Caskey a breeder but he was a pioneer in exercising ideas for the advancement of the breed and he was instrumental in organizing the Holstein-Friesian Society of Hastings County being the first unit from which ring many fine cattle have been offered. He acted as Field Man for many years until ill health prevented his appearance.

Exhibitor of Note

The late Mr. Caskey was an exhibitor of note and his cattle took many prizes at the important fairs in this district. In his community he was well liked and highly respected, by taking an active interest in the social, business and religious life. He served as an elder of St. Peter's Presbyterian Church and when the Union was effected he became an elder of Trinity United Church in Madoc and held that position at the time of his demise. In politics he was a Liberal later joining with the U.F.O. and was a candidate in Hastings North on that ticket being defeated by the late Thomas A. Thompson in 1934.

Surviving are his widow, formerly Jennie L. Way of Mountain View, Prince Edward County, six sons, John G. of Madoc Township, Carl W. of Weston, J. Herbert of Marcelle, Albert H. W. Kenneth and Robert D. H. all at home, one daughter Helen, married at Bloomfield, and two sisters Mrs. John A. Ketcheson and Mrs. Robert Reid both of Belleville. accused can get past this fact, that the door was found at his garage, identified by Mr. Shapiro as belonging to his car.

"The accused gave two answers to police officers, the first force regarding this. First he said he did not know how the door was on his property when told it had been discovered. Secondly he said he had found it on the lower end of his property.

Mr. Collins has argued that the statement of the police there is taken from their notes on the door was in the nature of a threat. I cannot construe it in such. There was no admission or guilt from the accused. All that can be said is that the accused was giving his own explanation of the finding of the door.

"I cannot help but find the accused guilty on the charge and that also the other articles found," delivered Judge Deroche prior to adjournment.

The prosecution was conducted by County Crown Attorney R. C. Collins, K.C., while Mr. A. B. Cochrane, K.C., acted for the defence.

THE WEATHER

DUKE OF WINDSOR TO BE MARRIED BY VICAR

Religious Ceremony For Duke and Mrs. Warfield As Well as Civil Rites

Vicar of St. Paul's of Darlington, England, to Officiate

CHANGE IN PLANS

Wedding Presents Pour in as Happy Couple Await Ceremonies

Monts, France, June 2 (AP) — A clergyman of the Church of England will solemnize the wedding of the Duke of Windsor and Mrs. Wallis Warfield tomorrow with a religious ceremony, Herman Rogers, the couple's spokesman, announced today.

At the same time, Rogers said, the marriage contract signed by the Duke and Mrs. Warfield provided for a separation of their property.

The religious ceremony in the music room of the Chateau de Cande will follow immediately after the civil ceremony conducted by French law and will be performed by Rev. R. Anderson Jardine, Vicar of St. Paul's Church, Darlington, England, who was asked by the Duke to marry him according to the services of the Church of England.

Rogers declined to disclose whether Jardine had received the approval of his Bishop to perform the ceremony. The ecclesiastical superior is the Bishop of Durham, Rt. Rev. Herbert Henson.

Rogers To Give Bride Away.

Rogers will give Mrs. Warfield away in the religious ceremony and Major Edward Dudley Metcalfe, the Duke's Equerry, will be best man. Rogers and Major Metcalfe will act as witness for the couple at the civil ceremony.

Rogers disclosed that Mrs. Warfield will call herself "the bride" in the traditional words of the Church of England service.

Mrs. Warfield, he said, would not carry any flowers.

An altar is being set up in the music room where thirty-five chairs were placed for the guests. Two more were brought into the library for the chateau staff who will hear the Duke and Mrs. Warfield say "I do" through an open door.

Rogers said arrangements for the honeymoon would not be made known until tomorrow. He said only

Duke and Bride-to-Be Rejoiced Over News

Monts, France, June 2.—(AP) A North England parson will give the Duke of Windsor and Wallis Warfield his religious blessing at their wedding tomorrow.

The middle-aged preacher, the Rev. R. Anderson Jardine, vicar of St. Paul's Church, Darlington, Eng., will perform the religious ceremony after the Civil service is read in the Chateau De Cande by Mayor Charles Mercier of Monts.

It came about this way:

The former Monarch VIII was called to the telephone last night, after hope for the desired religious consecration of his marriage had been given up.

An unfamiliar voice said firmly: "I am coming down to marry you."

It was the Rev. Mr. Jardine, known for his work among the laboring class.

The preacher was said to have given the Duke no opportunity to protest.

"I am coming," he insisted.

Today, without being met at Tours railroad station, he taxied to Cande.

"I prefer to die rather than see my king married outside the Church," proclaimed the Rev. Jardine.

The Duke and Mrs. Warfield were said to have been overjoyed.

FARMER IS FOUND DEAD IN FIELD NEAR MALONE

A Neighbor Discovers Body of Thomas English in Ploughed Field

Marmora, June 2—Residents of the Marmora district were shocked to hear on Monday of the discovery on the previous night the body of Thomas English in a field on his farm, which is situated near Malone. Death is believed to have been due to a heart attack, which the deceased suffered while ploughing his field during the afternoon. It is understood that the body was found by Mr. Percy Phillips, a neighbor, who saw the team of the deceased still loose, running about the farm in broken harness. Provincial Officer Diamond of Madoc also investigated the case, which was 72 years of age had lived alone at the farm for several years, subsequent to a residence of many years in the village of Marmora. He was of a very cheery disposition and was well respected in this neighborhood. The body was interred in Zion Cemetery, north Marmora, on Tuesday.

HEATH INSURANCE IS CARRIED IN B. C.

Vancouver, June 2 (CP)—A majority of more than 11,000 today gave British Columbia voters in favor of a "comprehensive health insurance plan." The vote, including nearly 100,000 soldier-voters earning $1,800 a year or less and returning officers counted votes cast yesterday in a province-wide state medicine plebiscite.

SIR ROBERT IMPROVED

Ottawa, June 2 (CP)—Sir Robert Borden, Canada's wartime Prime Minister passed a restful night, Premier Mackenzie King today officiated that the veteran statesman seemed to be slightly improved; but his condition was still serious.

Sir Robert, who will be 83 years old this month, has been confined to bed suffering from a heart attack.

LITTLE FANCIED MID-DAY SUN IS WINNER OF DERBY

Winner by 1½ Lengths Over Sandsprite, Rank Outsiders

TIME IS SLOW

American Owned Perifox Runs Fourth After Being Well up

Epsom, June 2 (CP) — Mid-day Sun, a little fancied colt owned by two women, today won the 158th running of the Derby before a crowd variously estimated at between 250,000 and 500,000, including the King and Queen.

The winner defeated a 100 to 7 shot, Sandsprite, also owned by a woman — Mrs. F. Nagle's — by 1½ lengths to say the turf's blue ribband for England in turning back the strongest foreign threat in years.

The Aga Khan's Le Orient Due was third in the field of twenty-one, with William Woodward's Perifox, surprise post-time favorite, fourth.

The other foremost choices—Evening Sun, St. Mary's Le Kiar and Lord Astor's Cash Book—found the going and the course on the rolling Surrey Downs too much for them and finished out of the money.

Mid-day Sun is owned by Mrs. G. B. Miller in partnership with her brother-in-law, Mr. Nagle. It was the first victory by a woman in the derby since Mr. Jacky Jones Dugan's Gainsborough won the 1918 wartime derby, but that was over the easier Newmarket course.

Favorite Never Figured.

Lord Astor's Cash Book, the overnight favorite, never figured seriously. He ran fifth going around Tattenham corner. About ¼-mile from the finish he had enough and steadily dropped behind.

The winner was ridden by the veteran Michael Beary. It was his first derby victory in sixteen attempts. Previously he had placed on Tantor and Craigangower and had won on Udaipur in the Oaks over the derby course.

Mid-day Sun was trained by Frank Wilkinson, trainer of the royal racing colors of the last two years. He is the master of Prince House, the principal patron of which is the Aga Khan.

Mid-day Sun was third in the two thousand guineas, first of the classic races, but never was given a good chance to win on form, but the public did not take to him readily. He was sold for 1,000 guineas.

Worth $50,800 to Winner.

Mid-day Sun was led into the winner's paddock. The money for the race was about $10,000 ($50,000).

The winner ran the distance in 2:37 3-5, equalling the track record of 2:34.

Marcel Boussac's Goya II., one of the favorites, ran fifth. The American-owned post-time favorite, Perifox, raced in eighth place, the leaders until ¼-mile from home. Then he began to weaken and the last up-hill climb 50 yards from home, he was done and Gordon Sun pulled away under Beary's strong handling.

Perifox had started the start about five minutes. Scarlet Plume, Sandsprite's stable companion, was the first to break, followed by Is Bambina, Goya II., Solfo, Perifox and Le Grand Duc.

DIZZY DEAN SUSPENDED

New York, June 2 (AP) — Ford Frick, president of the National League, today suspended Jerome Herman (Dizzy) Dean indefinitely for "conduct detrimental to the best interests of baseball."

WAR-TIME PREMIER SERIOUSLY ILL

Former Conservative Prime Minister of Canada, Sir Robert Borden (above) is seriously ill according to a physician's report from Ottawa. The war-time premier, who will be 83 years of age on June 9, is suffering from a heart attack. Several of his relatives have been summoned to Ottawa.

Britain's Sincere Friendship Promised Germany to Insure Peace in Europe and the World

Admiralty Considers Sending Warships to Troubled Spanish Area—Eden Explains Efforts of Britain to Bridge Gap in Naval Ring About Spain

ITALY BLOCKS WAY TO SOVIET SHIPS

Berlin, June 2 (AP)—Great Britain, seeking a way out of the Spanish [illegible] held out to Germany today a promise of "sincere" and "useful" friendship if the Reich would assure the peace of Europe.

Foreign officials carefully studied the offer, presented by Sir Nevile Henderson, Britain's new Ambassador to Berlin, in an atmosphere of tension over both the Spanish war and the Roman Catholic Church dispute.

Toward the Holy See, the Reich's attitude was increasingly hostile. Following yesterday's protest to the Vatican, Interpreted generally as the first step toward breaking off relations, the government-controlled press broadly hinted worse was to come.

Henderson, whose government is striving to keep the Spanish crisis isolated, seized the opportunity in an appearance last night at a reception of the German-English Society to make the peace overture—to assure the Reich "Britain is harboring no designs whatever put Germany in an evil hour of a straight jacket".

Britain Wants Peace.

"I can tell you quite definitely and truthfully what and how much England desires," he declared. "It wants peace—peace in Europe and in the world, which certainly saw enough of war in those terrible years from 1914 to 1918.

"Ensure us of peace and peaceful development in Europe, and Germany will see that it has not a more sincere friend—nor, I believe, a more useful—friend in the world than Great Britain."

Italian-German Action.

London, June 2 (CP)—In cabinet room No 10 today Foreign Secretary Eden outlined to Imperial Conference delegates the efforts Great Britain is making to bridge the gap in the naval ring around Spain. So far the gap remains.

Italy and Germany, although strengthening their naval forces in the western Mediterranean, show no inclination to return to the patrol scheme until they receive guarantees that there will be no recurrence this

G. MANLEY TURNER EXPIRES IN CHAIR

Retired C.N.R. Employee Had Been Working in Garden

Death came suddenly to Gilbert Manley Turner about noon this Wednesday, June 2nd, at the residence of Mrs. E. Landry, 285 Bleecker Avenue. Mr. Turner, who resided at 263 Bleecker Avenue was working in his garden directly behind Mrs. Landry's residence and not feeling well he went to the back porch of the Landry residences and sat upon a chair and expired before Dr. Kennedy, who had been summoned, arrived. This morning he was apparently in good health.

The late Mr. Turner, who was in his 66th year, retired from railroading with residence at Cobourg last April and came here with his wife and family to reside with his son, Mr. E. M. Turner, 263 Bleecker Avenue. He was born at Frankford, his parents being the late Mr. and Mrs. James Turner. In religion he was an adherent of the United Church.

Shocking to mourn his loss are his widow, who prior to her marriage was May Frederick; three daughters, Mrs. S. Levo, Saratoga, N.Y.; Mrs. Manley Lowdare, Cobourg, Ont., Miss Jean Turner, Belleville; four sons, Edward M. Turner, Belleville; Francis A. Turner, Western Ontario; John Turner, Belleville and Robert Turner, Belleville; two sisters Mrs. M. Anderson, Belleville and Mrs. E. Smith, Trenton; one brother, William Turner, Frankford.

The body of the late Mr. Turner is resting at the Martin Funeral Home, Church Street. The funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this paper.

T. D. PATTULLO SCORES VICTORY IN B. C. ELECTION

Liberal Party Holds 29 Seats in House of 48

CHALLENGE MET

Conservatives Record Gain Electing Eight Members

Vancouver, June 2.— (CP) Premier Thomas Dufferin Pattullo looked forward today to another five years as head of a Liberal Government in British Columbia, late administration was approved decisively in forty-eight's yesterday's provincial election.

The 64-year-old Premier and at least 29 of his followers were swept on a flood of ballots back to the Legislature of 48 seats. They held 28 seats at dissolution of the 19th Legislature.

The Liberal Party campaigning on a platform of past record and better times, and the British Columbia under Confederation, turned back the challenge of a reorganized Conservative Party, a Co-operative Commonwealth Contingent of 45 candidates, a Social Credit force of 18 and a group of 14 Constructives.

Conservatives Gain

The Conservatives, unrepresented in the last Legislature, made a show of strength and eight members of the party were elected, including the Provincial leader, Dr. Frank Patterson.

Six Co-operative Commonwealth Federation candidates, including Dr. Lyle Telford, party leader, won election. An independent, R. W. Bruhn, was elected in Salmon Arm and the veteran Labor member for Vancouver, Ernest Uphill, was returned.

Only Burnaby, where E. E. Winch, C.C.F., sought re-election in a seven-cornered fight, and Macken Point-Alberni, where Dr. Telford remained in doubt.

Rev. Robert Connell, leader of the Constructive and Chief of the official Opposition of four members in the last Legislature, was defeated in Victoria. Eleven others of his colleagues fell down, with candidates far behind the leaders in Burnaby and Mackenzie it appeared likely none would be elected.

EARHART HEADING TO DUTCH GUIANA

Owing to Short Runway Only Partial Fuel Supply Carried

Miami, Fla., June 2 (AP)—Pan American Airways reported the Amelia Earhart Putnam landed at Paripito, Venezuela, at 11:18 a.m. E.D.T. today after a flight from San Juan, Puerto Rico.

San Juan, Puerto Rico, June 2.— (AP)—Amelia Earhart Putnam, aviatery, twin-motored monoplane into the second leg of her projected flight for Dutch Guiana, 1,000 miles away.

Owing to the shortness of the airfield, Miss Earhart's ship could not take off with its full fuel capacity. Just before departure the pilot said it was most likely she would refuel at Paripito, Venezuela, 650 miles away, if it became the advisable to try to reach Paramaribo in one jump.

Portion of Torso and Other Parts Human Body Found by a Setter Dog

TAKEN TO TORONTO

A portion of what is believed to be the torso and other parts of a human body, including a right arm and right leg believed to be parts of the body of Aubrey Sedore, 21-year-old Northbrook resident, were unearthed yesterday by provincial police, assisted by an Irish Setter dog, with; in fifty or fifty-five yards of the fire in which other parts of a human body were previously found.

Accompanied by Insp..... R. C. Smith, C.I.D., and former Provincial Police Inspector at Belleville, Inspector Frank Gardner yesterday [illegible] to the scene of the discovery of bones, believed to be human remains, in the area of the burned brush and immediately tracked north-easterly in a swamp some 50 yards from the fire, dog stopped in the centre of a small swamp and began to dig into the ground. Inspectors Gardner and Gunnell were following "Ducks" and immediately continued the digging to be rewarded for their efforts in the finding of a part of the torso and other limbs of what they believe to be human remains.

Carefully Preserved.

The remains were carefully gathered into a metal container and covered with formaldehyde for preservative purposes. According to reports received by the Ontario Inspectorate, which headed the finding in a decomposed condition fell from the bones when disturbed in the burning fire.

According to other stories circulating in the vicinity of Northbrook, a dog was shot near the scene of the finding of the parts of the human body some weeks ago. No person saw the animal shot.

Mrs. Aubrey Sedore, 23 Hamilton St., stated today that no definite word in the preliminary hearing of Robert Woodman, 23-year-old neighbor of Sedore's who is being held on a charge of murder in connection with the Sedore case, had been officially set down for trial.

Crown Attorney Ham stated he was unable to comment on the finding yesterday as the bones found there are human remains.

The Provincial Inspector Frank Gardner left for Toronto in possession of the remains this afternoon. They will be given into the custody of Dr. E. R. Frankish medico-legal expert of Ontario government, for examination.

RANGER HAS LEAD

Aboard Coastguard Cutter Argo, off Cape Hatteras (AP)—The yacht Ranger, newly-built Vanderbilt yacht competing for the right to defend the America's Cup, had a lead of three minutes today over Yankee, owned by Gerard B. Lambert, as they turned the Block Island Wheeler at 2:11 p.m. E.D.T.

FOURTEEN SHARE IN SWEEP TICKET

Office Staff of Eight Girls and One Man in on $75,000

Toronto, June 3 (CP)—Prize money of $75,000 fell into the laps of 14 persons in the sizzling downtown office here today when Sandsprite romped home second in the Epsom Derby. All are employees of the Paramount Film Exchange, which "sold Thirteen" they wrote on each of the 13 Irish State Sweepstake tickets they purchased months ago. It seemed a good idea at the time to have 13 in the office syndicate, but "we never" didn't seem so good. After all 13 is an unlucky number.

So the group admitted the office General Manager, J. L. Shuter, to the syndicate. That made 14 and everything was fine. One of their agents was down on Sandsprite, assuring them of $3,325. They unanimously voted to refuse an offer of $3,150 for a half-interest in the ticket.

The original "Lucky Thirteen" were Ivy Baker, Ann Burns, Edna Gordon, Marjorie Foley, Phyllis Hannah, Marion Wainwright, Evelyn McCabe, Mabel Bray, Ruth Cohen, Ed. Burns, Vi. J. O'Neil, Charlie Doerr and Leo J. Laz. Each will collect $5,357.

What will they do with it? Well, Miss Pateman has always wanted to visit England how she's going. The others haven't decided.

East Spain Blockaded.

Rome, June 2 (AP)—Italian warships established a blockade yesterday of Eastern Spain today to prevent arms running munitions to the Spanish government

U. A. W. A. President Says Unfair Practices Charged

Charge Filed With Labor Relations Board Against Ford Motor Co.

150 CASES CITED

Washington June 2. — (AP) Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers, announced today charges of unfair labor practices had been filed with the National Labor Relations board against the Ford Motor Company.

Martin said more than 150 specific cases were cited in the charges at the Detroit-Ford Somerville, Mass., regional offices of the board. He said the charges alleged men were discharged for Union activities.

At the same time Martin announced the U.A.W. would go into organization of Aircraft Industries jointly with the committee for Industrial organization.

Why the Weather?

By Major A. H. Thiesen

Science Service Meteorologist

Heat is a word Man has constituted that he stands cold better than heat. To take this away in June, July and August, especially during a heat wave, is what many have had several days, and its persistence will lower vitality in humans. Even more if it persists the greater is the danger. Those who are in ill health should be especially careful. A heat wave such as Monday, is caused by high air pressure over the Gulf or over the southeast coast, and is accentuated by low pressure over the interior. These conditions force warm air northward, thus the hot wave is brought on.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, June 3—A shallow disturbance is moving southeastward from northwest Ontario and a widespread low area covers the Northwest Territories, the barometer is high over northern Ontario and the western states. Showers have occurred over the St. Lawrence Valley and Georgian Bay, in Manitoba and Saskatchewan though in other districts of the Dominion, fine weather prevails. Local thunderstorms have become quite heavy in some parts of Manitoba in the past 24 hours. Reports were: In the west:

Victoria—Moderate to fresh southwest to northwest winds; fair with light showers in some districts. Thursday moderate to fresh northerly and west winds; mostly fair with stationary or a little higher temperature.

Manitoba—Fair and warm today and Thursday.

Saskatchewan—Moderate to fresh west and west winds; fair and warm today and Thursday.

ELECTRIC MOTOR AFIRE GIVES FIREMEN A RUN

Smoke issuing from the premises of the tobacco store of Mrs. Irvine Front Street, shortly after two o'clock this morning sent fire squads racing to the scene.

Locating the origin of the small blaze in the motor of a refrigeration plant in the store, firemen reached it before any material damage was done. Contents of the store suffered slightly from smoke which emanated from the vicinity of the freezing apparatus.

OLDEST PUBLIC SPEAKER GIVES ANNIVERSARY ADDRESS AT VICTORIA

Believed to be the oldest public speaker in Ontario, Mr. H. J. Pettement of Prince Edward County, who has just attained his ninety-fourth birthday, gave an inspiring and impressive address recently at the accredited anniversary of Victoria Sunday School, an institution he helped found seventy years ago.

Hale and hearty, and possessed of an agile mind for one of his years, Mr. Parliament gave a fine description of the founding of the Sunday School and its progress down through the years. He also spoke on many current affairs, religious and educational, dealing with a vivid word picture of many biblical events.

BAND CONCERT AT CITY CAMP JUNE 8

The season's second open air band concert will be presented by the Belleville Citizens' Band at the city tourist camp on the evening of Tuesday, June 8th, weather permitting. It was decided upon by Alderman H. Greenleaf, Chairman of Tourist and Publicity Committee.

"We hope to have one again on the 22nd of this month, and then one each week for the rest of the week. If this can be managed, it was announced by Ald. Greenleaf.

12 FISHING LICENCES ISSUED TO TOURISTS

Applications for non - resident fishing licenses have been coming slow but steadily since the season's opening day by Mr. Geo. Finch, Front Street issuer for this district. Up to the present date about one dozen special suits have been given out to residents from points south of the border, visitors here since the opening of the pickerel season.

COW WALKS BEFORE APPROACHING AUTO

When a cow wandered from its herd, while being driven across Highway No. 2, three miles east of Belleville yesterday, the cow walked directly into the path of the oncoming automobile, driven by H. N. Ansley, Kingston. Owner of cattle was being driven across the highway by Mr. Stewart when one of the cows broke away from the herd and walked directly in front of Mr. Ansley's car. Motorcycle Patrolman Sam Ervin investigated the accident and discovered no injuries had been caused by Mr. Ansley or the cow, that had been struck. Although the front of the automobile had been damaged to some extent.

NICKEL A TIME!

A new musical "gadget" has invaded the city. This is the electrical phonograph which will play for you your favorite "swing" tune for the price of one later nickel—Canadian. Or if you wish, say five of your favorite melodies played by different bands all you have to do is insert as many nickels as you want time, press a couple of buttons, then sit back and enjoy the music.

The machine is the centre of an interested group of music lovers, in a local restaurant last evening. Colored electric lights play in the interior of the machine, the working part of which is visible. Names of selections are listed on the outside.

All one hears is the music, the strength to press a button and the machine does the rest.

STUDENTS TO ENGLAND NOW IN QUARANTINE

One of the many students of Canada who went to London, England this year as part of the program of the Overseas League, Miss Gwen Ewart M. Hastie, of Deloro, has been detained in England in close quarantine. Ewart, with two other Canadian students, James Thler of Quebec and Batista Boulanger of Alberta, suffered an attack of illness during the last few days of their stay in London. They have been confined to their beds at Cecil House, which was the residence for the overseas boys, a measure of reassurance has been received by Mrs. Hastie.

ANGRY CYCLISTS SETTLE DIFFERENCES AWAY FROM CROWD

A minor accident which at first alarmed them aroused motorists and pedestrians on West Bridge Street early last evening occurred when a group of cyclists came to grief following a spill caused by a member of the group crowding another to the curb.

Bicycles and bodies piled up on the pavement. Cars drew to a stop. A few pedestrians gathered around the scene. Then from the midst emerged two youths with fists swinging. A few right hooks and left swings minued their mark as the lads started to give battle.

Apparently realizing their position, and with an audible mention of the "cops" sounding in their ears, the sidewalk gladiators retired to a duelling ground on a vacant lot near the Bay Bridge where they settled their affair of honour without fear of molestation.

FREE BUS SERVICE BRINGS THRONGS DOWN TO SHOP
First Half Day's Business Marked in Unique Manner
MERCHANTS PLEASED
President Hennessy Has Important Comment on Results
Talking advantage of the free bus service provided by the Retail Merchants' Association, Belleville housewives and other early morning shoppers invaded the downtown sections of the city this morning in one of the largest crowds of the current season. At an early hour, shoppers from the outlying districts of the city filled buses to capacity, disembarking at the entrance door of business on Front Street. Up until noon, eleventh hour potential purchasers moved to Bridge and Pinnacle hold duties, took advantage of the free trip to the business section and thronged stores until closing time.
Meanwhile members of the Retail Merchants' Association waxed enthusiastic over the fine response on the part of the buying public to the service, signifying free transportation.
"We scarcely expected such a reply" was the comment of one of departmental store. "Our business up to late hours is easily fifty per cent over that of the first Wednesday of June in 1936."
"Finest Proposition"
Another stated that "it was the finest thing that has been for the merchants and buying public of Belleville, since Confederation." Mr. Hennessy, President of the Retail Merchants' Association will publish before noon today, "The providing of free bus service by the council to the public the necessity of doing their Wednesday shopping in the morning and if today's business is any criterion, then I will suggest to members of the Association that the free transportation be a regular Wednesday morning service with the bus service to which the half holiday occurs."
"If suitable arrangements can be made with the bus company, and the city council can see its way favorable, I can see no reason why this service should not be offered to the buying public of the city."
Buses jammed to capacity transported shoppers to and from the business sections until an early hour this afternoon.

Parallel Parking to Prevail By Action of City Council

INCLUDE BRIDGE ST.
At a special meeting of the City Council held on Tuesday night, the parking by-law was amended to include parallel parking for Bridge and Front Street and from Pinnacle Street to the Lower Bridge on Bridge Street. As a result of this action had been taken of the merchants on Bridge Street who declared a large majority in favor of parallel parking. Early in April, the council gave the merchants option to have parallel parking on Front Street under a petition filed by Alderman Clarence Clapp and this recommendation was ultimately incorporated in a by-law, but before the by-law was adopted, a number of merchants appeared before the council protesting against this form of parking on Front Street and the council returned to angle parking. The argument advanced by the delegation against parallel parking was to the effect that enough cars could not be handled by parallel parking and traffic would become more congested, than under the old system.
Fixed as Experiment
Later, the council, as an experiment, fixed the area from the intersection of Bridge and Pinnacle to Dundas Street, where only parallel parking would be permitted and although the merchants in this area protested by petition against the legislation the council took no action and fixed the area. The move appeared to be one in the right direction and a great deal of congestion of traffic, especially around the market square, was removed and the council was then asked by the merchants whom this area to take a consensus of opinion as to the possibility of amending the by-law to take in all Front Street and part of Bridge Street. Aldermen Hand and Ballow were delegated to record this request and at its meeting last night, when the names were read in open council, it was found, that 70 merchants on Front Street opposed parallel parking, 5 were opposed and six were neutral. With this favorable expression of opinion, the council had no hesitancy in amending the by-law to include Front and Bridge Street area as a parallel parking zone.
Aldermen Thanked
Mayor Arndt expressed the opinion, and appreciation of the council should be shown to Aldermen Clapp and Hand for their action in this question. Alderman Barlow stated that he was only carrying out his duty and that he did not with any praise for his efforts and Alderman Clapp expressed the same view but the council unanimously adopted a motion expressing their appreciation of the work done. There being no further business the council adjourned. There was no discussion on the question before the by-law was passed. Those present were Mayor Arndt, Aldermen Kennedy, Thompson, Armstrong, Ballow, Hand, Bavgar, Barlow, Clapp and Wills with Alderman Wills in the chair in the committee on by-laws.

TUESDAY'S HEAT A GREAT HELP TO SOFT DRINK SALES
Mid-August heat of the past two days was tempered today by cooling breezes from the north, ending the city and district's first heat wave which sent residents to time-tried remedies to alleviate the sticky warmth. Dispensers of summer-time aids today after a first checkup found no fault with the business that was carried on, especially the sale of many gallons of ice cream and cases of soft drinks and confections comparable with those sold on the hottest days of the season.
Belleville and district's city waterworks system also to cool off it was introduced by the increased consumption of some 300,000 gallons of water extra pumped daily by the pumping plant the past two days. Today showed a decided decrease in the gallonage of water consumed.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Hay Honored By Friends on Anniversary

50 YEARS MARRIED
Stirling, June 2—About twenty guests were entertained at a pay dinner party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Whitehead on Tuesday, June 1st, given in honor of Mrs. Whitehead's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hay of Campbellford, who on that date observed their fiftieth wedding anniversary. The home was artistically decorated for the occasion, with pots of gold and white and flowers of every hue and kind. Throughout the day the honoured couple were the recipients of numerous attractive and useful gifts as well as messages conveying congratulations from friends in all parts of the Dominion. The dinner table was superbly adorned with an abundance of lacy doilies and colorful decorations in the centre of the large table which accommodated all the guests was an attractive wedding cake set beneath an arch of colored tissue draped from the low hanging chandelier. Large bouquets of Talisman roses and golden tulips accentuated the color scheme.
Pioneers of Seymour Township
Mr. and Mrs. Hay were married and joined in marriage on the first day of June fifty years ago in Seymour Township in celebration with radiant enthusiasm. Their first wedding day as recalled by them was stormy and wet. But today the happy couple greeted with the radiance of the warm sun which added greatly to the enjoyment of the occasion. Before her marriage the bride was Miss Anderson, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Anderson of Seymour. The ceremony which united her the wife of the man with whom she has spent fifty happy and useful years was performed in the Presbyterian Manse by the officiating Rev. John Hay, though bearing the identical name of the groom's father was in no way related. Being the children of agriculturists the couple spent their early wedding trip to the happy couple returned to their home in the district where they have spent their entire life and have reared a family of the Scotch pioneer stock from which they sprang. Strong and almost youthful would apply describe the merry couple who still wield an interest in the affairs of a staunch and healthy family. Three sons and two daughters grace the home of parents or convey their good wishes to them on this very important occasion. Mr. Ernest Hay of Regina, Sask.; Mr. Victor Hay of Campbellford, Ont.; Mr. Arnas Hay of Innisfail, Alta., are the sons and the daughters are Mrs. Fred Shuttleford of Campbellford and Mrs. J. S. Whitehead of Stirling; there are also thirteen grandchildren.
Mr. and Mrs. Hay spent their entire life farming in Seymour Township and upon their retirement moved to their present home in Campbellford. The bride who is now seventy years of age and the groom seventy-seven both enjoy fine health and the company of many children who spend a great deal of time together.

REVOLVER OWNED BY M. WICKENS

Stolen from the home of a Murray Township farmer, the revolver used by Chas. Shaver, alias Chas. Johnson, convicted of and convicted Mallorytown bank robber, was positively identified by its owner through the provincial police today, where following the arrest and conviction of Chalmers, or Shaver, as he was known in Murray Township, Belleville, continued investigations yesterday and interviewed Murrey Wickens, Murray Township farmer, who identified the gun as the caliber Iver Johnson revolver used by the Mallorytown bank robber last Saturday as in his property. That revolver has been missing since my hired man, Chas. Shaver, left here last Thursday week," Mr. Wickens said.
Sergeant Thompson further learned that Shaver, who had been employed by Mr. Wickens, as a farm hand, from Jan. 4th to June 1st, left the farm of Mr. Wickens drove Shaver to Trenton, where he planned to take a bus to Toronto to attend the horse race meet. "He assured me he would return in time for seeding, but failed to come back," Mr. Wickens assured the police.
When confronted with the .32 calibre revolver, and shown to Chalmers, Mr. Wickens readily recognized the gun and stated he had registered it in Frankford some years ago. The firearm was taken from Chalmers' possession, he was arrested in a Kingston hotel on Sunday.

Dr. Mathieson Addresses Guild
Dr. Lily B. Mathieson was guest speaker at a special meeting held in Shannonville Rectory, yesterday afternoon by the combined Guilds of Hamilton, Hershimer Ave., Point Anne, Shannonville and Kingsford.
Dr. Mathieson was introduced by Mrs. Roseberry gave a most interesting and valuable talk on "Household First Aid". Her practical discourse was keenly enjoyed by the large gathering and their appreciation was ably expressed in words of thanks by Mrs. W. J. Redner.
The meeting opened at two-thirty, the guests being received by the hostess, Mrs. Allan Pepper. While and mauve lilies were used in the decoration of the Rectory. Mrs. Mathews opened the meeting by prayer followed by a hymn. Delightful readings were given by Mrs. Manons and Mrs. Fraser contributed two fine solos. The Guild sang request hymns. The guests then heard with much interest Dr. Mathieson's address.
Following the program tea was served. The tea table with its handsome lace cloth, was covered with lilacs and pink tapers. Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. W. C. McDonald poured tea assisted by Mrs. Mark, Misses Jean Kent, Teresa Reid, Olive Hewitt and Mrs. Russell Roseberry assisted in serving.

Picton and District

Picton—Largely attended on Monday afternoon at the home of her son-in-law, Albert Francis, Spring St., was the funeral service of Sarah E. Island, widow of the late Lucius Bartholomew whose death occurred May 29th. The deceased was eighty-five years of age and enjoyed the membership of a large circle of relatives and neighbors. Interment was made in Glenwood Cemetery.

Following an illness of some duration the death occurred in P.E.C. Hospital on Sunday, May 30th, from heart trouble of Burton O'Flynn in his sixty-first year. The deceased was born in Rose on Centre Street, Picton for a number of years, but retired to his farm home in Creasy a few years ago. He was a man of genial disposition, a good neighbor and friend and will be greatly missed in the community. The funeral service takes place at his late residence, Creasy, on Thursday afternoon, June 1st with interment taking place in Creasy Cemetery. He is survived by his wife.

Mrs. George Hepburn and Miss Miss Bernice Moore were in Toronto on Wednesday in the interests of the O.D.S.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Jones, Mrs. Walter O'Neil and Miss Alice Lowry motored to Webster, N. Y., on Saturday where they attended the funeral of Mrs. Ernest Minwell which took place on Sunday afternoon.

Twelve Boy Scouts under S. M. Bruce Yarwood enjoyed a "breakfast" hike to the "flats" on McAulley's Mountain on Saturday morning after a camp-fire breakfast was enjoyed baseball and games occupied the morning.

Officers and their wives of the local regiment enjoyed a dinner in the Armouries on Thursday evening. After dinner games were played in the lounge.

The Girl Guides realized a splendid sum from their rummage sale held on Saturday. They are working hard for their camp fund.

On Wednesday of this week half holidays begin in Picton, lasting through June, July and August.

A spectacular blaze at 1.30 Sunday morning destroyed a shed and some machinery on the property of the Picton Coal Co. The fire which started Saturday rapidly before it was discovered was soon extinguished after the firemen arrived.

Little Helen McWilliams entertained annumber of young friends at a birthday party at her home, Union Street, on Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Rose Brooks and three daughters Doris, Delaphine and Beverley of Chilago are expected soon to spend the summer with Mrs. Brooks' parents Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Katz.

Stirling and District

Stirling—St. Andrew's Church at Sunnidale was well filled for the special Young People's service conducted by the Young Men's Bible Class of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Stirling. It was the first of such ventures to be sponsored by the Young People of Sunnidale and was carried through in a most impressive fashion. Nearly thirty Stirling Young Men made up the choir which led in the lively evangelistic service, and the musical numbers were introduced by the President of the Stirling organization, Mr. Ross Thain. Instrumental numbers included a male quartette composed of Reginald Matheson, George Tulloch, Wm. Dermidy and Arthur Duncan singing "Wanderer Child" and a baritone solo by Arthur Duncan "Jesus Lover of My Soul" (Mac-Dougall).

The Scripture lesson was read by Mr. Arthur Gold and Rev. MacMillen led in prayer. An appropriate rendition in verse was rendered by Mr. Roy Juby. The speaker of the evening was Mr. Grant Thain, Science teacher of the Stirling High School and former resident of Bunterse. Speaking on the theme entitled "Brotherly Love" Mr. Thain stated that never in the history of man was the demand for this great virtue more urgent. Amid the turmoil of the present day there springs up on every hand a pronounced nationalism which widens the gap between man and his fellow creatures creating distrust and suspicion rather than Christian fellowship.

Citing the story of the Good Samaritan as a perfect example of Brotherly Love, exemplified by Jesus Christ Himself there remained no other solution to the economic and social problems of the world than an earnest display of Brotherly Love."

Baseball Revived in Stirling

Interest in baseball has been suddenly revived in the village of Stirling through the formation of several sport lovers of the district. It is several years since Stirling had a team. The recently formed hard ball league within the village is creating wide spread interest and a good number of local fans were on hand on Monday night to witness the first of a series of twilight games that will comprise the season's schedule. Four teams will take part in the activities and on Monday the Imperials met the Yankees in a close fought game which ended 6-5 when darkness brought the game to a close at the end of the sixth innings. The revelation of outstanding talent in the infield and particularly the pitching of Bill Long and Hart was a highlight of the evening. The two school boy pitching boys turned in a great performance and some thrilling games will no doubt be witnessed before the schedule is completed.

The teams: Imperials— A. Reid, R. Matheson, F. Fraser, M. Lummiss, F. Butler, B. Shire, J. Ward, Chas. Dracup and Bill Long. The catching and pitching duties performed by Long and Dracup were exceptionally well done and the crowd expressed their approval on more than one occasion. Yankees—Caln, 3rd b; Hulin, 2nd b; Wells, 1st b; G. Bailey, c; Hart, p; Robinson, ss; Wm. Dermidy, c.f; Alcombrach, r.f; Brooks r.f. Final score Imperials 6, Yankees 5. Officials "Shrub" Conley and Maj. Fraser.

Mr. Thos. Bedford, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Bedford, who has been attending Peterboro Normal School returned to his home in Stirling last Thursday. Mr. Bedford's record in academic training for the past year has been unusually successful and because of his excellent year's work he has been granted exemption from final examinations in all subjects of the course.

Rev. J. A. Kofford, who for the past two weeks has been in Toronto undergoing medical treatment returned home on Monday, and is still suffering from the effect of a minor operation which it was necessary for him to undergo, he is hopeful of a rapid recovery to perfect health.

Mrs. John Vilseterie and children Sallie, Frances, arrived in Stirling on Wednesday where they will spend the summer visiting at the home of the former's parents, Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Algar. Mrs. Vilseterie was met at Quebec by her father after a slow voyage across the Atlantic due to heavy fog. The crossing required twelve days.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Gibson, Mr. Lorne Wilson and Miss Mildred Malone spent Sunday visiting in Ottawa and Hull.

Benny and Rae Mason spent the week-end visiting in the home of their grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Sid Mason of Brighton.

Among the local representatives of the United Church of Canada that will attend the 153rd session of the Bay of Quinte Conference to be held this week in Smith's Falls are Messrs. H. C. Martin, J. B. Thompson, C. U. Heath, W. McMechan, Jas. Jaines, E. Beckel of Rawdon and Rev. W.J. Scott of Stirling.

Mr. C. N. LaRoy of Dauphin, Man. left on Monday for Detroit, Mich., where he will visit his son Mr. Burton LaRoy and family. Mr. LaRoy spent the week-end with his brother-in-law Mr. A. W. Andrews and wife at their home on Church Street.

ENTIRE SYSTEM AFFECTED

MR. JOSEPH MANUS

My system was all run down, I couldn't sleep nights and felt terribly nervous," said Mr. Joseph M. Manus, well known and highly respected farmer in recent statement.

"I had a poor appetite and what little I did eat gave me a full, heavy feeling. Gas would form and give me a congested feeling in my chest and I didn't seem to be getting any nourishment out of my food. When I suffered from these attacks, I was short of breath, had dizzy spells, heartburn and constant Rheumatism settled into my joints and muscles and I used to lie awake at night with a dull, aching pain in my back.

"I read a lot about what Syntona had done for others and finally decided to give it a trial and I am certainly glad I did. After taking a few bottles, the rheumatic pains have left me. I can eat anything I want without suffering from that awful bloated feeling and I haven't had a dizzy spell lately. My complexion is better. I am free of headaches which used to trouble me a lot. It is a grand feeling to get a good night's sleep and get up in the morning feeling rested. I think Syntona is a real good medicine and am glad to recommend it to anyone suffering as I did."

Local men and women can get Syntona in Belleville at Delan's Drug Store. Leaflet upon getting Syntone Syntona and avoid disappointment.

"THE HOUSE OF QUALITY"

Nations of the world are looking with apprehension at the German naval building campaign following the end of additional ships to reinforce their fighting units in Spanish waters after the German destruction of Almeria. The addition of more German ships and Germany's withdrawal from the non-intervention pact has caused international tension which may embroil many European nations in a general conflict. To the latest move the British government has replied by ordering the battleship Rodney and the aircraft carrier Ark Royal to join the Mediterranean fleet. The Rodney is the largest battleship afloat and the Ark Royal is the largest aircraft carrier. The plan would have the entire British fleet patrolling Spanish waters to act as protector or any third party ship and would also give the vessels of the German fleet—patrol vessels the right to enter any Spanish port. This would avoid incidents similar to that which caused the bombing of the German battleship Deutschland as it lay in a rebel-held port. Some of the Deutschland is one of the larger fighters—are shown above.

Loyalist aeroplanes to bomb the German battleship Deutschland as it lay in a rebel-held port. Some of the Deutschland is one of the larger fighters—are shown above.

Sir Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, and German Ambassador Joachim von Ribbentrop have evolved a plan which is expected to relieve the tension now binding Europe.

DR. ADLER

The name of Alfred Adler of Vienna is indissolubly linked with the exploration of the subconscious mind. He was one of the best known of the psychologists of this age. It is said that he coined the phrase, which has been overworked, "inferiority complex" and also the words "over-compensation," the faculty to overcome by sheer will-power and even to excel through this exertion.

The twentieth century has done considerable study on the influence of the mind over the body. This has always been recognized but little explored. As a result toere has been an inrush of others following up the scientific seekers after truth. One has only to think of the power of suggestion over the natives of the African jungles, how the affect of the tomtom excites the aborigines of Africa almost to frenzy. The discoveries of the past generation in the field of the mind led followers to capitalize on these to find all sorts of diseases and catch names for real and imaginary maladies of human beings. In this age which is sophisticated to the extent that everyone has a smattering of science and is somehow or other self-conscious of real or imagibary shortcomings in health, the field is very fertile for those who follow in the train of the great seekers like Adler. One writer says that the follo wers of the scientific men have no more relationship to psychology than the astrologist of today has to the searcher of the heavens, the astronomer. These followers love to suggest and speak of magic and the field is well prepared for the reception of their idea. They thrive as is expected even in this super-scientific age.

The science which Adler explored is one which will bring untold discoveries to light as research is pressed. Here is the revelation of wonders and miracles, not in the exhibition of magic. The true psychologist doesc not come out into the street to declare his work as a spieler or barker does on the rear of a motorcar or on soap box in the market place. He does not seek notoriety.

The names of these are not to be mentioned along with true explorers.

How far the science of the mind will go, no one can foretell. It will no doubt find many things. When the light has been more fully thrown into the dark recesses of the mind, the first discoveries which have been seized upon by the unitiated will not occupy the place they do and there will it is hoped, not be the opportunity to exploit as there is today.

Dr. Adler was a great psychologist for the love of the study of human nature.

CHALLENGE TO YOUTH

Leadership of character and faith in democracy was the appeal made by Dr. Minot Simons, pastor of All Souls Unitarian Church, New York, to the youth of the day who said that Premier Stanley Baldwin's recent address to the Imperial Youth Congress might very well be addressed to the youth of the United States. "Our youth must be told that responsibilities are being handed on to them not as governors of the future but as trustees of their heritage. They must maintain and safeguard that heritage. The inestimable privilege of freedom has come to them at great cost and if they betray it they betray not only their own forefathers but their own children."

He went on to say "Failures in self-government are not remedied by giving up self-government but by a recuperation and restoration of self-government. A mere expression of fine sentiment or of noble gratitude for past sacrifices, a real shame for present abuses and a real determination to resist the dangers to our democracy will get us somewhere."

And so Saxon nations safeguard peace of the world, said Rev. Dr. John Bonnell at Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York.

That several of the Anglo-Saxon nations countries, notably the United States and Great Britain, are now co-operating is the reason that the world has been prevented from entering upon another war, he said. "Despite the bad indications I do not feel that another war is inevitable or imminent. England and United States, possessing as they do, so many common heritages of culture and freedom, are, in their combined strength, the best safeguard against another conflagration."

FOR THOSE AHEAD

Do you feel the longing ache
For the storied past;
And the fleeting days which take Things you want to last?

Backward on the road of time
Can you not yet see;
Some set spot of summer clime
Where you long to be?

Do you not remember still
From the long ago;
That secluded rippling rill
Where sweet flowers grow?

In your day-dream fantasies
Can you vision yet;
Those outstanding reveries
You will not forget?

Through these haunting after-years
Schooled by wisdom's tongue;
Smiling do you check your tears
Bravely for the young?

Do you then your virtue strong
Take, and rest content;
Shall you not have youth's own song
For your cerement?

THIS IS THE SORT OF WEATHER THAT MAKES STRONG MEN WILT and weak men lilt—if you know what we mean —we don't. It's the heat. One common thought brought back by the weather is the memory of the "old swimming hole". Of the hot lazy days when we stripped for action, down to a pair of trousers held uncertainly by one suspender and and perchaps a rusty nail, no shoes or stockings and a "cow's breakfast" straw hat, cost not to exceed two bits. You remember the long, shady lane, the field where the sun beat down so fiercely and we used to play was the desert full of frightful possibilities and killing thirst which had to be negotiated in zig time lest the sun god smite you. Then the long, lazy hours laying around the swimming hole when we weren't in the water—no clothes, no woes, no wrrries, no school bell to suggest unpleasant thoughts —just the earth and the sky, the beautiful present unmarred by any unpleasant past, and a brilliant future forecast by youth's boundless optimism. There should be a trek back to the old swimming 'ole every summer by the oldsters who could be guests of the youngsters and learn all the new twists of "Chaw, Chaw, Roast Beef," which being interrupted means to tie knots in shirts and other garments while the owners are in the water.

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE BALTIMORE, MARYLAND, SUN, which commemorated the hundredth anniversary of the establishment of that newspaper with its issue of May 17. The Sun is neatly printed, following in the main the style of the New York Sun, the famous Dana newspaper, which cradled many journalistic cubs who afterward achieved fame in the writing world. The Baltimore Sun is printed on good paper, being "Quality Newsprint" supplied by St. Maurice Valley Paper Company, Limited, Montreal, Canada. The motto of the Baltimore Sun is "Light for All" and the Sun newspapers have always been a source of light and leading for the city of Baltimore in the past one hundred years. Being over one hundred years old ourselves we welcome the Baltimore Sun into the Century Club.

UNREPENTANT

At a nursery tea a small boy had declined prunes so vociferously as to raise the whole matter to one of discipline rather than a pardonable foible. His mother was old-fashioned, and told him that God would probably be displeased at his display of disobedience.

Later in the evening there came a heavy thunderstorm, and mother grasped the opportunity of going upstairs to heal the breach. She found the mutineer standing in front of the window in an attitude of disgust.

"Huh!" he said defiantly, as a terrific peal of thunder shook the house, "all that fuss about four prunes."

The County of Hastings House of Refuge on the Kingston Road near the city is nearing completion.

Forty one years ago today the heroic Queen's Own met the Fenians at Ridgway and gave them a run for their money.

Mr. Thomas Blaind is home from Rochester, N.Y., on a short visit.

Chief of Police Snider of Deseronto was in town today.

Mr. James Dunn of Deseronto, formerly of Belleville, was in town yesterday.

Mr. A. Shearing will leave for Montreal tomorrow to visit his son.

Mr. Harry Smith, Rochester, N. Y., spent yesterday here with his parents.

40 YEARS AGO

JUNE 2nd., 1897

A most exciting cricket game was played upon the D. & D. Institute grounds yesterday between the City team and the Albert College team, the result was a score of 1 to 0 in favor of Albert College. Mr. Douglass of the D. & D. acted as referee. The following composed the teams: City team — McLeay, Hawkins, Marsh, Jamieson, Brackenridge, Diamond, Lang, Bogart, Kirke, Conger, Roue. Albert College—Pearson, Porter, Brownlee, Hamilton, Shore, Branscombe, Colling, McIrvine, Barberee Hancock, Van Skiver. For the City team Brackenridge, Hawkins, Bogart, Lang, Diamond and Kelso put up a good game and the playing of the others was by no means ragged, as the Albert College team particular mention should be made of the work of Shore, Branscombe, Brownlee, Barberee and Van Skiver. The game may be protested by the City team officials.

Mr. Harry Hanwell of this city has received an appointment in the service of the Bank of Montreal at Guelph.

FIRE DESTROYS LAFFERTY BARN

Fine Barn Just West of Trenton Burned Yesterday—No Livestock Loss

Trenton, June 2 (Special)—Fire of unknown origin burned Harry Lafferty's barn on the York road late yesterday afternoon, destroying in the neighborhood of 300 bushels of oats and barley, 300 apple barrels and 2,000 feet of hard wood stored in the building. Ten tons of hay were also consumed by the flames which leaped high in the air and swept through the frame structure before a bucket brigade could be of any assistance. In twenty minutes the spot where the barn was situated was a heap of smouldering ruins. Luckily Mr. Lafferty's horses and cows were in the field at the time the fire started. A nearby neighbor, Mrs. George Little discovered the fire and informed members of the community who responded in a very few minutes to form a bucket brigade. Mr. Lafferty and his two sons, William and Harry were trimming apple trees in an orchard about a mile and a half north of the barn. William noticed the fire and hurried to tell his father and brother. The flames were beyond control when they arrived at the scene. It was estimated that the loss was close to $2000, a portion of which is covered by insurance.

Cups Presented

Annual banquet and presentation of carpetball trophies took place in the Royal Hotel on Friday night. Kenneth Couch, president of the Chamber of Commerce made the presentations. To Charles Baker, captain of Hinde and Dauch team went the Tip Top Tailor cup and Charles Hartwell, captain of the Loose Leaf bowlers, received the Quinte Sun trophy.

Ladies Golf

Golf course was a refreshing rendezvous from the busy downtown sector yesterday. A group of the ladies competed in Mother Goose afternoon golf matches and played splendid games on the scenic course. Winners in the two events were Mrs. James Cox, hidden hole competition and Mrs. Ted Reid, putting. Lunch was served on the spacious porch of the club house and Mrs. D. MacDonald and Miss Flossie Batchelor were hostesses.

Locks Open Monday

When the motor boat, Sparkle of Saint Louis passed through No. 1 lock on the Trent Canal this morning, the season on the lower Trent waterways system officially opened for another season. The cruiser was captained by T. T. Sparks of St. Louis and he was accompanied by his wife and young daughter and son. The Spark family have travelled over 5000 miles by boat since last spring. They came down the Mississippi, through the Gulf of Mexico and up the Atlantic seaboard. They expect to conclude their trip late in October by that time will have covered about 6,000 miles.

Jean Currie, Reginald Rouse, Orval Mulvihill and Robert MacFarland each were assessed the usual fine for speeding. Stewart Sagett was granted an enlargement till June 4. Sagett was charged with harboring a dog without a license.

Flyers Suffer Defeat

An R.C.A.F. nine took an 8 to 4 trimming at the hands of a Capital Theatre Softball Club at Sayshore diamond Monday night. Largest number of fans this season watched the Camera men perform like a well oiled machine behind the steady pitching of their ace hurler, Bruce Burtt. Burtt featured a speed ball with a nice drop that struck out six opposing batters. Gibson handled the mound duties for the losers and although his pitching was hitless, in spots he lacked control on the pinches. The airforce hillman, whiffed four. In the last of the sixth inning, Gibson blasted one of Burtt's deliveries for a home run.

Little Benny's Note Book

This afternoon I went to get my hair cut, the big barber cutting it and saying to the little barber, Give me the loan of your clippers, will you. Joe, mine are going sour on me.

Okay but be careful of them, Fred, the little barber said. You're naturely hard on clippers and thinkering what I' werld was coming here pair just set me back 2 dollers and 90 cents. Can you imagine that, Fred, and I remember when I could get the greatest pair of clippers on the market for 2 fifty, and it aint only clippers, Fred. Every pound of butter the wife brings home she brings home less and less, and it aint only butter, Fred. What I mean is, Fred, what aint it? he said.

I wish I knew, Joe. I'd got out of the store some just for the old fashion sensation, the big barber said. But what do you expect, Joe? The times has all made these things have been boosting wages all around, and dont you think they want a little fun in return? You see, if big bizzness didn't raise price they'd have to slang the loss of the higher wages and the public of big bizzness is, Millions for overhead but not one cent for standing a loss. Us consumers may be a big help to those fellows, Joe, he said.

Anyways, I wish the good old times was back again, the little barber said, and the big one said, I remember them wen Joe. I never pass a butcher store with out saying Special Today, Ribs of Beef 40 Cents a Pound but what I think, any mother buying good roast beef for 20 cents a pound and went feeling glad of it.

BASQUE TROOPS BEATEN FOLLOWING HEAVY COUNTER ATTACK

A heavy counter attack by Basque troops in northern Spain in order to regain lish ground along the Bay of Biscay front was repelled by rebel forces, an insurgent report claims. The rebel troops have been slowly moving toward the "iron ring" in which the Basques are reljnu, and which is one of the last projections for the Basque capital of Bilbao. The Basque soldier above shows in his face the determination he and his comrades are showing in their battle against the forces of General Emilio Mola.

TORONTO STOCK EXCHANGE (Close)

Toronto, June 3 (CP)—A brief rally in the morning period put Toronto Exchange listings on the up side for the day although the gains were pared in the slow afternoon trading. Favorable news about gold from London sent the yellow metal shares into a rising movement accompanied by active buying but there appeared to be plenty of stock for sale and the advance faded out. At the close the Base Metals, Utilities, Foods, Steels and Miscellaneous issues were higher on the whole and the oils were irregularly higher.

Prices for the Base Metal shares stood up in the dull action of the afternoon. International Nickel, Hudson Bay and Noranda holding gains of 1 to 1¼ points and smaller gains showing for Consolidated Smelters, Falconbridge, Ventures and Aldermac.

Some of the big oils, British American and Imperial registered minor gains and in the western group closing prices were up a few cents for Calgary-Edmonton, Calmont, Foothills, Home, Model and Okalta.

Brazilian was taken in substantial volume on an advance of ¾ to 34¾, silent issues to do better were Burlington, Dominion Steel and Combination Pounders and in the implements the Massey-Harris stocks were higher and Waterloo Manufacturing was off a mine fraction.

WALL STREET CLOSE

New York, June 3—(AP)—A thin Stock Market climbed fractions to a point or a few points higher into mild selling during the afternoon.

Although enthusiasm was warned somewhat by the doubtful tone of amicable settlement of the latest Spanish crisis and by unfavorable Steel Companies tended to dull traders' appetites for shares. Transfers were about 600,000 shares.

Board Room Gossip

As supplied to Biggar and Crawford by Financial Service.

MARKET COMMENT

The international news yesterday morning was somewhat more heartening and the market immediately reflected this. It would appear as if the German-Czech crisis has passed with the threat of an international mess in Europe. What the market now needs is some definite pronouncement on the "gold question" which will put an end, at least for the present, to the uncertainty which has been the principal factor for the yellow metal is in the offing.

The uppermost problem in every speculator's and investor's mind is whether this is the beginning of a long drawn out decline or whether it is just a correction of an overbought condition pending the rally. In our opinion, states a New York market commentator, that we are in an intermediate bull cycle. We could marshal many reasons on which to base this opinion but will confine ourselves to one broad discussion.

The American dollar is still undervalued. An ounce of gold converted into thirty-five American paper dollars still buys more than it can buy anywhere else in the world. The American monetary system has been inoculated with gold certificates and billions of bank credit expansion which, while being lifted from the public revolutionarily should bring about a higher price level all around. The United States does not intend to go back backward by lowering the price of gold. Nor does any one

Weddings

SIMPSON—REDNER

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of the bride, 32 Bridge Street West, yesterday morning, when Winnifred Phyllis, daughter of Mrs. Redner, and the late J. Edgar Redner, became the bride of Mr. Robert Graham Simpson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Simpson, Dundas Street. Rev. R. E. Herman, pastor of Holloway Street United Church, officiated at the ceremony which took place at seven o'clock.

Peonies, lilacs and other spring flowers made a lovely setting for the ceremony. The bride who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. J. Arthur Redner, wore white sheer crepe over taffeta and carried Talisman roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Florence Redner, who wore pink sheer crepe over taffeta, and carried deep pink roses. Mr. Arthur Meeks was groomsman. Wedding music was played by Miss Beatrice Simpson.

Luncheon was served to immediate friends and relatives. Mrs. Redner, mother of the bride, wore navy blue chiffon crepe, while Mrs. Simpson, mother of the groom, wore grey and white figured crepe.

Mr. and Mrs. Simpson will reside in Belleville.

When Britain's Radio Fans Heard 'The Whole Fleet's Lit Up'

This gorgeous scene, with Britain's coronation review, is the scene which inspired the now historic radio line "The whole fleet's lit Up". So overcome was the retired naval-officer selected by the British Broadcasting Company to detail the scene for English radio listeners that all he could think of to say was the phrase the air. Twenty-four hours later all England was joyfully crying, "The Fleet's Lit Up". The magnificent display of mass lighting and pyrotechnics marked the first official naval review that His Majesty had attended since his accession to the throne.

DAILY SHORT STORY

Martha, the Candy Girl

By Jane Osborn

When Martha was in college she made up her mind that if she ever did have to earn her own living she would do it in some sort of business that didn't attract other college graduates. Thus she, with her superior education, would compete only with obviously inferior, uneducated people and her financial success would be assured. Martha was the one member of her family who had gone to college—that was doubtless why she held such an exalted idea of the value of the letters for which she was working. Until the end of her senior year there didn't seem to be the slightest chance that she ever would have to earn her own living. She had inherited from her father a large tracts of farm land—but someone through an involvement of business that Martha couldn't quite understand, any immediate profits from her estate were out of the question.

Martha took stock of her accomplishments. All round the campus she was known as the candy girl. That settled it. If there was one thing she excelled in it was in making candy. Undoubtedly she had a gift—and tous gift she would put to good account. She had never heard of a man or woman with a college degree going into the candy business. The vast majority of her competitors in this business would not be blessed with her superior education.

On the last day of college Bertram Ross had proposed to Martha. A few days before another of her class had proposed. Two or three others would have done the same if she had given them an opportunity. But Martha was not especially impressed by this epidemic of proposals. She felt that her popularity was due to no personal charms, but rather to her ability to make candy. So she told Bertram Ross that she didn't want to marry him because she wanted to go into the candy business.

All that summer Martha worked at her scheme. She made a little candy in a little room she had rented in the city and she sold it at the exchanges and at the soda counters of one or two grocery stores. She made enough barely to pay expenses. She couldn't meet much more of a demand until she had set up a larger workroom and hired a girl or two to help with the work, and she couldn't afford to expand her plant in this way unless she was assured of the success of Martha's candy, but the buying agent said he would not consider the deal at a higher figure and Martha knew he meant it. He wanted to have her sign at once but Martha held back—she would have to do a little figuring first.

Martha went slately back to her dingy workroom and read the proposed contract over carefully. She had stopped to get wholesale prices on her way home. Some things in the contract she did not quite understand. Then she knew that Bertram Ross was working in a law office, studying law at the same time. He could easily explain the few things she didn't understand in the contract. Martha knew Bertram was in the same city but he had said that since he would not marry him he didn't want to see her. He had seemed so incredulous about her plans that she wanted him to go to his contract office—wanted to show him that within a few months she had won success.

So it was that the next day Bertram Ross called at Martha's candy kitchen to talk over the contract. Martha gave a little gasp as he appeared. He looked handsome how very attractive he really was.

With the contract spread out on one of the work tables and Martha bending over it in her dark work smock they read it slowly together. Bertram asked her a few questions and did some quick figuring. Then he looked up at Martha.

"It can't be done," he said. "They tried to sew you up with a losing deal. Either you have got to use less expensive materials or you've got to get more for your candy, and if you sign this contract and don't make good you'll be in a pretty fix."

Martha began very gently to cry. The whole fabric of her dreams seemed to fade away and all she knew or cared about just then was that Bertram was beside her, that he had his arms around her, and that he was telling her that even while he was studying law he could afford to support her as his wife.

"You know that early marriages even on a limited income turn out well—you learned that in college," Bertram told her.

"I know I did," agreed Martha happily.

'Romeo and Juliet' Shows Studios Can Really Do Fine Job

Production's Merit at Estab lished Fact, Critic Says— But it's Earning P ower (and That's Important) Still Is a Question.

By John Alden
Film Critic

Motion picture tragedy grow tired of getting a spanking at the hands of certain sections of the movie-going gentry who wade into films generally on grounds of being a lot of balderdash bought forth to cajole patrons out of hard-earned money, and occasionally they get wrought up and dish out a show that rouses that eternal quality in the human heart and gives evidence of being greatness of the industry.

And with "Romeo and Juliet" whatever may be its ultimate success measured in terms of what the fat boys see in the way of dividends, Hollywood comes across with one of those rare pictures which is not the result of mere good fortune but the outcome of conscious and painstaking cast of all the devices and mental ingenuity that the film centre has mustered during its brief but meteoric existence.

Many a seasoned stage folks looked askance at the movies as some kind of burlesqued pattern of what they were doing in the legit and rapidly growing to a close. A few die-hards cling to this one-time dominating tenet of the trouper but the ascent of motion pictures into theatrical firmament with such productions, it can hardly be denied there is something besides mumbo-jumbo and hocus-pocus to be ground out by the cameras.

As with the theatre, there must be some substantial financial return on the investments. However, and a show has got to be perfect, else Joe Dokes is going to wonder what it's all about especially when he is told that he is viewing something that is classic literature—and when Joe Dokes is forced to cudgel his brains over a movie, then it's time to call a halt.

But the aforementioned average patron is well thought of in Hollywood. Where arty folk might overlook enough spots or else have no trouble following the trend despite lack of clarity, good burghers of the towns are going to relax and let the picture take care of thoughts processes. This it is that those characteristics of Shakespeare have put even students in a quandry have been carefully ironed out or polished up with the deftness of a modern language professor, and the net has been a great loss in intrinsic value but a tremendous gain in popular appeal.

The greatest love story in history would not be too strong a title, but the title of the picture is the title to it. In the title roles, Leslie Howard and Norma Shearer present the best performances of their already brilliant careers. Daring is the word to describe those that brings the famed characters to the public with sensible taste without lack of color. Norma Shearer offers a Juliet with which the most discriminating director will be satisfied.

But why go into the cast? A picture is the complete matter if sufficient for the usual movie-goer and unless someone is distinctly pediculous in his portrayal why split hairs because Barrymore mouths a verb or somnolent Aherne fritters too much with his hands. Needless to say, the whole bunch have the accolade with the merit badge for Andy Devine and Edna May Oliver who do well in exceptionally fast company.

What might have been a cameraman's orgy, a costumer's style show or a producers opportunity to be stupendous, is turned in an excellent show by Hollywood's best—the lads with the five-figured weekly pay checks. It should be a "must" picture and it starts at the Belle theatre today (Wednesday) for three days, matinee daily.

IT COSTS LESS * THAN YOU THINK TO PAINT!

Plan now to beautify your home!

PAINTING really does cost less than most people think! Especially when you consider the necessary protection paint gives your home! But to get your money's worth of protection, make sure you get a paint really designed for the kind of job you have. Canadian Industries Limited has unequalled chemical research facilities to fit every paint exactly to its purpose. There are probably several paint jobs it would pay you to discuss with your C-I-L dealer.

* Modern chemical research has made painting cost less! The money you save on roof repainting can more than pay for a new roof. Ask your C-I-L dealer about Pyramid Paint, for roofs and walls. It is far more economical than ordinary paint, because the amount of oil in it is about one-half that of ordinary paint.

SIXTEEN RECORDS AT O.S.D. SCHOOL BROKEN AT MEET

Girl Athletes Smashed Nine And The Boys Seven

IDEAL WEATHER

Michael Melynk is Senior Champ For Boys And K. Pratley For Girls

The feminine athletes at the Ontario Institute for the Deaf proved more prolific at establishing new track standards and records at their annual field and track meet, held at the O.S.D. campus yesterday, than did their boy student-athletes. The girls broke nine existing school records while the boys found the old standards rather difficult and only broke seven.

In the senior boys' division Albert Lavelle tossed the shot 36 feet 6 3-4 inches for a new school record, while in the intermediate division Willie Kinkiat cleared 4 feet 10 inches in the running high jump to break the old school record. In the junior division where the most points of the records were broken, Bruce May established a new 100 yard dash record of 11 seconds and also a new running broad jump. Jack Mierkiek threw the junior shot-put 27 feet 11 1-2 inches and the discus 78 feet 10 inches for new records while Glen Robertson cleared 7 feet 8 inches in the junior pole vault.

In the senior girls' division Kathleen Pratley rose to athletic heights to break five existing records, the 75 yard dash, 100 yard dash, running broad jump, softball throw and running high jump for senior girls. Loretta Bonneville set a new intermediate girls' record for the 100 yard dash and Myra Robertson a new high for the running high jump in this group. The junior girls' category Anna Hedden broke the running high jump record, while Eleanor Charron duplicated this feat in the softball throw.

Ideal Weather

The O.S.D. field day was completed under ideal weather conditions and splendid surroundings. Instructor Frank Pegram introducing for the first time in this community hurdle running, improved interesting as well as to develop competition in the field of sport.

The O.S.D. field day champions were—senior girls: Kathleen Pratley; intermediate girls: Loretta Bonneville; junior girls: Anna Hedden; senior boys: Michael Melynk and Lee Bostnari (tied), Melynk gaining the award by the virtue of points gained during the winter sports festival held last January; intermediate: Steve Graziano and Junior: Bruce May.

The athletic meet was announced by W. J. Morrison, B.A., School superintendent and under the direction of Miss Connell, girls' athletic director and Mr. Frank Oughtenhaus, supervisor of boys' athletics. Miss F. Bell conducted the duties of clerk of the course for all groups while Ed Lally, C. Straiton, A. Clare, Mr. Morrison, Mr. Gordon and all other members of the O.S.D. teaching staff added their assistance to make the annual field day the marked success it enjoyed.

HURLER HOMERS TO WIN GAME

Oswego Scores Eighth Straight Victory by Clout

(By the Canadian Press)

Pitchers generally aren't supposed to be anything out of the ordinary as batters but Owan Baker of Oswego Netherlands evidently hadn't heard anything about it.

Baker teed off on one of George Rahell's slants yesterday for an 11th inning homer that gave the Nets their eighth straight victory, a 5-3 win against Rome Colonels. In the day's only other game Brockville Athletics rewalled out an 11-3 triumph over Smith's Falls.

The stage couldn't have been set better for Baker's winning blow. The Terriers 9 to 6, the winners scoring more consistently in victory.

TRUETT SEWELL PITCHES THIRD SHUTOUT OF YEAR

TORONTO LEAFS WIN

Victory Moves Team /Back Into Tie For Fourth Place

By The Associated Press

Montreal Royals, particularly Mervin Duke, with Truett (Red) Sewell, the Buffalo Bisons' tall right-hander blanked the locals 2-0 in the Queen Beer.

Sewell has faced the Royals twice this season, and the Montrealers have yet to make a run. In both instances he has been opposed on the mound by Duke. In the first encounter Sewell won 1-0, but Duke, Sewell won a hard-fought duel by the score of 2-0. Last night the Buffalo hurler blanked the Royals with four hits for a 3-0 victory.

Chic Hafey batted in one for the Royals to take. They had gone on after the third and have been in with their next nine starts and were casting ambitious eyes toward the number below the cellar leaders of the International League.

For six innings it appeared the game would be a duplicate of their first meeting. Duke had the better line-ups—Anne-Reid, Howard, Bennett, Haines, H. Brant, Skinner, Flies, K. Brant and Gilmour.

Score by innings—

Pt. Anne—1 0 1 5 0 1 0—8

Ken J. Colling

What Belleville really needs is a few more champions of sport the calibre of P. C. MacLaurin, the Principal of our Belleville College-ate. Immediately upon his arrival that Billie Hughes one of Canada's outstanding athletic coaches, was in our midst Mr. MacLaurin immediately contacted Mr. Hughes in regards to the furthering of rugby football in Belleville. Mr. MacLaurin personally sent out 180 letters to what he considered sports-minded persons in Belleville. The recipients were invited to meet him at the Y.M.O.A. last night. What was the result? By actual count there were nine on hand. Do the alleged-minded sport fans of this city realize what a break we are receiving in the presence of Mr. Hughes in our midst? Fortunately Mr. Hughes' employers gave him to this district in his work. It is seldom that a small community such as Belleville, is afforded such an outstanding athletic coaching celebrity without as outlay of finance.

After hearing Billie Hughes' talk on the possibilities of sponsoring Rugby football in Belleville, Mac Laurin and his cohorts struck upon a plan. The local rugby football enthusiasts intend to contact all service clubs, business men, industrial firms and sports-minded men and organizations in Belleville and thereby hope to re-vivate rugby to a higher sport in the community. Incidentally we can recommend the facilities of the Y.M.C.A. for the team games played and providing Mr. Hughes remains in our midst it will be necessary, necessary co-operation, there is little doubt but that Belleville will soon rise to the lofty realm of sportdom it once enjoyed.

The Belleville Rovers did not open the 1936 baseball season "minus the R.C.A.F. "Flyers" in Trenton last evening as originally scheduled. Why? Well the "Airmen", it seems, cannot field a team of guided-aerial artists until December 31st. Will Peterboro opening the season with a victory over Cobourg on Monday night it seems that the Central Lacrosse loop is badly in need of new home facilities. Belleville, Peterboro and Oshawa all wanting an extension before opening their season at home. In the meantime the Lilly-lords City supremacy seem to be holding the world known bag, such is lacrosse in Eastern Ontario.

Eddie Logan, President of the Belleville Kiwanis Club, alertly announced his fellow-members at the Kiwanis Club luncheon Monday last, stating, "We are sponsoring junior baseball in Belleville and it is the duty of each and every member to be present and give their support and time to make the furtherance of this team in Belleville," pointed out President Eddie. "Atta boy Eddie" but not all the Club members signified their intentions of taking in Wright's Pavilion at Kiwanis Junior game at the Fair grounds.

"A city is never any greater than the interest it takes in the support and sponsoring of good wholesome outdoor sport," we once heard an authority on sports state and truly so. Here's an isolate; case to demonstrate how much some people think of out-of-doors sport. Coach Twig Woodley has had a 14-year lad working out with his junior baseball club every night this Spring. The kid is a little too young and needs to fill out a bit before playing junior ball. Although his heart is in the game. At any rate Skipper Woodley was loth to turn the youngster loose the other night and informed him of the circumstances. "The look on that poor kid's face was too much for me and we're going to carry him until he's big enough to play ball. It almost broke his heart when I told him we could not carry him any longer, but when we changed our minds, as the poet tickled Kid in town," stated Coach Woodley.

It is the type of youthful athletes like this who will be stars some day. Coach Woodley suggested to the kid he play softball for a year or two before trying baseball. "Did you ever hear of Babe Ruth, Mickey Cochrane, Lefty Grove or Arky Vaughan playing softball?" analysis replied the 14-year-old youngster. That one stopped Skipper Woodley pronto.

Mike Domonic, the versatile Italian rassler, has been signed to meet Chief Lynx-Al Upper, Mohawk of Friday night's pro wrestling show at the Arena. Local fans will recall Domonic having performed locally some months ago when he was a novice kid. His subsequent bouts have met with success, but this man Kazan is tough physically as well as 14-year-old youngster. That one stopped Skipper Woodley pronto.

"Red" Townsend's Asiatics junior softballers rung up a 7 to 1 victory over the Bridge Street baseball squad, in an exhibition game played at Coleman Flats last evening. "It was only a practice game before we meet the undefeated Lions one week tonight. And take it from me the "cement lads" will know they've been in a game before they're finished with our Juniors," predicted Skipper Townsend today.

Bill Dietrich, 27 year old cast-off pitcher, hurled himself into baseball's hall of fame yesterday when he pitched a no-hit, no-run game for the Chicago White Sox over the Detroit Tigers. Dietrich pitched reached first base, however, two on walks and one due to a fumble. Dietrich was credited in the National League saw the Giants and the Chicago leading Pirates by virtue of a 5 to 2 win over the peaky Dodgers.

Incidentally Dapper Dan Howley replaced Art Upper, Toronto-born hurler, who has been carried by Howley's lads all spring, to the Smith's Falls Club in the Ont.-American League, yesterday.

Maxie Schmeling arrived in New York yesterday prepared to go through with his "phantom-bout" with Champion Jimmie Braddock tomorrow night. Braddock is still in Michigan and shows no outward intention of fulfilling his June 3rd engagement versus Schmeling, indicating Braddock intends to meet Joe Louis at Chicago on June 22nd.

KEEP YOUR LONG-LIFE Bicycle

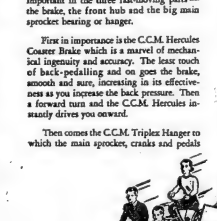
DID you ever stop to consider the tens of thousands of revolutions that are made by the fast moving parts of a bicycle every day that it is ridden—and of the millions of revolutions that means in a year?

Yes, in spite of these countless runnings of metal against metal, the C.C.M. bicycle gives many long years of trouble-free service. This is possible in a C.C.M. bicycle because of the extreme accuracy with which it is made and because of the fine steels used in its manufacture—these steels are heat-treated in C.C.M.'s own furnaces. These qualities are especially important in the ball-bearing equipment of the bicycle. Front hub and the big main sprocket bearing or hanger.

First in importance is the C.C.M. Hercules Coaster Brake which is a marvel of mechanical ingenuity and accuracy. The least touch of back-pedalling and on goes the brake, smooth and sure, increasing in its effectiveness as you increase the back pressure. Then a forward turn and the C.C.M. Hercules instantly drives you onward.

Then comes the C.C.M. Triplex Hanger to which the main sprocket, cranks and pedals are attached. This Triplex Hanger is virtually the power plant of a C.C.M. bicycle. All of its parts (except ball bearings) are made in the C.C.M. factory, and they include hardened ball races, stout cranks, an accurate sprocket and other essential parts. Because of the smooth running of the C.C.M. Triplex Hanger all of your pedalling effort is converted into power to roll you along.



The other fast-moving part of a C.C.M. bicycle—the front hub—is simple and carefully built mechanism with a sturdy axle, ball bearings and hardened steel races.

These three accurately made important parts of a C.C.M. Bicycle together with steel rims, rustless steel spokes, seamless steel tubing combine to make the C.C.M. "The Long-Life Bicycle".

Remember, when you go to buy a bicycle, that a C.C.M. has everything that you can find in any bicycle plus many exclusive C.C.M. features, plus long life.

"THE BRIGHT HILL"

by Clarissa Fairchild Cushman

Kerin sank in her chair, oppressed anew by a sense of being lost in an altered world. "But I would Carl lots of other letters, Alan. I wrote and wrote asking him to tell me what he wanted me to do, to stay or return, and he didn't answer. It didn't occur to him to keep copies—"

"Of course not. You see, it's all part deliberate—at least for a long time. If he wrote telling you to come back, you have come; if he wrote telling you to stay, then he legally condones your absence and he couldn't get his divorce. You see Kerin, it all seems to me to point to the fact that he wants this divorce because he wants to be free, because he's interested in Annie Beardsley. And if that's the case, I can't believe he'll want Donald. You don't want merely to hang on to Carl, do you? No, Kerin, my dear,—Griffiths and Susan and I—we all agree, for one reason or another: let the legal course of the divorce run through. Don't even contest it."

"But then he'll just win his case —and Donald— and everything!" Shyra was angry in Kerin's voice.

"No, not necessarily. He has to prove his case in any event exactly as if you contested it. Now, if he doesn't win it, that's that—though God knows I can't believe that would ever be any happiness for you, or for Donald, now in a life with Carl. If he does win it— well, of course I think the last thing he wants is Donald. He wants his divorce. You have the boy; you can support him adequately; Carl might well feel that to demand Donald would decrease the dignity of his position in the judge's mind, might give his case an element of vindictiveness—and more than that, he may feel it wise to give Donald up to you just as a gesture of magnanimity before the community. After all his position—even Carl must see that—isn't going to be too creditable. Moreover, he can't necessarily get Donald even if he remember the successful plaintiff in a divorce suit does not get the children if the judge thinks they will be better off with the defendant. Of course, you can contest the custody of Donald without contesting the divorce. But supposing the world—that you love Donald; in that event you might get a re-hearing on the disposal of the child, that's not certain, but it's been done. In other words, your position, Kerin, seems to us a good if you don't contest the divorce at all as it would be if you did. And if you do, with all the publicity, the expense, the public testimony—and, Kerin, with Carl, it might get to be a case of dirty linen—"

"If I just dared ask him—just dared ask him if he would rather I leave me Donald!"

"Bean." said Susan. "Beans up his nose."

And he has been so cruel, thought Kerin. So cruel.

She opened her hands in a gesture of resignation, a small tragic gesture, as if she poured out upon the ground all the stored treasure of ten years of marriage. "All right," she said. "I agree". She rose and faced the two that stood to meet her. "You've been most kind, most kind." The stiltedly formal words fell woodenly. "Think what his going to be like, Mrs. Kingsbury, —the divorce. That'll be me, Kerin. Certainly I'll not be considered fit to be a guide of girls. And I do love it so. I can hardly believe now how happy I've been. But, Carl will take that from me, too—I won't see. And if he gets Donald—I'll have nothing. Why shouldn't I have something? I've given him my best years. He's tried always to do what he liked. He can have Annie Beardsley. But if he took Donald it would only be to hurt him always—as he has tried to hurt me. He can't have Donald," said."

Kerin's even voice ceased, and she looked from one to the other of her two friends. "I'm just telling you, so you will understand," she said gently. "He can't have Donald."

INSTALLMENT 32

Gregory Leighton had been stunned by Priscilla's casual words, and the fact that he was stunned surprised him. He would not have supposed the question of whether Kerin was a widow or had a husband really mattered to him. He had supposed, of course, that she was a widow. He was a little confused to himself many times, a source of pleasure in her society, for the reason perhaps that she was an escape from that world of perfect matrimonial happiness that his sister consistently spread for him. He was, without knowing it, shy with women, at least the women of his sister's world, the world in which she kept her eye on him. But he wanted to marry; but more than he wanted to marry, he wanted to fall in love. This would have been simpler had he not been so desirable a match but in the past scientists had always stood between him and the girls he contemplated, a conscientiousness always in their eyes that would be his first of all Gregory Leighton; so that he unconsciously set up a resistance to them—a resistance which he explored, however, he so wanted to fall in love with them.

However, those gay and pretty and well-groomed women and girls all went through life as if it were a holiday—certainly a matrimonial holiday, whereas Gregory Leighton had no great liking for a life of constant skylarking, nor did he wish to make a marriage of impermanence. He liked his work; he enjoyed the leisurely and pleasant of holding onto, of restoring, of building up, the fortune his father had left in his care for himself and his sister. There was a solitude in his work that satisfied him. What he wanted in his life really, was a companion to his solitude—a companion for long weeks at sea in his sloop or on horseback among the mountains; a companion for an unpremeditated trip—perhaps a business tip—to Siberia or Borneo; a companion who liked to stay home in the evenings; a companion, he had begun to think, that loved living in a little white house in a quiet town and who could play a really astonishingly clever game of chess.

His defences had been down before Kerin. She had seemed courageous, and what was more engaging, definitely unaware that he was; for it was more than anything this constant awareness of his money, his social position, that had kept Gregory Leighton's heart intact. Kerin had given him the impression of not being aware of him at all, except in like him in a friendly, unreflecting way. If she was married, certainly if she was happily married, that was reason enough.

Perhaps it was stupid of him not to have realized that she had a husband, except that he had not thought of it one way or the other. It isn't a thing one asks, as one might ask why you don't keep a dog. Moreover, he hadn't been looking for a wife in Kerin Kingsbury. Yet always, he admitted, in the back of his mind, was the knowledge that somewhere, sometime, he was going to find a wife. And if a wife somewhere, what then, about Kerin Kingsbury?

But now, Kerin Kingsbury had been pointedly snatched from him by being already married. To Gregory Leighton, who was the product of a long line of conservative ancestors, there was about marriage a finality. And, disconcertingly on the sudden ascertaining of Kerin Kingsbury there had been a sharp hurt; and over a place within him ached, dully, inescapably. Kerin Kingsbury's eyes were in his memory to greet the morning, to close the day; they began to present to him, increasingly indeed of decreasingly, a sense of what he had missed. Kerin's soft hand had unwittingly, to herself, to himself closed upon his heart.

Well, that was that. A beginning of a little love affair nothing unusual. Too bad, and all that. He would forget about it.

But he could not forget about it. In the summer, lying alone in his sloop along the coast, putting in at harbors here, at river mouths there, ambling around the Chesapeake, turning back and coasting up toward the St. Lawrence, growing browner, more lean, more solitary, he thought of Kerin. His steady gray eyes, looking into sunrises and sunsets, saw her in endless, transient, recurring pictures: her fleeting dimple, her tender hazel eyes, her gay voice, her quick ability to put aside work for play or play for work, her vivid enjoyment of trivialities, her friendly companionship with Donald and with himself, her sensitiveness, her independence that asked nothing; and there grew in his mind the thought of Kerin.

Priscilla had not been in time.

Collecting a newspaper from time to time he followed Carl Kingsbury's name in the daily press. Surely this must be the man? Certainly the fact was easily verified. And verifying it, he took one day, a resolve; and lying his boat in a mooring in the Chesapeake he took off the white ducks and the tennis shoes that were his whole costume and put on the habiliments of very well-dressed civilization; and he went to Washington and took a look at Carl. If he took an instant dislike to him, that was obviously jealousy. The man had personality; he was, it was evident, something of a personage. Gregory went back to his boat, took off the flannel suit and put on the white slacks; and shortly found himself, with only a sweater added to his attire, among the little villages and old French fisherfolk of the Gaspe peninsula.

But the lonely summer was a bad one. He came back thankfully to his office, gratefully to his work. But after Amberley opened, the draw of the magnet was too great. One day he packed his bag and pointed the nose of his car to Amberley, and in the late afternoon he extracted Donald from a gang of similar hoodlums and said, "Where's your mother?"

"Gone to see dad."

"Oh! I see"

Donald looked at the long-legged man with the friendly eyes whose visits were always so pleasant one way or another. He deserted his gang with a brief, "so long," and trudged along beside his tall friend. "Had she's coming back tonight. I got a telegram."

"Been to see your father. I've never met your father. What's he like, son?"

"O.K.," said Donald.

"Miss him, I'll bet," said Gregory.

"Sure," said Donald.

"Wish you were back? Or do you like it best here?"

"I wish I could have a pony," said Donald. "I know a kid's got one—white, with a saddle and a little earth, everything. Wants to sell, it too. He's too big for it now. Why, his feet touch when he rides it. Billy's his name. He'd be awful careful. Mum could use him to drive to auctions." He looked up. "Don't you think he would be a reasonable investment?" In the main Donald's speech had lost in the past year much of its academic flavor, but it had its lapses.

"Well—why don't you ask your father?"

"Father? I asked mum, but she says she's going to carry him in the winter, and fix his stall, and everything, and I told her I would. But you are—"

"And she's probably right. When will she be back?"

"I-dunno. About nine o'clock. She said I'm to go to bed, and she'll come."

"Who's looking after you? What do you say to going out to dinner with me?"

"A girl. Gee—I'd like it. And say, do you know anything about boats? Mum, I was born on a boat."

"You were! Well say—I can't get her beam right. She lies over to one side. An' I got to melt lead to run in her keel. I tried to in a tin can but it melted the can and ran into the stove. Gee! I don't know what mumill say. And say, do you want to know how to make a mousetrap?"

"I do indeed. How?"

"Well, you take a bottle, see—any kind of a bottle, a milk bottle and you take a piece of bone, and you stick one end of the hose in the broken hole, and the other end you fasten in the milk bottle, see. And when the mouse comes out he runs down the hose, and then he falls in the milk bottle and he can't get out. And then you have him."

"You're quite the White Knight."

By JOHN LLOYD
Associated Press Staff Writer

Chateau de Cande, Monts, France, June 3 (AP)—Edward, Duke of Windsor, took Wallis Warfield as his bride and Duchess today, married in a French civil ceremony and that of the Church of England.

Rev. R. Anderson Jardine united the former King Edward VIII and the twice-divorced American woman for whom he left his throne. He did so without the sanction of the Church of England.

First Ceremony Civil

The Duke and Duchess were married first by Dr. Charles Mercier, stocky physician-mayor of his hamlet, in a civil ceremony.

Then after cocktails on a terrace of the tranquil old Chateau of Touraine, a few friends gathered in the Louis XVI music room and heard Mr. Jardine, the "Poor Man's Vicar" of Darlington, Eng., read the Anglican service at an improvised altar.

The religious service was over at 12.14 p.m. local time (7.14 a.m. E.S.T.).

Gives Diamond Diadem

The Duchess' wedding gift from the Duke was a handsome diamond diadem. Madame Mercier, wife of the mayor, gave her a bouquet of red, white and blue flowers.

The Duke and Duchess knelt on white satin cushions to receive the blessing of Mr. Jardine. The bishop said, was acting privately, and without the authority of his church.

August, 1936—King Edward takes an Adriatic holiday with Mrs. Simpson as one of the royal party.

Oct. 27, 1936—She obtains her preliminary decree of divorce from Simpson.

Dec. 1, 1936—The Bishop of Bradford brings the romance into the open by declaring the King needs "God's grace as much as any of his subjects."

Dec. 10, 1936— King Edward abdicates his throne. He leaves for Austria while Mrs. Simpson seeks seclusion at Cannes, France.

May 13, 1937—The Duke and Mrs. Warfield (her name now) listen to broadcast of the coronation of King George VI.

May 16, 1937—The wedding date is announced.

June 3, 1937—The Wedding.

Duke and Duchess Start on Honeymoon

Chateau de Cande, Monts, France, June 3 (CP)—Edward, Duke of Windsor, married in the French Civil and Anglican Church ceremonies today, left the Chateau de Cande by automobile at 8.15 p.m. (10.15 E.S.T.) on their honeymoon.

They were said to be planning to board a special train at the town of Lavoch-Migrennes, enroute to Austria.

Crowd Cheers.

Before they passed through the Chateau gates in an automobile driven by Captain Charles Lachaud, the Duke's favorite chauffeur an escort of two motorcycle policemen and an automobile with two gendarmes cleared the way.

They will spend their honymoon at Wasserleobung Castle high in Austria's Carinthian Alps

Windsor Special

Monts, France, June 3 (AP)—Here's how the Duke of Windsor makes the "Wallis cocktail" he concocted in celebration of his wedding:

One jigger of cointreau; one jigger of peppermint; two jiggers of gin; juice of half a lemon and soda ad lib.

The Duke had the cocktails served to dinner guests last night.

Windsor is 'Changed Man', Wants to Work on Memoirs

Intimate Friends Say He Intends to Settle Down

SHORT HONEYMOON

Monts, France, June 3 (AP)—Persons close to the Duke of Windsor say he intends to settle down.

"He is a changed man," they declared.

As Prince of Wales he was a "regular" at a few smart night clubs, and prided himself on his ability to excel at the new dance steps. Now, they say, he dislikes night clubs, counts his pennies and wants to earn a living for himself and his bride by hard work.

There are indications the honeymoon trip may be cut short so the Duke can get to work on his memoirs. Some associates say that by writing he hopes to bolster his income.

DUCHESS OF WINDSOR

THE DUKE OF WINDSOR

At the beautiful French Chateau of Cande at Monts, France, owned by New York friends, His Royal Highness Edward, Duke of Windsor, the former King Edward VIII of England, who abdicated his throne out of affection for "the woman I love", Mrs. Wallis Warfield, today was united in marriage to her by the French civil ceremony conducted by the Mayor of Monts, Dr. Charles Mercier, which was followed by the Anglican Church service conducted by the Rev. R. Anderson Jardine, Vicar of Darlington, England, whose offer to celebrate the nuptials was made Tuesday night and gladly accepted by the principals.

Why the Weather?

By Major A. H. Thiessen
Science Service Meteorologist

How hot it can be! Hail occurs only in midsummer, and lasts during severe thunderstorms. In the front portion of a thunderstorm there is no violent updraft. This carries raindrops upward to the high-set part of the cloud where the temperature is below freezing. The raindrops there freeze and collect a coating of snow. They fall back to the lower and warmer part of the cloud and obtain a coating of water. Then they are again carried upward. This continues until the hailstones become too heavy for further upward and they fall to the ground. It will readily be seen that for these operations the proportions of a thunderclead must be large.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, June 3 (CP)—A moderate depression, centred over northwest Quebec, has a trough of low extending southwestward to the immediate south of the lower lakes. Pressure is low in this area over the Northwest Territories extending to Manitoba, while pressure is high to the southwest and east of the great lakes and over the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Local showers occurred in Ontario, Alberta and in some parts of Quebec, otherwise fair weather has been fair. It has become cooler in the western provinces.

Lake Superior—Moderate winds; fair and a little warmer. Friday, fresh to strong southwest to northwest winds; mostly cloudy with some showers and local thunderstorms; becoming cooler in northwest.

Lake Huron—Moderate to strong northwest winds; partly cloudy and cooler tonight and Friday; scattered showers.

Saskatchewan and Alberta—North-west and north winds; partly cloudy and continued cool tonight and Friday; several showers likely in southern districts; probably fair with showers or a little higher temperature.

POOR MAN'S VICAR TO BLESS UNION DEFIES SUPERIORS

Bishop of Durham Says No Action Likely Against Parson

PROTEST ONLY

Bishops Claim Irregularity, But Are Powerless to Interfere

London, June 3 (AP) — A poor man's parson, Rev. R. Anderson Jardine, defied his superiors today to bless the union of the Duke of Windsor and Mrs. Wallis Warfield.

Services of Jardine, Vicar of Darlington, were volunteered "for conscience sake" and without the approval by the Bishop of Fulham, who has jurisdiction of Anglican Church affairs in France.

The Bishop of Fulham Rt. Rev. Harold Bailey, after a conference with the Archbishop of Canterbury announced that Vicar had acted without the former's "consent or even his knowledge" and availed a reply from Jardine to a telegram of protest. The Bishop informed the Darlington Vicar he was "officiating on behalf of the Anglican Church in

Civil Marriage Service As Performed at Monts

Monts, France, June 3 (AP)—Here is an English translation of The French Civil Marriage Service performed today for the Duke of Windsor and Wallis Warfield by the Mayor of Monts, Dr. Charles Mercier:

The Mayor: "By authorization of the State's Attorney for the District of Tours, we, Dr. Mercier, Mayor of Monts, have come to the Chateau de Cande where the Duke of Windsor and Mrs. Wallis Warfield have publicly appeared before us.

"The respective rights and duties of husband and wife: Article 212 of the Civil Code—husband and wife owe each other fidelity, support and assistance. Article 213—the husband owes protection to his wife; the wife obedience to her husband. Article 214—the wife is obliged to live with her husband and to follow him wherever he deems it proper to reside; the husband is obliged to receive her and to supply her with all that is necessary for the wants of life, according to his means and position.

The Duke: "Yes."

The Mayor: "Mrs. Wallis Warfield, do you consent to take for your husband, Edward, Duke of Windsor, here present?"

Mrs. Warfield: "Yes."

The Mayor: "In the name of the law, I declare you united by the bonds of marriage."

'Wallis Blue' Silk Gown Sweeping Glamorous Creation Worn in Wedding at Monts

Statuesque Figure of Bride Accentuated by Gown

TRUNKS CRAMMED

Her attire including the whole spectacular array of line and color embodied in her trousseau, promised to sway the style for brunettes.

The soft color of the wedding garment, in the mode of an afternoon dress, with jacket was offset by the gay pink of feathers trimming her blue straw hat.

MOTORCYCLE RIDER SIDESWIPES CAR

Trenton, June 3, (Special)—James Seward, 20, Carrying Place, was admitted to Belleville hospital last evening suffering from lacerations, bruises and considerable shock.

When riding a motorcycle, he sideswiped a car driven by A. Ketchenon R.R. No. 5 Belleville, near Bayside. Mr. Ketchenon was making a left turn into a sideroad, while Seward was travelling westerly. The young man was taken to the hospital in McNair's and Northey's ambulance and was attended by Dr. G.S. Cronk. Traffic Officer John Whitty investigated the accident.

Duke Requests Privacy But Will Not Retire Into Secrecy He Says

Thanks Friends For Gifts Wishes On Nuptial Occasion

PRAISES PRESS

Duke and Duchess Appeal to Press For Privacy 'Now Their Due'

Monts, France, June 3 (AP)—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor voiced their hope today for a "happy and useful private life".

The Duke in a statement addressed to "the public" thanked all who had wished him and the Duchess happiness.

He said:

"The Duchess and I wish to thank all those who have so kindly sent presents and good wishes on the occasion of our marriage.

"We shall never forget their friendly messages which mean so much to us today. After the trying time we have been through we now look forward to a happy and useful private life and to that measure of peace which we hope will be granted to us."

Newspapermen Thanked.

In another statement, to the press, the Duke thanked newspapermen for their treatment of him and the Duchess. He appealed for "the privacy they feel now is their due" and promised he would not withdraw into secrecy.

He said:

"The Duke and Duchess of Windsor wished to take this opportunity of expressing to journalists their appreciation of the courtesy which has, for the most part, been shown to them under unprecedented circumstances.

"They would like it to be on the record that, although inaccurate statements and reports seem to have been unavoidable during these months which have been trying for all concerned, there has been an evident willingness to contradict them.

Secrecy Unsatisfactory.

"In regard to the future, the Duke realizes that any atmosphere of secrecy would be unsatisfactory and will always be prepared to supply any news of importance concerning the Duchess and himself.

"At the same time, the Duke and Duchess, while fully understanding the difficulties, want this day to appeal to the press of the world to give them that measure of consideration and privacy which they feel now is their due."

ATTEMPT TO AID INJURED HALTED

Army Planes Unable To See Flaming Ship For Rain

Manila, P.I., June 3 (AP)—Heavy rain squalls frustrated an attempt of the United States Army today to aid three seriously burned members of the crew of the flaming German motorship Oliva.

Two army amphibians, carrying a doctor and medical supplies, reported they were unable to see the Oliva through the rain, 120 miles southwest of Manila.

The five men were taken aboard the rescue steamer Friderun, another German craft, which was standing by the Oliva.

The Manila agent for the Hamburg-American Line reported the crew of 52 abandoned the ship but returned to fight the fire.

RETURN OF DUKE TO ENGLAND IS URGED BY EDITOR

Daily Mirror Asks Britain to Ponder on His Future

SERVICE TO ENGLAND

"He Needs Help & Great Lady Who is His Mother"

London, June 3—The editor of The Daily Mirror urged the Duke of Windsor to return to England.

"It is with humanity and charity" he wrote. "that we must ponder over the future of the Duke who weds today. He decided in 1936 as he thought best—a decision not weighed by the dross of public opinion but a decision taken by a man in communion with his own soul.

He Did 'Not Shrink'

"He did not shrink from duty. Like a man, he preferred to say honestly and frankly he would not attempt that which he could not do. He could not serve his country as its monarch, wrenched from the side of the woman he loved.

"Those were the facts. Those are the facts, whether, as Duke, his

Law Clerk, Who 'Relented', Wishes Windsors 'Happiness'

Francis Stephenson Once Tried to Stand Between Duke And Duchess

TELLS HIS STORY

London, June 3 (AP)—The lawyer's clerk who once tried to stand between the Duke of Windsor and his new Duchess, wished them "all happiness" on this their wedding day.

"I am pleased to extend my best wishes for their happiness in the greatest degree," said Francis Stephenson, elderly clerk, who fled, and later withdrew, an intervention action to block the former Wallis Simpson's divorce.

Stephenson recountered how he intervened, acting to prevent the then Mrs. Ernest Simpson from being free to marry the then King Edward VIII, and how he relented when Edward broadcast his farewell to the throne.

'Long Live the Duke! Long Live Duchess!' Shouted Along Roads

Monts, France, June 3 (CP)—Immediately after the Duke of Windsor and Mrs. Wallis Warfield were married in a civil ceremony here today, news the ceremony had been concluded was conveyed by telephone to the outside world. An official message was sent from the Chateau de Cande to the main gate.

Shouts echoed along the country road:

"Long live the Duke!"

"Long live the Duchess."

The cheers were in a babel of half a dozen languages from the crowds that thronged about the main gate.

English tourists, who had hidden champagne in a mossy bank, brought it out. Strangers shared their toast with them.

FEW PERSONS SEE MARRIAGE

Guests And Participants in Ceremony Who Witness Duke's Nuptials

FINS ARE SEEN CLEAVING WATER

Several large dorsal fins clearing the water of the Metro River near the Canadian Pacific Railway Bridge were the objects of attention of a number of people shortly after nine o'clock this morning. Thought to be large carp, the fish swam in shallow water, at times causing quite ripples, when they rose to the surface.

WALLS OF BARN DAMAGED BY FIRE

Damage was done to the walls of a barn at 174 Mary Street yesterday when fire originating in a garbage pile near the building threatened to destroy it.

INTEREST GROWING IN KID KAR DERBY

Interest is mounting in the Kingston Kid Kar Derby to be held Dominion Day as evidenced in the eager questions of the young potential participants. The age limit has been set at 8 to 15 years of age and among the ever-growing prize list is the one offered to some lucky youngster registering among the first twenty-five names of a dandy pair of Tern-Rite Roller Skates. This prize is to be drawn for later so prompt registering will prove profitable to some young Belleville lad.

YOUNGSTER GIVES CORRECT SALUTE

A ripple of applause swept over a section of the crowd at the Collegiate Institute when this morning Edith little Joseph "Jay" Howard, three) and one half year old son of Major and Mrs. Howard, who was dressed in a cadet uniform, complete with small swagger stick, puttees and forage cap, strode to where Colonel W. N. Ponton was standing, and clicking his heels in true military fashion, greeted the colonel with a correct military salute.

Colonel Ponton smiled, the raised his hat in recognition of the greeting, and spoke a few words to the youngster.

PARALLEL PARKING TO BE EFFECTIVE SOON

"Parallel parking will go into force just as soon as we receive word from the Ontario Department of Highways," said Chairman Clarence Clapp, chairman of the department of public works, and father of the motion to adopt the form of parking throughout the Business section.

"We telephoned Mr. Biddle of the department yesterday afternoon and he promised to mail us the manual right through for us. Traffic lines will be painted just as soon as we hear from him."

RAIN IS WELCOMED

"Last night's rain, and this morning's drizzle won't hurt a bit," commented Mr. T. Varner, well known Thurlow Township agricultural. "We need a rain, and welcome us a lot of good. The ground was getting pretty dry as the result of the heat during the early part of the week."

ASPARAGUS SELLS SLIGHTLY LOWER

Thursday morning shoppers were greeted with a variable display of Spring vegetables at the city market this morning, with asparagus again assuming the lead in the matter of change in prices were noticeable. Asparagus sold at from fifteen to twenty cents the pound, with onions radishes, and lettuce offered at five cents the bunch. Tomatoes are now scarce today but remained firm in price, pack lots selling at thirty cents.

OHLING OF STREETS TO START TUESDAY

City Engineer Charles A. Mooll announced today, that oiling of the streets would commence on Tuesday next and preparations for the oiling would take place on Friday, when certain streets would be swept. "This will create considerable dust and the housewives are being forewarned," stated the engineer. Anyone wishing to know the streets that will be oiled this year can have the information supplied at the City Engineer's office.

HEAT CRACKS WALKS

Department of Public Works officials report the commencement this week of concrete sidewalks in residential sections of the city expanding and cracking with explosive force due to the early season heat wave of Tuesday and Wednesday. # Collegiate Cadets Praised For Their Military Precision

Col. Vanderwater Congratulates Corps For Its Efficiency

AWARDS PRESENTED

Threatening clouds did not deter a large crowd of interested citizens of Belleville and district from thronging the campus of the Belleville Collegiate and Vocational Institute this morning when three hundred and fifty khaki-clad members of the Collegiate Cadet Corps paraded in review on the occasion of their annual inspection.

To the inspiring music of the Collegiate Band, the cadets executed various manoeuvres with splendid precision and efficiency. Acclaimed rays of sunlight glinted on the drawn swords of cadet officers held at the salute as the cadet battalion passed the saluting base where Colonel Roscoe Vanderwater took the salute. Associated with him were Captain Panet of Kingston, inspecting officer of Military District No. 3 and Lt. Col. A. B. Gribble of the Argyll Regiment, Trenton.

The Second Battalion of the Canadian Expeditionary Force was represented at the inspection by Lt. Col. Roscoe Vanderwater, D.S.O., M.C., V.D.; Col. Rogers, D.S.O., Colborne; Col. D. Green, V.D., Loyalist; Lt. Col. Bryson Dunton, E.D.; Major L. Green; Major Sid Gilmore V.D. and by Sgt. Major Geo. Jackson.

Other officers present were: Col. A. B. Gribble; Col. W. N. Ponton; Major J. Howard, instructor of the corps. Present also were P. C. Maclaurin, principal and members of the Board of Education.

Prior to the march past, Col. Vanderwater, and Captain Panet accompanied by Cadet Captain Gerald McGee, Principal Maclaurin, Lt. Col. A. B. Gribble and Mr. H. J. Allin, Chairman of the Board of Education, inspected the ranks of the cadets drawn up in battalion formation.

Trophy Presented

Drawn up in the traditional British square following the inspection, the cadets stood stiffly at attention while Colonel Vanderwater presented No. 1 Company with a beautiful trophy as being the best drilled company in the battalion. No. 2 Company was awarded second prize.

Lieutenant Philip Renouf was presented with a special award for being the best cadet in the battalion. Cadets John Bush and Don Doolittle won senior awards, with Cadets C. Gardiner, Bill Bourne, W. Yarrow, M. Keam, M. Spafford, B. Gerow, I. Porsch and L. Brown winning minor prizes in the Dominion Cadet Rifle Association shooting competition.

Address to Cadets

In his address to the cadets following the inspection and march past, Colonel Vanderwater congratulated the battalion on its splendid showing. "I admired the steadiness of the boys on parade," he said, "and the resolute expression on your faces which are real results of the Maclaurin, the cadet officers, the Board of Education, and more of all upon Major Howard, your instructor. You have set a splendid example today which I hope will stand you in good stead in the coming years."

Captain Panet did not address the cadets. "There is nothing more I can add to what Col. Vanderwater has said," he stated.

Brief addresses were given by Colonel Ponton, Principal Maclaurin and Mr. H. J. Allin. Loud cheers for the King, the Principal, the Board of Education, Major Howard and others concluded the 1937 inspection of the corps.

The Battalion paraded along the downtown streets at the conclusion of the parade.

Obituary

MRS. SARA E. MOTT

Mrs. Sara Elizabeth Mott, widow of Miller Wesley Mott, who passed away a short time ago, died at the family residence, 174 Charles Street, Wednesday afternoon, June 2nd. She had been in failing health for some time.

The late Mrs. Mott was born in the 5th concession of Thurlow Township 82 years ago, her parents being the late Mr. and Mrs. David Moore. After her marriage she lived for some time at Foxboro and for the past thirty years she had made her home in Belleville. To many friends her passing will bring feelings of regret.

In religion she was a faithful member of the Tabernacle United Church. Surviving to mourn her loss are one daughter, Mrs. Courtland Miller, Belleville; Mr. R. Clare Mott, Paleonbridge, Ont.; Mr. Cyril Mott, Sidney, Ont.; two sisters, Mrs. Cartwright Reid, Thurlow Township, and Mrs. Jessie Bailey, Belleville.

The funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this paper.

BERNARD REPRIEVED

Quebec, June 3.—(CP)—Honoral Bernard, under sentence to hang Friday for the shooting of Provincial Detective Leopold Chateauneuf in a January gunfight, was reprieved today until July 7.

ANGLICAN RECTOR IS APPOINTED RURAL DEAN

Rev. Herbert Pringle, rector of Christ Church, Tyendinaga, Reserve, has received word from Rev. Dr. Lyons, Bishop of Ontario, that he has been appointed Rural Dean of Lennox-Addington, to succeed Rev. Canon Leech.

HAND IS CRUSHED

Campbellford, June 3—Engaged at work in the cold storage shed of Campbellford Station yesterday, Ted Owens, employee of A.J.Meyers, Campbellford cheese buyer, fell while pushing a small truck loaded with crates of cheese and suffered a crushed hand and dislocated fingers when the handle of the truck pinned his hand to the floor.

France without any right or permission to do so."

The Bishop explained his protest thus:

"Mr. Jardine has no ecclesiastical standing in France Clergy who officiate on behalf of the Anglican Church in France must either hold a license to do so or have permission to do so.

No Authority To Act.

"Otherwise they are acting as private individuals and have not the authority of the church. Mr. Jardine has no authority in this matter to act on behalf of the Anglican Church.

No disciplinary action will be taken against Jardine the Bishop indicated even though he has incurred the displeasure of his ecclesiastical superiors.

"I shall not take any such action and I don't think any will be taken," the Bishop said. "Let me make it clear, moreover, that my telegram is one of protest only. There is no legal point involved."

The London News Chronicle hitherto attached what it styled as "narrow minority" in the church which failed to recognize the Duke's claim to a church ceremony. The paper said it would provoke only sympathy for the Duke "and surprise but little sympathy with leaders of organized religion in this country."

The Express pleaded for "Christian charity" for the Duke and his bride, adding: "they have already endured much and perhaps their amenities are not at an end."

Other newspapers gave the wedding news a big display, but made clear of the controversy revolving about the Vicar.

Lambeth Palace the Archbishop of Canterbury' residence held the Church in France must either hold which might ensue against the Vicar of Darlington.

The exact attitude of the Church of England on remarriage of divorced persons is obscure. It is the subject of constant argument among the Bishop themselves. But there is general objection to the principle of divorce.

Opinion Expressed.

One church source said in reference to today's double civil-religious ceremony: "No two people can be married twice. The service he (Jardine) will conduct will be a courtesy ceremony."

The middle-aged Vicar twice before has been censured by the ecclesiastical authorities. Once the Bishop of London banned him of "a grave breach of propriety" for preaching in a Wesleyan Chapel near his own church. Once he was criticized for writing to parishioners and advocating a "trade Union of Clergy" to permit clergymen to discuss problems "untrammeled and unhindered by red tape and so-capped ecclesiastical traditions."

He's an intrepid sort of fellow," a friend commented.

YOU ARE A KNOCK-OUT! HOW DO YOU DO IT?

You Can Do It Too

WHY DO YOU choose to be thin, languid, intolerant, short-tempered, nervous, lacking in energy and ambition—"all in"? You need not be if you follow the thrilling experience of millions of others in Canada and 57 foreign countries and take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Try this fine old tonic treatment and you will be surprised at your prompt return to normal weight, your new pep, good nature, confidence, bracing energy and renewed ambition.

Lack of sufficient iron in your blood starves your whole system—cheats it of "The Making" of rich, red, nourishing blood, and you slump to indifferent or poor health.

Read this convincing testimony of Mrs. B—, which is typical of thousands of such letters in our files:

"For the last eight years I have not gained a pound. I never had any ambition to do anything. I couldn't eat; just picked at my food. My husband went everywhere alone because I wouldn't want to go. None of the medicines I took seemed to do me any good. However, since I have taken Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I have gained five pounds. I can't thank good Mrs. A— and I certainly enjoy doing my housework. She no longer should doesn't have to go out alone now; I accompany her. It seems as if I have just started to live my life."

Start today to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and soon you, too, will feel new energy, revived ambition—good health through the new, rich, red blood in your veins.

'GERMAN' AMBASSADORS PLAY IMPORTANT ROLES

Count Johannes Von Welczek

Ulrich Von Hassell

Following the bombing of the German battleship Deutschland by loyalist aeroplanes and the German naval bombardment of Almeria on the east coast of Spain, the two men shown above moved into the spotlight of diplomatic relations as tension increased between European nations. Count Johannes von Welczek, German ambassador to France, who had previously been advised by France that German aid to the Spanish rebels must cease, will likely transmit French and British demands to the reich. Ulrich von Hassell, German ambassador to Italy, is said to have kept Il Duce advised of German plans and efforts on behalf of the rebel forces of General Francisco Franco.

DAILY SHORT STORY

Continuing Family Romance

By Dorothy Douglas

Mary was very keen on anything bordering on associations, whether it was Queen Mary's baby's first rattle or an erstwhile sweetheart's old Christmas gifts. She was always collecting material momentoes and also she harbored a hundred and one little brain memories.

It was quite natural, then, when Mary had the pleasure of her first trip to England that she should make a straight journey to the little Sussex village where her parents had courted and wed.

Her parents had rather a sweet romance in the fact that they had, as young members of the village circle, each laid a cornerstone in the parish church in which later they were married. Their names carved in the dull red stones were as plain as the day upon which they were cut.

"Laid by Mary Anne Smith, July 9, 1867," was on the base of one pillar, and "Laid by John Cromer, July 9, 1867," was on another. That was the day they had met, and from then on the world for them had been a wonderful place, for love encircled them with its glorious wings.

She stood reading all the names of the people who had, on that day long gone, laid the working stones in the foundation of the church. After a moment she went inside as England's churches are always ready to welcome the wayfarer.

Mary dropped onto her knees in one of the pews and felt a tremendous wave of emotion spread over her. After her prayers she sat back and could picture how dainty her sweet mother must have looked in her bridal garb standing beside her handsome young husband—there at that lovely altar.

She wondered if there was a chance that the same rector would be in charge. She supposed not.

However, Mary heard the gentle cough of the old minister padding along the small aisle and she went out to chat with him.

"Oh, Father," she said, kindly eyes.

"I remember all young lovers whom I have married," he said upon hearing her story, "and I've been here thirty odd years. Come, my dear," he said, "and I'll show you the parish records."

They were standing inside the ring vestry when who should come close together over the great register when a young fellow bounded in from the rectory grounds.

"Oh Dad," he shouted, then stopped swiftly, "I'm sorry—I didn't know there was some visitor here." He stood half smiling and half wonderingly, for Mary was indeed a lovely picture discovered so unexpectedly to one's own father.

"This young lady," said the old rector, beaming at his big son, "is Miss Mary Cromer. She has come all the way from America to see the church in which her parents were married. Miss Cromer, this is my son, Tom Walker."

The young people shook hands shyly but apparently very warmly. "It was wondering," said Mary wistfully, "if there was time—slightest little thing I could have from the church—a piece of stone—I don't isn't anything. I will just take a tiny stone from the gravel path or a few leaves from one of those lovely trees."

Both men looked at Mary and wondered how they could refuse so simple a request, but did not know, at first a way of granting it.

A moment that might have become awkward was interrupted by the approach of the rector's wife—a sweet, white-haired mother whom Mary loved at once.

"I sent Tom to bring you in to tea, but—" she, too, then noticed the stranger. "I'm so sorry — I thought you were alone."

The rector again went through the ceremony of introducing Mary this time to his wife, and added, "This young lady is wanting some small memento from the church to take home to her parents, but I don't know what we could do."

"My dear," smiled Mrs. Walker, "only last night you said Tom was speaking of having new offertory bags. The Miss Cromer would love to have one of the old ones—they were in use when her parents attended service together."

"Oh", exclaimed Mary joyfully, "I should simply love it. In one of those sweet little bags with handles on each side? We don't have that kind in America—I think they are so quaint."

The boy was silent all this time, but his heart leaped joyfully when he heard his mother insisting on Mary coming in to share the tea hour in the old manse drawing room.

"Tom dear, you take Miss Cromer and get her one of the old collection bags. We might forget it later."

It took Tom a long while to produce the gift for Mary but as a matter of fact, Mary was hand in the least. When they entered the drawing room the kindly rector and his wife exchanged happy glances.

When Mary mailed the lovely old memento to her parents she took them all about the church where she had been taken right into the family as if she had always known them. And her following letter confirmed this also. For when the next was full of joy, for Mary was going to stand beside young Tom at the very same altar at which her parents had taken their holy vows.

DUKE OF WINDSOR WEDS

Today His Royal Highness, Edward, Duke of Windsor, the former King Edward Eighth of England, was united in marriage to Mrs. Wallis Warfield at the Chateau of Cande at Monts, France, now made forever famous as the scene of the climax to the most poignant and greatest story of romance the modern world has known. There have been many great stories told since man and woman ever loved, and the romance of Edward the Eelghth of England now the Duke of Windsor, for Bessie Wallis, the former Mrs. Simpson, will be eternally linked with these names in history because of the vast questions and issues involved. Other romances have tradition, the element of fiction in them, but he romance which resulted in the wedding of an abdicated king needs no imagination ner fiction to heighten the story.

The general feeling of Britain and the Empire was against the romance, state and church opposing and for that reason Edward voluntarily stepped down from the throne of the greatest empire in history at the time of its most powerful influence on the nations which make up mankind, to allow his brother to ascend to the imperial office. The romance has all the elements of a great drama and it is great drama because it has been wrought out in clash of human motives and hearts and minds, with the opposition of church and state, virtual exile when on the night of December 11th last the ex-King went into retreat in Austria, and the culmination in the wedding with the last minute suspense rembved in the arrival of a North of England vicar to add the blessing of the Church of England following the civil ceremony required under French law, with the Church of England auttiles denying and refusing sanction and authority, and the parson performing the sacred office in despite of his clerical superiors.

Feeling still runs high in the Old Country over the recent complications as to the matter of attendance at the wedding and the question of the refusal of the church to sanction, recognize and bless the marriage because the bride was a divorcee.

Whatever the feelings on on the political developments, Britishers will wish their former King happiness in his life now linked with another They remember the Prince of Wales, that "prince charming" who in other years so fired the hearts and minds of the five hundred millions of peoples over whom he was one day to rule. They remember his reign as one of the most turbulent and difficult times in history and they cannot forget the events of the past half year.

THE SPANISH SCENE

The British-speaking world generally looks with condemnation on the bombardment of the battleship Deutschland, despite the attack by Spanish Loyalist planes on the warship Deutschland, pride of Germany's new navy. Those persons who lost their lives in this bombardment, British newspaper editors claim, had no more to do with the attack on the vessel than the man in the moon. They hold that if Germany hopes to make an impression for the better upon England she had better cease such tactics, which one editor calls "cold fury worthy of the worst mediaeval traditions."

One newspaper taking the other side argues that "to have a ship attacked and sailors killed and wounded while engaged not merely in neutral duty but under an international agreement would stir any nation to resentment and retaliation was to be expected."

The British papers expressed sympathy for with Germany in the loss of lives in the bombing of the Deutschland but are critical generally of the attack on the port of Almeria in reprisal.

However angered the Germans may be, for innocent Germans were killed when they did not look for the aerial attack, the attack on the port as a reprisal seems to go back to the ancient idea of vengeance of "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth." While it seems natural to hit back, there is little doubt that the assault on the port of Almeria has complicated the case.

Meanwhile for the dead and injured on the Deutschland, there is a spirit of sorrow as these men lost their lives and suffered as they were engaged in neutral duty and in what Germany considers the cause of peace. In a country like Spain in the mood in which things are so desperate, the people are so embittered that anything may happen if the great powers and their representatives do not hold their heads and possess themselves with great restraint. On the spur of the moment things may be done which are irreparable.

CAN WE

We builded a palace of shining peace
After the last great war;
Bathing fired hearts in rest's release
Swearing to wage no more.

Can we forget all that vivid past
Of misery and pain and death;
And give ourselves as a fresh repast
To those guns with killing breath?

Out of it all can we not recall
The oath that at last we made;
And standing firm in the face of all
While the tyrant wields a blade;

Remember the loves and joys we lost
In the last fierce useless fray;
And with strength in peace whate'er the cost
Win all the world, our way?

BELLEVILLE BOYS GO FAR AFIELD AND WHEREVER THEY GO WIN RESPECT AND EVEN FAME. This, of course, is a tribute to the excellent educational institutions in the city from the Public and Separate Schools, Collegiate and Vocational Schools, Ontario Business College, and Albert College, to which must be added the splendid service rendered by the staff of The Ontario School for the Deaf at Belleville. Hence it is interesting to note that at the State Agricultural School at Cobleskill, New York, recently Dr. Beckwith laureate sermon was preached by the Rev. Milton R. Kerr, pastor of the First Baptist Church of that place, a Belleville boy, son of Mr. Simon G. Kerr, 21 Turnbull Street, Belleville. "Thinking in our Day" was the subject taken by Rev. Mr. Kerr, who preached an eloquent and inspiring sermon on the influence of thinking upon character. "As a man thinketh—so is he." Quoting the philosopher who said "The happiest pegon is the person who thinks the most interesting thoughts. The mind in its own place and of itself can make a heaven of hell, or a hell of heaven," the speaker contended that "thought is the energy behind growth, whether it be in the physical, mental or spiritual. Any fault which may be found in the individual may be principally based upon his thinking. The proper thought energy is not present and thus there is no real mental growth, manifesting itself in character . . . . It is thought in action that determines the individual . . . . The greatest need in the world today is the need of THINKERS. Not merely individuals who have a concentration of knowledge, but those thinkers who will add to this knowledge, by intention and activity, and co-ordination with others. Thinkers who will realise that the world needs them to help it grow, and who are willing to follow the example of the Lord Jesus, and lay down their lives on the altar of sacrifice, for the sake of others."

"STRAFE", A WORD WHICH CAME INTO GENERAL USE DURING THE WAR denotes HATE, and the daily bombardment of the Allied lines by the Germans was contemptously referred to as "The Daily Strafe", or a demonstration of the German HATE. What an ugly word. Now the news comes from Europe that Germany and France have agreed to forget that wonderful hate which both countries have thrived on for so many years to the extent of ceasing to perpetuate the national hate through history books. Young Germans have been taught through their history book that "FRANCE IS OUR TRADITIONAL ENEMY" while French boys and girls have been taught that "GERMANY IS OUR TRADITIONAL ENEMY." "And now, while hate and lies breed like diseased flies in Europe," says a writer, historians of France and Germany meet in Berlin, and announce that henceforth all hate and lies shall be mopped out of history books."

THOUGHTFUL

There was one piece of pie left from the noon meal on the table, and Mrs. Powell divided it between Helen and Buddy.

Buddy looked at his mother and saw she didn't have any. "Mother," he said earnestly, "I can't enjoy this pie when you haven't any. Take Helen's."

20 YEARS AGO

JUNE 3rd., 1917

On Sunday morning the service of unfurling and dedicating a church flag was conducted upon the lawn at St. Thomas' Church. The vested choir under the leadership of Prof. Ernest Wheatley and assisted by a cornet, lined up at the entrance to the church, singing the processional hymn, "Ping Out the Banner." The Apostles Creed was recited by the large assembly gathered upon the lawn, and prayers for His Majesty the King and for the King's forces were offered. The prayer of dedication was recited by the rector, the Ven. Archdeacon Beamish. At the close of the dedication service the choir took up the processional hymn, "Brightly Gleams Our Banner," and marched to the choir stalls in the chancel. When the congregation had taken their places, the choral celebration of the Holy Communion was proceeded with. The flag was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Burton F. Jennings; Mr. John Mitchell gave the flag pole and Mr. William Alford prepared and erected the pole upon the church tower. The thanks of the congregation were tendered to these parishioners by the people's warden of the church.

Plays Cards With a King On 'Round the World Trip

ATTENDED CORONATION

Back from a 26,000-mile trip into the Far East on which he played bridge with the King of the Shah States, heard an elephant play a mouth-organ, saw Burma freed, hunted in vain for Canadian products in eastern areas, and finally returned to England in time for the Coronation, George W. Salman, world-traveller, and brother of Mr. C.H. Salman of this city, returned to his home in Chatham this week, western news despatches report.

During the seven months Mr. and Mrs. Salman travelled the world they visited England, Gibraltar, Marseilles, Port Said, Port Sudan, Ceylon, Burma, Mandalay, Penang Island, Siam, Angkor, Cambodia, French Indo-China, Singapore, Kuala-Lumper and Calcutta.

From Calcutta they toured through India to Bombay, taking between six and eight weeks for the journey. Then they headed for the Coronation in England, arriving on May 7th.

The bridge games with the King of the Shah States, a British protectorate between China and Burma, took place on board ship during the Salman party headed back for England. Their ship, the Yorkshire, was filled with Burmese and Indian potentates and governmental representatives, as well as the Shah States ruler. The King of the Shah States was a small man, quiet and well educated, it was reported.

Most interesting of those met on board was the speaker of the Burmese House of Parliament.

Few Canadian Products

During the seven months he was away, little news of Canada was received by Mr. Salman. The chief Canadian bits of news that came his way were about the flood in Western Ontario, the C.I.O. strike at Oshawa and a rumour regarding the formation of a Union Government in Ontario. As scarce as Canadian products are Canadian products, Mr. Salman stated. The opportunity in many lines is very great, with a preference being shown for British made articles. Only Canadian salmon seemed to find a sale.

Travelling by motor in the east is cheap, it was revealed, although petrol at 90 cents per gallon and one of their hired drivers purchased in half gallon quantities. For the finest thing in automotive luxury, a Rolls Royce hire was top price, while the party once secured a motor car with driver for the sum of $2.80 per day.

"India is just as quiet as Canada," Mr. Salman reported. "You hear a lot about unrest, but the trouble is the people in the India office at London take the agitators too seriously."

Exotic Meals

Mr. Salman also told of a trip aboard a river steamer on the Irrawaddy where a 76-year-old Indian chef laid exotic nights thinking up new dishes with which to surprise the diners and white passengers. The prize of all was a plate full of beautifully assorted flowers which the chief explanation turned out to be made from onions carefully split, cut to the shape of petals and colored by various means.

Mr. and Mrs. Salman were in Rangoon in February when the Viceroy of India came there to proclaim the formal separation of Burma from the British State, raising it to the status of an independent State itself, Mr. Salman said. The decorations for the occasion were the most remarkable ever witnessed.

The most strenuous experience of the whole trip was on board the Atlanta returning across the Atlantic where a heavy gale, followed by fog delayed them four days.

MASTERMECHANIC OF C. N. R. HURT

Passenger Train Sideswipes Freight Moving Into Siding

ATTENDED CORONATION

Marville, Ont., June 3.—(CP)—William Roach, master-mechanic and travelling engineer of the Canadian National Railways, was injured last night when the C.N.R. passenger Train No. 1, westbound, sideswiped the rear of an eastbound freight train at a siding here. Four freight cars and the caboose were derailed.

Roach was cut about the face and head and received a fractured right wrist when he jumped from the cab of the passenger train. He set his air-brakes but was unable to avert the collision.

The freight train was pulling into the siding at Marville, 40 miles from Ottawa, but it failed to clear the main-line switch and the rear cars were sideswiped by the passenger locomotive.

Railway workers said the freight had set flares at both front and rear of the train but, owing to a slight curve in the tracks, the engineer of the passenger train was unable to see them until he was virtually on top of the slow-moving freight.

The passenger locomotive was badly damaged and had to be replaced by another from Ottawa. The steam cabs of the engine were torn off where it sideswiped the freight cars, and its driving gear was put out of commission.

The passenger train remained upright on the tracks.

LAY DELEGATES DEFINE ELDERS

Opine Man Who Smokes, Drinks, Swears and Dances Not Fit For Elder

Smith's Falls, Ont., June 3.—(CP)—Any man who smokes, drinks, swears and dances is not fit to be an elder in the United Church, lay delegates to the Bay of Quinte Conference believe. They expressed their opinion yesterday in a round table discussion when the subject was broached by J. A. Young, Oshawa.

The laymen did not think an elder with that record could be found in the church and if there were any they should be corrected through a "Christian spirit". Another Oshawa delegate, R. A. Rowe, suggested school children at least should sign "the pledge" against liquor drinking.

H. B. Fetterley, Belleville, was re-elected lay president, while the Ministerial section chose committee chairmen, heard reports and an address by Rev. Dr. C. B. Silcox on "The Life of a Minister". At night a missionary rally was held and greater support urged for young men serving in frontier posts in the home fields.

Rev. H. J. Veal, Lindow, West China, told of the need for missionaries there. Conference paid tribute to eight departed members and also heard addresses by Rev. C. D. L. Brown, Haliburton; Rev. Preston D. Brown, Bridgewater and Rev. A. W. Harding, Bancroft.

TRAIN HITS CAR ONE MAN KILLED

Ragland, Ont., June 3.—(CP)—Albert Miller, aged about 50, was fatally injured near here late night when the car driven by Mrs. C. D. was riding was struck by a train at a crossing. Clayton Miller, a son, driving the vehicle, escaped with cuts and bruises and was released from hospital after treatment.

Miller suffered a fractured skull and other injuries in the accident and died in the Oshawa Hospital in Oshawa, ten miles south here.

Visibility at the crossing is said to be poor. An inquest was ordered.

Beware the Deadly Water Hemlock

(Experimental Farms Note)

Of all our poisonous plants, water hemlock probably is responsible for more deaths than any other. So rapid and intense is its action, there is seldom time to do anything to counteract the poison. In suitable wet situations it becomes common enough to be a frequent occasion of trouble in spring especially, the first growing animals, with the cluster of tuberous roots which then pull up easily from the soft ground, seem attractive to animals, and considerable within themselves the poison which later appears to be diffused less potently through the green plant. In view of all this it is supremely important that everyone should be able to recognize it and distinguish it from other plants of similar appearance, All too often human poisoning and death result from failure to discriminate between these and edible tuber or root crops for which they are mistaken.

Description

Water hemlock is one of several poisonous plants belonging to the carrot family, and in many cases like the carrot or parsnip in having thickened or fleshy roots. Water hemlock may commonly be distinguished, when the root and crown are halved, by the presence of plates or cross partitions, which should be looked for as something although failure to find them may not be proof of safety. Members of the carrot family are alike in having the small flowers in umbels or radiating clusters more or less flattopped to form a conspicuous inflorescence. In water hemlock the flowers are white, but the harmless wild parsnip differs in having yellow flowers, along with broader leaves than those of water hemlock. Water parsnip, poisonous but less dangerously so than water hemlock, bears considerable resemblance to it, and grows in similar wet places, but its leaves consist of numerous pairs of narrow leaflets along a simple axis ending in an odd leaflet, while the leaf of water hemlock is compound, having the lower leaflets on laterals from the main axis. Examination of the tubers also shows the presence of small bracts at the bases of the rays in water parsnip but not in water hemlock. There is another or bulb-bearing water hemlock, also poisonous, which may be known by the little bulblets borne in the axils of the leaves, which in this species have pointed leaflets. One other extremely deadly plant, the poison hemlock of the Old World, is occasionally to be seen, and may be distinguished best by the much more finely dissected compound leaves. It grows in drier situations than the others named, which are chiefly along slow streams or in marshy places.

Symptoms

"The first symptoms usually occur within two hours after eating the plant. There is nervousness, twitching of the muscles of the mouth and ears, salivation, sometimes nausea and vomiting. Mounting, intense pain, frenzied movements, dilated pupils, spasms and convulsions, frothing at the mouth and nose, twisting the head and back backwards, kicking of the heels. The victim usually dies in the most violent convulsions. (Pyles)

Protective Measures

While a emetic may be given in the case of human poisoning, while many times the method as any, it is obvious that the one prime essential for safety of man or beast is the complete removal of the animals from places of danger, or where that is impracticable, the fencing or otherwise keeping of stock from infested ground. Persistent grubbing out of plants by the roots when the ground is soft is usually as satisfactory a method as any.

In case of doubt as to the correct identification of the above plants specimens should be submitted to the Division of Botany, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

London, June 2 (CP)—Accurate in historical significance, in form, design, color and general detail, and complete in detail scenic representations of British armies in famous battles of history are the Coronation gifts of Otto Goldman to the United Services Museum here.

Thousands of miniature soldiers, mounted and foot, are employed to depict events such as the Roman landing in 55 B.C. The battles of Hastings, Marston Moor, Blenheim, Waterloo and Balaclava.

Hamilton, Ont., June 3 (CP)—So pestiferous is the insect becoming in this area, it has been suggested that a Hamilton district league for war upon mosquitoes be formed. Members of the R.D. E.F.W.U.M. if the plan materializes will be garbed in chicken wire armor, with balrooms skiks as weapons.

Chatham, Ont., June 3 (CP)—C. M. Washands of Chatham thinks he has the oldest coin in Ontario—an English farthing minted in 1721. A friend gave it to him 30 years ago and he has no idea of its value.

Rock Hill, S.C., June 3 (AP)—Bob E. Bryant and Ted Whipple, local aviation enthusiasts, were standing beside their model airplane at the Rock Hill airport, admiring its lines and its sturdiness when suddenly the craft took off, unpiloted, glided about over the landing field for a few minutes, flew away in a westerly direction, and has not been seen since.

Terrible Eczema Goes Quickly

Moone's Emerald Oil besides being so unusually antiseptic that it at once destroys germs and poisons caused by germs is such a remarkable healing agent that eczema, barber's itch, salt rheum, and other inflamatory skin eruptions often go in a few days.

For years it has been used for boils, abscesses and open sores, and with the most perfect success.

Doyle's Drug Store and every good druggist has Emerald Oil and will be glad to supply you.

ARRESTED FOR ASSAULT

Thomas Elder, former coach of the Mount Hermon Preparatory school at Northfield, Mass., who has been arrested for an alleged attempted assault on the daughter of the chief of the institution. Elder was one of the thousands on the bayonet on Dr. Elliott Speer, headmaster of the school, when he was mysteriously shot to death in his study three years ago.

MARRIAGE NOTICE

SCOBIE—STEWOUT.—At the Manse, Listowel, Ont., May 31, 1937, by the Rev. W. K. Kelly, M.A., Ruth Haldane Seymour to Irvine L. Moore, of Belleville, Ont. 33-1t

Mrs. Frank Mayers (nee Rita Douglas) of Sclpbine who underwent a serious operation at the Belleville Hospital, is progressing favorably.

Mrs. John Reid, Point Anne, has been spending several weeks at Mrs. W. Birdie's home, Murney Street.

Mrs. William Birdie, who has been ill for the past two months is able to be about again.

Miss Blanche H. Coulter will be among the graduates of Hamilton General Hospital, who will receive diplomas on Friday.

Mrs. Fred VanCott and daughter Dorothy Earle, from Lavoy, Alta., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Earle, 96 Lewis Street.

Mr. Alfred Wessels of this city left yesterday for Macleod, Que., where he has secured a position.

Miss Frances Wright and Miss Beatie Pepper, graduated this week from Ottawa Civic Hospital training school for nurses.

Miss Ruth Peck, Belleville, received a diploma for post-graduate work in ward supervision and Misses Grace Selbyea, Trenton, Grace Hubbs, Picton and Marion Thompson of Napanee, received diplomas for six months' post-graduate course in operating room technique at commencement exercises of Kingston General Hospital, yesterday.

The bridge party held yesterday afternoon at the Belleville Golf Club was very successful. Twenty-three tables were in play and many guests came for the after hour. First prize was won by Mrs. M. Vanzer and second by Mrs. W. Conby. Arrangements for the bridge were in charge of Mrs. H. Drew, convener of the social committee, assisted by Mrs. Mayhee, Mrs. Pennett, Mrs. Dolan and Mrs. Neal.

Weddings

KETCHESON—BIRD

A wedding of much interest to many friends in the surrounding country took place on April 8, 1937, in Kingston, of Thelma Ethel, Reg., N., youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Bird, Cannifton, to Everett Neil Ketcheson, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Ketcheson, Foxboro, by the Rev. H. B. Clarke, 181 William street, Kingston.

The groom, popular member of the younger set of Cannifton, is graduate of Peterborough Normal School, who for the past two months has been taking a course in dairying in Erie, Pa., in connection with the Goodrich Tire Co., has been located in Oshawa.

The bride, who has been very successful in her nursing career, is a graduate of the 1933 nursing class of Belleville General Hospital, winning a silver medal at that time.

Mr. and Mrs. Ketcheson will shortly take up residence in Oshawa, where the best wishes of a host of friends will follow them on the voyage of matrimony.

GEE—McHUGH

A very pretty wedding took place on Tuesday, June 1st at 8 p.m. at St. Michael's church when the Rev. Father J. J. Collins united in marriage Miss Madeline Clara McHugh, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Patrick McHugh and Mr. Charles Arthur Gee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gee of Stratford, Ont.

The bride was given away by her brother in a gown of white satin with white accessories and was assisted by her sister Mrs. Kathleen Doll and Mr. William Bird, cousin of the bride, did honors for the groom.

After the ceremony was performed a buffet luncheon was served to a number of friends and relatives at the home of the bride. The bride and groom left on an early morning train for Toronto and other points west. Upon their return they will reside in Belleville.

W.C.A. NOTES

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Christian Association was held in the Council Chambers of the City Hall, Tuesday, June 1st, with the President, Mrs. V. Blakiston, in the chair. Mrs. E. Thomas was appointed lady on duty for the month of June.

Donations for May 1937 to Belleville Home for Aged—Black Fish Co.—Fresh fish; St. Julian Chapter I.O.D.E., Tobacco and oranges twice; Mrs. Holway, cans of fruit; A friend, can of shortening; Bapt. Church, S.S. papers, often; Miss Yeomans, literature.

MELROSE WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The ladies of the Melrose Women's Institute met the May meeting at the home of their President, Mrs. Thos. Leslie, on Thursday afternoon, May 27th. There was an attendance of twenty-five.

The meeting opened in the usual way after which some items of business were presented. The District Annual Meeting was announced and its program read.

The roll calls for the year were explained. Tested recipes suited to each month are to be given at each meeting and a "Cook Book" is to be compiled at the end of the year. Mrs. G. Walker was appointed to take care of the recipes which are to be handed to her and arranged for printing.

An appeal from the Canadian Red Cross for Western Ontario Flood Sufferers was read and a donation of $10 made.

It was moved by Mrs. H. Murphy seconded by Mrs. G. English that the usual donations be made to the District and Convention Area Funds. This motion met with the members approval. Some time was spent in discussing the co-operative program.

Mrs. Clarence Hagerman now took charge of the meeting and a number was sung from the song sheet. Following this, Mrs. F. Wilson read a paper on "Care of Furs and Fur Storage." Mrs. Bruce Sherman sang a solo after which Mrs. Bernice Robinson gave a reading on "Planning the meal when the housewife is to be away." The main thought suggested by it was—be sure to leave plenty of well cooked, appetizing, satisfying food.

Another song was sung by all and then the topic was given by the leader entitled, "Canadian Women in Agriculture." This dealt with some of the enterprising women of the Peace River and other Northern Districts and was very interesting.

Mrs. J. Haight gave the current events. Community singing was again enjoyed followed by the National Anthem.

Collection amounted to $2.10.

The hostess and lunch committee served sandwiches, pickles, cake and coffee and the ladies enjoyed a social time together.

TOURIST CAMP AT MADOC OPENS

Belleville Municipal Band Gives Delightful Program

Madoc, June 3.—(Special)—The annual opening of Madoc's Tourist Camp attracted over 2,500 people to Mr. Frank Smith, the proprietor, and the Shell Oil Company of Canada Limited generously provided free entertainment in the form of a band concert and two hours of movies. The excellent musical program was encored again and again as the Belleville Band under the leadership of Mr. Jobson presented many old favourites.

Mr. E. C. Tufts acted as chairman and introduced the speakers, Rev. Hope Swayze rector of St. John's Anglican Church, Reverend Father Highland of Sacred Heart of Mary Church, and Rev. Merritt Pring of Actinolite, spoke and commented on the fine tourist camp facilities now available to Madoc.

Mr. Frank Smith, well known garage man of Madoc, local distributor of Ford parts and agent of the Shell gasoline has built a fine camp with three single bungalows and two large double cottages. All are equipped with running water and electrically lighted. All rooms are heated. It is Mr. Smith's intention to build a kitchen as soon as possible.

Company Officials Attend

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. R. Elmer, Toronto assistant sales manager of the Toronto Division of the Shell Oil Company of Canada Ltd.; Mr. McLean, Advertising manager of Toronto, and Mr. Marvell, district manager of Belleville. The Shell Educational Truck provided talkie movies. A refreshment booth was operated by the Ladies' Guild of the Anglican church.

CHOSEN ANNAPOLIS BLOSSOM QUEEN

PICARD BALLOON DESTROYED BY FIRE

The balloon in which Professor Auguste Piccard made his first stratosphere ascension five years ago is shown being destroyed by fire at Brussels, Belgium, just before the professor and his associate, Max Cosyns, were about to make another experimental hot-air flight. The en- velope was being inflated by a gi- gantic burner, when a sudden gust of wind pressed the envelope on the flame, setting it afire.

KINGSTON PONIES DEFEAT PETES IN 2 INNING RALLY

Peterboro Leading 8 - 1 Going Into Last Half of Eighth

USED SQUEEZE PLAY

By The Canadian Press

Kingston Ponies showed the Central Ontario Baseball League just what a comeback was in yesterday. The Ponies overcame a seven-run deficit in the eighth inning to defeat Peterborough 9-8 and lead the league with three wins and no defeats.

Pete hammered "Tammy" Jundeson hard and were leading 8-1 going into the last of the eighth. The Ponies then started to pop and Kaffry's best efforts and pounded in five runs before being sent out to the field. At bat again Kingston filled bases and squeezed in two runs to tie the game with one out. The Scruton turned the trick, when he laid down a bunt to bring in the winning tally.

Niagara Falls Cataracts and Port Colborne Sailors both scored their third straight victories in the Niagara District Senior Baseball League. Thorold took advantage of poor Welland fielding to win their first Niagara loop game 16-5 from Welland in an eight inning game.

Three singles and a double in the eighth frame fired the Cataracts up for a 5-3 win over Merritton Alliance. The Falls outfit led 3-0 from the third inning, added another run in the seventh and the rally in the eighth served as game insurance.

Vince Upper Homers

The Sailors started to work on St. Catharines in the first inning, when they got four runs to lead to a 6-2 win. The Saints led 5-4 by the end of the third and 8-5 up to the seventh but Vince Upper poled a home run over the centre field fence with the bases loaded and another pair of runs in the eighth and final inning finished the St. Kids' rally.

In the inter-county senior loop on Saturday, Oshawa defeated Stratford Nationals 11-7 in the only scheduled game. The Firsts sent two Stratford pitchers to the showers after Sleeford had a five-run rally in the second inning and held the National scoreless until the ninth, when a solo run was earned. The win put Stratford in second position with two wins and a loss, following London with three wins without a loss.

Oshawa waited until players were on base before making hits in their C.O.B.L. game with Napanee and came out on the long end of an 11-9 score. Juhenville became the first player to hammer a home run out of Gibbard Park at Napanee, when he cleared the left field fence by six feet at the 400 yard mark.

KIWANIS JUNIORS DROP 4TH IN ROW TO FOXBORO NINE

Game Called in Fourth And Not Listed as Official Game

FOXBORO TEAM LATE

Kelleher Blows up in The Fourth When Winners Score Four

Inability to solve the slants of diminutive Bud Wilkins, ace hurler of the champion Foxboro entry in the South Hastings League, took some costly errors and lifted the Belleville Kiwanis their fourth start of the season last night at the Agricultural Grounds, although the pastime was called at the end of the fourth innings on account of darkness, and consequently will not go down in the official records as an official game. The score at the end of the fourth and last inning favors the short end of a 5-0 count.

Wilkins was in rare form, not a hit being garnered from his delivery during the abbreviated game, while he struck out 6. Only two men reached first, one by virtue of a walk, and the other beating out a bunt. Neither Foxboro backstop dropped a third strike.

Kelleher, on the mound for the Juniors, was afforded poor support by his teammates in the infield. One lapse of the six allowed by him, and a brace of errors in the third innings sent two Foxboro runners scampering across the plate. He blew up in the final innings, when the Foxboro batsmen got to him for four safeties driving as many runs across the plate to put the game on ice.

Consecutive errors in the first of the third chukker put runners on first and second after Faux had whiffed out. Wilkins' sharp infield drive went through Ronchi's legs for the third error of the innings and the first two runs of the game came in.

In the fourth, consecutive batsmen loaded the sacks. N. Guay's looping fly, which dropped in short right field with a brace of markers, another run scored on an infield out, and Murray's clean single sent Faux home with the final run of the fame. Bud Wilkins delightfully struck out to end the agony.

V. Guay led his mates in the hitting department with a brace of singles, with Faux, Murray, N. Guay and Wall contributing one each.

J. Dean Tosses Down Gauntlet To Prexy Frick

New York, June 3—(AP)—Jerome Herman (Dizzy) Dean today tossed down the gauntlet to President Ford Frick of the National League, declaring he would work when ready, rather than sign the letter of apology tendered him following his indefinite suspension "for conduct detrimental to the best interests of baseball."

The show-down was to come today when the ace hurler of the Louis Cardinals accompanied by manager Frankie Frisch, conferred with Frick in the league offices. But meeting or no meeting, Dizzy was on record as declaring he would go home and spend the remainder of the "working day" rather than apologize for something he insists he is not sorry for.

Frick's disciplinary action, which broke like a bomb-shell on the baseball world yesterday, came as climax to a series of incidents that have figured in the headlines since the spring training season. The latest sequence began on May 19 when the New York Giants and Carl Hubbell beat the Cards, and Dean 4-1 in a game that ended in a slugging fest.

Dizzy was fined $50 for his part in the free-for-all, the outgrowth of a ball on him by Umpire George Barr, during a Giant-rally in the sixth.

CANNIFTON COPS THIRD STRAIGHT OVER LATTA 9-6

COLE HAS 4 FOR 4

"Chuck" Barrage Also Has Perfect Night With Willow

Latta June, 3—Latta boys lost their first home game of the season last night when the fast stepping lads from Canniffon squeezed out a last inning victory from the homesters in a game which was featured by heavy hitting and snappy field-ing. This was Canniffon's third straight win of the season and the "Sherry's" gang appears to be the team to beat for the bunting.

Bob Smith who was doing the hurling chores for the winners, and Callaghan pitching for the visitors shellacked by opposing batters with rars abandon of the virgins, and doubles and triples at the bats with regularity. Canniffon hitters garnered 13 safeties including a triple by Art Cole, Canniffon's slugging first sacker. Art was the big batsman having a triple a double and two singles for a perfect night. Chuck Barrage also "shellacked by opposing batters with rars abandon of the virgins, and doubles and triples at the bats with regularity. Canniffon hitters garnered 13 safeties including a triple by Art Cole, Canniffon's slugging first sacker. Art was the big batsman having a triple a double and two singles for a perfect night. Chuck Barrage Callaghan's delivery to his liking as he also had a perfect night, getting the nod of three, Latta cuffed Smith's offerings for seven, mainly in the pinches, and were clustered in the inning frame together with a walk and a hit batsman serve Smith in anxious moments. Clowe was the only Latta player getting more than one hit.

Canniffon had men aboard in every inning and managed to push at least one run across excepting in the fifth, when Latta held them scoreless. In the latter frame hard believed in getting their's all at once, as they scored one in the second and five in the third to go one up on their rivals. Their advantage was shortlived however as Canniffon pulled up even in the fourth, and went on to score three in the sixth while shutting their opponents out.

Line ups—Canniffon—L. Jarrell, Hughes, Simpson, Cole K. Jarrel, Blackman, Sharpe, Barriage, Smith, and Bush.

Latta—Gowe, Orr Simpson, Tunnion, D. Smith, Marsh, N. Dale, Hall, Callaghan.

POINT ANNERS DOWN AAJMAAS

Score 11-1 Win Behind Good Hurling of Stan Luffman

Behind the stellar hurling of Stan Luffman, the Point Anne town baseball mounddsman, the Point Anne team registered their fifth straight win in the Belleville Senior Softball loop at the "Cement village" lads downing the Aajmaas juniors 11 to 1 at the Coleman Flats last evening. In defeating the junior lads Luffman limited Townsend-led aggregation to five safeties. The Point Anne batsmen tally came in the initial frame as Amo drove home Adams, who had walked.

The Aajmaas juniors took an initial shutout lead of one run and protected it until the fourth, when the Point Anne nine aggregation soloed for four hits, for three runs and subsequently kept adding to that figure with an eight run rally in the sixth that was terminated by a circuit drive by Genereaux, the "cement gang" outfit the Aajmaas kids 12 to 2.

Genereaux's homer helped the winners considerably, although Townsend's two smash drives limited into the scoring. Murney Green counted a double and a single, while Gaulin cuffed a timely double and Luffman, helped his own cause with two singles. The Aajmaas nine aggregation collected ten of their seven safeties in the fifth, as they scored all of their runs. Adams, Hagin and Rowbotham got the only hits registered against Luffman for the Aajmaas kids. After the initial inning, when the Aajmaas juniors scored their only counter, Luffman was forced in trouble and literally cruised in to victory. The next games scheduled in the league is slated for Saturday afternoon at the Coleman Flats with the 1936 champion Percivals meet the Corbin Rangers nine.

The line-ups:

Pt. Anne—Genereaux 3b; Batman cf; Dickey lf; Green c; Gaulin ss; Scott 2b; Fisher rf; Luffman p and Sero ss.

BERT WELLS ACTS AS THIRD MAN

Well Known And Popular Referee Will Handle Wrestling Bouts

After an absence of some eight months from active ring service Bert Wells, well known and popular wrestling referee, has been engaged as the third man in the ring for Friday night's all star professional grappling show at the Belleville Arena. Wells has proven his worth and ability as a wrestling arbiter and should be a welcomed official Friday.

Featuring the return of old and appreciated faces the lighter-weight wrestlers are being featured with an assured crowd-pleasing bout in the preliminary between Jim Wilkins, Toronto and Frank Slavik, Windsor. The main bout of the show brings together two well known grapplers in Mike Domanic, Italian heavyweight, versus John Katan, former Canadian titleholder.

Of course the bout of interest should see the return of two ring veterans, Al Dunlop versus Howard Anderson, the Mama Reserve Indian, better known as Chief Lynx. These two veterans of the squared circle have met locally before and always stage a thrilling bout.

Stirling and District

Stirling—On Sunday evening the service at St. Paul's United Church was interdenominational in character and was conducted by Mr. Pletcher, travelling representative of the Upper Canada Bible Society, who delivered an interesting address to the large congregation gathered there. During his address he explained the object and purpose of the organization which he represents and described in detail some of its past achievements.

Directly after the service an organization meeting was conducted to appoint local officers for the Society and those selected represent parishioners of all Protestant denominations within the district of Stirling and Rawdon.

Officers

Honorary Presidents—Rev. James Bischell of Rawdon United Church Circuit; Rev. W. J. Scott of St. Paul's United Church; Rev. J. A. Koffend of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church; Rev. A. S. McConnell of St. John's Anglican Church. President, Mr. Fred Houchin of St. John's Anglican Church. The vice-president though not officially selected will be chosen from one of the three churches of the Rawdon charge. Secretary, Mrs. Harper Rollins of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church; treasurer, Mrs. Nora Prescott of St. Paul's United church.

During the morning service a large Memorial Scroll was unveiled on the pulpit in memory of Mrs. Stone, former active worker in the church who passed away several years ago. The memorial was placed by her son, Mr. Thos. Stone.

Rawdon Baseball League Revived

Activities were set into motion for the revival of one of the district's most popular softball leagues at a meeting held in the Stirling agricultural office on Tuesday evening. Almost twelve years ago Rawdon township had within it one of the finest ball leagues, but it suddenly passed into insignificance with the teams each breaking out to join other leagues until it was almost forgotten. Few leagues ever operated with more needed than this one, however, and its sudden revival is creating considerable interest in local sporting circles. Representatives of four teams were present at the meeting and organization was carried forward with rapidity and enthusiasm.

Officers Elected

The league will bear the same name as in former years, Rawdon Softball League, and four teams will contest for the championship, Glen Rose; Springbrook; Mount Pleasant and Bethel. The following gentlemen were selected to direct its activities, which it is believed will get under way at an early date:

Honorary President—Hon. Dr. A. Faulkner, M.P.P., Roche Fergusen, M.P., and Mr. Jos. Wilson, local representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

President, Mr. Kenneth Weaver. Secretary-treasurer, Mr. Harry Brown.

During the business part of the meeting it was decided that a single schedule would be played with second and third place teams to play-off a best two of three series for the right to meet the league leaders in the same type of series. Games will be played on Tuesday and Saturdays of each week. Some of the representatives present voiced the hope that some of the games could be played on the Stirling ball park if satisfactory arrangements could be arrived at by those in charge locally.

Personals

Mr. F. T. Ward, veteran business man of the village, was taken suddenly ill on Tuesday while in Front Street business establishment. Medical aid was summoned immediately and Mr. Ward was later removed to his home where he is reported to be resting comfortably. A host of many friends wish Mr. Ward a very speedy recovery.

THEY'RE SO CRISP!
The SPRATT FAMILY solves a problem

YES, indeed! Everybody likes Kellogg's Rice Krispies. Children and grown-ups alike agree that there's no crisper, more delicious cereal than these tasty bubbles of toasted rice! They are so crisp, they crackle out loud in milk or cream!

Rice Krispies are light, wholesome, and easy to digest. Serve them for breakfast, lunch, and for bedtime snacks (they never interfere with sound sleep). They are extra delicious with fruit or berries added. And they're always ready to serve.

Grocers everywhere sell Rice Krispies. Restaurants, hotels and dining-cars serve them. A Mother Goose story illustrated in color — the kind that children love — is printed on the back of every package. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

SO CRISP they crackle in milk or cream

Board Room Gossip

As supplied to Biggar and Crawford by Financial Service.

MARKET COMMENT

Nos. in recent years has any subject received more publicity, or more divergent views expressed, than on the matter of the future price for gold. Despite repeated denials from the British and United States governments that no immediate change in the gold price is in prospect, rumors continue to appear in the world press that a lowering of the price is being considered and will shortly go into effect.

Confronted with such a situation the security markets on this continent and in Europe have hesitated perceptibly and a good deal of liquidation has occurred from those investors, who, not understanding fully the meaning of the question involved, have dumped their holdings overboard.

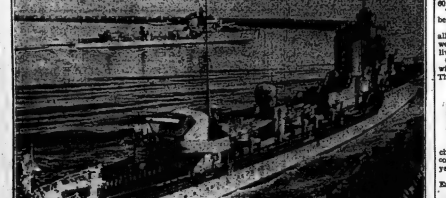
Without delving into the matter of whether any tampering with the gold price is in prospect, it is pertinent to point out that a reduction in the price of the yellow metal, say to $30 an ounce, providing assurance was given that such a price would be maintained, would be construed in a bullish light, it would act as rest for many theories and rumours so promiscuously given by economists and professional experts.

The gold mining industry of Canada would not cease operations on $30.00 an ounce. When the metal was selling at $20.67 an ounce, such companies as Lake Shore, Hollinger, Dome, McIntyre, etc., were all doing well, showing good profits and distributing satisfactory dividends. A lowering of the price would, however, preclude for a time the financing of new prospects.

One thing is certain; a settlement of the gold question, one way or the other, would go a long way in relieving the uncertainty so prevalent at the present time and it is to be hoped that the American Government as well as the British authorities are cognizant of the fact that the longer this question remains uncertain, the longer will business recovery be retarded.

In connection with the above it is most heartening to report that latest London advices are to the effect that the United States, Great Britain and France are preparing a joint statement guaranteeing a world price for gold at the present rate. Should this report prove to be correct, it would act as an exceedingly strong stimulant for all security markets.

Markets such as have prevailed in recent weeks, both in bonds and stocks, have provided an ideal hunting ground for the type of investor who knows it's a practice to wait for just such reactions to accumulate sound securities. The "break" in the markets precipitated by the "gold scare" carried the good grade material down with the result that securities of companies in good position are available as yields considerably more favorable than during the active markets of the first months of the year.



Dullness Ahead

A period of dullness as prevailed the first quarter of 1935 seems to be the order of the day. Ordinarily as the old adage, "Sell a dull market", indicates, dullness is a healthy sign. It hedkens the dawning up of liquidation. But to be convincing beyond all doubt, dullness must extend over a protracted period.

WALL STREET CLOSE

New York, June 3—(AP)—Stock Market leaders dawdled in a restricted area today and, on the whole, were unsuccessful in establishing a definite trend.

Dealings were about on par with yesterday's session, the slowest in more than two years. Minor losses predominated near the final hour. Tranfers were about 550,000 shares.

ITALIAN NAVY TO HALT SOVIET SHIPS AT SEA

With warnings from Italy that Spanish waters together with the sharp reprisals will follow interference with Italian shipping, orders are reported to have been given Italian fighting craft to halt at sea all Russian ships carrying supplies to the loyalist Madrid-Valencia government. These orders coupled with the fact that Italy has withdrawn from the international patrol of sending of additional German warships to Spain, have created a situation viewed as tense by European diplomats. Informed sources, however, feel that chances of averting a general war depend on whether Russia will allow the Italian navy to halt Soviet ships and whether the Soviet government will renounce her non-intervention pledge as Italy and Germany have done. While a great deal depends on Soviet Russia, a general conflict would likely be caused if loyalist aeroplanes bombed Italian ships similar to those shown in the above photograph. This picture, the latest obtainable shows the Italian fleet as it was reviewed by Il Duce and King Victor Emanuel at Naples, Italy, this year. In a special review for Admiral Horthy, regent of Hungary, Italian ally.

TORONTO STOCK EXCHANGE

(Close)

Toronto, June 3 (CP)— Volume dwindled today to the smallest turnover of the year for a full session on the Toronto Exchange and prices fell into a downward drift after showing fair stability in the early part of the day. The only feature was a re-surge in O'Brien in the first hour with the price going to $2.30 on good volume. Buying slackened in the afternoon and the quotation sagged to around $.90 where it showed a net gain of 40 cents. Base metals and industrials closed lower and the western oils were steady and slow.

Paper, beverage, steel, utility and miscellaneous issues trended on the down side. The preferred stocks of Abitibi and Great Lakes lost a point each and the common issues were down fractions. Point losses in other groups were boarded by Canada Steamships pfd., Page Hersey, and Steinberg pfd. Issues down about a half point included Dominion Coal pfd., Dominion Steel, Canada Vinegars, Beauharnois, Brazilian Traction, Consumers Gas and Bathurst Power A.

Lower prices for copper and lead on the London market gave consolidated Smelters and Noranda a drop of two points each and International Nickel declined about a point. Silvers were steady but a drop of 10 to 20 cents for Anglo-Huronian and Mining Corporation. Golds were irregular, Bralorne, Buffalo-Ankerite and Dome held to the up side and Lake Shore weakened a half point. Losses of 5 to 10 cents were boarded for Central Patricia, Lake Shore, Consol. San Antonio, Stadacona and Montila.

LEAD MINE NEAR MILLBRIDGE MAY BE PRODUCING SOON

Eighteen men are employed at the Catherine Lead Mine at Millbridge in North Hastings at the present time following the commencement of operations there this year. The mine, idle for many years, it is reported, has been re-valued, and is once more being prepared for production. A few fine samples of the ore are now on exhibit at the local Chamber of Commerce.

Livestock

Toronto, June 3 (CP)—Hog prices based on a further 10 cents on the Toronto Live-stock Market today. Calves, sheep and lambs sold at steady prices while there were no cattle sales noted early afternoon. Cattle holdover from Wednesday was 70 head.

Receipts, reported by the Dominion Livestock Branch were: Cattle 20; calves 10; hogs 340; sheep and lambs 60.

The few veal calves offered went between $5 and $7.50.

Off-truck hogs sold generally at $8.75 to $890. Rail grade hogs were quoted at $11.85 to $11.90 delivered.

Choice lambs brought $13 to $12.50 with other grades from $9 to $12.50. The few sheep were from $1.50 to $3.

RETURN OF DUKE

chance will come to serve as he could never serve as King, does not yet arise—never may arise.

"Whether he should return to England does arise—and now.

"Edward is the seven Mary eldest son. It was to her beseechingly that he turned in his hour of need. And it was she in the same hour who pleaded with her people to keep within our hearts a fond remembrance of him.

Quick Return Urged

"Let no word now be said—from pulpit, press or platform which will impede or postpone or make more difficult any way for a quick return of that son to England.

"He needs still the help of the great lady who is his mother. And she, like every other mother in the land, still loves her son.

"Queen Mary has endured much. Is there any man or any woman who dares to allow the accumulation which will darken into night the peaceful twilight of her hard-earned rest?"

Produce Prices on Montreal Market

Montreal, June 3.—There was an easier trend on the local produce markets yesterday, lower prices being reported on butter, cheese, potatoes and eggs. Increasing production was a factor on the butter market. Receipts were 1,421 cases of eggs, 338 boxes of butter and 2,784 boxes of cheese, excluding truck arrivals.

The usual weekly auction was held at the Board of Trade around the noon hour. Sales were: 598 boxes of No. 1 white Quebec cheese, 14 1-8c; 34 boxes of No. 2 Quebec white cheese at 13 1-8c; 140 boxes of No. 1 Quebec colored cheese at 14 3-16c; 10 boxes of No. 2 Quebec colored cheese at 13 3-16c and 498 boxes of No. 1 Quebec butter at 34 1-4c. SOVIET SCIENTISTS PREPARE FOR NORTH POLE FLIGHT

Following the mud avalanche which swept over the town of Tlalpujahua, Mexico, bringing death to over 500 villagers, rescue workers began the task of digging bodies out of the thick mud as shown above. The flood was caused when dams, holding back mud which had accumulated for over 40 years, burst, allowing cyanide-laden slimes to rise to a height of 100 feet to completely cover part of the little Mexican town.

JAMES BRADDOCK IS SUSPENDED

N. Y. Boxing Commission Also Slaps on Fine of $1,000

New York, June 3 (AP)— The New York State Athletic Commission today slapped an indefinite suspension on heavyweight champion James J. Braddock for his failure to appear for a 15-round title bout with Max Schmeling of Germany.

The Commission also fined Braddock and Joe Louis, whom he is scheduled to meet in Chicago on June 22, $1,000 each.

General John J. Phelan, Commission Chairman, announced the New York solons had notified all State Athletic Commissions affiliated with the New York Board that it would suspend any boxer meeting Braddock before the champion goes through with his contract to defend his title against Schmeling.

This was taken to mean that Louis, if he goes through with his match with Braddock on that date, automatically would be suspended in New York State.

INSURGENT LEADER KILLED IN CRASH

Berlin, June 3.—(CP-Havas)—General Emilio Mola, one of the chief commanders in the Spanish insurgent army and leader of the current offensive against Bilbao, was killed in an airplane crash, the German news agency reported here tonight.

Details were lacking for the moment, beyond the fact that a plane in which he was riding met disaster in a heavy fog, the agency said.

Since the outbreak of the uprising Mola had been one of the guiding geniuses of insurgent strategy. He was entrusted by General Francisco Franco with the vital assignment of waging the campaign to capture the Basque provinces.

NEW JERSEY GIRLS ENJOY THEIR TRIP THRU THIS DISTRICT

FARMERS COMPLY WITH LAW IN CLEANING UP OF CORN STUBBLE

Following an earlier season warning, farmers of the district have complied with their clearing of corn stobble from their fields "pretty well" it was reported today by County Weed Inspector Chas. Marvin, now engaged on his spring check-up of fields. The late season and spring rains this year have held up this work as well as other farm work, but conditions in the rural areas have been found as well as can be expected, it is reported.

INJURED MAN IS TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Sergeant E. W. McKeown, R.C.A.M.C. injured in an automobile accident on Saturday night on the Trenton-Frankford highway was removed to hospital in Belleville on the orders of Dr. Stevens, medical officer of the Airport. McKeown suffered a badly lacerated head and it is believed he is suffering from a fractured skull, it was stated here. At the time of the accident he was brought in Belleville hospital, where six stitches were placed in his head and taken to the home of friends, but he grew steadily worse and his removal to Kingston followed.

BOAT OWNERS WARNED AGAINST TYING INTO CHANNEL BUOYS

Following considerable trouble in the matter of maintaining channel marking buoys in the lower harbor by their private places through the habit of youthful navigators of sailing small boats and yachts up to the buoys for the purpose of fishing and swimming, warning was issued today by Harbormaster Joe. Waddell that the using of buoys for the purpose of tying boats was an infraction of marine laws, punishable by stiff fines.

Several boat owners have already been warned against the practice by the Harbormaster.

The buoys are not very heavily weighted and even a small boat can shift them some distance. Consequently we have been having a lot of trouble in keeping them placed at the proper locations" stated Mr. Waddell.

NEW YORK TIMES FEATURES DOG SHOW

Little Benny's Note Book

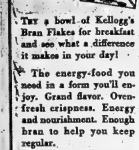
Mr and Puds Simkins and Shorty Judge and Sid Hunt was sitting on my front steps tawking and arguing and Sid's big brother Fred went passed whistling, me saying, Say your brother wrecking now, Sid?

Fred became famous for not working, and Sid said, No, he's too busy thinking up plots for moving pictures. All he has to do is sell one and he'll get so much money for it that all he'll have to do will be a wall till he sells another one, he said.

Sounding like a scientist and I said, O, maybe we could think up a movie plot.

Sure, let's do it. I'll get my brother Fred to sell it for us and he properly wouldn't even charge us for it. Sid Hunt said, and Puds Simkins said, Let's start it with a lot of excitement by a baby getting kidnapped, and a lot of the wrong people get shot in the excitement but nobody catches the kidnappers or even sees them to find out if they have any scars or anything to identify them, and then a lot of years go by and the baby is 20 years old.

Then he couldn't be a baby, I said, and Puds said, Who said he couldn't? You don't want the whole picture full of blabs, do you? he said.



Shute, he's 20 years old and he comes back home to see the place where he was born at, Shorty Judge said. And his mother and Father are so sad to think of him being kidnapped without any trace, he said, and I said, That's nice, and it makes him so mad he taks a vow and promises them he'll find his own kidnappers and have them arrested.

Sure, so he sets out on his travels but he ain't to have a clew, Puds said, and Sid said, Well how can he have a clew when you went and took away all their scars and everything?

Being a good argument, and just then some more of the fellows came up and we got up a game of cops and racketeers, proberly being the end of the-plot.

R. A. ELLIOTT OF DELORO, SPEAKER

Gives Kiwanis Members an Insight Into Smelting at Cobalt

One of the most interesting addresses delivered to the Kiwanis Club in some time was heard on Tuesday, when R. A. Elliott, superintendent of the Deloro Smelting and Mining Company, and prominent in baseball activities in Eastern Ontario was the principal speaker, choosing for his address "Smelting". Eddie Logan introduced at the meeting with George Fordyce as song leader and William Lynch as sergeant at arms. The speaker was introduced by George Griffin, Chris Kirwan in appreciation was expressed by the President.

Mr. Elliott in brief gave a history of mining telling how gold and silver were discovered by the advent of the railways in Northern Ontario told his listeners of the founding of the present plant at Deloro, told his listeners of the founding which is the only one of its kind on the American continent.

The speaker produced samples of the various operations of smelting and the use put to by the by-products obtained. Mr. Elliott made a personal plea for accident prevention in factories and in an interesting manner told the progress, that had been made in the Deloro plant. He also advised education in the home because he stated nearly 45 per cent of the accidents occur in the home.

Provincial Relief Projects May Include The Quinte Beaches

Possibility that the civic beach project and waterfront development may be carried out as a provincial relief project was voiced at a meeting of members of the Bay of Quinte Beaches, Inc., held in the Y.M.C.A. last evening, following the reading of a letter from the Hon. Dr. J. A. Faulkner to this effect.

President Hall-Sheriff of the Beach Association has been advised in the communication that a special investigator from the Provincial Welfare Department will visit this city soon for the purpose of making a complete survey to that end.

It has been known for some time through communications received from the Hon. Dr. Faulkner that the local Member has favored the construction of the beach and has worked in fostering its development from the initial stages. Consideration for the efforts of the local Beach Committee in this respect has been repeatedly voiced by Hon. Dr. Faulkner.

Presentation Made To Bride - Elect

Third Sidney—On Monday evening a large gathering of friends and neighbors met at the home of Mr. Wm. Wheeler to pay tribute to his daughter, Edna, who was married on Wednesday, June 2nd. to Mr. Frank Parks of Foxboro.

A social hour was spent and the gathering was called to order by Mr. Ronald Jones and an address was read by Miss Ruth Wheeler.

Miss Edna was asked to open the parcels, which included silver, cut glass, china, a waffle iron, electric clock, an electric table lamp, bedding and many other gifts.

In well chosen words, expressing her sincere appreciation of her loyal school mates and friends, Edna thanked everyone for the beautiful gifts and invited all to visit her in her new home in Toronto. Further joys in the added

Dear Edna:

This gathering of your friends and neighbors of Alkins community marks a progressive step in your life and is an expression of our best wishes for your future happiness.

You have grown up among us from childhood to womanhood playing, studying with many of us at school, mixing with us in Sunday school, helping in entertainments, visiting in our homes and entertaining your visitors. Now with your approaching marriage you will take up new duties and responsibilities in another community. We have greatly appreciated your help while you have been one of us. Your musical ability has often been at our disposal in various gatherings and meetings and we shall miss your lovely soprano voice in the choir in that line. The Y.P.U. will especially miss you as pianist as you have generously done your part in getting that organization started. Our Sunday school is not a very large one but we feel that the greater the reward for your contribution of time and effort will be. We ponder them anyway in the hope that you yill value them for their sincerity, even though they are inadequate.

And now we ask you to accept this token, which although in itself some ornamental, and some both, will because you have in themselves any great value but because they are an expression of our very sincere good wishes for your future happiness, good health and prosperity.

May your influence count only for good in the new life which opens before you and may these gifts be a source of pleasure to your friend in the Alkins community.

Duke of Windsor is Wedded at Chateau de Cande, Monts

Scene and Figures in Today's Ceremony at Monts, France

Beautiful Chateau de Cande at Monts, France, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bedeaux of New York was the scene today of the wedding of H.R.H. the Duke of Windsor and Mrs. Wallis Warfield, formerly of Baltimore. No official representative of the British royal family attended and only close friends were invited. The civil ceremony was performed by Dr. Charles Mercier (lower right) mayor of Monts. One of the guests was the bride's aunt, Mrs. D. R. Merryman of New York (top left), the aunt Bessie of the abdication

In Chateau of Touraine World-Famous Couple Take Marriage Vows

Only official witnesses and newspapermen attended the civil ceremony in the salon. Then, after refreshments out-of-doors, the guests adjourned to the music room for the religious service made possible by the little English vicar's dramatic 11th. hour offer.

Duchess in 'Wallis Blue'

After him, the blue-eyed 40-year-old Duchess answered "I will" in a voice as firm as the Duke's but more hushed.

The Duchess was clad in light "Wallis blue" from head to foot. Her costume was complemented by sparkling sapphire bracelets and ear-rings. From her small straw hat stemmed blue and pink feathers.

After the religious ceremony the Duke and Duchess led their guests back to the terrace. There, a buffet wedding breakfast had been spread.

Brief Speech by Duke

Edward made a short speech, thanking "all of you gathered here" for being on this occasion so important to us."

The breakfast was an informal gathering, no member of the Royal family was present. A few friends of the Duke came from England.

The bridal couple disappeared for a brief time and then returned to their company. The Duchess had changed to another costume and the Duke had off his cutaway for a blue serge suit.

Married in Five Minutes

Just five minutes after Monts' country physician-mayor began the French civil ceremony in the Chateau salon, Wallis Warfield was "Her Grace, the Duchess of Windsor", wed to the man who abdicated twenty-five weeks ago. That was 11:47 a.m. (6:47 a.m. E.D.T.).

The next few minutes were spent in signing civil documents to comply with the French law.

"I wished Dr. Mercier, wearing his red, white and blue sash of office, self-consciously hand the papers to the Duke. Town Crier, who placed them in an old leather case and bicycled feverishly back to the Town Hall.

Most Touching of All Idylls

"By one of those whims of destiny," the Mayor told the bridal couple, "it is under a blue sky among the flowers of the garden of France, on the banks of the smiling Indre Valley, that the most touching of all idylls has just unfolded itself. . . . .

"The illustrious union which innumerable hearts will celebrate in secret today has as its celebrant the Mayor of a little Touraine town . . . . .

"In saluting in its name a prince who was the well-beloved sovereign of a friendly people, and she whom His Highness has chosen in a noble country to which we are attached with the same precious bonds greatness and glory—permit him who has just received the mutual consent uniting your destinies to give you. . . the most sincere wishes for your happiness . . . .

Conscience Vicar's Authority

When the couple re-entered the Chateau from the terrace during the refreshment interim between services they went separately to the music room, where I was seated with the other guests.

Mr. Jardine, stood beside the improvised altar—made up of borrowings from neighborhood churches—wearing his white surplice. He performed the service without the sanction of his ecclesiastical superiors, but did so, he said, on the authority of his conscience.

The Duke, accompanied by his best man, Major Edward Dudley Metcalfe, came up the corridor from the dining room and passed before the assembled guests. He stood before the altar, from the centre of which rose a two-foot golden cross.

Soft notes rose from the organ as Marcel Dupre played a wedding prelude. Mr. Jardine began reading the marriage ceremony from the Church of England Book of Common Prayer.

Duke's Names All Used

Calling the Duke by all his given names the Vicar asked:

"Edward Albert Christian George Andrew Patrick David . . . . will thou love her, comfort her, honor her and keep her? . . . . "I will," the Duke answered firmly.

The priest then asked the Duchess, calling her "Bessie Wallis", if she would "obey, serve, love and honor".

The bride, repeating after the parson, answered in steady, hushed voice:

"I . . . . and to obey until death do us part.

The Duke, also following the minister's reading, took the wedding ring of Welsh gold from Mr. Jardine and placed it on his bride's finger.

"With this ring I thee wed," Edward said, " . . . and with all my worldly goods I thee endow . . . "

Pray For Blessing . . .

The Vicar called upon the congregation to pray, asking that God give his blessing "to this man and to this woman".

"May they remain perfect love and peace together," he added. "Those whom God has joined together let no man put asunder."

"I pronounce that they be man and wife together, in the name of the Father, and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost, Amen."

It was exactly 12:14 p.m. when Edward and Wallis arose from the white satin cushions on which they had knelt to receive the priest's blessing.

The Wedding Breakfast

Now the guests arose and headed for the long table crowded with trays of lobster, baked ham, pastries and other delicacies for the buffet wedding breakfast.

In the centre of the table, surmounting the array, was a six-storey wedding cake trimmed with white frosted forget-me-nots.

Champagne was passed to all the guests and Major Metcalfe proposed a toast to the happiness of the newly-married couple.

The bridegroom, in gay spirits the morning long, was self-conscious when his friends called upon him to speak. He shifted first to one foot and then to the other. Then, in simple words, he thanked his guests for coming.

Talked With Couple

Later, I talked to the bride and the bridegroom and saw at first hand their exuberant happiness.

Leaving our silk hats in an anteroom, a small group of newspapermen were escorted by Rogers into the large salon, where the civil ceremony was performed in French before only thirteen persons—including the bride and bridegroom. It was ten minutes before the Duke, first of the bridal couple to arrive, came into the room.

Dr. Mercier, smiling, affable and apparently a trifle self-conscious in his broad sash of office with gold tassels, already was there.

Formal Morning Attire Worn

Everyone wore formal morning attire. The Duke wore a black morning coat, striped trousers, wing collar and a black and white checked cravat. He had a white carnation in his buttonhole.

Prefect Vernet of the Department of Indre et Loire was present at the civil service with W. G. Graham, British Consul at Nantes, and M. Bernard, Secret Service Official.

Newsmen Present

Directly before a long table at the east end of the room were four chairs, where the bride, bridegroom, Rogers and Metcalfe sat. About twelve feet behind them were five other chairs, where Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. D. Buchanan Merryman, Mrs. "Bessie" Bertrand, Mrs. Warfield's aunt, Vernet and Graham sat. The newspapermen's chairs were slightly to one side.

At both ends of the table were large vases with pink and white peonies.

Rich Setting in Salon

The salon provided a rich setting. The walls were covered with dark red cloth. On them hung three paintings of horses and a big oil of the Resurrection. On another table was a bunch of flowers bound by a ribbon stamped with a chain of United States flags.

Through the window we could see out over the lush gardens that stretch down a beautiful embankment to the shores of a small lake.

Duke Walks in Alone

The Duke walked into the room alone at 11:41 a.m. He was smiling happily as he circled among his guests, shaking hands with all of them. .

Mrs. Warfield came in then, wearing her gown of "Wallis Blue". The wedding dress was cut on almost severely simple lines. It came up high in front. At her neck she wore a sapphire brooch. From her left wrist sparkled a sapphire bracelet and her earrings matched the jewel-ensemble.

Her hat, shoes and gloves were of the same shade of blue as her dress. Her hat was of a toque style with pink and blue feathers in front and topped by a "halo" of blue tulle.

Dr. Mercier, proceeding immediately with the ceremony, informed the bride she was obliged to obey her husband and follow him wherever he might go. He told the Duke he must provide for all his wife's needs.

'Oui' Answers Duke

When the Mayor asked if he accepted Mrs. Warfield as his wife, the bridegroom nodded slightly and answered "oui".

At the end of the ceremony the couple signed the marriage register and the British Consular Record.

I went to the telephone to flash the message to the Chateau gate announcing the civil ceremony was over. More than 100 newspapermen waited there for the word.

Then I rejoined the guests already seated by the white-walled music room where three pipe-playing officers on the Chateau organ. The room was decorated with white peonies and lilies placed in vases in profusion along the walls.

Altar of Old Oaken Chest

The altar was made of an old oaken chest. It had been placed in an alcove opening on the room. At the ends of the altar were single, tall, yellow tapers and in the middle the golden cross.

Beside the altar were two large candelabras, each containing 62 candles.

The parson entered the room just two minutes after noon. He stood for a moment with his head bowed before the altar while the organ music played and a bright sun flooded the room with brilliant light.

A minute later the Duke came in with Metcalfe and in another minute the Duchess entered on the arm of Rogers. The service started without delay.

"We're are come together here in the sight of God and this congregation to join this man and woman," Mr. Jardine said, reading from his Prayer book as the couple stood before him.

A Genial Host

After the religious service the bridal couple went to the steps of the Chateau to be photographed first alone, then with their witnesses.

By 2:15 p.m. the guests had started leaving. Dr. Mercier, beaming as he reached the outer gate, stopped to say, "The wedding was a very impressive ceremony". Mme. Mercier said only, "It was very touching".

Some of the guests left carrying their slices of the towering wedding cake on which the Chateau's chefs had lavished a week of attention. All who have families were given extra slices for their children.

The Duke told me he had had a "delightful stay" at Cande.

The Duke, married man now as he nears his 43rd years, played the happy role of genial host.

fashion experts, are one of her greatest charms. Her figure is slender but rounded. Her waist is slim and her shoulders broad and short sleeves.

Some dark evening dresses are accented with contrasting color. A honeymoon dinner frock is a sheath of black crepe, very slimming, made with lightly low neck in scalloped outline. Following the seams around are four tiny frills of flesh pink mousseline, and the long tight sleeves are filled with pink at the wrists.

Crepe Romain Dinner Dress.

Crepe Romain, in the bride's wellloved navy blue, makes another dinner dress. It is girdled with polka dotted surah silk. The girdle finishes in a lovers' knot at the front. Another jacketed ensemble is in printed crepe of violet-blue ground, over a rustling petticoat massed with blue taffeta frills.

Two things the bride insists upon are straight skirts and frocks with belts. Her princess-fitted waists or full flared lines for her slight figure.

A white lace dress in this over-sheath, with short sleeves and a billowing trousseau is a straight beau nock

Evening Dresses Plied High.

Evening dresses especially are plied high in the trunks. Among them is a white crepe Marocain ensemble, the accompanying cape worn with a glorified cardigan jacket spangled in white and the same white. The spangles stripe the jacket in diagonal pattern. There is a draped bodice with short sleeves and short sleeves.

"THE BRIGHT HILL"

by Clarissa Fairchild Cushman

"Wheel, But I don't want to make the morning tonight. Just the ride."

"Fine," said Gregory Leighton. "I prefer the host, myself. Because after you-catch the mouse that ate you going to do with him?"

"Keep him," said Donald prompt-ly. "Only I'm to build him a new house with some wire and stuff."

"The host," said Gregory, "seems simpler to me."

They were in the cellar, bed for-golden, when they heard Kerin ar-rive. Donald was immediately con-scious of his delinquency with an under-memory of lead in the gas burner; Gregory lifted his head, and into his eyes came a look of deep expectancy. The look changed as he heard her call, "Donald—gold-ald! Where are you? Oh, Donald!" with a note of hysterical anguish in her voice. A look of concern came not his eyes, and he called up the stairs, "Here, Mrs. Kingsbury! I am stood back as she flew by him, not even seeing him, and took Donald into her arms, caressing him, half laughing, half crying, saying, "It's so good to see you! So good to see you! So good!" She was not. Greg-was sure, a hysterical mother, or an over-demonstrative one. It was as if, by touching the boy, she was assuring herself that he was there.

She stopped suddenly and turned with a gesture of shamed apology. "What must you think of me? I think I must have gotten—lost Donald—on my trip. "Where's Marie?"

"Home," said Donald. "I was just going to bed."

"Oh, you must!" said Kerin.

"Can I have something to eat, mum?"

"Sail He had dinner with me, Mrs. Kingsbury, and I assure you he ate—"

"He always eats like that—and he's always hungry. What shall we have, bread and milk? That is always delicious to me. I just remember that I've had no supper."

"No supper!" Gregory Leighton was horrified. "Come, son, a glass of milk for you and heat it to boil. I must get your mother some supper."

"Oh, I'll—"

"No. I am the world's best scrambled-eggs-er." He shepherded them up the stairs, and then taking Kerin firmly by the arm, he led her into the living room, drew up the long spool couch by the fire, and tearing a daily paper to shreds started the logs that lay there. He turned to her. "There now! You sit right there. You're not to stir."

But she wasn't looking at him. She wasn't even hearing him. She smiled up at him half-reproachfully. "You shouldn't bother. I'm quite—" She was staring at the fire, her eyes enormous her face haggard. her mouth tightened as if she were suffering some terrible loss. What was it? Kerin could read him: she was suffering the imag-inary loss of Donald.

INSTALLMENT 23

Gregory piled up the cushions at one end of the couch. "You lie down," he said, and when she didn't respond, he pushed her gently by the shoulder, and she looked up, smiling faintly. He picked up her feet and put them on the couch, and she lay back into the cushions with a little sigh. He looked around for a cover. There was none.

He strode into the hall. "Donald," he said, "are you in bed?"

"Brushin' my teeth."

"Throw me a blanket for your mother, and then you go right into bed."

A moment, and a shower of gol-den fur slithered over the rail. "Don't I need to brush my teeth?" "Certainly. But make it snappy. Goodnight."

"Ain't anybody coming up?"

"No. Goodnight."

"Mum—"

"No. She's too tired."

"Well— all right—goodnight."

He brought the cover of the gold fur and spread it over Kerin. She smiled up at him half-reproachfully "You shouldn't bother. I'm quite all right."

"You're not. You're too tired. In five minutes, a scrambled egg and tea? Yes—I think so."

When he came back with a tray, she hadn't moved But the pinched, haggard look was gone from her face. It was still woefully tired, but under the warm fur, before the fire, she lay relaxed.

She smiled her quick smile as he drew up the sewed-off table and put the tray on it, and at his com-mand she drew herself up in the cushions and held out her hand for the plate of eggs—for the first time she let the fur fall and looked up at him, a little beseechingly, like a child. Her hand, as it fell to her lap, seemed nerveless. She was too tired to eat.

"Here—none of that," he said, roughly. "Pick up that fork and eat your eggs."

A little color sprang to her cheeks, and with eyes suddenly suffused with tears she picked up her fork and began to eat. Then, suddenly, but finally with childish pleasure she pursued the last bit on her plate. She finished the tea with a gratified sigh, and as he took the tray to the kitchen she nestled down under the golden fur, and her eyes, more serene now, rest-ed on the fire, at first meditative-ly, and then with increasing heavi-ness. Gregory, who had spent only long enough to stack the disorder of the kitchen tidily, was back in 5 minutes.

But when he came around the corner of the couch and would have spoken, he stopped dead. Kerin was asleep.

For a long moment he stood, merely looking at her. The tired eyes were closed. Under the shad-ows of her eyelashes the cheeks were smoothly round. Her hair was tumbled about her head; he half-cot before realized how curly her hair was. Her breath came softly, lift-ing the gold cover. Under the long length of the supple silky fur she was like a soft bright animal whom one could not touch.

Carefully Gregory Leighton pull-ed up a chair and, placing it in the shadow of the fireplace, sat down and pulled out his pipe. It seemed to him indecent to sit and spy upon Kerin: but as the minutes enriched endlessly and he filled his pipe again, he turned his head and look-ed at her, giving way to the temp-tation to fill himself, for this mo-ment, with the nearness of her.

She slept quietly, like a child, and the cover stirred lightly with her breath. Once, outside the covert, she relaxed upon the fur, as if sleep had caught her even while she caressed it.

No—he couldn't just sit there and study her. But even when he turned his eyes back to the fire, he was still filled with the sense of her. Had he been in love with her when he had seen her last? He thought that probably he had always been in love with her. It was the knowl-edge that he couldn't have her which had made it clear.

He leaned toward the fire, his long hands playing with his pipe, his gay eyes upon the flames.

Dignity in living had been pro-cured in his life. There had been a girl he was once engaged to, but she had broken it off and married another man. He had been sadden-ed by it, saddened because it hadn't hurt him enough. The affair had been quite without depth on the part of either of them. After that experience he had walled, hoping for that perfection to materialize of which he had dreamed; the inten-sity, the quickening of life, the increase in happiness and the in-crease in pain by which he would know he was deeply in love. He wanted it to be tumultuous; but he wanted even the pain to have the quiet depth of security and sure-ness. He wanted no marriage that was just for today.

And now the conviction had come to him. He had no doubt in his mind of that; and he could not have it. He could not have it, he who had never really doubted he could have anything he wanted. Nor did he want it, nor did he want Kerin, if she could bring him only a worn-ed-over love, a too knowledgeable love. The dignity and fineness of that marriage of which he dreamed precluded all idea of his simply snatching another man's wife, even if he could. He turned his head and looked at her. Besides, he couldn't. The quiet figure, for all it lay there with the lightness of a child, yet gave him the feeling of steadfastness which her waking presence had always conveyed.

A clock struck. Eleven o'clock. He stirred, and threw an anxious look back at the open windows showing black into the night. He looked at Kerin. What does a gentleman do under these circumstances? Wake the lady up, and tell her to go to bed? You can't carry a lady upstairs and put her to bed, that's certain.

He rose, a little stiffly, and his figure threw a long shadow on the pale wall as he bent over her. He put his hand on the fur to waken her, but in spite of himself it lay there a moment, inert. Under his hand she lay, soft and sweet, and a great hungering nostalgia swept over him for the thing she repre-sented that near companionship, that right to carry her up and put her to bed.

He shook her, gently, and the fur was soft under his hand.

Her eyes flew open. She looked up at him, sleep still in her eyes. "He can't have Donald," she said distinctly. "I'm telling you. He can't have Donald."

He drew back, startled, and then leaned over her and shook her roughly. She woke fully, heavily, dragging herself up with effort. "I'm so sorry. How dreadful of me . I fell asleep."

"Yes," said Gregory. "I hated to disturb you. Are you awake? I'll go now, re you awake? You must get to bed."

"Yes," said Kerin. "Yes," and sank, gently, into the cushions.

"You don't," said Gregory Leighton, and catching Kerin firm-ly by the shoulders, he swept the fur from her and put her feet down fully upon the floor. "Are you awake?"

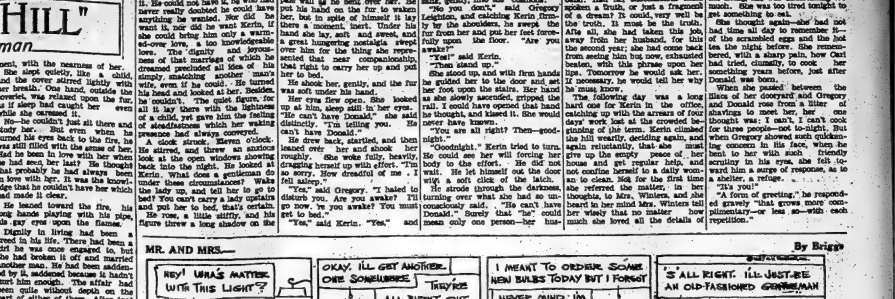
"Yes!" said Kerin.

"Then stand up."

She stood up, and with firm hands he guided her to the door and set her foot upon the stairs. Her head as she slowly ascended, gripped the rail. I could have opened that head he thought, and kissed it. She would never have known.

"You are all right? Then—good-night."

"Goodnight." Kerin tried to turn. He could see her will forcing her body to the effort. He did not wait. He let himself out the door with a soft click of the latch. He strode through the darkness, turning over what she had so un-consciously said. "He can't have Donald." Surely that "he" could mean only one person—her hus-band. Had her subconscious mind spoken a truth, or just a fragment of a dream? It could, very well be the truth. It would be the truth. Afte all, she had taken this job away from her husband, for this the second year; she had come back from seeing him but now, exhausted beaten, with this phrase upon her lips. Tomorrow he would ask her. If necessary, he would tell her why he had come.



The following day was a long hard one for Kerin in the office, catching up with the arrears of four days' work and all the crowded be-ginning of the term. Kerin climbed the hill wearily, deciding again, and again unanimously, that she must give up the empty peace of her house and get regular help, and not confine herself to a daily wom-an to clean. Not for the first time she deferred the matter, in her thoughts, to Mrs. Winters, and she heard in her mind Mrs. Winters tell her wisely that no matter how much she loved all the details of her living, she was undertaking too much. She was too tired tonight to get something to eat.

She thought again—she had not had time all day to remember it—of the scrambled eggs and the hot tea the night before. She remem-bered, with a sharp pain, how Carl had tried, clumsily, to cook her something years before, just after Donald was born.

When she passed between the lilacs of her dooryard and Gregory and Donald rose from a litter of shavings to meet her, her one thought was; I can't, I can't cook for three people—not to-night. But when Gregory showed such quick-ening concern in his face, when he bent to her with such friendly scrutiny in his eyes, she felt to-ward him a surge of response, as to a shelter, a refuge.

"It's you!"

"A form of greeting," he respond-ed gravely "that grows more com-plimentary—or less so—with each repetition."

The bullet fired at Muviro missed its mark; and he and his men sought cover behind coulders. Then he called out in English, explaining that the Waziri were friends. But it was too late. for now the aviators were encircled by the white savages.

Kavuru spears began to fly. One of the strangers fell. Again the Waziri moved forward, and from behind their hands, too, leapt a flight of spears—to be answered by another volley from the Kavuru. This time the second flier fell, and with him three Waziri.

A moment later the opposing forces closed in hand-to-hand combat. Fighting near the airplane, Muviro and one of his warriors, Balando, salvaged the pis-tols and ammunition of the dead fliers. Fortun-ately the Waziri were familiar with the use of fire-arms.

While some of the Kavuru died, many remained to hurl those deadly spears. Three more Waziri fell. This was fate dealing Tarzan a vital blow. He had been counting on the Waziri to aid him against the Kavuru. And now, it seemed, they would soon be wiped out!

CALLING 'EM

Between the Lines

Ken J. Colling

There seems to be no stopping this Pedro Annexation in the local softball loop. At the expense of the Animas Juniors the "cement village" lads romp up their fifth consecutive victory. In as many starts, last evening Skipper Sedore announced another stellar moundsman in Loffman, former "Weed pitcher." Teamed with Lorne Solomon, the perfect-game hurler of the Point Anne squad, Loffman will doubtless make a splendid running mate. Last night he limited the Animas kids to three small bingles and was invincible after the initial frame. The local softballers are dishing up some splendid entertainment and deserve a break from the patrons of the game. We are reliably informed the softballers cannot collect sufficient to pay for a ball during their games. If the attending crowd would only kick in with a few cents as the hat is being passed around the spectators would at least be able to make ends meet. As it is now they are going in the red daily.

Bill Cook, business manager of the Belleville Rivoals Juniors had a terrible time last night. There were at least a handful of faithful baseball fans in the stands at Parkview at Belleville South Ward. The League game at the advertised time, but despite the efforts of Cook and Woodley and his charges on the diamond ready to play, at 6.45 p.m., the visitors were still a mixed assembly some 45 minutes later. The outcome resulted in the Rivoals having to refund the small crowd received, as the game was officially played owing to the contest being called; no amount of darkness in the fourth inning.

The prevailing conditions last night caused a lot of dissatisfaction among the few patrons on hand. Not only were the patrons disappointed at not being given to see a game go at least seven frames, but such practice is not fair to the players in general, despite the fact no contest resulted. The local team is always "on time" for their games, at home or on the road, and they should be affording the same consideration to their fans. Their share cists. Goodness knows support is needed and it is only through the co-operation of the teams in the league that baseball will revive locally. The Rivoals kids are an asset to the B.I.L. and will always be on hand for their games in other centres, all they ask is the same consideration from their contemporaries.

Meeting world champs head wrestling fans better than he saw John Kaiser got a second breaking in a local ring. This by Mike Demopolis, the Halifax youth who opposed him at the arena on Friday night, has advanced rapidly in the wrestling realm, during the past 12 months, the boys in the know believe. The Halifax youth has been meeting with some success stamping in and around Yankee wrestling rings in the middle west for over a year and should prove a suitable opponent for Kaiser, but what the latter has been paramountly interested in is the Chief Lynx-Al Demko hop scrap. It is queer the interest fans fancy these two, especially after so many meetings. Perhaps it is the color the Chief puts into the show, although both boys always provide plenty of game and bar no holds.

The entry blanks for the Kinsmen's Club "Kid Kar" derby are now available after having been distributed among the school boys recently. Those not receiving their entry blank should contact "Kid the Kar Kolling" at Laitimer's drug store for their blank. Incidentally there is a possibility the event may be broadcast over a Toronto radio station on July 1st.

Apparently the brand of baseball advertised as semper" ball in the Niagara District League soon fills better ball than some of our local intermediate "B" loops. Vinny Urtoski, who was all washed up as a moundsman in the O.B.J.A. at least five years ago, has either had a new lease on his pitching arm or Jimmy White has injected the odd monkey gland into the former Renfrew lad. At any rate we are glad to hear Vinny is having a good season with the St. Catharines seniors. On Saturday last Urtoski started his initial game of the season and won 5 to 3 over Merritton, although picked for clever safeties, Vinny laboured well in the clutches and fanned an even dozen. Urtoski licked his way out of two difficulties, when Merritton jammed the bases in the ninth, but failed to scoring resulted. Either they are a weak band of recruits in the N.D.L. or Urtoski is having new and rejuvenated elements in his arm.

Marie and Kay Genereaux, formerly of Point Anne and who broke into girls' softball circles some years ago with Allan Meagher's old Beavers, are still tops in that realm in Toronto. The Genereaux girls are considered two of the best softballers in the Toronto senior league and collected eight of their team's eleven hits in the Saturday's Toronto games over the week end.

We were unable to procure the official results of yesterday's sailing races staged by the Belleville Yacht Club, but in the senior or "A" class it is reported that Osmark's Alaska gave Prexy Calnan's Antler You a sound trimming in the major event. Dame Rumour informs us that Calnan has withdrawn from competition, which really is too bad for the Quinteharbour ace of the sport, but after all is said and done there is nothing like good clean competition, which we very much appreciated in the three recent field day events in one week. If other lines of sporting activities would adhere to the principles of the skeet and field days we feel assured that sports in Belleville would regain its former status.

We witnessed two C.O.B.L. ball games yesterday when Oshawa and Peterboro baseball gangs ate up the proverbial platter in Napanee and Peterboro was handicapped in the lack of relief hurlers and had to the Ponies in Kingston. Incidentally "Red" Juberville blasted one of George Blazetich's slants over the left field wall in Napanee for a homer. That blow was at least 400 feet or more, as the hit cleared the fence fully ten feet. It was the first hit out of the Gibbard Memorial park ever that way.

That man's in again. "Headline Jerome Dean" drew the wrath of President Ford Prick upon his head and was benched a game or so yesterday for what Prick termed as "conduct detrimental to the best interests of baseball." Prexy Prick says a verbal apology must be forthcoming from Dean or Ha curtains for the Cards' ace hurler. Dizzy says "nuts", and there they are.

ONE DEAD, TWO DYING IN HAMILTON SHOOTING

Elderly Business Man Gives Himself Up at Jail After Associates Shot

Report Says J. Chalmers Lee Went to Jackson Co. Plant Armed

'DYING' STATEMENTS

Reports Discussion Over Court Judgment Preceded Trouble

Hamilton, Ont., June 4 (CP)—An enraged Hamilton business man, fifty-fifty Joseph Chalmers Lee, surrendered to a jail governor today after shooting three business associates at the plant of the George H. Jackson Co. Ltd., formerly the Atlas Horseshoe Company which Lee partly owned.

One of his victims, John Anderson of Hamilton, died shortly after the shooting. Two others, George H. Jackson of Guelph, brother-in-law of Ontario's Provincial Secretary, Hon. Harry C. Nixon and Anthony Anderson, brother of the dead man, was described as dying in General Hospital.

Fire and Composed.

Stilled to the bedside of Jackson and "Tony" Anderson, Lee was firm and composed when the feeble Anderson asked him: "Why did you do it, Joe? You didn't need to do that."

Lee answered: "It's a long story. You ought to know why I did it."

He was present when the 43-year-old Jackson, president of the company and prominent socially in Guelph, described the shooting. Jackson and Tony Anderson had been told by Assistant Crown Attorney Harvey McCullough they had no chance to recover.

Started to Sidetrack.

Prepared to kill, Lee went to the Jackson Company plant this morning with a 38 calibre revolver in his hip pocket. He opened fire, according to a statement by Jackson, after they discussed a court judgment against Lee. Jackson had refused to release Lee from the judgment.

A shot fired into John Anderson's heart brought men working nearby to the scene and at least two of these saw Jackson and Tony Anderson fall, both shot in the back. Then Lee ran to his motor car and drove to Barton street jail, surrendering to Governor Frank Lalonde.

Employees of Sovereign Potteries Company, unloading a truck at the nearby Potteries factory, heard the shot. Two of them, Jack Evason and

Why the Weather?

By Major A. H. Thiessen
Science Service Meteorologist

Baseball weather! The greatest number of hazard for baseball during these days is the thunderstorm.

It is a hazard after the ball game and the fans at the thunderstorm frequency occurs in the afternoon between 2 and 4, just when most professional games are scheduled. Not for the boys in the vacant lots, especially those on vacation, it is always a welcome sight looking for big receipts, to plan morning games for the best chance with the weather. Better late in the morning when the sun is high enough not to interfere too much with outfielding.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, June 4—A trough of low pressure extends southwestward from Hudson Bay across the Rainy River district to the southwest States, while pressure is high over northwestern Canada and the region of the Great Lakes. Moderate to heavy showers have occurred in Ontario and the Maritimes and light showers in the Northern districts of Ontario and Quebec. It has been cooler in the Maritimes and will continue cool farther west.

Lake Superior—Moderate to fresh shifting winds; partly cloudy tonight and Saturday with scattered showers.

Manitoba—Northerly winds; partly cloudy this evening, probably a few light scattered showers, Saturday, fair and cool.

Saskatchewan and Alberta—Fair tonight and Saturday with stationary or a little higher temperature.

Slight Hope Held For One of Victims

Hamilton, Ont., June 4.—(CP)—Slight hope was held out this afternoon for recovery of Anthony Anderson, wounded in the shooting affray in the George H. Jackson Company plant. His spine was damaged by a bullet and he was partially paralyzed.

Hospital authorities held out no hope for recovery of George H. Jackson.

John Anderson, Anthony's brother died. It was believed he was fatally injured about the heart when he fell after being shot. It was believed at first he was shot though the heart but examination showed this not to be the case.

CHRYSLER PLANT DETROIT CLOSED

11,000 Thrown Out of Work as Sit-Down Strike Occurs

Detroit, June 4—(AP)—The Chrysler Corp. announced today that its Jefferson and Kercheval plants had been closed following a sit-down strike in the Jefferson Avenue plant. Approximately 11,000 men were affected.

"The sit-down was on the motor line at the Jefferson plant," the company official said. "It came about two members of the United Automobile Workers refused to work alongside two non-union men. The sit-down spread to other departments and before long we had to close both plants because of a shortage of cars and bodies."

His said no conferences have been scheduled with the Union.

Five Ridings Express Confidence in Leadership of Hon. Earl Rowe

The Liberal-Conservatives of the five Western ridings of Eastern Ontario as represented by the presidents and secretaries of these ridings, West Hastings, East Hastings, Prince Edward-Lennox, Addington, and Kingston, met in Belleville on Wednesday, Cecil G. Frost, K. C., Campaign organizer for Ontario, Mr. C. Elmer Johnson, campaign manager for Eastern Ontario, and Mrs. R. E. Philpott, campaign secretary for Eastern Ontario, and passed a motion by unanimous consent expressing to the Liberal-Conservative Association, and to the Hon. Earl Rowe, the complete confidence of the meeting and their satisfaction with the leadership of Hon. Earl Rowe, and conveyed to the Association and the leader of the sentiments and expressions of loyalty and fealty.

'Sit Steady in Boat' Advice of Hon. W. D. Euler to C. M. A.

Recurrence of Depression Should Not be Regarded as Inevitable

PUT HOUSE IN ORDER

Toronto, June 4 (CP)—Nearly 400 delegates to the sixty-sixth annual convention of the Canadian Manufacturers Association today were on route to Bonne Is. Muskoka in the Dominion after completing a heavy three-day business schedule.

Members of the annual dinner, closing function of the convention, last night heard Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of Trade and Commerce, urge "sane tolerance and restraint" on the part of citizens in dealing with industrial problems confronting the Dominion. He urged employers and employees to exercise calm judgment in their industrial relations and at the same time to "sit steady in the boat."

Hon. J. L. Ilsley, Minister of National Revenue, also addressed the gathering in addition to Baron Robert Silvercruys, Belgian Minister to Canada and Lucien Otaux, head of the Belgian Trade Mission visiting the Dominion.

Reliable Trend Upwards.

"We meet at a time when there is definite trend towards national prosperity," Mr. Euler said." "I hope that the lessons of the past will not be forgotten and that we 'put our house in order' so that when we speak of depression, the recurrence of which, to my mind, should not be regarded as inevitable. Much of the world's prosperity is due to rearmament—what will be the condition when the enormous expenditures come to an end, no one can foretell.

Mr. Euler referred to the manner in which public opinion had progressed in labor matters. There was hardly an employer who would condemn out of hand the idea that labor is a commodity to be bought at the lowest possible price absolutely continuous. A worker, he said, was entitled to a wage which would enable him to live comfortably.

The need of security for the worker was also considered by Mr. Euler. "Until adequate schemes for employment insurance, health insurance and old age pensions are devised, men must be paid sufficient to not only provide a decent living but enough besides to enable them to provide for their own security for the future," he said.

U. S. IN LEAGUE AIM IS VOICED AT CONFERENCE

Return of Germany And Japan is Felt Necessary

REFORM URGED

Present Constitutions of League Differ From Original Plan

By GEORGE HAMBLETON

London, June 4 (CP)—Reform of the League of Nations was before principal delegates to the Imperial Conference today. Amid the varying views expressed there was general agreement, it is understood, along two lines:

That despite its failings in regard to Ethiopia and Manchuria, the League should be continued as an influence for world peace.

Universality of League Urged.

That measures for League reform should be directed towards its universality; in other words the adherence of the United States and the return of Germany and Japan.

No concrete scheme for League reform, it is stated, has been considered. But discussion of universality brought under review the question of sanctions as provided by article XVI of the League covenant. It was argued the League without the United States, Japan and Germany was a different organization from that originally contemplated and the effectiveness of the League would be increased as its membership approached universality.

Britain is Hopeful.

Foreign Secretary Eden informed the delegates of proposals made by the British government to secure the return of Germany and Italy to the League's naval patrol. Replies have not been received by the British government but the cabinet is hopeful of success.

Duchess of Windsor Wrote of 'Follies' Of Love When 16

Cricieux, O.Z., June 4.— The autograph signature of Wallis Warfield, written twenty-four years ago beneath a quotation from "Much Ado About Nothing", was found here in a birthday book by a former schoolmate in Miss Chaffield's finishing school at Glencoe, Maryland.

"I must needs wonder that one man seeing how much another man is a fool when he dedicates his behaviours to love will, after he has railed at such shallow follies in others, become the argument of his own scorn by falling in love."

The discovery was made by the wife of a flying officer of the fleet air base in Cocconio, when she was looking in personal files of letters for the United States.

WINDSORS SPEED ACROSS EUROPE

Duke and Bride Wave to American Well-Wishers at Milan

Aboard the Windsor Honeymoon Express, June 4 (AP)—A steaming tray of China tea, toast, rolls, butter, jam and lemon refreshed the Duke and Duchess of Windsor today at breakfasting for their first time aboard their honeymoon in an Austrian castle.

They ate while the panorama of beautiful Italian Lake Maggiore, dotted with islands and villas glittering in a brilliant morning sun, flled past the window of their compartment.

At Milan, a throng of tourists—mostly American women shouted a refrain of "Wally! Wally!" until the Duke came to the window, waved, and then brought his bride to his side.

The journey was undisturbed through the night crossing of France and Switzerland.

But with the arrival of day, knots of cheering folk gathered at stations in the panoramic Italian lake region through which the streamlined Simplon-Orient Express sped.

Windsor and Bride in Nuptial Portrait

Duchess of Windsor

Before a flower-decked altar in an improvised chapel of Chateau De Candé, at Monts, France, the Duke and Duchess of Windsor repeated their nuptial vows, climaxing the greatest romance of modern times.

Their costumes were identical with those shown in the above portrait, posed immediately after the brief rehearsal of the ceremony. Also participating in the religious rites were the Rev. R. Anderson Jardine, Herman L. Rogers, American friend of the Duke who gave the bride away, and Major R. D. Metcalfe, the Duke's former equerry. He was best man. The religious rites followed the civil ceremony conducted by Dr. Charles Mercier, mayor of Monts.

Passengers Trapped in Wreckage as Flames Break Out

Redding, Calif., June 4 (AP) — Nine passengers were burned to death early today when a Greyhound stage overturned at Shiloah Springs, 48 miles north of here.

Flames burst from the big machine when it toppled over and trapped the victims in the wreckage.

Coroner Roy S. Duggins telephoned he had found nine bodies and believed all persons aboard the machine had perished.

WOULD DEPRIVE VICAR OF LIVING

Rural Dean of France Says Rev. R. A. Jardine Has No Authority

PERFORMED CEREMONY

Defying efforts of his Anglican superiors to outlaw the marriage of the Duke of Windsor, the Rev. R. A. Jardine, militant "moor-man's parson" performed the ceremony at the Chateau de Candé, at Monts, France, which united the former King of England and Mrs. Wallis Warfield This radiophoto shows the Rev. Jardine as he arrived to perform the ceremony.

London, June 4—(CP)—A suggestion Rev. Robert Anderson Jardine, vicar of Dartington who performed the Anglican marriage ceremony for the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, should be deprived of his Church of England living was advanced today by Rev. Prebendary F. Aveling-Barker, Rural Dean of France, in an interview by telephone from Paris with the London News-Chronicle.

"Any clergyman under my jurisdiction here in France who performed such a breach would almost certainly be deprived of his living," said Prebendary Cardew. "We must wait now and see what steps are to be taken in England by those responsible.

"Some time ago, after the Duke had left England for Austria, the Bishop of Fulham (Rt. Rev. Basil Batty, who has charge of Anglican affairs on the continent) issued an order to all English clergy abroad reminding them of conditions which had to be fulfilled before they could perform marriage ceremonies.

Reference to Duke

"Reference was intended to the Duke. While he was still in Austria, the problem of their probable marriage was outside my control as Rural Dean of France, but as soon as the Duke arrived at the Chateau de Candé it became my responsibility.

"The Duke must have known of the prohibition from England, for so far as I know he made no attempt to secure a church ceremony through me. No doubt he wished to spare my feelings, for I would have had to refuse, and this would have been painful to me, for he is an old friend of mine. I have known him since he was a boy.

"The marriage came as a surprise and a great shock when I learned that the Rev. R. A. Jardine had arrived from England to perform the marriage ceremony. I immediately phoned the Bishop of Fulham and reminded him of the order he had so recently circulated.

Situation Complicated

"It was then that I heard that Jardine had been acting privately on his own initiative and that he had received the Archbishop's authority. This now made the situation gravely complicated.

"What penalties, if any, will fol-

Reduction Act is Invalid, Alberta Appeal Court Finds

Justice Ewing's Ruling Upheld by Finding on Appeal

POWER UNAUTHORIZED

Edmonton, June 4 (CP)—The Alberta Reduction and Settlement of Debts Act is invalid, the Alberta Appeal Court ruled today.

The court's decision, unanimous finding by all five judges, agrees with the ruling of Mr. Justice A. F. Ewing which declared the legislation ultra vires of the Alberta legislature. The Attorney General's Department appealed Mr. Justice Ewing's decision.

Chief reasons for the Appeal Court decision, the judgment states, are: Reduction and settlement of debts act trespasses on Dominion government rights in regard to interest legislation; the Act trespasses on federal bankruptcy legislation powers; the provincial legislature, in placing the act in effect, delegated to the Lieutenant-Governor powers not authorized by the province's constitution; and it affects civil and property rights outside the province.

GIRL'S STORY TO BE INVESTIGATED

Film Extra Claims She Was Ravished at Drinking Party

Los Angeles, June 4—(AP)—A film extra girl's story she was ravished during a hard-drinking party at which more than 100 girls were required to entertain visiting studio salesmen prompted the District Attorney's office today to consider a Grand Jury investigation.

Brian Patricia Douglas, 19, complained through her lawyer, William J. F. Brown, she had been plied with liquor, beaten by a man and attacked. Her extra girls have demanded legal action.

District Attorney Burton Fitts said he had not decided whether a Grand Jury investigation would be asked or the complaints handled individually. His investigators have taken statements from nearly a dozen other girls.

HEART ATTACK IS GIVEN AS CAUSE

As the result of a heart attack Arthur Lee, 72 year old Adolphus resident, was found dead in his bed late Wednesday. Chief Coroner Dr. J. J. Robertson, Belleville, was summoned to the home and after investigating announced no inquest was necessary as the deceased had obviously died from natural causes. The late Mr. Lee was a stationary engineer by trade.

TWO CARS DAMAGED IN HIGHWAY CRASH

Endeavoring to negotiate between two parked motor cars on Highway No. 2 six miles east of Belleville at midnight last night resulted in an automobile, driven by Leonard Brown, Oshawa, sideswiping a parked car, owned by John McGuffin, Toronto. Fortunately no personal injuries resulted, although both vehicles were badly damaged during the impact.

Experiencing engine trouble Mr. McGuffin had parked his automobile on the south side of the highway headed east when a west-bound car, driven by Frank Twopath, R.R. No. 6, Belleville, approached and parked opposite Mr. McGuffin's car on the north side of the highway. Mr. Twopath stopped to give assistance to the disabled motorist. While looking over the motor trouble, a third car, being driven westerly by Leonard Brown, sideswiped Mr. McGuffin's car as it was being driven between the two parked cars.

Motorcycle Patrolman Sam Irvine investigated and reported no injuries, later stating the matter of H.T.A. charges were pending.

HEAT OVERCOMES DOG, ANIMAL IS SHOT

Believed to have become maddened and dangerous by heat he was unable to stand, a fine dog of the husky breed owned by Mrs. L. Livingston who brought the animal with her on a visit from Alberta, Canada to visit her father, J. A. Anderson, Campbellford, was shot in the village yesterday. A fine specimen of the north, the dog apparently could not stand the summer temperatures of 85 degrees and exhibited signs of madness before being shot.

EXPECT GOOD TURNOUT ORANGEMEN ON JULY 12 AT CAMPBELLFORD

Orange Lodges of Hastings County as well as the County of Peterborough and Northumberland, are being invited to attend what is expected to be the largest 12th of July celebration held in many years, now being arranged for Campbellford for that date. Thirty-five lodges from this central district will be present if invitations are accepted.

It is reported that the celebrations scheduled for East Peterborough on that day have been cancelled to make the parade at Campbellford one of the largest witnessed. There will be two Highland bands and also as numerous other smaller bands of the various lodges at this central celebration.

YORKSHIRE BREEDERS PLAN FIELD DAY

So enthusiastic has been the response to the suggestion that members of the Yorkshire Breeders' Association of Hastings and surrounding counties hold a field day, that definite plans are now being laid down, and final arrangements being made for the event to be held at Trenton, Mr. Joseph Wilson, Hastings County Agricultural representative stated this morning.

The venue of the field day will likely be the farm of one of the final plans will be made at a meeting to be held on the seventeenth of this month, it was added.

INSPECTOR GIVES TALK ON WEED CONTROL

Explanation of the Weed Control Act, and general instructions regarding the carrying out were given to Weed Inspectors of the County of Hastings at the morning session of an all-day meeting held today in the County Buildings by Mr. H. G. Macdonell, District Inspector of the Crops Branch of the Provincial Department of Agriculture.

An interesting discourse on the use of chemical weed-killers, the control and eradication of various weeds was given at the afternoon session by representatives and members of the Agricultural Advisory Committees of the County of Hastings in a joint meeting by Assistant Director John D. MacLeod, of the Department of Agriculture, Toronto.

MOTORISTS REQUESTED TO CLEAR FRONT ST OF CARS BY 10 P. M.

Motorists of the city were asked today by the department of public works to co-operate this evening in the matter of parking their cars after ten o'clock in order to facilitate the painting of new parking parking lines through the upper Front Street section. Employees engaged in painting will commence at ten o'clock and work through this evening. The absence of parked cars at the curb will greatly facilitate their operations.

250,000 PICKEREL FRY FOR STOCO LAKE

According to a statement issued by Dr. W. A. Paul, President of the Tweed Fish and Game Club, 250,000 pickerel fry were placed in the waters of Stoco Lake this week. The fry were of fairly good size and it is expected a good percentage of them will survive. Dr. Paul told members of the club at its regular meeting.

2 COWPUNCHERS GIVE WEST TOUCH

A touch of the wild and woolly west was introduced to Belleville today when two cowpunchers, sombrero-hatted, booted and spurred, with colored handkerchiefs adorning buckskin vests, and blue overalls tucked into the tops of high-heeled boots, strolled along Front Street, the cynosure of the eyes of a group of admiring youngsters.

A few questions elicited the information that they were members of a trick-roping and shooting act connected with a show at present in a nearby town.

Changing of Voltage on Primary Circuits Cause of Interruption Of Hydro Power on Sunday

Increased Use of Power in City Requires Change in Service.

EXTRA CREWS TO HELP

Belleville will experience its longest interruption to electrical power in many years on Sunday next when the advertised shut-down of the system from 8 o'clock in the morning until noon is to take place. Church organs in churches of the city will remain mute due to lack of power for meters; restaurants and bakeries will be forced to turn to wood or coal fires for heat with which to prepare the morning and noon meals. Before dawn risers will be forced to turn to the old-style kerosene lamp or candles for illumination while workers of the Hydro system alone have alternations.

The reason for the interruption of power is the change of voltage on the primary circuits of the Belleville system, it was announced today by Mr. G. H. Scott, manager of the Belleville Public Utilities System.

In 1931 when the sub-station of the city was remodelled, the designs were worked out for an ultimate voltage of 4160, but due to the changes which were necessary in the system, other than the sub-station changes, it was decided to leave the voltage at 2200. Since that time as the load has grown considerably and is continuing to grow and to maintain a high standard of service it was decided to change over at this time, it has been explained.

Underway For Three Years

The necessary work to make the change has been going on from time to time for the past three years, and on Sunday it will all be completed, have the above mentioned interruption to complete the change. Work not only has to be done in the sub-station, but on the line. The connections of 400 transformers will have to be changed as one operation. There will be outside line crews brought in from neighboring municipalities and everything possible will be done to keep the interruption down to the minimum time, it has been assured.

"Not all parts of the city will be 'off' for the full period of interruption, as it is the intention of the commission to restore the service as soon as possible after various sections of the work have been completed. What the service is restored, however, it may be necessary to interrupt it again if faults are found when the current is again turned on," stated Mr. Scott.

There is a strong possibility that some of the city churches may install piano to carry on morning service.

The Belleville Lodge Honors 3 Members with Masonic Jewels

Col. W. N. Ponton, F. Salter And J. McCarthy Hon-ored

Fifty year Masonic Jewels, honoring two members of the Belleville Lodge, No. 133 A.F. and A.M., O.R.C. were received upon M. W. Bro. Col. W. N. Ponton, K.C. and Bro. F. Salter at the Masonic Temple last evening. A signal honor and recognition was also afforded V.W. Bro. J. McCarthy, secretary of the Lodge, who was presented with his Veteran Past Master's medal. The fifty year Masonic Jewels presented to M. W. Bro. Ponton and Bro. Salter are the marks of distinction presented by the Order to those brethren, who attain 50 years of standing in the Masonic Lodge. Col. Ponton having only recently completed 49 years of service as a Past Master in the Belleville Lodge as well. The presentations were made by Rt. Wor. Bro. H. J. Clarke. During the regular lodge labours the degree team of the night was composed of Past Masters of years standing.

In making the unique presentation to M. W. Bro. Ponton, Rt. Wor. Bro. Clarke made mention of the fact, that he was the first candidate initiated by Col. Ponton over 49 years ago. During the evening's entertainment Mr. G. H. James, well known globe trotter, educationalist and renowned stamp collector of this city, spoke to the members and visitors during the banquet hour on the subject "Coronation", also relating an interesting talk on the subject of the recent issue of Coronation stamp issues.

C. H. MacDonald, sitting Master of the Belleville Lodge, occupied the chair during the banquet and entertainment that followed the presentations and degree work. The conventional Masonic toasts were the order of the night, a large attendance of visiting brethren assisting in paying their Masonic respects to M. W. Bro. Ponton and Bro. Salter upon attaining the years of membership in the order and also to V. W. Bro. McCarthy.

GOOD DEMAND FOR SINGLE MEN ON FARMS

"There are still plenty of jobs available for single men who want work on the farm", officials of the Employment Bureau here, stated today. Lack of suitable accommodations for the families of married men prevent many farmers from employing them, and this is the reason for the need of those of single status. Some married men have filed applications for work but farmers with no accommodations are reluctant about hiring them, it was added.

MRS. J. ALLISON (Calgary)

Word was received at Napanee on Wednesday announcing the death at Calgary of Mrs. Jonathan Allison and the body is expected at Napanee on Friday afternoon after which it will be taken to the Deseronto cemetery for interment. The deceased who was very advanced in years was a former resident of the Empey Hill district, Township of Tyendinaga and will be remembered by a goodly number in that district, Her husband passed away many years ago.

Vegetable Crops Benefit from Rains

Farmers, in the city yesterday nodded appreciative heads when queried as to the possible benefits of the rain which fell yesterday. "It came just in time" stated one and will particularly benefit straw-berry plants. Ground which was parched for the planting of tomatoes and corn had already shown signs of the extreme warm weather of the past few days, and this rain will not only make the ground easier to prepare for future planting but will be of inestimable value to the plants already in the ground.

Hillier and Allisonville pea-growers state their fields are beginning to blossom with present prospects pointing to a good crop. "Unless continuous hot weather prevails from now until the pods are filled out, there is no reason why we should not have a good crop. Early peas are looking exceptionally well, with the late ones also giving good start from the timely rains which have fallen," one stated.

"Alfalfa, peas and early seeding look exceptionally well in our districts" Agricultural representative Joseph Wilson of Stirling stated today. "Present indications point to a crop which will average much higher than those of the past few years, he added.

MISS M. FORSTER AND DANCE PUPILS SEEN IN RECITAL

Grace And Charm Displayed By Bevy of Youthful Dancers

LARGE ATTENDANCE

All Types of Dancing Given With Old Favorites Predominating

Before a crowded auditorium last evening pupils of Miss Mary Forster were seen in their annual dance recital, and the program prepared for the occasion provided two hours of most delightful entertainment. The grace and charm of the dancers, the variety and appeal of the numbers, and the beauty of the colorful costumes made the recital an outstanding event in the entertainment season.

From tiny tots, big eged and serious at their first appearance in public, to the more advanced dancers, entirely sure of themselves and those taking part showed the results of careful training by their talented teacher. While the dancing, now enjoying a rush of popularity, predominated the evening, executed with grace, and acrobatic dancing that drew gasps of admiration from the big entranced audience had important places in the program. The old favorites of the teacher in revising routines for classical numbers were given the clever adaptation of modern songs made dance groups entirely different, the modern creations, the old, old favourites such as the Sailor's Hornpipe, and the Irish Jig, were not forgotten and these were received with keenness by the small performers.

Numbers Well Received

Each number was well received by the audience, and it would be impossible to select the more outstanding since all were given with finish and grace. Special acclaim was given, however, to the "Lovely Lady" number with which Miss Inez Forster, and Master Billie Brown took part. Excellent dance partners, they accomplished some very different feats of exhibition dancing and stopped the show, after insistent applause, they repeated their number. The appearance of Miss Mary Forster brought an ovation from the audience and her Valse Classique was a beautiful rendition of toe dancing. The finale bringing together the finished costumes of the many dances was a colorful picture. Miss Forster, at the piano, and Norman Ash provided perfect piano accompaniment were accomplished some very different feats of exhibition dancing and stopped the show, after insistent applause, they repeated their number. ### Canvassers Hold No Authority to Collect Funds to Aid Veterans

Residents of the city and district are informed by officials of local returned war veteran's organizations that unauthorized canvassers have been allegedly making house to house appeals for funds with which to carry on philanthropic work among veterans, and assist them also in securing pensions. Veterans who desire pensions are urged to contact officers of the Canadian Legion or the Army and Navy Veterans of this city for this purpose, while householders are warned against the giving of funds to any canvassers.

Duke and Duchess Away To Honeymoon Castle In Southern Austria

Expect to Spend Three Mon ths of Blissful Privacy in Austrian Countryside—Pair Closely Guarded And Coaches Securely Lock ed as Express Train Rushes Them Across Europe

Aboard the Windsor Honeymoon Express, June 4.—(AP)—The wheels of a locked and barred pullman car clicked a spirited accompaniment to the new-found happiness of the Duke and Duchess of Windsor today as they sped across Europe toward a storied honeymoon castle in Southern Austria.

As joyful as any newlywed on an excursion to Niagara, Windsor looked forward to at least three months of blissful privacy in gray, 13th century Wasserleonburg Castle with "the woman I love" as his aide.

The streamlined Simplon-Orient express headed for Trieste, Italy, whence the couple planned to continue north to Wasserleonburg.

Wasserleonburg, 30 miles from Windsor's friend, Count Paul Munster, for three months, lies amid Alpine lakes and peaks near the Yugoslav border.

Two hundred twenty-six pieces of baggage, including 183 trunks, had been sent on ahead by truck and train to the "Fairyland" Castle from Chateau de Cande where yesterday the former British King took Wallis Warfield to be his Duchess "until death do us part".

Caught Train at Midnight

The Duke and his blue-eyed Duchess boarded the express at Larochemaignonne, Amiens, a few minutes after midnight in a flurry of excitement and under the watchful eyes of policemen and detectives after a hurried motor trip from the Chateau Chateau where they were married.

Windsor, wearing a grey, striped suit with a white carnation gaily blooming in his lapel, hurried into the shiny green, yellow and blue pullman at the heels of Her Grace, the Duchess, and then suddenly reappeared with a youthful husband, helped to take the luggage aboard. One item was a wicker basket of lunch.

Handbags Stacked

A dozen handbags were stacked in the car. These contained part of the trousseau of his slim, fashion-setting bride.

The Duchess' travelling costume was a suit of navy blue wool, with blouse of flowered print in blue and white, quickly changed for her wedding gown of "Wallis Blue" silk.

Just before the train pulled away Windsor was heard to remark to the Duchess in his low, husky solicitous, reassuring bridegroom:

"Yes, I have the lunch."

The train then pulled out to the south.

The couple had been delayed on their motor trip because their chauffeur lost the way from Montreal. The new Duchess led their hurried stride along the platform, her head down and her lips compressed.

The Duke followed closely, smiling and waving goodbye. His sadness and his hair was ruffled. The train pulled into the yards just as they arrived.

The other passengers on the well-guarded train were required to stay aboard while the Duke and Duchess embraced.

Duchess Forgot Hat

The excited Duchess forgot her hat. The maid ordered to recover it from the automobile let slip one of two leashed dogs she was holding. This brought still more excitement among the knot of spectators. The combined efforts of the station master and police finally restored order and the dog.

Before the train started, the doors between the special car and the other coaches were locked by French officials to prevent any intrusion.

The couple may motor into Austria, or continue by train to the heart of the scenic Austrian villages in the vicinity of Wasserleonburg.

HAD AGONISING PAINS IN HER BACK

Free From Pain Since Taking Kruschen

Like many other sufferers from backache and rheumatic ailments, this woman decided to try Kruschen Salts in a last attempt to obtain relief from pain. To her surprise, the pains did grow less, and in a few months the backache had disappeared. Having made sure of the results, she now writes as follows:—

"For about four months I had agonising pains in my back, and could not turn in bed. During that time I tried various remedies, but obtained no relief, and was seriously considering going into hospital. However, seeing a case similar to mine described in an advertisement of Kruschen, I thought I would try it, and was more than surprised to find the pain getting less. I have been taking Kruschen for four months, and would not be without it for anything. I must say I am free from those dreadful pains."—(Mrs.) B. C.

Kruschen is an excellent diuretic —that is, it helps to stimulate kidney functions. When kidneys are restored to healthy, normal action, poisonous waste is properly eliminated, the blood-stream is purified, and you get welcome relief from the dragging pains of backache.

Winston Hicks, chairman of the Dance committee, stated that the Continental Cin Co. was providing a small vaudeville orchestra and floor show for the dance in the armouries on July 1st, when the Yacht Club ladies would be present. There would also be a street dance and carnival and a novelty event in the form of a nightshirt parade.

Special Church Services

Special church services with former ministers taking part, a sacred concert in Picton armouries, back-to-school days at several township schools were other projects being arranged, the secretary reported. The gift of a truck of decorations by a Toronto firm was reported by Phil Dodds, chairman of the decoration committee, who stated three arches would be erected at the town entrances.

That there would be a record number of old boys present for the celebration is evidenced by the large number of letters being received by the secretary.

GERMAN ACTRESS

Here is a photo of Zarah Leander, until six months ago, an obscure Swedish actress. She made one movie in Vienna and was given a contract with a Berlin studio at the highest salary ever paid in Germany, $200,000. She will come to America soon.

GRANTED DIVORCE

An ancient Royal court, revived from pre-war practices, paved the way for Archduke Albrecht (above) to press his claims to the vacant Hungarian throne by granting him a divorce from his beautiful and wealthy commoner wife, Irene Lilienbach. The Archduke married Miss Lelbach secretly in London in 1930 but the marriage was not recognized by the Catholic church until three years after the ceremony was performed. Entire attitude of the church on the civil divorce is uncertain.

PREMIER HEPBURN RENOUNCES KING ON C. I. O. ISSUE

Alleges "Vacillating" Policy of Federal Gov't. on Issue

STILL REFORMER

Says Ontario And Quebec Provide 47 Percent of Dominion Revenue

Toronto, June 4 (CP)—No longer a "Mackenzie King Liberal", Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn today looked back on a long association with the Dominion Prime Minister, an association that ended because of alleged "vacillating" policy of the Federal administration over the C.I.O. issue.

In a speech last night before the Canadian Life Insurance Officers Association the Ontario Premier renewed his attack on John L. Lewis committee for industrial organization against which he has been adamant since the start of the recent Oshawa automobile workers' strike.

Then he leaned toward the microphone of the public address system, raised his voice and said: "I am going to make a serious statement, one that will probably make a headline. I am a reformer, but I no longer a Mackenzie King Liberal. I'll tell the whole world that and I hope he hears me."

The renunciation came after Mr. Hepburn declared there would be no lawlessness in Ontario begotten of C.I.O. and that he was the Premier. "I cannot speak for Canada," he said, "because we have a vacillating government at Ottawa."

On Bonfinge Fo Ring

Eleven years ago Mr. Hepburn was defeated in the House of Commons as a supporter of Mackenzie King. He was elected at the general election of 1930 and ran under the Liberal Prince Minister until he took active leadership of the Ontario Liberals and became Premier of the province in 1934.

At the last general election in 1935 Mr. Hepburn toured Canada from coast to coast in the interests of his old leader. The C.I.O. later by which he referred bad its inception early last April in the Oshawa strike.

Mr. Hepburn at that time asked the Dominion government for the detachment of Royal Canadian Mounted Police. The men were sent to Toronto but were withdrawn from Oshawa. In a few days the Ontario Premier made a further demand on government to recall them. Last Tuesday he announced Ontario would pay the bill of $2,800 for their services "under protest." He said previously he had been informed the Mounties were ordered to remain inactive until it was decided the C.I.O. was and provincial police were unable to cope with the strike situation. This, he argued, rendered them useless.

Ontario Provides Bulk

Numerous Canadian business leaders heard the Premier's statement of renunciation last night. Premier Maurice Duplessis, head of Quebec's Union Nationale Government, was to have spoken on the same program, but was unable to attend.

Ontario and Quebec provided the large bulk of revenue for the Dominion Treasury, Mr. Hepburn declared. His own province contributed 47 per cent of the total and Quebec another substantial portion. Therefore, he held, they should have a voice in the National welfare.

Of Premier Duplessis, the Ontario Premier declared: "I look forward to the day when he will play an active and prominent part in the affairs of this Dominion."

Mr. Hepburn said he doubted present prosperity in Canada was fundamentally sound. It was promoted, he believed, by huge forced, feverish preparation for war. Business revival could not be prolonged seriously so long as United States maintained the present gold price.

Because of "the peace and lawlessness seemed rampant in the U.S. The Premier continued: "What has happened there will never happen in British Dominions."

Regarding his announcement of a break with his former leader, Premier Hepburn said he was willing to "forget partisanship in the interests of my country". "As long as he was a leader," he said, "U.S. organizers won't get their hands in the pay envelopes of Canadian workers."

Lives By Export Trade

Telling his audience that Canada lives by export trade, he warned that if that fails appreciably the Dominion will have another depression. Prosperity made in the United States were up so much that export trade was as high as 40 per cent of the 1929 level. "Because we have held costs down we're at this moment belonging by per cent of our 1929 peak in Canada."

"Assuredly we'll lose that trade if we bend to unsound economic policies and we'll go right back to a few years ago when we had 1,350,000 on relief and progress will be dealt an irreparable blow," he declared.

Some receiving relief should be classed as "cobblers of public charity," said the Premier. He believed it unfortunate "we have gone altogether too far with the idea of paternalism." People believed governments should keep them, and it was a great tragedy when they had to go on relief the day after they lost their jobs because they had failed to save.

Premier Hepburn also forecast revision of Ontario's policy regarding voluntary hospitalization of tuberculosis sufferers which he said, had failed as a means of preventing spread of the disease. He estimated the scourge cost $5,000,000 a year in Ontario.

Guesthousing for Premier Duplessis. Hon. Bona Dussault, Quebec Minister of Agriculture in the province, said there was no idea of separation in the policy of the government, he reiterated. Separation, he said, is called "National" it did not mean it favored separation from the Dominion. The country was greater than its parts, he declared.

G-MAN KILLED

Truett K Rowe (above), department of justice agent, who was shot to death while arresting Guy K. Osborne, at Gallup, N.M. as a fugitive from the Fort Smith, Ark., penitentiary. Osborne escaped but was arrested later after a manhunt in which aeroplanes and Indian trackers were used by federal men. Agent Rowe was only 30.

PREDICTS BETTER TIMES FOR WEST

W. J. Illsey, Winnipeg, Home For Visit After 32 Years in West

Mr. W. J. Illsey, of Winnipeg, Manitoba, a brother of Mr. E. V. Illsey, Manager of the Belleville branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, is a guest at the regular weekly meeting of the directors of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce on Thursday and was extended a hearty welcome on behalf of the directors by Mr. Leo B. Riggs, president of the chamber.

Mr. Illsey, who is a native of Picton, left there thirty-two years ago to accept a position, which he had been offered with the retail branch of the Ashdown Hardware Company at Red Deer, Alberta. This company is the largest wholesale and retail hardware concern in Western Canada, and Mr. Illsey is now manager of the retail hardware and builders supply business of the company at Winnipeg. Prior to being transferred to Winnipeg, Mr. Illsey was manager of the company's retail business at Calgary, Alberta. In Winnipeg, Mr. Illsey takes an interest in matters which will assist in the advancement and improvement of the business and religious life in the city and province. He is an active member of the Winnipeg Rotary Club.

Thrilling Events are Planned For Picton's Centennial Fete

Reunion Opens June 30 And Closes on July 5th

REPORTS OPTIMISTIC

Picton, June 4—With the Picton Centennial Celebration and Prince Edward County Old Boys' Reunion less than four weeks away, the committee in charge is busy arranging for the carrying out of the great variety of events planned for the six day celebration, which opens on June 30 with boat races in the afternoon and continues until Monday night, July 5.

Reports presented at a general meeting last night were of a very optimistic nature and indicated a very fine celebration.

Classes are filling well for the horse races on July 5, when $1500 is offered in purses, reported F. J. Webster of the committee. A number of horses are already in training here. Sports were planned during the same afternoon at the fair grounds.

Secretary McGillivray reported that an amusement company from Toronto would have a large midway at the fair grounds throughout the celebration and that the committee would provide a variety show on four of the six nights, midget car races had also been contracted for.

Race Outlook Bright

F. L. Ward, Commodore of the Prince Edward Yacht Club, stated that the regatta and Gold Cup race scheduled for June and July 1st, gave every indication of exceeding their expectations. Entries are coming in from many parts of Ontario and the United States with many champions expecting to take part. This is the first Canadian regatta approved by the American Power Boat Association and as such was an international event. The outstanding event would be the Gold Cup race for 225 cubic inch piston displacement class, which is bringing many crack drivers here on July 1st. The gold trophy is valued at $750. Most fifty craft, power and sail, are expected from Toronto alone. Ward reported the new yacht club house now under construction as filling a great need.

100 Years of Picton History

Dr. C. E. Stothers, chairman of the Historical committee, reported a number of articles in floats which would depict the history of Picton during the past century, $100 in prizes being offered. He also announced that a number of historical relics would be on display in a local building along with demonstrations with loom and spinning wheels. C. E. McGibbon, chairman of the parade committee, said many merchants were entering combination floats, for which prizes are offered, and it was decided to offer prizes for decorated bicycles and cars. The parade was also open to the morning of July 2.

Secretary C. McGillivray reported that lacrosse teams in Belleville and Trenton were to come for exhibition games and it was decided to have matches between midget and junior teams. It was voted as prizes for horseshoe pitching with the winner having to meet the winner of the contest being held at Salmon Point on Alnwick Day, July 2, when Milton Cork of Toronto will be host at a great picnic, in his native township.

Band Tattoo

S. G. Lockyer, chairman of the Music committee, announced that a large number of bands in the district had accepted an invitation to a band tattoo here on the evening of July 5, and that the Flint, Michigan, band would be here for the duration of the celebration, taking part in all services and parades and giving special concerts throughout the county. A fleet of boats from Toronto would provide amusement and stage daily parades.

BUILD NEW "CORONATION SCOT" TRAIN

Workmen at Crewe, England, are busily engaged in putting the finishing touches to the 6 1-3 hour service between Euston and Glasgow. Other "Coronation Scot" is finished at a plant there. The new train will be used on the 6 1-3 hour service between Euston and Glasgow. Other trains will be completed and put into service later.

What Will You Get When You Get a Car?

It is no secret that the mere ownership of an automobile does not constitute motoring satisfaction.

The most necessary essential to satisfaction in motor car ownership, next to the car itself, is a permanently established, fair-minded, interested source of local responsibility for the car's good performance.

That means a local dealer who delivers satisfaction in ownership with the cars he sells. Safety, comfort, dependability, investment value, operating cost, all derive from the local sources of service and supplies.

Those who buy Pontiac and McLaughlin-Buick cars here are never dependent upon other factors in this market for the things their cars need, nor for a sincere and helpful interest in their motoring comfort.

SENTIMENTAL BRITISH

The other day, Neville Chamberlain, when it came to taking over the British Conservative leadership from Stanley Baldwin spoke with deep feeling of his father, Joseph Chamberlain and his half-brother, Austen Chamberlain. Thus does the actual fact belie the traditional view that the Englishman is cold and austere. Bernard Shaw speaking more truthfully than the accepted view, used to say that the Englishman is incurably sentimental and romantic. Facts show it. He is not as demonstrative as the French parent, but he is none the less filled with sentiment. A writer says that the traditional British father, inarticulate, is supposed to shake hands with his son on his departure for war while the French fathers and sons kiss on the slightest provocation. But British heart and sentiment are deep. They may be inarticulate. There are thoughts and emotions too great for words.

It is pointed out that in the British House of Commons when the late Austen Chamberlain was making his maiden speech in his early days, Gladsone praised his effort and a tear was seen to steal down the face of Austen's father, Joseph Chamberlain. It is recalled that Sir Stanley Baldwin when in the House has not hesitated to wear his heart on his sleeve.

The Englishman may appear austere and unbending just because he is so sentimental.

WHO ESCAPES

(New York Times)

The international tension, heightened by the provocative events of the past few days has overshadowed the domestic struggle in Germany, but internal and external policies are so closely related in the totalitarian state that developments within the Reich have an important bearing on the general situation. In any event, the instructions just issued to Protestant pastors by the National Confessional Synod should not be allowed to pass unnoticed. This remarkable document is the most open expression of opposition heard in Germany since the National Socialists came to power. It is more than a courageous protest against the religious policies of the Government. It attacks the Nazi conception of life in its entirety and defies its assumptions of exclusive control over every department of life.

The indictment accuses the state of taking over every church activity in the fields of charity, recreation and education. It cites specific instances of interference with and suppression of the religious work of the church. By forbidding religious assemblies outside the church buildings, by closing the columns of the daily press to the theological students from public life, by preventing pastoral work in the labor camps, by forcing civil servants to remove their children from church organizations, by suppressing church papers and confiscating books, periodicals and pamphlets, by subjecting the nation to an ideological propaganda deriding the Bible, the pastors and Christianity while treating the battle for the Gospel as sedition.

In warning Christians not to be silent before such attacks and to let nothing interfere with attendance at church services, the Confessional Synod goes beyond this indictment. It defines the issue which makes this conflict different from the classic contest between church and state:

The basis for all this is that National Socialism itself is the church. Accordingly, all state activities assume a religious character. Politics is a divine mission. Service to the nation is divine service; National Socialism, therefore, has a definite mission, for the fulfillment of which it claims the whole nation.

This is the crux of the German battle. It explains why the Hitler regime dares to wage simultaneous war on Protestants, Catholics, Jews, Christian Scientists, free thinkers, savants, artists, on every hade of intellectual moral and spiritual opposition. It explains why nothing escapes the octopus. Who can escape when every difference is dubbed "political" and the state is also a church, and brooks no heresy?

BALDWIN AS EMPIRE AMBASSADOR

One of the London newspapers the other day in its comment upon the retirement of Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, expressed the hope that he would now find time to visit portions of the Empire in which he had never been, though his regime at one of the most critical periods in British history had brought him into close touch with all the Dominions and Colonies.

The Empire would delight to have this envoy's visit. Freed from the relentless cares of office and the exacting details of the prime ministerial post, Sir Stanley Baldwin, K.G., will be a welcome visitor to the far-flung Dominions, should he decide on a visit. Sir Stanley, who will soon be an earl of the United Kingdom, has shown himself a true imperialist and one who can with the magic of words lay proper stress on the duties and possibilities of this hear.

This office of envoy can have very great importance in its benefits.

MY THOUGHTS

My thoughts—
I say, "These are my own".
By conquest and by work
I've won them to my side,
To be my comfort and my joy;
And to employ my leisure moments.
They have in brimming measure
Given me, sweet fair, rewards.
I hold them proudly as a king
For they are part of me;
Have grown as graft upon a vine.
And with each passing sun I see
They conquer me as aged vintage;
I would not part with them
For all the earthly world.
They are a consolation when
The darkness casts its evil spell
And never leave me ever.
I depend on them and nourish
Every one, as my own children;
Giving of the choicest literature
And sunny vistas; So they grow
Brilliantly clear and charming
And they are part of me.

FREE BUS EXPERIMENT PLEASED SHOPPERS AND MERCHANTS ALIKE, being one hundred per cent successful. Shoppers were pleased at the innovation which they took as an appreciation of their patronage, and the merchants were pleased because shopping was earlier and heavier, in fact some merchants say that business was doubled over the first Wednesday of June last year. The success of the experiment seems to warrant repeating.

"MOLASSES BOB" WON A RACE AT TORONTO, and the saying "Slow as Molasses" loses half its force, although the saying is really "Slow as Molasses in January" meaning that when the mercury flirts with zero molasses thickens up and is very slow in pouring. Origin is probably in the corner grocery where the molasses barrel, golden syrup barrel, vinegar and coal oil barrels were kept in the cellar and when the weather was cold the molasses was very sluggish in coming from the spigot, causing the grocer or apprentice to leave the measure under the tap and turn to something else, with often tragic results, for slow as the molasses is there comes a time when the measure is full and if the tap is not turned off an unholy mess upon the floor results, hence slow as molasses in January was often not slow enough for the grocery clerk responsible for the mopping and the mess. Anyone who has ever clerked in an old-time grocery store will appreciate the above reference. However this Molasses Bob race horse can run faster than his name implies and he sure took down the money at Thorncliffe with the greatest of ease, and with few wise ones on, for who but the most confirmed optimist would bet on a horse named Molasses. Incidentally Molasses Bob belongs to the Medway stable, and his mother was Molasses Jane—if you are interested.

HATS OFF TO JUDITH ROBINSON WOMAN COLUMNIST OF GLOBE MAIL. Judith made a whole column out of an obscure individual named Joseph Fuentes, who protested to the German Consul in Montreal over the reprisal bombing of Almeria. The consul refusing to assume responsibility for the bombing of this Spanish port by the German navy, Joseph Fuentes unable to get satisfaction, seized a chair and smashed a picture of Herr Hitler which adorned the wall of the Consular office. Judith made the column interesting, for even Scotch readers of the Auld Globe who knew the first Joseph, and the Tory readers of the Mail who knew not the first Joseph, and the last Joseph.

20 YEARS AGO

JUNE 4th., 1917

At a meeting of the Belleville Cheese Board the following officers were elected for the year: President, W.J. Barber; First Vice President, T. H. Mouck; Second Vice President, Isaac Hennessy; Sec. Treas., Frank Knight; Auditors, R. Mitchell and Charles Travelston.

The women teachers in the city schools have petitioned the Board of Education for increase in salarias owing to the high cost of living. The matter will be considered at a later meeting of the Board.

Today is United States Pension Day and Col. W. N. Ponton, agent, paid off eight persons who were entitled to pensions, including three widows.

30 YEARS AGO

JUNE 4th., 1907

Miss Ada Gillen, George Street, left this morning to visit friends at Winnipeg.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Henthorn of Montreal, formerly of Belleville are visiting relatives here.

Mrs. W. W. Rude, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. John Fenner for the past month, has returned to her home at Toronto.

R. Archibald, teller of the local branch of the Merchants' Bank, is now the owner of a beautiful carriage horse which he purchased from Mr. J. W. Barber of this city. The animal is said to be one of the finest carriage horses in this district.

The 15th Regiment will parade to the hospital lot this evening.

Mr. Herbert of Toronto, who is the architect for the reconstructions of Bridge Street and the alterations to the premises formerly occupied by the Merchants Bank, which is to be used as a public library, was in the city today. The work on the new library building will commence in a few days.

40 YEARS AGO

JUNE 4th., 1897

The repairs to the city hall are being rushed.

The Bicycle Corps in connection with the 15th Battalion had regular drill last night. There was a good turn out.

Mr. Harry Hanwell will leave tomorrow morning for Guelph to commence his duties as clerk in the services of the Bank of Montreal.

Little Benny's Note Book

Me and Sam Cross was wawking along just wawking along, and he said, Let's play Blind Flying. Me I blow? I said, and Sam said, We take terns being the pilot and the ground station, and the pilot shuts his eyes and tries to wawk in a strate line, and if he goes & bumps into something the ground station yells Radio beam, and whoever goes the furthest without bumping into the game, he terns & he wins the game. If you leave me bump instead of yelling Radio beam it counds a point against you, he said.

And he shut his eyes and kept on wawking and started to go rite into a tree, me yelling Radio beam just in time, and then I went pilot and shut my eyes and wawked merrily & paymerkin into a tree, me yelled Radio beam to keep me from banging into a house, and then Sam shut his eyes again and only went about 4 steps without starting to bump.

Making me way ahead, and I was saying it again with my eyes shut and I thawt I heard a stapleious sound and I opened a short way on 1 eye and here what was Sam Cross doing but moving his jaws like mad eating, and when it was his term to go pilot again I went & said, Sam you are cheating, you're something funny going on here, what's you eating?

Nothing, Sam Cross said, and Sam said, Leave me sertch you? Are you hiding something? I will, I said. What's fare for one is fare for 2, I said, and Sam said, Well all rite.

And we sertched each other at the same time and when I didn't find anything and I found a little white bag with 7 jelly beans left in it, and he gave me 2, less on account of generosity than on account of being ashamed not to, and I asked him if he wanted to play Blind Flying any more and he said no.

AEROPLANE SUPPLIES FOOD FOR STRIKE-BOUND WORKERS

The United States Department of Labor has temporarily halted efforts to bring striking steel workers and officials of the widespread steel strike together, according to Secretary Perkins. Newspapermen are reported to have been told the government might lose "face" should conciliation efforts, by the government fail. In the meantime aeroplanes at Warren, Ohio, have been making daily trips to the besieged Republic Steel Corporation plant with food for the "loyal" workers who have kept production up since the strike began. The aeroplane is shown in the upper photograph arriving at N had landed within the company ground. At Chicago wives and sweethearts of the steel strikers marched up and down before the city hall bearing placards asking Mayor Kelly to "wipe the blood off your hands." But they ran into a little trouble as may be seen in the lower photograph as a bystander snatches a placard from one of the picketers who fights back.

HORSE OWNED BY WOMAN WINS HISTORIC EPSOM, DOWNS DERBY

With a good length and a half to the good, Mid-day Sun, owned by Mrs. C. B. Miller, is shown passing the post to win the blue ribbon of the English turf — the derby — at Epsom Downs. Mrs. F. Nash's Pasaquito is second and the Aga Khan's Le Grand Duc, third. A crowd estimated at nearly half a million including King George VI, Queen Elizabeth and other members of the Royal Family, saw the classic. It was the first time that a woman owner won the derby.

POOR STREET PARKING

Montreal, June 3—(CP)—A committee report on traffic regulation and control, read to the annual convention of the Canadian Transit Association today, blamed poor street parking as the chief obstacle to free flow or traffic on busy thoroughfares.

In a Line-Up you are Courteous—

Try Courtesy

in the Traffic Lines

YOU, like most people, are courteous when you line up at the wicket to buy tickets. You stay in your place, do not jostle your neighbour, you respect his rights, and otherwise act towards him in a courteous manner.

But do you think and act towards your fellow-motorist in this same kind and courteous manner when you get behind the wheel of your car and roll along the highway?

Do you second your horn when about to overtake him and then pass at a safe distance?

Do you keep to the right so that others may safely pass you?

Do you hand signal when you are about to stop, start, slow down or change direction?

Do you drive at the speed of the traffic you are in so as not to impede other drivers and cause them to "cut-in"?

When you need to sound your horn do you do so in a friendly manner or do you give it a frightening blast?

If you have not tried these courteous driving manners, I earnestly suggest that you try Courtesy when you get behind the wheel of your car or truck.

To "Try Courtesy" is to add greatly to your own pleasure and safety in driving as well as to that of your fellow motorists.

Quinte Conference Approves Of Collective Bargaining

Employees of Book Room of United Church Not Included

LIQUOR WAR WAGED

Smith's Falls, Ont., June 4 (CP) —Members fo Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church of Canada were decided today on the question of whether the church should adopt the principle of collective bargaining for its employees.

By one vote the conference yesterday defeated an amendment to endorse "the use of collective bargaining in the book room of the Church Publishing House; and for all others employed by the United Church." The conference passed the principal motion submitted by the committee on evangelism and social service giving general approval of labor's use of collective bargaining and requesting the "Christianization of the social order."

Prof. J. O. Wrtts, Kingston, supported collective bargaining right for the church's employees. "The United Church of Canada is 10 years late in its recognition of labor's right to bargain collectively," he told the conference. "In this was the Church has lost touch with the laboring classes. We must take more interest in how the people are living."

Elmer Davis, Kingston, chairman of the book room committee, said employees of the publishing house had never asked the right to collective bargaining. He charged "outside interests" tried to force both workers and management to enter into a bargain.

The conference was urged by Rev. Dr. Basil Thompson, Kingston; Rev. Dr. E. N. Baker, Belleville; Rev. Andrew McLaughlin, Almonte; Prof. J. M. Shaw, Queen's University; and Rev. Dr. Hugh Dobson, Toronto, to adopt the amendment dealing with the church's employees.

Dr. Robson discussed "serious problems" facing the church. "The liquor traffics is draining the life blood of the families of our country," he said "Gambling is on the increase. Christianization of the social order and the right of labor to the practice of collective bargaining by parties freely named by both capital and labor are now among the major issues which the church must sponsor."

Fundamentals of religion have not changed, Principal C. R. Wallace, Queen's University, told the gathering. "I am still old fashioned enough to believe the fundamental things of religion which I believed as a child are still the fundamentals of religion as it is taught today," he said.

CORONATION "ARMY" ARRIVES HOME TODAY

DAILY SHORT STORY

"The Flesh Pots of Egypt"

By Martha M. Williams

"I do not require impossibilities," Acton said loftily. "Only the girl I marry must be wholly unsophisticated."

Surely she'll be among the lonesome flock of God." Elizabeth countered. "Only think how your vast superiority will bore you."

"H-m! Does it ever bore you?" Acton demanded, flushing.

She laughed softly nodding. "More times than I care to remember."

"I shall certainly spare you such annoyance in future," Acton all but snorted, looking down at her.

That made her giggle outright before answering. "Stop fibbing, Johnny—you do it so lamely. You know you'll never cease bothering Sunday nights—unless you find somebody that makes better waffles and fried peach pies than I do."

"You will see!" from Acton icily.

When her caller had almost slammed the door behind him, she lay full length upon the fine old sofa, hands outspread above her face, looking hard at her ring tapers fingers, the while she said to her imagine in the mental mirror. "I'll be the perfect medicine worth You," tapping two fingers, have nearly earned the Acton diamond. With malice aforethought—you know all the time the way to reach your title clear to all the Acton emolunents was by the side of the owner's palate. I wonder how you endured the drudgery two whole years—but not quite as much as I wonder what set you to speaking truth!"

"No mystery at all," a girly voice said through an opening between the fingers. "I got what I wears trousers, and answers to the name of Curly Dan—and could without waiting to be called—

"And owns the loveliest, the most virgin ignorance-eatens as if Solomon himself were speaking when open your mouths—or even the —at a pinch." Elizabeth broke in, sitting up, her eyes dancing, wicked as her cheeks. "Best of all, he's not even a genteel pauper—he owns your heart to watch him eat —you know he needs Sunday feed to carry him through a week at the parsonage."

Wonder why he stays there?" the new-comer, said reflectively.

"Because of those poor children they half starve with him helping—would whole-starve. I do believe, if he left—"

"Who's the phenomenon?" from a slim tall fellow, standing upright in the outer door.

They looked reproach, saying: "Small boys should know better than to ask foolish questions especially if they answer themselves."

"Lovely singing birds, who's been feeding you pepper?" Curly Dan—otherwise Daniel Maury, Esq.—demanded, holding fast a hand of each girl. "Sit down—and give us the advice I need."

"Don't take away!" Elizabeth ordered, shaking her fist at him.

"It's—it's only—I've come money—nothing to speak of really —I'm not any more a pauper — with an appetite—I was only on the appetite way I came near you" friend Acton—"

"Then name him! The pig!" Elizabeth ejaculating vidously.

"Not a fat pig," Dan teased "Met him on my way here—he was swearing hard enough to take his appetite away."

Curly Dan ran on: "He was crying aloud as hard as he was sinful—about how cruelly he'd been deceived in—one of you. Now—I want to know who's the guilty person—"

"Oh! We went half and half," his listeners said tranquilly.

"Sherry and—Well! That puts me in a fix sure enough. You see I meant to reward the guilty person with some part of my own wealth—and ask the other to take that as a—as—this place. Eh?"

"Quite a sum! One might easily have less" Elizabeth said primly. "Willn't to risk it? from Curly Dan.

"Oh! I might!" she nodded.

May gave her a gentle smack on the right cheek, saying: "Take that for your pudicity. Miss Quincy! You know it took Dan you the grace of a—a—to save from becoming Mrs. John Thomas Acton."

"You, of course, want to make sure of the Capital Peril?" Elizabeth flung back aggrievedly.

Thereat Dan laughed uproariously, crying: "Fight! Capital! A-plenty for all the family. Counting as three equal partners, we're rolling in wealth—rich enough to endow those poor ailey brats, feed, clothe and educate them—and leave us enough in hand to go sailing around the world long enough and strong enough to tie the equator in bow-knots—"

"Let's go! When do we begin casting in?"

Curly Dan looked mournful. "Not for another month," he said. "A fine poor man's appetite is too precious to be sacrificed suddenly. Only think—though—came near spoiling everything. Nights when I was so hungry I lay awake planning the—murder Acton. Now I'm convinced that as a root of evil the love of money don't compare with the lack of it."

"All's well that ends well," from May, oracularly.

"Make it unanimous," cried Dan putting his arms around Elizabeth.

REDNERSVILLE W. I.

The Rednersville Women's Institute met at the home of Miss Beatrice Jones on May 27th with thirteen dance of fifteen members and eight visitors. The president, Mrs. Frank Wallbridge took charge of the meeting.

The meeting opened by singing the ode followed by all repeating the Institute prayer. The roll call was then given, "Your opinion on a social event of the year." The minutes were then read and adopted followed by the correspondence.

The Institute convention is to be held at Wellington, June 14th, the delegates being Mrs. Ruth Bonter, Mrs. Earl Onderdonk, Mrs. Kenneth Green. The community singing was led by Mrs. Osborne of Massassaga which was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

The current events were ably given by Mrs. Douglas Reimer. The song speaker which was Mrs. W. R. Muneo of Demorestville gave an interesting talk on "The duties of an Institute."

The members of the Institute then decided to take speakers service for the ahnny course this year.

The meeting was brought to a close by all repeating the Mizpah Benediction.

The hostess Miss Jones and ladies then served a wonderful lunch and tea-cup reading was read by Miss Beatrice Jones.

Mrs. Keith Redner moved a vote of thanks to Miss Jones for being host to the ladies to the lunch counter. tea also to Mrs. R. R. Munro, all manifesting in the usual way. This brought an enjoyable afternoon to a close.

Newlyweds Are Honored by Friends

About one hundred friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Carson of Crookston, in honor of their son Wm. who was recently married to Miss Luella Wannamaker of Hallsway.

Mr. Walter Brownson brought the crowd to order and the following address was read by Mrs Vince Baker.

Crookston, Ont., May 26, 1937

Dear Albert and Luella:—

We, your old friends and neighbors have gathered in your old home tonight to wish you "Bon Voyage on the Sea of Matrimony."

We could not allow this great occasion in your life to pass by without rejoicing with you and wishing you both health, wealth and happiness.

Our associations with you, Albert since childhood, have been always of a very pleasant character, both of your kind, genial and friendly disposition. These same good qualities we desire for you from your friends and neighbors in the community where you are establishing your new home.

We hope to become better acquainted with you Luella and that you will feel that these friends of Alberts, are your friends also, and include you also in these best of wishes.

Kindly accept these gifts not for their value but as a tangible token of our esteem and good will for you both.

Signed on behalf of the community, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brownson, Joe LaChapelle.

After the surrapping of the lovely gifts Mr. and Mrs. Carson each responded in a few suitable words thanking their friends for their gifts and their presents and invited them to their home. For those they are jolly good fellows" was heartily sung after which refreshments were served. The rest of the evening was spent very enjoyably by dancing.

WALLBRIDGE W. I.

The May meeting of the Wallbridge Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Harry Mowery with the new president, Mrs. Jas. Kline in charge. ## Free of Gas and Indigestion London Lady Praises Syntona

Stomach Felt Better After the First Few Days, She Says. Also Relieved Dizzy Spells, Backache and Nervousness.

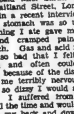
"After the wonderful benefits I have had from using Syntona I can honestly recommend it to anyone," said Mrs. Sarah Carpenter, 280 Maitland Street, London, Ontario, in a recent interview.



"My stomach was so upset that everything I ate gave me indigestion and cramped pains in my stomach. Gas and acid risings became so bad that I felt short of breath and often couldn't sleep nights because of the distress. In fact I made me terribly nervous. Often I felt so dizzy I would almost fall over.

I suffered from constipation all the time and would get pains across my back and down through the joints and muscles of my legs.

"I took medicine all last winter and spring but got no relief and was very discouraged. Then I read of Syntona and decided to give it a trial.

I was surprised when my stomach felt so much better in only a few days. Now after a little more than two weeks I am free from that awful gas and indigestion. Can eat anything with no bad after effects. The dizziness and aches and pains have gone away, I sleep fine at night and feel rested and refreshed in the morning. Syntona is a wonderful medicine and I earnestly recommend it to anyone suffering like I did."

Syntona is now being introduced in Belleville by Dolan the Druggist. Get yourself a treatment today and see how much better you too will be feeling in a short time.

TWENTY YEARS OF GASTRIC TROUBLE

Maclean Brand Stomach Powder Brought Relief

Gastric Trouble is no respecter of persons. But Maclean Brand Stomach Powder gives equal benefit to all . . .

We have evidence on Gastric trouble for quite twenty years on and off," writes Mrs. Lewis, a daily nurse, "but especially in hospital many times for treatment, but after having hospital I was bound to keep strictly to milk diet—but now, since taking Maclean Brand Stomach Powder I can visit quite a bit of food that I dared not touch before."

Remember this: It was the powder with the signature "ALEX. C. MACLEAN" on the bottle, that relieved Mrs. Lewis. That's the one you want. Sold in bottles in cartons. Never sold loose.

PAY ONLY
$1.00 DOWN DELIVERS
This Air Conditioned Refrigerator. Payments $1.00 per Week.
All sizes. Priced from $19.95 up

Not only will it pay for itself in food saved, but it is an convenient to have your food in the kitchen in the spotlessly clean provision chamber of a PARIS Refrigerator.

Large sums of money are expended by transportation companies, wholesale and retail food purveyors, in providing refrigeration every step of the way until the food reaches your home. Here, unless it is immediately consumed, all this effort is lost. Besides, the food tastes so much better from a PARIS Refrigerator. and it protects the family's health.

Those new PARIS models offer adequate protection at low cost. They are good looking, too.

Sliding Vegetable Basket. — Insulated Sliding Ice Chamber Door. — Improved Corner Spaced Wire Shelves. — Beautifully Rounded Cases and tops with embossed stream lines matched by hardware and base. — Ice Chambers finished in Aluminum.

ALL MODELS HAVE:
Glass Water-Sealed Traps. — Rust Resisting tinned Shelves. — Brass Rods with chromium plated. — Trigger action latches. — Cushion Sealed Door Gaskets.

They are made of Auto Body Steel. Have sturdy hardwood inner frames, and beautiful finishes of high baked Chinz are used throughout.

POLICE COURT

J. Antenile, alias J. Allin, 16 year old Thorold, Ont., youth was given a one year's suspended sentence, after being convicted of fraud before Magistrate E. J. Butler, K.C. in today's local Police Court.

Antenile admitted obtaining the sum of $13.80 by false pretences from J. MacFarlane, Shannonville, following the sales campaign conducted by the accused in that village recently. Mr. MacFarlane's employer, who gave his name as Mr. Denney, Thorold, gave character reference on behalf of the accused, assuring the court he had never been in trouble on any previous occasion.

"This is a serious matter and should be severely dealt with," prompted His Worship.

"I understand this is the lad's first offence and providing he makes restitution and pays the costs of the court, condition he has learned a lesson." Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan, K. C. suggested. The court accepted this suggestion and suspended sentence for one year, the lad agreeing to make restitution and pay the costs of the court.

Orville Jones and Matthew Corby, two local youths, pleaded guilty to charges of having liquor in a place other than their residence. "The fine is $100.00 and costs or three months under the Act," added Mr. Donnan.

Both men intimated they were unable to pay the assessed fine and would have to serve the three months sentence in default of payment.

Fannie Jane Switzer, Belleville, pleaded guilty to the theft of $25.00 from a friend. The woman has corrupt morals and is not a fit person to bring up a family," interrupted Mr. Donnan after establishing the fact the woman was married and had three children. Sentence was postponed for one week, the accused woman being held in custody. "In the meantime inspector Huston of the Children's Aid Society can dispose of the custody of the children," added His Worship. "This is a case for Mercer Reformatory, I submit", concluded Mr. Donnan.

A squabble within the family that has been the unenviable Bennett Arraign eight residents of Point Anne before the court, resulted in Rex Wilson finding all parties concerned ready to keep the peace and be of good behaviour.

Pine Tree Plantings In Thriving Condition

Evidence of preliminary success of the reforestation scheme, adopted at the January session of the Hastings County Council, and placed in the hands of the Agricultural Advisory Committee of that body, was voiced Saturday by Chairman George E. Jordan, Reeve of Hungerford Township.

Ten thousand pine sets planted in ten acres of township property in the Point Settlement this year have exceeded the expectations of the committee. The "sets have taken firm root and are in a thriving condition, Chairman Jordan stated, voicing the opinion that further plantings would take place in various parts of the county in the near future.

Experts Pick Second Division For Cards With Dean Out

By SID FEDER.

Associated Press Sports Writer

The boys along the baseball front were picking a nice, quiet second division berth for the dean-less St. Louis Cardinals today.

At the same time, the talk that wasn't given over to the Dean doings, was directed at the work of another pitcher, Lou Fette, who's been proving himself the surprise package of Boston Bees and the 1937 National League rookie crop.

Without their great "popper-offer" whether he's right or wrong in his row with Ford Frick, the Cards are anywhere up to the knee-walker depending on how long he's going to be on the outside looking in. As a matter of fact, and how gone the route in six of his seven starts.

With Dean, Fette and the weather man all getting their licks in the silver league action yesterday didn't create as much stir as a leaf in a breeze. Only four games got by the rain slaughter.

Cleveland's Indians evened their series with New York Yankees by taking a free-swinging 6-3 decision from Letty Goenes.

The Tigers kicked away enough chances to win three games and lost to the Senators 5-4. The White Sox took over third place from the Tigers in the American League by walloping Boston Red Sox 11-4.

SILVER JUBILEE EASILY BEST

By The Canadian Press

R. S. McLaughlin's Silver Jubilee hit a winning stride at Thorncliffe Park yesterday to win the Bill Thoms purse. The chestnut colt, third in the King's Plate to Goldcure, defeated Mr. C. Hatch's Budron by four length. Bullock Keeling's Sweepfast was third in the seven furlong jaunt, another six lengths away.

Dixie Princess, recently claimed from the Medway stable, won at the first asking by W. Hutchinson. She came from the rear to score by a nose over A. J. Pemprase's Called Miss.

R. E. Leslie's Deedle found the heavy footing just right to win a 1 1-16 miles race for platers. Kissinbug was second and Lumberger, the favorite, third.

now. In fact, he's the only flinging regular with a better than .500 average to date, and has gone the route in six of his seven starts.

Insofar as we can ascertain there seems to be an erroneous impression being circulated among the Central Ontario district regarding the R.C.A.F. lacrosse team. In Oshawa and Cobourg it was rumoured the Flyers had dropped from the lacrosse realm, but such is not the case, we have been informed. The Flyers are not playing in the O.Q.L.A. until after July 1st, however. We understand some of their lacrosse stars have been moved to Camp Borden and Ottawa for a month's training and will be back in the city for the Oshawa series, however, suggested to us that perhaps it was a case of important some players from other depots being about Dominion Day instead of the above-mentioned reason of losing players. This lacrosse game must be an isolated case, for rugby, baseball or hockey the clubs composing a league draft A and B and abide by the same, but in lacrosse the putted-about outside play just whenever they feel like it, it seems.

The decision of the Flyers to remain out of competition until July 1st leaves the Peterboro club holding the wind-blowing bag. Owing to the Lifluck City they have built a fine new lacrosse box, with bleachers and floodlights at a cost of over $800.00. The Peks figured the Flyers would be a big drawing card as they proved in the hockey realm and have already carried on a large and extensive advertising campaign for their opening game tonight versus the Flyers. Lacrosse magnates from various parts of the province, hockey celebrities a grand drawing et al are included on tonight's programme when the Peterboro Club will be held its gala opening of their new lacrosse box. Realizing the seriousness of the situation, President Harry Boose, of the Flyers is taking an all-star team composed of Belleville and C.A.C. players to Peterboro tonight in order that the home club will be permitted to have a team worthy of their opening celebration. The game will be the pacing of the exhibition. No wonder how the Liflock City people will "Peg".

The Oshawa jolley-downer seems to think Belleville is quite fortunate in having Billie Hughes, noted athletic trainer, coach and manager in our midst. "His presence may help to stimulate interest in sport in the Quinte City," suggests the Oshawa scribe. We hope so.

If ever a baseball manager needed sympathy it was Fred Collins, skipper of the Peterborough senators in the Kingston and Ontario. Going into the eighth inning the Peks were five out in front of the Ponies, leading 8 to 1 and the Daley-Jay outfit was obviously a well-beaten team. Dave Jakaby, former Hamilton submarine hurler, had the Ponies completely under his mercy for seven innings, when he suddenly tired and was ready for the showers late in the seventh. The Ponies sensed Jakaby's weakening and pounced on his offerings for five runs in the eighth. Manager Collins and captain Bill Calladine held numerous consultations relative to a relief hurler, but when they glanced to the bench no substitute hurler was in evidence. It seems "Gunner" Whitehill is holidaying at home in Cedar Rapids. Rose Bowl Hero has not accompanied the team and Johnson former Edmonton hurler, has been cut loose by the Peter. In reality no senior club should travel on the road with only one moundsman available. The folly of this was proven in Kingston when the ponies literally tossed away an assured win solely through the inability of a reliable hurler. Jakafby had the Ponies buffaloed for seven frames, however.

With ideal weather conditions as favourable doubtless as a large gallery of patrons will take in the professional wrestling bouts at the arena tonight. The preliminary bout, between Jim Wilkins and Frank Hawks, sees two youthful and agile roosters in action. Speed and thrills is their fort. The Dunlop-Ched Lynx deel will be renewed after a lapse of nearly a year, during which time neither has met the other, we are informed. Whether Mike Domonie is tough enough to handle the pugnacious John Kalan remains to be seen. We doubt it, which is a very good sign that the kid may get some place with the former Canadian titleholder.

The mentors of the Kiwanis junior ball club are incensed, and rightly so. There is a possibility the Kiwanis club moguls placing a formal protest in the hands of President Sherry. The kids may well be on time for all scheduled games and expect the same consideration from the other clubs in the league," stated Kiwanian Bill Cook today. The matter of inducing fans to support junior baseball is tough enough without the fans having to wait an hour after the scheduled time and even then not being afforded a full game, as was the case Wednesday.

There is at least one person in Belleville who doesn't believe softball is very soft. During the progress of a softball game at Victoria Park the other night Gerald Barrigar, skipper of the Dano nine was struck in the side of the face with the ball. At first a broken jaw bone was feared but Mr. Barrigar was removed to the Belleville General Hospital where he remained for three days. No fracture was established, but the injury is rather painful. Tonight the Corbin and Percival softballers tangle with third place being at stake.

Old Dia Dean remained adamant even after the Cardinal heads urged him to sign a written apology to President Ford Frick. Dean says "no dice" and declared he would take his case to Commissioner K. M. Landis for consideration. The Cardinals easily miss Dean's pitching assistance, while Dia is minus his salary cheque.

Champion Jimmie Braddock failed to put in an appearance for his scheduled ten-round bout versus Max Schmeling last night. Immediately the New York State Boxing Commission suspended Braddock and slapped a "grand" on the chump. Braddock will meet Louis on June 22nd.

Dean to Appeal To Judge Landis And Sue League

New York, June 4.—(AP)—"Old Dia" and Ford Frick were still at swords polish today with the St. Louis Cardinals' ace right-hander threatening all kinds of action against the National League in general and its youthful President in particular.

Standing pat on his refusal to sign an apology for a series of alleged statements against Frick, Umpire George Barr and the league, Jerome Herman declared he would carry his case to Commissioner K. M. Landis and then, if necessary, "sue Frick and the National League for plenty—at least $250,000— for depriving me of my job".

Meanwhile the heads of the other clubs in the league refused to be drawn into the controversy. For the most part they declined to comment on the deadlock with their President and one of the circuit's leading hurlers.

Outside of appealing to Landis for a hearing, after a 10-day interval, Dean had only one other recourse. That was to change his mind and sign a written statement of his alleged statements, which included, among other things, the calling of Frick and Barr "the biggest crooks in the National League" at a father and sons banquet in Belleville, Ill., May 25.

This is exactly what Dizzy refused to do yesterday after a two-hour conference with Frick, Manager Frankie Frisch of the Cards and the Club's Secretary, Clarence Lloyd. During the conference Sam Breadon, the St. Louis president, who was reached by telephone, twice urged Dean to sign but Dizzy remained adamant.

PHOENIX PHANTOM K O'S ROBERT OLIN

St. Louis, June 4.—(AP)—John Henry Lewis, a champion who has outclassed his class, today cast a speculative eye over the heavyweight field, where a good lawyer is the best sparring partner and a right in the court the most punishing punch.

The Phoenix Phantom practically exhausted the raw material in the lightheavy division last night when he stopped Bob Olin in the eighth round of a scheduled 15-round title bout.

A cracked rib was the result of a crushing right in the fourth round which sent Olin down for a seven count. He went down again early in the eighth, and on the third down referee Walter Heimer decided it was time to put a stop to the punishment.

He rushed over to the nonchalant Lewis and raised his hand in token of victory, by a technical knockout.

TORONTO LEAFS PLASTER ROYALS IN NIGHT GAME

Score 13-3 Win With Joe Mulligan Having Easy Time

BISONS WIN

Big Bob Kline Hurls 4-0 Shutout Against Rochester

By The Associated Press

With their ace hurler, big Bob Kline, back in action again, Buffalo's champion Bisons were set today for their drive toward the International League lead.

The husky right-hander, who injured his arm two weeks ago came back last night to take his turn on the mound and celebrated with a beat 4-hit, 4-0 shutout over Rochester Red Wings.

It was big Bob's fifth victory of the season and Bisons' fourth triumph in their last five games. It moved them within two and a half games of the second place Montreal Royals, who lost 13-3 to Toronto Leafs in another ace-light contest.

Kline's performance belied his layoff. He kept the Wings under control throughout the game and pitched perfect ball in five of the nine innings. Kline didn't pass a batter and permitted but one Red Bird to get to third base.

Leafs defeated the Royals for their second game by the Royals, hung up their first victory over the Montreal rivals with a smashing attack that left, no doubt, three Royals with 14 hits while Toronto landscape including three doubles and a triple.

Joe Mulligan, Royal hurler, was relieved in the fourth by seven hits, including a double and a triple, in the process of chalking up his fourth triumph of the year.

The Toronto-Baltimore game was rained but. Newark and Syracuse were not scheduled.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ

Associated Press Sports Writer

New York, June 4th.—(AP)—Time of game, two hours; winning pitcher Dean; losing pitcher, Frick..... Wow. What with the Dean hearing The Schmeling thing and the heat wave Montreal evidently has shipped down..... The Dean show drew the most newspapermen, but Schmeling and the Phantom had the mounted cops..... Your agent is in the Madison Square Garden Bowl in the rain at 8:30 last night, but couldn't stir up even a phantom ..... The Joe Louis-Nathan Mann deal is as serious as it was night before last.....

Maybe he was kidding but Bill Terry is quoted here as saying Dizzy Dean will be his first choice for the National League All - star team. that is, if Dia is out of the doghouse by that time..... E.S. Bradley's Brooklyn may raise cain with War Admiral and Pompoon in the Belmont Stakes today and we don't say we didn't warn you.....

Max Schmeling positively will not see Joe Louis and Louis is the poor Max expects to watch his next fight in the courts..... Golf enthusiast of Tony Manero, Denny Shute and Harold (Jug) McSpaden are giving Boston golfers something to cheer about.....All three pros in the Hub City shot 72's last week and Al McCoy have signed for a 10,rounder in the Red Sox ball park in Boston, June 18th.....

Don Budge,. America's. No. one Davis Cup hero, is a fine all-round basketball and popular music in that order.....He totes a portable phonograph and a trunk filled with jazz records all around the country.....Whoever could Max Machon (Max Schmeling's trainer) been talking about when he yelled to reporters: "Commission or no, one guy controls boxing in this town and you know who he is"..... We'll Bite, Butch.

TORONTO STOCK EXCHANGE (Close)

Toronto, June 4—(CP)—The stock market came out of a coma this afternoon as several exhibited moderate rallying powers in the last hour of trading. The first three hours had been decidedly dull on a price tone but all groups were in bullist fettle later with the exchange indices registered minor gains. Senior golds, Dome, Lake Shore and McIntyre rose fractions on a point each.

Action was fair in Brazilian with the pfds up modestly. Rio 14 2-8, C. P. R. firmed 1-2 and gains came out for Consumers Gas and United Fuel Pfd.

The market improved for the senior base metals, Consolidated Smelters adding about 1 1-2 points. Noranda a point and International Nickel 1-2 while the cheaper issues were irregular lower. Silvers were steady with exception of Castle, off 5 cents.

WALL STREET CLOSE

New York, June 4.—(AP)—After drifting moderately downward most of the time, the market lost its modest support in today's later market dealings.

Many early declines of fractions to around a point were cancelled or replaced with minor gains near the final hour. Numerous issues, however, were in arrears and the volume was one of the smallest in the past two years. Transfers were at the rate of about 600,000 shares.

MARKET COMMENTS

All sorts of rumours and reports are being promulgated on the question of the gold price, but in every case, these stories are pure guesswork. The uncertainty surrounding the whole problem has created considerable nervousness which has found reflection in all sections of the security market.

A purchaser of common stocks at this somewhat jittery juncture must carry through his programme with little encouragement. He must pay for potential profits through the irritating exercise of patience, while harbouring a suspicion that all forecasts of better business ahead may be nothing more than pieces of merry pearlfage stole Jones Howard & Co., in their Mid-Week Review.

Business indices show that Canada's business activity is moving forward to a recovery peak. But here and there can be noticed a distinct falling-off in the rate of gain in incoming orders. In many industries, sales, continue better than a year ago perhaps than a month ago, but the improvement is less marked. A levelling-off process seems underway.

Stocks that are still regarded on the Street for the reason of satisfactory earnings are:—The Canadian Canners, National Steel Car, Howard Smith, Asbestos and Shawinigan.

Falconbridge Nickel Gets Very Good Ore

At Falconbridge Nickel Mines, good fortune is attending the development work described below the original main workings. Widths of ore up to 73 ft are being had on the 1,200 level.

Grade in these wide areas is quite good as it averages 2.4 per cent nickel. Development rock from the 1,300 is raising the average grade of ore being mined and the mine average.

There is indications that the chief bulge will carry on down a few hundred feet below the 1,200. Falconbridge nickel production is not quite up to the rate set as the year began, but it is getting there.

On the 1,200-ft. level of Falconbridge Nickel Mines, in workings from the No. 7 and original shaft, first class widths of the ore have been developed by recent work, so The Intelligencer was told after visiting the property. On the east side of the shaft, starting at a point about 75 ft. east of the shaft line, there is a distinct "swell", having a length of 60 ft. and an extreme width of 75 ft. From this bit width it drops down to a width of 13 feet.

Falconbridge has had ore bulges like this on the 1,000 level; at one place, stopes were over 100-ft. wide. The swell on the 1,200 does not correspond with anything up above, but it is related to fracturing conditions which seldom continue through the older workings, occasionally leading to the formation of unusual widths of ore.

Cold Storage Holdings

Ottawa, June 4—(CP)—Increases in storage holdings of cheese, cold storage eggs, fresh eggs and canned eggs in nine principal Canadian cities on June 1 compared with June 1, 1936, were shown in a report issued today by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Stocks of creamery butter were reduced.

Holdings are totals on June 1 with comparisons in brackets: Butter, 4,543,413 pounds (5,217,024); cheese, 10,560,987 pounds (8,581,183) cold storage eggs, 5,867,598 dozen (4,675,675); fresh eggs, 366,712 dozen (258,152); frozen eggs, 2,781,721 pounds (1,573,993).

DUKE, DUCHESS SAIL GRAND CANAL

Honor Shown Former King Edward And His Bride

Venice, Italy, June 4.—(AP) The Duke and Duchess of Windsor rode down the Grand Canal today.

Speeding by train from their Chateau de Cande wedding to the "haunted" Austrian honeymoon castle of Wasserleonburg near Hochatch, they alighted from their special car and entered a motor launch for the canal ride.

They took the "between trains" excursion as the guests of British Consul Allen Napier, who met them. Their launch moved until the next train for Austria.

Visit Cathedral

The Duke and Duchess spent some time contemplating the golden mosaics in the great Cathedral of San Marco. They visited the Ducal Palace, where the Doges lived in the days of Venetian greatness.

Their way through Venice's streets was lined with Black Shirt Guards of Honour.

The couple went to the Lido for tea on the terrace. Then they sped to the station in their modern launch amid a fleet of gondolas, speed-boats and ferries which left their train at the last minute for the final stretch of their honeymoon trip into lower Austria.

On the ride from Milan, the Duke sat at a table littered with and acknowledgements to great bundles of telegrams and bouquets that had been brought aboard the train.

Greeting Misunderstood

Venice, Italy, June 4.—(AP—The Duke of Windsor viewed a history, moon edition to cheering Venetians today, arm raised, palm upward. Venetian Fascists howled with joy. They thought the Duke, departing by train for Austria with the Duchess, was giving the Fascist salute.

NATURAL CAUSES JURY'S FINDING

Robert Whalen Death is Probed by Inquest Jury

Empanelled to enquire into the death of Robert Whalen, 33 year old Brantford labourer, by Dr. Balfour, General Hospital yesterday afternoon, a jury, last night returned a unanimous verdict of death from natural causes" at the inquest held in the Tabor and Newton Funeral Home before Coroner Dr. J. J. Robertson.

Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan conducted the inquiry.

Following the viewing of the body by the jury, Dr. W. C. Morgan, County of Hastings jail surgeon, testified that he had examined deceased three months ago when an inmate of the county jail and found him to be suffering from heart disease, at that time he had been committed to the hospital and after three weeks' treatment there had been discharged. He subsequently improved to warrant his discharge. A month later he had been committed to the county jail and was again admitted to hospital suffering from a heart condition and mental illness. There his condition gradually became worse and the line of his heart at 2.45 yesterday afternoon.

Joseph Jaundrill, Turnkey of the Hastings County Jail, identified the body as being that of Robert Whalen and said that deceased had claimed no place of residence. Detective Sergeant Private No. 1, 25; No. 2 24½.

ELDERLY MAN

Harold Noseworthy, ran to Anderson's assistance. They said Lee stood only two yards from Anderson when the shot was fired.

Two Others Shot

Rushing to help Evason and Noseworthy lift the wounded man, Jackson was also fired upon, the first second later Anthony Anderson, 19, running from the Atlas office and-he, too, was shot.

Lee then raced to the front of the building, leaped in the fire car and drove away. Police ambulances took the victims to the hospital.

But Lee didn't rush away unaccompanied. Ross Miller and Stewart Lamont, employees of the Corrugating and Container Company, had heard the shots. Lee ran to his car after they heard shots and gave chase in an automobile. They saw him turn off the fire car after following it several blocks.

Lee Surrenders

While police were out on the search, Lee arrived at the jail and surrendered. His was taken from there to Central police station and then on to the hospital to face the dying declarations of Anthony Anderson.

Quite composed as he was ushered into the hospital room, Lee was taken to the bedside of Anthony Anderson who said: "Why did you do it, Lee? You didn't need to do that."

Firmly, Lee replied: "It's a long story; you ought to know—why I did it."

Dying Man Tells Story

Then the shod by which Assistant Crown Attorney Harvey McCullough and Detective Sergeant Ross Hall had no chance to recover. In a weak and faltering voice, Jackson commenced: "I was at the office . . ."

He said Lee went to Jackson's office this morning to discuss a court judgment against Lee. Before the notice arrived, Lee suggested they go outside.

He said he thought Lee was going to hit him, but he took a revolver out of his hip pocket and shot me."

As a stenographer took down his words, Jackson concluded: "I make this statement knowing that I am about to die and that I have no chance to recover." He signed the statement.

Advised Not to Answer

Mr. McCullough moved over to the bedside of Anthony Anderson stating that he was fatally hurt. Anderson said he would make a statement at a later date, but stressed that he did not know who fired at him.

"Someone told me to rush and get my car and I ran to see what all the excitement was and when I did so I was shot", he said.

"Do you know who shot you?" asked Mr. McCullough.

"No, I do not."

Jackson died at 9 weak Dr. Miles O. Brown, assistant superintendent of the hospital, held the paper almost against the pencil held by the victim so he could sign.

The three men shot were all at work in the factory when Lee appeared. Jack Lee overlooked or did not bother with two occupants of the plant office, Mr. and Mrs. J. Gorman, 1031 Herkimer Street.

Two Escape Notice

Mr. and Mrs. Gorman were working on the office books. Gorman being a member of a firm of chartered accountants. When they heard a noise, apparently close by, both at once concluded it was a shot and locked the office door. They heard a pair run past without noticing the office was occupied and Gorman approached. They were wounded almost outside the office door.

Joseph Lukoski, (516 Cage Ave, North), a dairy employee, had driven his wagon to the rear of the factory when he saw Lee's car pull up to the front. Lee took the back out of his revolver, looked them over and replaced them, he said. Then Lukoski heard a shot from the rear and dived for cover.

Lukoski knew no other shots, he said, but did not emerge to see any action.

Truckmen Rush to Aid

Noseworthy and Evason, Sovereign Pottery Company employees, were rushing to their trucks about 90 feet from the back door of the horseshoe plant where the first shots took place. They saw Anderson lying on the ground just outside the door and rushed to his assistance. They said Anderson asked for his wife and said: "Get me to the hospital. I'm shot."

Noseworthy and Evason rushed to his car here and started into the plant to get help. Jackson was shot in the back as he came out the door, falling outside beside Anderson, they said. Anthony Anderson, meanwhile, had retreated to the front office but was shot in the back as he walked doorway, falling inside.

Lee Jackson Pal

Archie Millen, (86 Oak Ave.) another employee of the Sovereign Potteries, was working near the rear entrance and rushed to aid Anthony Anderson. He climbed to a fellow-worker to telephone for help and Anderson fell as he was shot from behind, emerging through the door.

Millen went through the rear door of the horseshoe company, intending to go through from the office of that place, but Lee suddenly blocked his way, drew his gun and said: "Get to hell out of the way."

Says Shot Trying to Escape

Millen then declared Lee shot Jackson as the latter as Anderson tried to escape through the front door of the office.

When the police arrived, John Anderson was lying on the office floor, unable to walk because a bullet had entered his spine. He could not talk although conscious, as were the other two.

Anthony lay on his back outside the rear door beside Jackson, and repeatedly asked to be taken to hospital. The officers cut off Jackson's trousers leg and tried to make him comfortable until the ambulance arrived.

At hospital it was explained Jackson had been shot twice, one bullet entering his right leg below the knee, while the other went into his abdomen. Anthony Anderson received a bullet wound high in the back. The bullet entered the spine and severed the cord, paralysing him from shoulders down. John Anderson died after being shot in the back and head, the bullet that killed him passing through the heart.

Large window panes in the Sovereign plant, 80 yards away, were broken by shots that either went wild or went through their human marks.

Jackson Well Known

Guelph, Ont., June 4—(CP)—George H. Jackson, critically wounded in a Hamilton hospital shooting, is widely known resident of Guelph, and an active figure in many circles. He is a son of one of this district's most prominent farmers and he had spent his entire life in Guelph and the surrounding district. A graduate of Guelph Agricultural College, Jackson enlisted with the 54th battery during the Great War.

He is a member of the Guelph Golf and Country Club and the Guelph Garrison Club. He was for many years a commercial traveller. He is a member-elect of Hon. H. C. Nixon, Provincial Secretary.

WORLD DEPRIVE

low Mr. Jardine's behavior I do not know. It is of course a matter for the Bishop of Durham. I might add, though, that any clergyman under my Jurisdiction here in France who performed such a breach of the Queen's Regulations would be severely dealt with."

Funnie Over Registration

But there was another popular complication, for Mr. Jardine has performed the ceremony outside his district without having registered the marriage is a puzzle to me. He cannot, obviously, use my registrar here in Paris, nor my representative's at Tours, nor can I, on my own, for it cannot be morally without permission from the Archbishop of Canterbury. Mr. Jardine has merely registered the service on a piece of his own notepaper.

"We must wait now and see what steps are to be taken in England by those responsible. I know there has always been considerable anxiety in ecclesiastical circles about this marriage. Only a few days ago, while I was in London, the Bishop of Fulham made mention to me that he was very worried about the matter.

"One thing is clear and should be carefully remembered. Mr. Jardine when he married Mrs. Warfield, did not represent the church at all. He had no authority whatsoever."

World Figures to Attend W.C.T.U. Convention Here

Such world figures in the Temperance cause as Miss Marion Ferguson of Glasgow, Scotland, Miss Slack of London, England, and Mrs. C. Trane Gauntlett of Japan, are expected to be in the city during the week of June 14th, when the 39th annual convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union will be held in Bridge Street United Church. The address will be presided over by the First Vice-president, Mrs. H. Night of Vancouver, and Mrs. Gauntlett will be one of the special speakers. Overseas visitors will be welcomed to the city.

The convention opens on Tuesday June 15th, the previous day being the annual executive meeting. The program concludes on Thursday June 17th, when conference executive members will be held Friday morning.

GETS SIX MONTHS FOR THROWING STONES AT POLICE OFFICER

Kitchener, Ont., June 5—(CP)—Oscar Haas, Waterloo, after pleading guilty to police court here today to assaulting a police officer, was sentenced to six months in addition to two other charges, was sentenced to six months each in the two charges, to run concurrently on each charge. The sentences, according to Magistrate F. R. Blake's dictum, will run concurrently.

Haas when charged by police Constable Ferguson with stones on him but eventually was captured. He also pleaded guilty to trespass and violating the terms of his parole.

HOLLOWAY W.M.S.

Mrs. Brenton read the 23rd Psalm. Devotional and Temperance Items were read by Mrs. Brandes and Mrs. Holmes. Story "A Missionary First" was given by Mrs. Sedore. Solo was rendered by Sherry, Mrs. Cameron and Miss Brandes with Mrs. Brandes. Meeting closed with Mizpah Benediction and usual social half hour.

TRAVELS IN "IRON LUNG" FROM CHINA

Frederick B. Saite, Jr., of Chicago, is shown "breathing" in an iron lung at Peiping, China, hospital, for 14 months and three days, is shown as he was placed on a train bound for Shanghai when he will sail shortly for America. Aboard the boat he will be placed in a similar lung, specially constructed for sea travel. At San Francisco he will be put in still another iron lung and carried to Chicago in a private railway car. Frederick, 36, was stricken with infantile paralysis while travelling with his parents in China. In the mirror you see Saite, Jr.'s face lighted by a smile as he looks at his freshly polished teeth. His Chinese nurse looks on with pride. This is one of two Chinese nurses who will accompany him to America.

LAID OFF FROM WORK BY CONSTIPATION

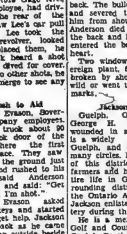
"For four years I suffered from constipation. I had gotten so weak I had to lay off from work." My doctor told me he was Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Since then, my grocery list has never been complete without it."—Mr. A. W. Murphy (address on request).

This delicious cereal will give you the same, sure relief. Laboratory tests prove it's safe. Within the body, its "bulk" absorbs moisture, forms a soft mass, gently cleanses the intestines. ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B which tones the intestines, and iron for rich blood.

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily. Serve as a cereal or cook into appetizing recipes. Isn't this natural food better than pills and drugs?



When you're at the grocery store today, get a package of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Try it a week, and see if you don't feel worlds better. Made and guaranteed by Kellogg in London, Ont.

BUT.... it's the LITTLE THINGS that count....

New drapes for the guest room, and Junior's first haircut. A new recipe for peach pie and new pans for baking it. A picnic at the beach, and a new hat for the weekly bridge. Every day events? Of course! But they're the things that make life livable! What's a war in Illyria and another Arctic expedition, compared to the thrill of the first glimpse of the family that's moving in next door, and the delivery of a shining new refrigerator? What's a royal wedding, and twelve rooms filled with gifts, when Anne has her fifth birthday tomorrow? They're interesting enough, something to talk about, to wonder at, perhaps, but pretty far away from that most important spot and the people who live there . . . your own home.

That's where your heart is, and that's where the real thrills lie, in the things that concern you and the people who live around you, next door, in the next block, anywhere in town. There's news about them in every issue of the daily Ontario Intelligencer in "inside page" stories—and in every ad too, for the ads in the Ontario Intelligencer are news! There's news about new clothes for the family, and new food for the table, and new furniture for the home. There's news about new entertainment, and new ways to get to it. There's news about something new on every page, from the latest dispatch on the front page to the new shoes for Anne on the last . . . all written to you and for you, put up in a neat package and delivered at your door-step every day.

by Clarissa Fairchild Cushman

"I mean," Kerin laughed a little, "I'm so glad it's you." She was glad. His presence saved her momentarily from facing the crowding thoughts that must inevitably with the close of day take shape of her lowered resistance.

"Thank you. I for my part have been sitting here an hour, and as I have heard as yet no revelry among the dead I am glad of your end Donald dine with me? No —She heard a gasp. Here in the village, Aline tells me that the presence of the same roadster before the house of an engaged young mind you—dean of women is a matter for gossip. So I sneaked myself up here."

"Gossip? How silly girls are!"

"Aren't they? And yet often very acute. I'll get the car, and we'll dash up to the Little Inn. What do you say?"

"I say yes," said Kerin. "To say yes to anything tonight."

"Coo, mum, would you? Listen—can I go to Tarrytown?"

"Oh, Don!" Kerin laughed helplessly. "It's a school night."

"But, gee, mum, you said—"

INSTALLMENT 36

"Come on Don — You've got to wash." She raised her eyes to Gregory Leighton's. They were tired eyes, and they found it difficult to smile, but they did smile. "We won't be a minute."

"You keep on scraping that side," admonished Donald. "I won't be a minute. Gee, mum," his voice sounded in reverent protest, "do I have to change my shirt and pants and everything?"

And I, thought Kerin, poking disconsolately among her clothes, must get some new things. "I write Mary Alice. Night away. I think I'll wear the brown lace, and try to feel gay. Clothes are like armor, she thought; they are often assumed by covering your fears. Here ought to be renewed. Perhaps she'd go down to New York, and look at coats as she had last year. Last year! Her heart turned sick at the thought, and she threw in a sudden picture She holding him with his burden of clothes, and a yellow telegram lying beside this same web of brown lace. Carl's head had indeed reached out.

It was a silent trio in the car, pursued by ghosts; a silent meal, with ghosts at the table with them. Gregory, looking at Kerin's apathetic face, felt a firmer resolve within him to know what it was she feared.

With Donald again in bed, Gregory refused to see the rules in force in Kerin's eyes to be left alone. He resolutely piled the hearth with a fresh fire, and looked defiantly at the black eyes of the many 'windows. Let the whole damn town gossip if it wanted to. Couldn't a trustee call on the dean of women? She mouth smiled with quick relief at the thought. It wasn't the dean of women the trustee was calling on.

It was Kerin, and he was Gregory. He drew up a chair across from her, as she drooped into the corner of the couch, and tamped his pipe with determination. He would talk the truth out of Kerin; before he left he would know if it had been a figment of a dream or a said. "He can't have Donald."

Fragment of reality when she had

"I have never met your husband, Mrs. Kingsbury. But I saw him this summer for a moment in Wazzing-

Kerin's throat contracted with the surprise of his words. Gregory could see, from the corner of his eye, that she started back, the stiffening of her body, her whitening face.

"I would have introduced myself, but I had to run to catch Orey-ory continued easily, applying a match to his pipe. But his hands trembled so that the match went out.

"A remarkable man," he said.

"Yes!" breathed Kerin.

"He was here on a senate commission by the nose, as near as I could gather."

"Yes?" and then, "Yes" agreed Kerin.

Not getting very far, thought Gregory. After all, you can't say to a woman, are you fond of your husband or else why are you here? The decencies of life, thought Gregory, can be very inconvenient.

Inconvenient — but most inexcusable. He leaned forward suddenly, and knocked out his unsmoked pipe. "Kerin—" he had never before used her name— "have you left your husband?"

He didn't look at her, but he heard the gasp of her breath behind him, and saw her drop her feet to the floor and rise. Instantly he was upon his own feet.

"Why? Why do you ask?" Her voice was torn from her.

"Because I love you!" he said simply.

The words seemed to carry no meaning to her. She continued to look at him with wide eyes whose expression he could not read. "Are people talking—already?"

"Talking—about what?"

"About the divorce".

Gregory Leighton drew a long breath. "What divorce? I don't know what you mean."

"Carl's divorce Isn't that what you asked?"

"I asked if you were leaving him."

"Yes. I mean no! No! A thousand times, no! Never in all this world! Do you understand? Never!" She was shaking in the violence of her emotion, and her eyes were blazing.

He looked at her, chilled by the violence of her feeling, rebuffed by her loyalty, her natural loyalty, to a husband she loved.

"I'm sorry," he said. "I had no right to ask such a thing. But you seemed, last night and all, in trouble, and I thought, foolishly, that my—my regard for you gave me a kind of right. I ask your pardon."

The violence had gone out of Kerin. She looked at him wearily. "My pardon? My pardon for what? Carl's suing me for divorce. Is that what you asked about?"

He looked at her, and her not speaking; and under her eyes a look of shame grew and widened in the eyes looking into his; and suddenly, as she could not longer bear it, she covered her face with her hands.

He was across the space between them, pulling at her hands. But she resisted him. She dropped back into her couch, and hid her face on her knees. "I hadn't thought," she said, in a muffled choked voice, "I hadn't thought, with it all hurting me so much, about how people would talk. People like you—saving to know. The girls—looking at me, laughing at me. Strangers—"

"I'm not a stranger, Kerin."

"Almost." She came up out of her hands and smiled at him, wanly. "But you've been wonderfully kind. I do—oh, I wish I could help me—she wrung her hands. Wish Mrs. Winters to talk to! Scotland."

Gregory's face looking down at Kerin, seamed full of shadows. "Wouldn't I do at all?"

Kerin didn't answer, if indeed she heard. She was speaking in her thoughts to Mrs. Winters. Pride is a virtue, Ina. Mrs. Winters had said; but she, Kerin, had fled in abject capitulation from the overture of pride she had made to Stacy Ann Amberley.

She looked up at Gregory, who was so compassionately regarding her. "I'll people despise me, when they know that Carl took the very first chance he could to get rid of me! Who will believe, who can possibly understand, how incredible it all seems to me—how little I want it? That I should be sued for divorce. For desertion! It's unthinkable! I have never deserted Carl, not for a moment. In the separation of space more important than the separation of mind? Carl is my husband. He can be expressing no outside towards me for the very act of getting a divorce—he's only carrying out what would be in his inner mind. In what light, then, has he perhaps always regarded me? That's what I am wondering. I was as much his wife in spirit this past year as I ever was. I was only separated by space. Is the spirit, then of no consequence? Or was I never really his wife to him? Was I never really satisfactory? He said that, of course, but he was angry then. Her eyelids flickered, as if in momentary pain, "I thought of course that we were married—married for always. But were we, perhaps, only living together? She raised her hands, and let them fall, helplessly. "Sometimes I feel that there is something there, some inner core, beyond my perception. I see it in the faces of my girls. They are all searching for that love they imagine all love to be, for that marriage which might be called a dream marriage, and perhaps it doesn't exist. Maybe, Carl, too, thinking we missed it, is searching for it in that new marriage he has with But he won't find it there," said Kerin simply.

So he wants to make a new marriage, does he, thought Gregory. "If I were looking for a dream marriage," he said, "I would look for it in you."

"But I failed." The simplicity of the statement was nevertheless tragic. "Carl tried me out and I wasn't satisfactory."

"So he fired his cook!" Gregory was upon his feet, hunting on the mantel piece for the match box that was on his mantel in New York.

A very small smile flickered in her mouth a moment. "No, I'm a good cook," she said.

He turned toward her, glad to escape the weight of this conversation he had brought on himself. The firelight was playing on her face, softening its tired shadows. He was caught with a great desire to sit on the floor against her knees, for that to be his right and his privilege. The black windows that faced him only emphasized, not created, the impossibility of such a thing.

"My father taught me to cook," said Kerin. "I could always cook. But I wasn't a good cook till my father taught me."

Gregory sat down in his chair, and found his matches in his pocket. "My father?" he inquired encouragingly.

"My father," said Kerin softly, "was the most wonderful companion in the world. I think sometimes even now that all I ever wanted out of life was the companionship of my father." She laughed, indulgently. "I sound like a father-complex child but it was too real, too wholesome, to be too wonderful a person, for there ever to have been anything queer about it. You see I were together, my father and I, alone—I don't ever remember my mother—till I was eighteen. When I was a little child we lived mostly abroad—Paris, a great deal, and but other cities too, Budapest, Vienna. I had no close relatives but a sister of my grandmother's who lived in northern New York. I think she was married at my being dragged all over Europe in the wake of a wonderful father, but I loved it. I remember one time—"

Her eyes were soft now, lighted by the fire, and her sadness and so hurt had slipped from her like an outfitting garment. Gregory watched her, unashamed: the gay lift of her eyelashes, the speaking depth of her eyes, the quirk of her lips as she talked. She was like a modest, inconspicuous butterfly that still feels gaiety in the flutter of soft brown wings.

"We were sitting at a little table in a cafe in Budapest, my father and another man, a young man whose name you might even know if I was about seven years old, and all of a sudden—" she lifted dazzled eyes to Gregory's. "We were startled by the most beautiful voice arising to us, in French, could she sit at our table! And the most beautiful creature I ever saw in my life suddenly sat down beside us and said 'Quickly, monsieurs! Talk to me! Hide me!' and I remember so well that my father turned to her and went on with his sentence, including the fellow, but I loved it. I remember one time—"

His overcoat over his shoulders—so casually—and put his hat on her bare head and then, suddenly, a tall terribly dark man came striding through she place—soon! Can't you see me, a child, a romantic silly child, sitting there, holding my very breath in terror and fascination? Because I tell you she was the most superbly beautiful creature I ever saw in my life, that I've ever seen, that I ever will see. She was tall and dark; with white white skin and red red lips, and hair as blue-black as coal. She was like a princess. My father and I always called her the princess, and indeed she did turn out to be one of the nobility."

NEWS BRIEFS AND ODDITIES

Ontario, Calif., June 4 (AP)—Bill Whittington, Works Progress Administration Worker, has made $900.50 profit on a pair of 50-cent pants—with more in prospect.

In the pocket of the pants, purchased at a second hand store, Whittington found a $5 bill which bore an 1856 date and a likeness of an Indian stead of George Washington.

A service station subsidiary offered $100 but Whittington took it to a bank. The banker, saying it was one of only two such bills printed, paid Whittington $1,000 and promised 60 percent of anything additional it might bring at a collectors' auction.

London, June 4 (CP)—A sidelight of the London bus strike: Finding their strike pay of $5.50 inadequate to provide for their families, the bosmen applied for public relief. Because they were on strike they were refused relief but their wives and children were helped.

Bournemouth, Hampshire, June 4 (CP)—With part of the $975 purse given him by parishioners, Canon Eric Southan intends to buy a radio so he can have dance tunes when he wants them.

"I find the rhythm helps me," he said. I shall buy a wireless set with part of the money so I can turn on dance music when I am preparing sermons."

Stratford, Ont., June 4 (CP)—Since the death of his master, A. J. Vint, May 22 last, Don, young Scotch collie dog refused to eat his meals or respond to acts of kindness from other members of the family. The other day he stretched out peacefully and died —there was no evidence of poison or sickness—it is believed he died of remorse.

Kitchener, Ont., June 4 (CP)—When Constable Joe Hall drove up to the police station with a horse and buggy, his colleagues figured he was trying to be smart. Joe rescued the informer for he had just arrested a drunk in charge of a horse and buggy, the first case of this kind in his police experience.

WEST HUNTINGDON

West Huntingdon—The farmers have finished their seeding and are now directing their attention to the planting fields. The extra warm weather coupled with the vast amount of moisture is making very rapid growth of hay and grain. The county road men under the leadership of Mr. Hiram Dafoe are still working on the hill adjoining Mr. Harold McGee's farm. About fifteen men are employed, also four dump trucks for hauling the crushed rock to the Minto road, Moira road, Campbellford road and Ridge road. The contract calls for 3000 yards of gravel which will not cost the county anything, besides the bill which at times was dangerous will have disappeared.

Mrs. Frank Ashley is a patient in Belleville General Hospital.

The Huntingdon branch of the Upper Canada Bible Society held their annual meeting in the Parish United church Friday evening and was presided over by president Mr. Arthur Wilson. Rev. # ROCKEFELLER WILL DISPOSES OF $25,000,000

Last of Three Codicils Makes Radical Change In Disposing of Estate

PAYMENT OF INCOME

On Death of Granddaughter Trust Fund to be Divided

White Plains, N.Y., June 5 (AP)—Jonn D. Rockefeller's will, disposing of an estate estimated to be worth $25,000,000, was filed today in Surrogate Court, Westchester County. The will was dated June 2, 1925, and appended to it were three codicils.

These were dated May 14, 1934, Nov. 4, 1932, and Oct. 3, 1934, and the last made a radical change in the disposition of the estate.

Under the original will, the capitalist and philanthropist, who died May 23 at his Ormond, Florida home after disposing of his personal and household effects, left the residuary estate, in equal shares to the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Rosefelt and his son, John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

The first two codicils made no special changes in the will.

Residuary Estate.

By the final codicil, however, the entire residuary estate is left to trustees during the life of Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research Strong de Cuevas, of Lakewood, N.Y.

The trustees, under the codicil, are empowered to pay the income to Mrs. De Cuevas or to one or more of her descendants or to the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research.

Mrs. De Cuevas is the daughter of Rockefeller's daughter, Bessie Rockefeller Strong, and Percy Chase Augustus Strong, former professor of Psychology at the University of Chicago. Mrs. Strong died November 14, 1906. Dr. Strong lives in Italy.

Mrs. De Cuevas has two children, Elizabeth De Cuevas and John De Cuevas. She was married August 2, 1927.

Division of Trust Fund

Under the codicil the trust fund, upon the death of Mrs. De Cuevas, is to be divided among her children and the descendants of any de-

LABOR MINISTER APPROVES PLAN

Believes Collective Bargaining in Best Interests of All

Coaticook, Que., June 5—(CP)—Canada's Minister of Labor, Hon. Norman Rogers, believes collective bargaining is the best means of maintaining what he describes as durable and harmonious relations between employer and employees.

Experiences in Canada, he told members of the Eastern Townships Boards of Trade last night, had shown the advantage of collective bargaining, and he urged recognition of what he called the right of workmen to associate for all right-ful purposes.

The Minister said no government, corporation or individual should neglect any measure that might contribute improvement to industrial relations in Canada. Every attempt should be made, he said, to settle disputes peacefully and not to impair the country's productive machinery.

Statistics showed that where collective bargaining was practised there was a basis of mutual confidence between capital and labor and a minimum of industrial unrest.

Elimination of friction, irritation and all discords of friction, irritation begets in an effort to strengthen national unity. The country he said, was progressing economically and it was to be hoped relations between the Dominion and Provinces, which he said was weakened somewhat during times of stress, would keep step.

Canadians were urged by the Minister to consider the country's ultimate destiny and work for a strong, national unity which he said was the basis of confederation.

2 INJURED IN CRASH

Gananoque, Ont., June 5—(CP)—Clarence Day, Gananoque, suffered a fractured leg and John Thompson, Toronto, a broken left arm in an automobile-truck collision seven miles west of here on No. 2 Highway late last night. Both were taken to Kingston General Hospital. Day was with three others in an automobile going east when the car collided with Thompson's transport truck.

CERTIFICATES REQUIRED

Kingston, Ont., June 5 (CP)— If the recommendation of the Government committee of the Board of Education is adopted, all applicants for positions as teachers in the elementary schools of the city will be required to present a medical certificate with their application.

The recommendation was adopted at the meeting of the committee last night.

STRUCK BY TORPEDO

Barcelona, June 5.—(AP)— The Fabra (official Spanish) News agency today reported the Government oil tanker Campero was struck by one of three torpedoes launched at it by a submarine off the island of Palamos, about 70 miles northeast of Barcelona, but managed to reach the island port. No casualties resulted.

"Terror Against Terror" Threatens Madrid Gov't.

May Launch Aerial Attacks on Insurgent-Held Cities at HELD. RESPONSIBLE

Valencia, Spain, June 5 (AP) — The Valencia-Madrid government threatened today to put "terror against terror" by launching air attacks on Spanish cities in retaliation for aerial attacks on government-held cities.

Minister of Defence Indalecio Prieto announced that "in the face of the terrorism of aviation there is but one recourse—aviation employing the same methods as the adversary in greater proportion if necessary.

"That is to say—terror against terror."

Prieto said the government previously had desisted from aerial attacks on Spanish cities because it considered itself the government of all Spain and did not wish to spread havoc among its own citizens.

The defence minister made his statement in the same hour Juan Giral Perenza foreign minister in the cabinet of Premier Juan Negrin declared the Spanish Republic held the London non-intervention committee and the United States participating nations "responsible to a degree" for the German bombardment of Almeria.

If repetitions were asked, he added, such claims would be made solely against Germany, however, because the German warships attacked the seaport Monday, taking a toll of thirty lives and inflicting large property damage.

Prieto threatened air raids in reply to a request for such aircraft protection from the civil governor of Badajoz Province, southwest of Madrid near the Portuguese frontier, as a result of insurgent bombing of Villanueva Don Benito.

PRISONER TAKES POISON TABLETS IN COURT ROOM

Stanley Blozak, 58, Dies in Hospital Shortly Afterwards

POLICE PROBE DEATH

Man Sentenced to Three Years in Prison For Arson

Edmonton, June 5 (CP)—Police today probed the death of 58-year-old Stanley Blozak in hospital yesterday shortly after he apparently took poison tablets in the prisoners' box in Alberta Supreme Court.

Blozak, Mrs. Lena Flora and Geo. Kuprenas were convicted of arson in connection with destruction by fire last September of the Connorchal Hotel in St. Paul 177 miles east of Edmonton.

While awaiting sentence by Mr. Justice W. R. Howson former Alberta Liberal Minister raised to the bench fifteen months ago, Blozak was observed to put his hand to his mouth and then take a drink of water.

Blozak, Edmonton rooming house proprietor, was sentenced to three years in jail, Mrs. Flora to eighteen months and Kuprenas to twelve months. Blozak broke into a wild outburst:

"My lord, I am not guilty . . . you let it in for me because I was Social Credit and you were Liberal . . . your lordship, I know I was going to be sentenced before I came here. You are taking my body and soul. It is gone already."

"I have the poison right in front of me. There is no poison," he shouted striking his throat and chest.

Mr. Justice Howson told Blozak he was ignoring his behavior in court in imposing sentence. After the judge retired to his chambers Blozak was seen to raise his hand to his mouth again. Court attendants found a substance believed to be poison from his mouth.

An ambulance was summoned and Blozak died shortly after being admitted to hospital.

LIBERAL LEADER ANNOUNCES PLAN

Will Seek Aid of Other Groups to Give Sound Gov't.

Calgary, June 5 (CP)—Alberta's new Liberal leader, E. L. Gray of Medicine Hat, today said the Liberal political group in the province to-day plans for joining with other sound business government."

He proposes to invite prominent members of the Conservative party, the United Farmers of Alberta and certain other parties in the house of council to consider the best way for establishing a non-partisan government," Mr. Gray said yesterday after unanimous election to the leadership at the party convention.

The new leader, succeeding Mr. Charles H. Stewart, who resigned fifteen months ago on his elevation to the Alberta Supreme Court bench did not elaborate on his plan but it was understood he hoped for a fusion of Alberta's anti-Social Credit party groups in the next provincial election.

Ghosts Hold No Terror For Blissful Windsors

Domestic Phase of Ducal Romance Begins in Wasserloenburg Castle as 32 Men Hunt Wolf in Countryside And Castle Grounds

Noetah- Austria, June 5 (CP)— The Duke and Duchess of Windsor honeymooned today in blissful disregard of the ghosts of a 1826 Century "Lady Bluebeard's" six husbands and a prowling wolf that has spread fear among the country folk.

They entered the domestic phase of their romance at Wasserleonburg Castle with a corps of 32 unemployed men beat through the woods and brush of the countryside, including the castle grounds, for the wolf that has lamazed the neighborhood for months, threatening the flocks in the Alpine slopes.

The recently renewed efforts to slay the roving beast, together with the arrival of the former British monarch and his bride threw the countryside into pretty much of a dither.

The Duke who excitedly neglected to kiss the bride when they were married Thursday at Chateau de Candé in France, fulfilled with fleet dispatch another honeymoon custom when he carried Her Grace over the threshold of what is to be their home for at least three months.

A bright moon silvered the ageold walls of Wasserleonburg when the Duke, passing in the castle forecourt, turned impulsively to his merry duchess, picked her up and carried her through the portal.

He held her slim form without stumbling which, according to those who cherish the custom, meant their married life would be happy.

For Wasserleonburg's reputation as a haunted castle, the Duke had only a laugh. Within the walls hang paintings of six men, who, the story says, died suspiciously soon after marrying Wasserleonburg's one-time Chatelaine, one Anna Neumann.

PICKETS DRIVEN FROM STEEL PLANT

Box Car of Food Hurriedly Run Into Grounds by Pickets

Youngstown O., June 5 (AP)—Pickets and a force of twenty sheriff's deputies, armed with clubs and tear gas, drove a crowd of several hundred pickets from a bridge adjoining the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co. after a box car of food was hurriedly run into the strike-closed ground today.

Pickets in the C.I.O. steel workers organizing committee's strike against sheet and tube and two other steel producers, apparently taken by surprise, gathered around the bridge. Sheriff Ralph E. Kiser and Prosecutor Struthers police quickly massed at the railroad spur and forced the pickets to retreat without firing a shot.

A short time later, men using acetylene torches cut the rails leading into the mills of the fourth largest steel producers independent of the U. S. Steel Corp.

"I shall use every effort available to protect lives and property,' the sheriff declared as tension increased in this Hahoning valley section in the seven-mixed strike called to wrest signed contracts from Sheet and Tube, Republic Steel Corp. and Inland Steel Corp.

PLAN TO RETIRE CROWTHER DEFICIT

"It Can't Be Done" Heard at London Conference

Windsor, Ont., June 5 (CP)— Proposal a special effort be made during 1938 to retire the deficit of the United Church in Canada, was greeted with cries of "it can't be done" at the 13th. annual session of the London Conference here.

"Has it reached the age of retirement?" a delegate asked, referring to the approximate indebtedness of $1,500,000 in Canada as a whole.

The Missionary and Maintenance Committee suggested that 1938 should should mark the retirement, but the clause covering that phase in its report was amended to read "begin to retire or reduce substantially."

Asked how the move to cut down the amount would fit in with the pension fund, Rt. Rev. Peter Bryce, the Moderator, replied that it was planned this year to approach "large contributors" with a view to increasing the capital of the pension fund. "We hope to accomplish a great deal," Dr. Bryce said, adding that reduction of the general debt would not interfere.

SAME PRIVILEGE TO CANADA RECOMMENDED

Washington, June 5 (AP)—The American Automobile Association recommended to the United States Congress yesterday the length of time foreign motor cars may remain in the United States without bonding be doubled.

The association took the action, it announced, as the result of strong representations by motor clubs in Pacific and Canada that the present time limit of 90 days be extended.

Thomas P. Henry, president of the Automobile Association, said in a letter to the House of Representatives Ways and Means Committee lengthening the time limit would materially assist in promoting travel within the United States.

"Americans entering Canada," said Henry, "are granted the privilege of remaining up to six months without posting bond for their cars. Amendment of the Tariff Act to grant Canadians the same privileges that are accorded Americans in Canada would be a step in further cementing the friendly relations of the two countries.

SECOND MAN DIES AFTER SHOOTING

Joseph C. Lee, Hamilton, Is Held on Murder Charge

Hamilton, Ont., June 5—(CP)— Death toll of a shooting affray that arose out of a law suit reached two today and the doctors at the bedside of a third wounded victim said it probably would mount to three.

A bullet in the spine and paralyzed from the abdomen down, George R. Jackson died in hospital here today. His business partner, John E. Anderson, was fatally wounded yesterday. Arthur Anderson, brother of John, bullet wounds in the abdomen and leg, was given no chance to live.

Joseph C. Lee, 56-year-old restaurant owner and formerly associated in business with the victims, appeared in Magistrate's court today on charges of murder and was remanded eight days. He did not plead. He surrendered after the shooting before Jackson's plans yesterday with the admission "I have just shot some fellows."

SUPPOSES ARMS TO BE PURCHASED IN THE DOMINION

Virginio Gayda Changes Mexico, France, Russia Sending Arms

25,000 RIFLES

Purchase According to Gayda to be Made by Mexico

Rome, June 5 (AP)—The Fascist writer Virginio Cayda, charged today the Spanish Republican Government had $16,250,000 on deposit at Perpignon, France, with which to buy French war materials, supposedly in Canada.

The money, he wrote in Il Giornale d'Italia, is to be paid to a bank through a New York intermediary in exchange 25,000 rifles and 25,000,000 cartridges. These materials, he said, presumably were to be bought in Canada by Mexico.

Gayda, who sometimes speaks for Premier Mussolini, said that Mexico, France and Russia were "sharing honors" in sending arms to the Spanish government.

FUMIGATING GAS KILLS ROOMER

W. A. Chapman Held For Manslaughter in Death of Ingersoll Man

Toronto, June 5 (CP)—Believed to be the cause of death of Wm. Alex. C. Anderson, 55, Ingersoll, Ont. machinist, died when fumigating gas seeped into his second floor bedroom here yesterday. Today police held W. A. Chapman on a manslaughter charge as the man who did the fumigating in a mid-town rooming house.

After previous accidents involving the use of potassium cyanide as fumigating gas, Toronto council passed regulations requiring fumigators to take out licenses and separate permits for each job. Police claim Chapman, although a licensed fumigator, failed to get a permit for the rooming house work and also failed to post "danger signals" about the place as another city regulation requires.

Anderson, whose wife is on a trip to Europe, and who lived for 26 years in Ingersoll, came here a week ago and was one of the residents at the house operated by Russell Martin. Over other rooms left the place when fumigation started in the morning. Anderson's body was found in bed between sheets and was broken down early last night. Police were notified and arrested Chapman.

Other roomers were notified the fumigation was to be done, but whether Anderson knew and failed to leave the remainder is a matter for police to investigate. He is survived by his brothers, all of Ingersoll, besides his widow.

Why the Weather?

By Mayor A. H. Thiessen Science Service Meteorologist

Whence flash and thunderclap according to a widely accepted theory, supported by many observations and laboratory experiments, the electricity of lightning is found in the breaking up of raindrops. This condition is realized in a thunderstorm where the updraft is sometimes very violent. This turbulent stream of air sometimes carries the falling drops, disrupting them and forming positive charges of electricity as it does. Negative electricity is formed in the air where the disruption takes place.

"Why Don't You Get Married?" Asks Rev. Anderson Jardine

Rev. R. Anderson Jardine Expects No Action From Bishop

CONSCIENCE "FREE"

Darlington, England, June 5 — Rev. Anderson arrived here after a wearying night, long travel and went to rest immediately before performing another marriage ceremony today, this one for a young couple of humble origin.

He said he had a "Special Treat" for the bride and bridegroom — a portion of a cut from the Duke of Windsor's wedding cake.

Expressing confidence there would be no disciplinary action against him for his part in the marriage, Jardine indicated the Duke would have him up in any dispute.

"Whatever happens, everything will be referred to the Duke's solicitor," Jardine said.

His superior, the Bishop of Durham, Rt. Rev. Herbert Henson, announced last night that "no further action will be taken."

Smoking a cigarette, Jardine commented: "My conscience is perfectly free. I was not marrying a divorced couple — that is one point which seems to have been overlooked. They already had been married by Civil Service when I took my part in the ceremony. I think it only right that the blessing of God should be given them. I have no regrets for my action. I would do it again."

London, June 5—Rev. R. Anderson Jardine, who read the religious marriage service for the Duke and Duchess of Windsor without sanction of the Anglican Church, returned from Monts tonight with a piece of wedding cake for his wife, a pair of gold cuff links from Monsieur Jacques Worth of the newlyweds in his red-backed prayer-book.

He was glad he had gone, and felt his former King was greatly pleased that the blessing of the Church was bestowed upon him and his bride.

"I thank God that you were here," were Windsor's last words to him after the service, Mr. Jardine said.

"He said it in a tone of deep reverence, which showed how much he appreciated my presence."

WARNED TO SECURE PURE WATER SUPPLY

Annual warning for early season vacationists and campers has been given by the Medical Officer of Health, of dangers that call attention to the necessity of securing a pure water supply for camp purposes and the danger of using "dead" water from little used or abandoned wells. Clear water is not always a sign of purity, if is pointed out. "When in doubt make certain that the water is boiled sufficiently long to kill any lurking germs, particularly those of typhoid fever, malarial, typhoid fever, malarial, typhoid fever, malarial,

FANCIERS UNABLE TO FILL DEMAND

Dogs of Good Breeding Find Ready Market Says W. H. Reeves

"A pet-conscious continent is experiencing a dog famine at the present time, with fanciers of both Canada and the United States unable to purchase breeds most in demand in spite of record prices being offered.

In this post-depression period of better times more and more people have turned to dogs as pets, with the result more dog owners are now listed than ever before, but the supply of animals is far below that of demand due to the fact that fewer dogs were bred during the period of slack times.

These are but a few impressions gained by Walter H. Reeves of this city, internationally known dog judge who has just returned to Belleville after having attended the Morris and Essex Kennel Club annual show, held at Giralda Farms, the country estate of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Dodge, Madison, N.J., which he attended in his official capacity.

This exhibition, one of the largest annual events on the continent, this year produced more and better animals of breeds, it was reported by the local judge. And during the sales registered, perhaps all time high prices were realized for animals of winning strains.

"Those who have not followed these shows have no idea of the money invested in dogs in this country and the United States," reported Mr. Reeves. "The extent of the industry is hardly realized. This last show was possibly one of the best that has been staged."

Larger breeds of dogs appear on the way out after enjoying a record period of popularity, and the smaller breeds, particularly the terriers, are once again coming into favor. Scotties, Sealyhams and all toy breeds are in particular demand right now, and kennels are unable to fill the numerous requests for animals. Dog owners for the most part have become cognizant of the value of better bred dogs, and the common mongrel or mix-bred animal is slowly being pushed into the no longer wanted class, reported Mr. Reeves.

TOURIST BUSINESS IS PICKING UP

"In order to head off any time-worn joker about our coming to Canada prepared for the cold weather," smiled a Rhode Island visitor across the counter at a clerk in a Front Street department store who had just completed the sale this morning, "tell everyone you know we are buying these blankets to take back to the States with us; we aren't carrying any snow shoes or toboggans on our car, either."

The blankets purchased were two pairs of expensive Hudson Bay blankets, reported by store managers of the city to head the list as sales leaders in stores this year.

"Tourist business is picking up and indications are that tourists will be among our heavy customers this year. There's a big demand for anything woollen this season, but all lines are selling pretty well," added the store manager.

GERMANY DISPATCHES FIGHTING SHIPS TO SPANISH WATERS

Stating that Adolf Hitler wished to be prepared for any eventuality in the Spanish crisis, authoritative sources in Berlin report that a German cruiser, four submarines and two torpedo boats have been dispatched to Spanish waters. The fighting ships are to protect German shipping no matter what action the non-intervention committee may decide to take. Reports from Rome indicate that Italy and Germany are co-operating with their fighting craft while near Spain, both being in readiness to help the other in the event of trouble or attack from Spanish loyalists. The German cruiser Leipzig which has been sent to Spain is shown in the lower photograph while two torpedo boats, similar to those which accompanied the Leipzig are shown at the top. Besides the cruiser and torpedo boats Herr Hitler has also dispatched four submarines, the U-26, U-33, U-34, and U-36, to a secret rendezvous near Spain. The U-26, a sister ship of the submarines sent to Spain, is shown in the centre photograph.

Marmora-Madoc District To Get Mineral Survey

M. E. Wilson Will be in Charge of Gov't Party Starting Work Soon

TO AID DEVELOPMENT

Fifty-two survey and exploratory parties will be placed in the mineral fields of the various Provinces of the Dominion this year by the Mines and Geology branch of the Department, of, Mines and, Resources, Ottawa,, according, to the program announced for 1937, launched in hopes of new mineral discoveries.. Marmora-Madoc district will be included in the fields to be extensively surveyed.

Forty-one of these parties will be engaged in geological investigations and eleven in topographical mapping. The field force will number 300, men and will operate in every mineral producing province in the Dominion and the Yukon. Ontario will be one of the focal points in the survey, with particular attention being paid to this section.

The field, program, in, Ontario will comprise geological mapping and investigations in the Quetico-Ignace area, 70 miles west of Port Arthur; in the south-western peninsula of the Province; in the Toronto-Hamilton area; in the Madoc-Marmora area, and in a portion of the Province east of Ottawa. It will include also a topographical project in northwestern Ontario.

Field work that commenced two years ago in southwestern peninsula will be continued, with J. S. Stevenson in charge. In this area an endeavour is being made to determine possible extensions of oil and gas bearing strata as a guide to future drilling operations.

M. E. Wilson will spend a few weeks in the exhibition of mining properties in the Madoc-Marmora area. The results of the work will be used in the preparation of a geological map which should be of great aid to development in this active section.

Astronomical observations for latitude and longitude will be made by E. S. Fry and J. Carroll in three large sections of northwestern Ontario, the first lying north and south of the Albany River, east of Port Hope; the second extending from the east of Caribou Lake, westward to Favorable Lake. These observations will provide the framework for the control of aerial photography which will be carried out by the Royal Canadian Air Force.

R. S. M. Sam Johnson Given Special Notice By a Belfast Paper

Recognition for one of Canada's Coronation contingent, Regt. Sergt. Major Samuel Johnson of the local Argyll Light Infantry (Tank) Battalion, this city's own representative at the crowning of King George VI, has been given in the "Weekly Telegraph" (Belfast Ireland) in a copy received by relatives of the city.

Sergt. Major Johnson who arrived home in the city yesterday after an enjoyable trip in the British Isles, was given the following notice in his home city newspaper:

COMING FOR THE CORONATION

Belfastman's Home Journey

"A Belfast man is at present on his way over to England to represent the Argyll (Tanks) Battalion of Canada——the home of his adoption—at the Coronation celebrations.

He is ex-Regt. Sergeant Major Samuel Johnson who was recently selected as Battalion representative to attend the ceremonies. Mr. Johnson whose family was well known in the Shankill Road area was formerly employed by Messrs. W. & O. Baird, Ltd.

He left Belfast for Canada about 1912 and three years later enlisted in the 36th Battalion and proceeded with the Regiment to Bermuda prior to going to France. He was invalided to England in 1916 and prior to the Armistice occupied the position of assistant Chief Instructor, or in the 5th Training Reserve Battalion at Seaford, England.

Mr. Johnson who is at present a member of the staff of the Bank of Commerce, Belleville, Ontario, Canada, has two brothers and a sister living in Belfast. They are Messrs. James Johnson, Glenfarne Street; Thomas Johnson, Glentilt Street and Mrs. Webb, Howe Street."

Imperial Oil Service Station at the corner of Dundas and Pinnacle Street has been taken over by G. Nelson Nicholson, who has installed the latest appliances for lubrication and other automobile service requirements and will conduct the station on the most modern lines. Mr. Nicholson has had years of practical experience in the United States in all branches of the automobile and oil business and is well qualified to provide good service and wise counsel to motor car owners. A Canadian, Mr. Nicholson lived as a boy in Cannifton, so is really coming back home. His father is Capt. C. H. Nicholson, well known lake navigator who will be remembered as the commander of those well known steamers which plied the waters of this section some years ago, the Hero, the North King, Norseman, well known and popular with thousands of pleasure seekers who were fond of cruising on the water and excursions to the Thousand Islands, Oswego, Cape Vincent, Capt. Nicholson is now living in Cobourg and likes nothing better than to reminisce of old times on Quinte waters, Lake Ontario and among the Thousand Isles.

G. Nelson Nicholson was born in Cobourg in 1896, received his preliminary education there and afterwards travelled extensively in Canada and the United States. When war broke out he was in Vancouver and joined up with the 72nd Highlanders, commanded by Lieut. Col. R. G. Edward Leckie.

For some years Mr. Nicholson was located in Wenatchee, a city of 15,000 inhabitants in Washington State, U. S. A., called "The Apple Capital of the World" because of the enormous quantities of of apples grown and shipped, upward of 25,000 carloads of apples in one season, and that's apples in any language, and the makings of much applesauce. An unusual feature of the Wenatchee apple district is that its fertility depends entirely upon irrigating, the country being a particularly dry belt.

PART OF REPORT IS TAKEN OUT

Kingston Layman Objects to Words Anarchy And Conviction

Smith's Falls, Ont., June 5—(CP)—A declaration of labor's right to organize and bargain collectively for a fair share of the profits of industry was adopted in a report received by the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church.

The report of the Committee on world peace and industrial relations submitted last night, originally proclaimed the only alternative to collective bargaining was anarchy and coercion, said Rupert Davis, Kingston, a layman employer of labor, objected.

Sufficient emphasis was already being placed on these angles of labor discipline without church reports containing them, he said. The words objected to were deleted.

Rev. Andrew McLaughlin, Almonte, suggested the delegates should not forget that employers of labor were charged with payment of 70 per cent of the country's taxes.

Good in Both Ranks

"There are many good men in the ranks of the capital as well as among the workers," he said.

In its report the committee stated: "We must be slow to brand as communists workers seeking to improve their position in life through organized and constitutional means."

The committee continued: "The United Church stands for the right of employees to bargain collectively through their representatives chosen through the means they, behind, secret or otherwise, and free from intimidation or improper influence."

LOOKING AT SPAIN

The reaction of the world today to events concerned with affairs in the Spanish peninsula and its evirons indicate how firm is the conviction that the problems will be ironed out without implication of other nations in the Spanish struggle. In the days of 1914, such incidents as have occurred might well have provoked an outbreak of war or an inrush of nations but the world is not the same world it was in the careless little-knowing, happy first half of 1914, the world which knew not the cost of war. Today a new mood stirs man—he has suffered untold agonies by himself and through others and he sees no end of the woes which are sequel and consequence of the 1914-18 conflict. There is too a different financial world; there is a more closely linked civilization, though there are some signs of reversion to barbarism, natural after war; there is a different political outlook, there are new alliances, which have probably done much to prevent war. Some nations are undoubtedly restive under the fact that they have had to form certain compacts. Nations which entered gaily in a spirit of adventure into the strife of twenty-three years ago are today very cautious. Now they realize that one nation or nations will be licked if there is another war and it may be the nations least expecting it. They also know that perhaps every nation entering a war of this kind will lose the war.

Today there is so much doubt that hesitation results and discretion being ever the better art of valor in the soldier of fortune's code of honour the nations may be counted to bluster but do little fighting.

Fascism in the past few days in European centres has improved and it is believed that the crisis of the possible entry of a foreign power into the civil war is obviated.

Where there is shown little desire to rush into a war at this time there is encouragement that the armaments race may pass without international resort to arms.

REV. R. MUNROE MODERATOR

Speaking of the new moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, the Montreal Gazette, pays tribute to the Rev. Dr. Hugh Munroe, of New Glasgow, N.S. who is widely known all across Canada. Dr. Munroe succeeds Rev. Dr. Malcolm A. Campbell of Montreal, whom by a happy coincidence he succeeded ten years ago at Moderator, at the Montreal and Ottawa Synod. The Moderatorship is the highest honor which can be accorded to a minister of the Presbyterian Church. The Gazette refers to the fact that the new Moderator was born in Ontario, that he is a graduate of Knox College, that he has had charge of congregations in Ontario and Nova Scotia and was minister at St. John's Church, Cornwall, at one time. He is spoken of as "a man of great faith and moral force, who has ever shown a genuine concern for the good of mankind." He goes to the head of the church in Canada with the best wishes of his fellow-countrymen of all denominations.

The Gazette by way of introduction to the reference describes the form of government of the Presbyterian Church in these words: "Under the Presbyterian constitution, each church is administered by the Kirk Session, which consists of its minister and the elders, the ministers being moderator ex officio. Above the Kirk Session is the Presbytery, constituted by all the ministers in a given district, and one elder from each church congregation in that district, and having supervision of the entire district from which its members are drawn. Next in order of church government is the Synod, representing the presbyteries within a defined area—in the same way as a presbytery represents a certain number of congregations. And above the Synod comes the General Assembly, which meets annually and represents the whole Presbyterian Church in Canada by means of ministers and elders sent as delegates from each presbytery. The General Assembly supervises all the works of the Church and generally superintends the interests of the entire body.

CIRCUMSTANCES

That tongue is glib indeed that makes concise
Our present state of fortune. Should there be
An such a one, then even its advice
Will not encompass what we still may see.
For marching time, has not respected yet
The petty circumstance of mortal man,
Conditions vary; it is hard to get
A hold on fortune for a lengthy span.
We may not count our present state secure
For all we have is merely held to-day;
Some men before the public still obscure
May rise to fortune in reverses sway.

What yet is not revealed, controls the fate
That at its whim, enriches our estate.

QUESTION OF BELLING THE CATS IN ORDER TO SAVE THE LIVES OF THE YOUNG ROBINS has been revived by a well known citizen who believes that robins are more useful and picturesque than cats. We remember having a discussion on this question in this column a year or two ago, but disremember what conclusion was arrived at. The cat-robin question was also debated in one of the service club meetings, and if memory serves right the question of arming the youth of the city with air guns and 22's to repel the cat invasion was looked upon with disfavor, while cat owners considered that belling their cats would be too much of a handicap on their pets considering the agility with which the young robins display and their gift of wings. Our Latin expert tells us that way back in ancient history as recorded in Aesop's Fables, or some such compendium of information and entertainment the phrase "Belling the cat" first obtained currency, the occasion being the convention held by the rat occupants of a certain house who resolved that the house cat was taking too great a toll of the rat population, hence something must be done to offset the strategy of the cat. It was resolved that the cat be belled, but when the matter came before the Committee of Ways and Means the question of which rat was to bell the cat offered insuperable obstacles to this plan being carried out. Owners of pet cats object to the bell idea, and lovers of robins are no lovers of cats, and believe the cat population is altogether too large—and something should be done about it. Then there is the naturalist who tells us that if it were not for the cats and other natural enemies of birds, the birds would multiply so fast the skies would be darkened and all fruit and growing things would be destroyed—so there you are, or aint, as the case may be.

MARCH OF TIME WAS NEVER SO VIVIDLY ILLUSTRATED as at the Memorial Day parades in the United States, May 30. Veterans of the Civil War of '61-'64, are becoming very few and feeble. Only those who enlisted when very young will be found now and then along with the younger veterans of later wars in the Memorial Day parades. With their comrades in grey they will soon be all "Gone With the Wind."

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE HAS BEEN DEAD THESE MANY YEARS BUT HIS GENIUS STILL GALLANTLY CARRIES ON, as evidenced by the enthusiastic reception given "Romeo and Juliet" in the celluloid, as interpreted by Norma Shearer, Leslie Howard, John Barrymore, Edna Mae Oliver, Andy Devine, Reginald Denny, Basil Rathbone and company at the Belle Theatre this week. This artistic triumph of the cinema has been acclaimed by press and public as one of the most notable achievements of the decade, created at great expense in the face of possible box office failure on account of the apathy and even hostility of movie audiences to Shakespeare and previous casualties from attempts to combine culture with entertainment. Manager George Forhan is to be congratulated in having given the Belleville public an opportunity to see this very fine production, even in the face of possible shrinkage of box office receipts. In return Belleville theatregoers proved that his confidence was not misplaced by backing his judgment with large patronage.

OTTAWA PARADE

Back Stage in the Dominion Capital with

WILFRID EGGLESTON

I wonder if R. B. Bennett was ever told the story of the election campaign episode in which for a moment it seemed as though Divine Providence was interposing to save him from a fiery denunciation?

It was in W. G. Weir's 1935 campaign. The Liberal member for Macdonald, Manitoba, who was seeking re-election to the House of Commons, had before him one of the best meetings of the campaign. He was speaking from a very high platform, and in the enthusiasm of his eloquence, he unwittingly wandered in front of the chairman and on to a long door that had unwisely been left unfastened.

The result was that just as he had reached the grand climax of his denunciation of R. B. the trap opened and he disappeared through the door

Women screamed, pandemonium reigned. Fortunately Mr. Weir's head could still be seen sticking above the platform door, so they knew he had not completely disappeared. The member was able to clamber out of the pit and in a few minutes resume the meeting. But if there had been any wicked Conservatives present they must have thought for a moment that the leader was being preserved by miraculous means from the accusations of his enemies.

W. G. Weir has a collection of highly amusing anecdotes. I like the one he tells about his 1935 campaign.

He drove into Brunner's yard, he says. A young girl about seventeen came up to the gate, dressed in men's overalls. "I asked her if her father and mother were home. She said 'No.' Then I asked her if she was one of the boys, and she replied that she was the baby of the family.

"Being a politician I commented, 'Well, that is interesting.' I guess I posed to be going around just now kissing the babies.

"Is that so?" she replied. "Well you are not going to kiss me" and with that she was off through the bush like a frightened deer.

"Another time," says W. G., "I called at a Belgian home where they had a rather large family. The husband and some of the family were away from home. I was prevailed upon to remain for dinner.

"There were at least ten children around the table, and I good-naturedly asked if there was a picnic on. 'The lady replied, 'Oh, no, the children are all ours.' She went on to tell me that they had some 12 or 13 of a family.

"Then she turned to me and asked, 'How many have you, Mr. Weir?' I had to reply that I had not really yet started to raise a family.

"Oh, she said, 'don't get discouraged. You know August (that was her husband) did not get married until he was 36."

Gib' Weir also tells a laughable yarn about his good friend Howard Winkler, who is now a fellow member from Manitoba. Before Winkler was elected he came down to Ottawa to attend a War Veteran's convention. Before he left the west his hometown acquaintances bidded him about the perils of a wild city like Ottawa or Hull, especially if he was going to chum around with his old friend Gib. Weir.

Howard's ardent upbringing and sober habits were well known, but it was agreed there could be no harm in spending an evening with his friend Gib, and two fine young ladies of their acquaintance.

They returned to the hotel about 3 a.m. after a very enjoyable evening.

However, the next morning Howard came to Weir very much concerned. He was unable to find his wrist-watch.

Weir tried him to find out what he had been doing." says Gib Weir. "He did not accuse the girls outright of having taken his watch, but he could not figure out what had happened. I made some searches for him, but the mystery remained unsolved.

"Finally, about 4 o'clock that day he came to me with a rather sheepish look on his face, and he had found his watch and asked me not to laugh at him.

"When I asked him where it had been found he said: 'It was in the counter in my hotel room.'

"Knowing Edward very well, and his normal condition of complete sobriety, which extended even to the previous evening, I knew there must be some explanation for the watch being found in that place. So I had inquiries occurred me that he had laid it on the table near his bed, and someone, reaching for the phone, had knocked it off."

"The story, apparently, spread, for when I returned to Manitoba two days later and met a mutual acquaintance, the first question he asked me was 'Did Howard find his watch?'

I hear . . . that E. L. Gray, the Liberal "dark horse" in Alberta, is a man of commanding presence and appearance on the platform . . . that Angus MacDonald down in Nova Scotia expresses considerable confidence about the provincial elections . . . that while Hon. Gordon Harrington personality is a very sober one, he has the names being mentioned as secretary to the new Royal Commission on the financial relations of Dominion and Provinces

Little Benny's Note Book

Us fellows was lawking and screwing around the lam post and Reddy Merry's mother started to whissle and wave for him down at the corner, Reddy saying, Aw heck, I'm coming mad, what a life, hers Benny, mind this for me.

Menning his hockey stick, and he stuck it in my hands and went down to see what his mother wanted, and I practiced swinging the hockey stick a while and then I layed it down in the street leaning against a curb and forgot it till all of a sudden there was a fearse crack and what was it but a coal truck going over Reddy Merry's hockey stick and breaking it in 3 pieces all about the same size, the other fellows saying, C boy wait till Reddy comes back, I wouldn't want to be you, Benny, O boy.

Me thinking, Heck, gosh, shang the luck, I better take the news to him as easy as possible, anyways.

And I hurry up put one pieces in my vesterbulb and another piece in Puds Simkin's vesterbulb and the 3rd piece in Shorty Judge's vesterbulb and pritty soon Reddy came back saying, Where's my hockey stick?

Heh? I'll give you 3 guesses, one for each piece, I said, and Reddy said, Piece of what, what's you tawking about, where's my hockey stick and where is it rite now with out any guesses?

Well anyways it would take 3 guesses to guess it rite because its in my vesterbulb and Pud's vesterbulb and Shorty's vesterbulb, another errand, what a life, hers Benny, mind this for me.

Well, hay, mine's got tire tape rapped around the handle and yours didn't, I said.

Meaning mine was better, and Reddy said Okay, I wont hold that against it. Go and get it and get it quick, he said.

Wich I did feeling partly lucky.

PREDICTS BETTER TIMES FOR WEST

W. J. Illsley, Winnipeg, Home For Visit After 32 Years in West

Mr. W. J. Illsley, of Winnipeg, Manitoba, a brother of Mr. H. J. Illsley, Manager of the Belleville branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce was a guest at the regular weekly meeting of the directors of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce on Thursday and was extended a hearty welcome on behalf of the directors by Mr. C. B. Biggs, the President of the Chamber.

Mr. Illsley, who is a native of Picton, left there thirty-two years ago to accept a position, which he had been offered with the retail branch of the Ashdown Hardware Company at Red Deer, Alberta. This company is the largest wholesale and retail hardware concern in Western Canada, and Mr. Illsley is now manager of the retail hardware and builders supply business of the company at Winnipeg, prior to being transferred to Winnipeg, Mr. Illsley was manager of the company's retail business at Calgary, Alberta. In Winnipeg Mr. Illsley takes an interest in matters which will assist in the advancement and improvement of the business and religious life in the city and province. He is an active Member of the Winnipeg Rotary Club.

Glad to be Back Home

In acknowledging the welcome extended to him, Mr. Illsley expressed great pleasure at being back in his native province and surroundings in the Bay of Quinte District, where he spent his boyhood and part of his young manhood days. The natural beauties of Eastern Canada and especially the Bay district with its lakes, bays, rivers and wooded areas are a great delight to him. "You, who live here constantly do not realize the environment," he said, "so not fully appreciate how lavishly nature has endowed you and the need for an appreciation."

In reference to his early life at Picton, Mr. Illsley said that he was employed with the late Mr. W. J. Carter, who was a merchant for whom he referred as a man of sterling worth and he was very glad to have had association.

It was also Mr. Carter's advice that he decided to locate in Western Canada.

Western Canada, Mr. Illsey said, is a great country and has experienced marvellous development in the late years it had been passing through the general depression, which is now over and the indications of better times are apparent.

LODGE CLAIM OF $5,000 DAMAGE

Free State Officers Want That Much For Blowing up of Statue

By Joseph Deniglan
Canadian Press Correspondent

Dublin, June 4—(CP)—The Free State office of works has lodged a claim with the Corporation of Dublin for $5,000 compensation for the blowing up of the equestrian statue of George 11 in St. Stephen's Green during the Republican anti-Carnadian disorders.

Claims are also coming in from the owners of shops whose windows were broken during the street-fighting which followed the banning of the planned Republican demonstration.

William R. Yeats, the Irish poet, expressed strong views about the outrage on the statue. He sent the following letter to all Irish daily newspapers:

"I would go into mourning but the suit I kept for funerals is worn out. The loneliest hour blown up the equestrian statue of George 11 in St. Stephen's Green, the only Dublin statue that has delighted me by beauty and elegance. I had hoped to put up other statue in St. Stephen's Green I would have preferred."

ONTARIO LIBERALS SEVER RELATIONS

Will Send No Delegates to Federal Liberal Gathering

Toronto, June 5—(CP)—The Ontario Liberal Association has dissociated itself from Federal "politics," and hereafter will be a purely Provincial organization, Premier Hepburn announced today. The premier said some time ago he advised the Ontario Association it should not send official delegates to a Federal meeting held in Ottawa.

Mr. Hepburn amplified his announcement in a speech last night that he was no longer a "slacker on King Liberal," by declaring his spills with the Federal Liberal leader was "very definite and positive."

"I am not interested in Federal politics except to disassociate myself from the vacillating policy of the King administration," he said.

"I wouldn't take the Federal leadership if it were handed to me on a silver platter," said Mr. Hepburn when asked if he would consider the position.

In announcing divorcement of the Provincial party organization from the Federal body, Mr. Hepburn will have to set up its own organization for the Dominion party.

Thrill of Coronation is Told In Letter to Napanee Home

Miss Dorothy Reid, Cousin of Ex-Mayor Reid Watches Five Hour Panorama

LIKES MOUNTIES BEST

How the Coronation appeared to those from the Dominions who attended that memorable event, vividly and interestingly written by Miss Dorothy Reid, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Reid of Napanee, in a letter published in the current issue of the Napanee Beaver. Miss Reid is a cousin of ex-Mayor Geo. A. Reid of this city.

In the letter she writes:

Dear Mother and Daddy:

Well I had a big day and I actually got up at 2.45 in the morning. We all had a big breakfast and left the house at 3.30. It was still dark and a heavy fog hung over London. Our guide was Peter Greene and he led us (we had to walk) the quickest way possible to our stands. We cut across huge crowds—some of whom had not been to bed at all, and got there at 4.30 o'clock. Our seats were exactly opposite Buckingham Palace, commanding an excellent view of the royal household, and the entire route which the procession was to come. (On our way up we saw many people sleeping on the sidewalk.) We had to stand for an hour before we all till the gate of the stands were opened and when they were (Well the rest of the story)

My number was stand 34, row 9, seat 3, and I was in the middle. At 6.00 o'clock the fog started to lift and the weather looked as if it would be fine. We had our breakfast as the procession did not start till 10.30 so we used our field glasses on the Palace itself. I was the first in our group to see Little Princess Margaret Rose with her head behind a curtain. I nearly went wild. The Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose were the first members of the royal family to appear on the balcony. Those kept marching in front and forming by the Victoria Memorial. Then the Royal Family came in sight to see.

Now I hope I liked best were our own Canadian Mounties—they were resplendent in their scarlet uniforms and Sam Hughes' yellow cork helmets. Other troops were the Lancers, Grenadiers, Hussars, Dragoons and Navy. All were very impressive looking.

The first part of the procession started at eight-forty, with the Queen of London and Canada, the Foreign representatives, and the excitement kept growing in intensity when the royal coaches began to come out. The crowd went wild when Princess Elizabeth went by, passing past. She smiled gravely and kept bowing her little head. Next would see the King and Queen clearly, because when they came out the crowd rose in a mass, and some stood on chairs and obscured the view. We stayed in our seats for exactly five hours. We could hear the service through the loud speakers. The part I liked best was when the King was crowned and the guns went off in the Tower of London.

Every person stood up at attention and the sound of the guns echoed over the cars and the sight of all the cavalry, in their colorful uniforms, around the memorial, and the flags waving, made the tears come to our eyes. It was a grand sight and one I shall never forget.

The return of the procession was delayed by a horrible tragedy. A child of one of the peers was killed on the house at the window we were supposed to look after her. He had to go to the hospital from the Abbey and this caused a delay. But when the procession did return, it was worth all the waiting we had done. Again the crowd went wild—this time even more so, and I don't think I shouted more in my life. It was pouring rain, but then what did that matter. After the Royal coaches took the Royalty to the Palace, the crowd called for them to appear on the balcony. Just the two little Princesses came to the window, and as I had the binoculars, I could see them very clearly. They seemed very excited and happy and kept turning around to someone in the background. Then Queen Mary's car came to the front. Their Majesties came out on the balcony, and if I said the crowd went before, it was nothing compared to this. To my mind, the most outstanding figure in the Royal group was Queen Mary. I could see her face clearly and although she certainly had her years, she carried herself nobly, her face betrayed her emotion. Once I saw her put her hand to her eyes and think when my heart went out to her. Then the King took them by the hand and put them between him and the Queen.

Maligne

I'm so glad I had those glasses because they certainly made it a moment and sight I'll never forget. That is all we stayed for because it started to rain again.

By the time we got home we were all soaked to the skin, and you ought to see my shoes—oh, well! who cares as we saw the Coronation of Britain's Empire. Queen Elizabeth—God will never, never forget it.

I'll tell you more when I see you, and for now,

Good-bye,

DOROTHY.

The early part of the evening passed quickly with music and singing. Then Mr. William Pitchett was requested to act as chairman. After a few remarks, Mr. Pitchett called on Miss Lenore Rapley, who read the following address:

June 1, 1937.

Mr. and Mrs. Waterfall,

Dear Caroline and Leonard.

The neighbors declare it.

The papers back me up.

That a youth and a maiden

Have lately been wed.

This evening your friends

Are all gathered here

The old and the young,

To wish you the best.

We trust that your future

Will always be bright

Your pathway be joyous.

And your days be filled

Yet God has not promised

Skies always blue,

Nor flower-strewn pathways

All our life through.

So if shadows should come

Just whistle and sing,

It will make the clouds vanish,

And much happiness bring.

Now, Caroline, don't start nagging,

Be crazy and silly,

It will spoil a home

Quicker than a wet cat.

Just be to your husband, a dear loving wife,

And he will love you the rest of your life.

Now, Leonard, you a good provider will make,

To bring home the bacon, and furnish the table,

You must praise your wife's efforts

When she does her best,

And just be blind to any mistakes.

Now, dear friends, before we go,

We have brought you tonight.

These miscellaneous articles,

All new and bright.

We hope you will like them,

And that useful they'll be;

And serve to remind you

Of friends, one, two or three.

Please kindly unwrap them

And we will stand by,

To see what's inside.

As each piece you untie.

Signed on behalf of your neighbours and friends of Madoc Junction.

Mr. and Mrs. Waterfall both made suitable replies, thanking their friends for the gifts and good wishes.

Just then, the members of Stirling Band came in a body and played several selections of lively music.

The bandmaster, Mr. Maurice Bell, gave a short speech, pointing out Leonard's faithfulness in assisting in the Band for several years. Two lovely upholstered occasional chairs were then presented to Mr. and Mrs. Waterfall, along with all the best wishes from the Stirling Band members.

Mrs. Jas. Power of Winnipeg is expected soon to visit Mrs. Hendrick Heffernan. Mr. Andrew Heffernan and Mrs. Jas. Power.

On Sunday evening Willie Keogh of Black Creek was hurled from his motor cycle, when the machine struck a rut. He is confined to his home with a badly injured leg, where the bone is infected.

Mrs. Andrew Merriam at the home of her son Mr. O. Hicks, Main Street, Picton, the funeral service for Mrs. Joseph Hicks was attended by a large concourse of relatives and friends. Mrs. Hicks, who before her marriage was Margaret Sayers, passed away at her late residence on Thursday, June 1st, in her 87th year. Mr. Vincent Hicks of Milton is a brother one of the deceased.

Interment was made in Cherry Valley Cemetery.

TYENDINAGA LADIES PLAN CHURCH WORK ACTIVITY FOR SUMMER

The members of St. Paul's Church Roslin, living on the 8th. line, Tyendinaga, met at the home of Mrs. Robert Copeland on Monday evening, May 31 to talk over ways of helping with the church work this summer. Mrs. Charles Hamilton and Mrs. Copeland were chosen to buy the dishes and silver with the money that was made last winter. Mrs. Copeland has undertaken to get a beautiful crochet cushion completely made for each table sold. Mrs. Wm. Mrs. George Goodfellow and Miss Alfred to look after these.

Mrs. Copeland served a delicious lunch. Mrs. W. Alford assisting her. There were 13 ladies present also.

DRAMA

Pupils of Albert College Expression Department in Annual Recital Series

Three one-act plays by the pupils of the Dramatic Department of Albert College were presented in a splendid manner in Memorial Hall last evening under the direction of the director of dramatics, Miss Jessie B. Tuttle. A fairy play of unusual interest, a sketch of timely interest in the problem of world peace and a touching dramatization of a pathetic moment in the lives of elderly people, constituted the well-selected wide scope for the talents of those taking part, and the success of the evening's work showed the results of their careful training.

The audience was welcomed to Albert College last evening by Mr. Taylor Franklin, registrar, who presided in the absence of Dr. Bell. Afterwards, principal Mr. Franklin spoke of the pleasure it gave the faculty and students to receive visitors to the visitors and drew attention to the other items of the annual Commencement Exercises to which the public was also cordially invited.

Vocal solos by pupils of the Albert College Conservatory of Music added to the enjoyment of the program. These numbers, for which Mr. S. M. Anglin acted as accompanist, were "Lullaby (Berceuse in the Wood" (Goetz) by Harold Fairbairn; "Afton Water" and "When Song is Sweet" (Sara Soclesi) by Misses Jean and Betty Shorey and "Come with Me, My Heart" (Grovenor) and "The False Prophet" (Brook) by Miss Luella Herrington.

Fairyland Play

In the first part of the program, the audience was taken to the land of "make believe" where characters and scenes are happily united after all kinds of interesting adventures. The Junior students who composed the cast played their parts charmingly, their clear voices and ease of manner making the play very realistic. Dorothy Ann Hall was the dainty little princess who danced in the Midnight Ball in court by losing her shoe in the woods. Captured by gypsies she seemed accepted to a life different to that in her royal home, but finally found her parents, whose parts as a boy and a youth were played by Elizabeth Foster and Ruth Hall, and her fairy godmother ended well. Master Philip Flagler made a very regal king in his purple and ermine, and carried his part to perfection while Mary Lu Hall was a delightful gypsy queen. Other members of the cast included Jean Hall, Jean Hume, Beth Gailey as Esmeralda, queen of the gypsies, Aileen Cameron, Douglas Hall, Elizabeth Stobie, Nancy Hunter, Elizabeth Hamilton, Margaret Hall, pages of the court and gypsies, and Douglas Christian, Roderick Cameron, Douglas Hall, Ruth Hall, Jean Hume and Bob Cameron as gentlemen of the court and gypsies. The costumes were very pretty, both the fashioning costumery of the gypsies and the brilliant robes of the court.

"The League of Nations"

A more serious note was introduced in the next play "The League of Nations," a fairy play by means of international hatred between the countries. The play was in the unexpected denouement of a women's League of Nations Society meeting, which through much thought-provoking play was very well acted by the cast which especially good. Miss Audrey Alyea was Avern Crossby the pacifist daughter of Sir Gordon Crossby, Thelia Cole presented opposing arguments as Miss Mitchell, militant young sister. The former had a very heavy part to play and acted splendidly. The rest of the cast of the play was given in masterly fashion. The meeting of "League of Nations" were Lady Crossby, splendidly played by Miss Helen Mitchell, the minister of foreign affairs, Miss Jean Stobie; Matsu Kiuchi, who presented Japan's viewpoints, was given a fine interpretation by Miss Joan Marsahall, Miss Mable Martin, the wooable American member, played with distinction by Miss Betty Anderson. Miss Mitchell acted as the "Woman in Black", a symbolic figure whose entrance into the meeting brought an abrupt change of attitudes was very convincing and her sinister laughter struck a chill to the audience. Miss May Hughes, acting as the English, the sympathetic little parlour maid, completed a well rounded out cast.

"Balm"

The final play, Harrell Denison's "Balm" held much humour as well as pathos. It revealed the tender understanding of the love for the poor as shown in the character of Mrs. Bellamy (played by Miss Anne LaRue), a crippled tenement dweller who provides a universal "Mother Image of Gilead" to cure ills of every description. Her ministrations to Jim and Robbie Burns to the even more sordid Scrub Lady, Sarah Greyth, (played by Miss Catherine Smith) was done in the gentlest manner possible. Even the part of Miss LaRue was most sympathetic. Her old crony, impatient and excitable but in spite of her storming, a lonely and kindly old soul was given an unforgettable characterization by Miss Smith while the role of the Social Service Worker, who comes to investigate Miss Greyth's application to adopt an orphan and decides she is better fitted for an Old Ladies' Home, was played by Miss Mary Lockhart who gave the personification of the cool efficiency which the part demands. The play was completed a highly interesting, group, and concluded the evening's performance.

John Street Guild

The meeting of John St. Young Women's Guild was held at the home of Mrs. R. Bawn, 194 Albert St. There was a large attendance.

The business part of the programme was conducted by the President, Mrs. Hamilton. This was followed by the worship service conducted by Mrs. Archibald. The Bible reading was Chapter 13 from 1st Corinthians. This was followed by a short talk the theme of which was "Family Love."

"True Christian Attitude Towards Marriage and Divorce" was the subject for the study period under the able leadership of Miss Grace Greene.

It was considered from three definite angles; first, changing home conditions; second, causes for divorce and, conditions in other countries in regard to divorce.

In former years it was the usual thing for young couples to get married and start a home with very little money or goods. They were successful as economic conditions were in their favour.

Today the problem of getting married is chiefly a financial one, as we proved from a recent report of Ontario made by the Y.M.C.A. Many young men do not earn enough regular wages to marry and retain a standard of living now considered necessary.

The chief causes for divorce were shown to be—a wrong basis of choice, the high cost of living, dependence of women resulting from economic conditions and misunderstanding or responsibility.

What can be done to help young people understand the meaning of matrimony?

Teach children in their emotional life during childhood.

Teach youth that success in marriage depends upon a wise interpretation of the natural impulses and interests directly related to marriage.

Arrange for a variety of other interests to insure independence and happiness for both married and single life.

Arrange for instruction in homemaking, budgeting and sex education.

Clinics for the adjustment of those life need to be sponsored by the church.

Expert advisers (psychologist) to counsel those who are engaged for by the church.

Where such clinics fail divorce might be resorted to as a form of moral surgery, which is to be avoided, but just as necessary as any physical operation our bodies might require.

Papers on different phases of this interesting subject were prepared and given by Mrs. Plumbtree, Mrs. Scott, Miss M. Lashbrook, Mrs. Clarke, Mrs. Buck, Miss D. West, Miss I. Hinds, Mrs. Mac Hill.

Tired Business Men
Learn of relief for the nerves

More and more tired business and professional men are learning that when they are mentally and physically tired it is due to the exhaustion of the nerves. Their lack of nerve force to concentrate the mind or to attend promptly to the daily task makes the patiently clear and indicates the requirement of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to restore vigor to the exhausted nerves.

When you are tired in mind and body, the vital organs are also tired and sluggish in action. There is constipation, slow liver and kidney action, indigestion and feelings of discomfort generally.

So general have nervous disorders become, that doctors are accustomed to attribute from 60% to 80% of the ailments of their patients to an exhausted condition of the nervous system.

This may be the cause of your trouble, and if it is the treatment prescribed is Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. You certainly cannot make any mistake by giving this treatment a trial for the average of cases in which it brings satisfactory relief is very high. Why not give it's chance to prove of benefit to you.

AT THE BELLE
Laurel and Hardy in "Way Out West"
Imagine, if you can, Laurel and Hardy as a pair of "tenderfeets" in the wild and woolly west, back in hit of the season.

the gay 90's, and then start laughing.
"Way Out West," the funniest feature comedy in five years, presents the famous comedy team in their first Western picture and it is heralded as a rip-roaring, gun-firing, yippee-whoopee song dance

CHURCH NOTES

When the sad-faced Laurel and the pompous Hardy leave off prospecting in the desert to hitch hike to town on a stage coach with a valuable deed to a gold mine, they commit a succession of misdeeds that lead to a series of thrilling adventures and hilariously-funny episodes and are carried through eight reels or seventy minutes of the picture.

8.00 p.m. prayer and dedicatory service and Colin to deliver the deed to his daughter in the frontier town of Brushwood Gulch. Bad, dumber than usual, Laurel delivers it to the wrong girl.

At the start they have trouble with their means of transportation ... a travois drawn by a burro. Then on the stage coach they settle up a flirtation and cause annoyance to a gentleman passenger only to discover on arriving in Brushwood Gulch, that she is the wife of the sheriff who promptly orders them to leave town before nightfall or be shot.

This scares Stan and Ollie plenty, but they set about their mission of trust and fail into the hands of the scheming owner of a gay and festive honky-tonk who has the daughter as a 'slavey' in his kitchen. He passes off his wife the singing nightingale of the district as his sister, and a flourish they deliver the deed. Accidentally they discover the mistake and are seeking justice when in walks the sheriff.

The "tenderfeets" leave town in a cloud of dust, only to return, recover the deed, rescue the girl and escape into the desert.

Prominent in the supporting cast of "Way Out West" are Sharon Lynne, as the honky-tonk queen; James Finlayson, her husband; Rosina Lawrence as the girl; and Stanley J. (Tiny) Sandford, as the sheriff, augumented by a large company of cowboys, miners, dancing girls and western characters.

"Way Out West" is at the Belle today and Monday, matinee daily. It is Laurel and Hard's first Western and is rated one of their funniest pictures.

You have to hear Laurel and Hardy and see them do the light fantastic to appreciate the most merry round of mirth they have ever started.

JOCKEY YOUNG SCORES DOUBLE

Running next to A. J. Halliwell's Stormer, Muslet, carrying the colors of the Erindale Stable, came up with a rush and won the featured fifth race at Thorncliffe Park yesterday. Jockey Sidney Young astride his second winner of the day, boosted Muslet a length ahead of W. T. Raine's Blue Damsel to take the mile and an eighth test.

A public fish was called for the seventh race and the nod given Black Stockings by a head over W. J. Waterman's Miss Cog. The two combined to pay $236.05 in the Ontela with Major General in third place. Black Stockings just got ahead of Miss Cog in the final stride while Major General, the favorite, finished by a length.

J. Silberberg's Gentle Knight sprung a surprise in the fourth and paid $9.30 when the favored Nandi was defeated handily. Nandi was third and a fair public choice the winner with Lorraine S. another length back in show position.

Kidney Acids Rob Your Rest

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They toss and turn—fly awake and count sheep. Often they blame it on "nerves" when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons from the blood. If they are faulty and fail, poisons stay in the system and drowsiness, headache, backache often follow. If you don't sleep well, try Dodd's Kidney Pills—for half a century the favorite remedy.

Pirates Need Short in Arm As Lead Dwindles to Giants; Carl Hubbell is Battled Out

Lead Cut to One Game as Boston Bees Win 9-1

YANKEES DROP

Margin is Only Two Games Over Fast Closing Indians

By SID FEDER

It's time for "Doc" Pie Traynor to get out the needle again and give his Pirates another shot in the arm.

If he doesn't soon repeat the injection that sent the Bucs off to the wars successfully during the first month, Medicine-man Traynor is going to find his Pittsburghs falling asleep on him as usual.

For three or four seasons, the Pirates have been closed to the answer to a manager's dream—on paper—but somehow they always wound up as more or less of a nightmare.

This season they were supposed to be even better equipped, particularly in a strengthened pitching staff and a lineup boasting the last two league batting champions. They started off well but in recent days, they've been showing unmistakable signs of going back to their old habits.

Their latest flop has been against the supposedly slingless Bees in Boston. After losing one of the twins to Old Earl Hoskins, Lou Petie, on Thursday, they turned right around and did the same thing against another, Jim Turnberry, Wednesday, losing their own plank with five hits, and dropping off to defeat 9-1.

Lead Slowly Dwindling.

As a result, the once growing lead of the Pittsburghs was cut to one slim game over New York Giants, and a game and a half over the Chicago Cubs. Both of these outfits, coming along right after slow starting, picked up ground yesterday by splitting a doubleheader.

In the opener, Carl Hubbell, making his first start since Brooklyn ended his 26-game winning streak, was belted out as the Cubs came from behind for a 6-5 win in eleven innings. In the nightcap, Clyde Clememan ended the Cub winning streak at eight straight, blanking them 4-3 win.

The New York Yankees' American League lead was cut to two games as the Indians topped the wob champions for the second straight day, 5-3. The Tigers banged out 14 hits and walloped Washington 10-3. The Athletics and St. Louis Browns broke even in two ten-inning halves of a doubleheader, the Mackmen winning 7-5 and then losing 4-2.

Following Dizzy Dean reinstatement, the Cardinals clobbed the Dodgers 14-4 and 19-10 at Ebbets Field in Brooklyn. Cincinnati and Philadelphia put on a free-swinging battle, which went to the Reds, 9-8, in the first and White Sox were rained out.

JOHN KATAN IS UNDEFEATED IN A LOCAL RING

Defeats Mike Dominic, Securing Favorite Hold on Two Occasions

TORRID SEMI-FINAL

Chief Lynx And Al Dunlop Stage Hectic Battle Outside Ropes

Although John Katan, the former Canadian heavyweight wrestling champion, still remains undefeated in a Belleville ring, following his thundering of Mike Dominic, Italian boy, here on combat last night at the arena, the semi-final bout of the evening proved just what the doctor ordered in local wrestling circles as those two arch ring villainous enemies, Chief Lynx and Al Dunlop, staged a hectic bout, both inside and outside of the ring to steal the show as Dunlop eventually emerged the winner, but only after the most exciting exhibition of the current season.

In the main bout Katan, 218 finally gained a Japanese standing toe hold to pin Dominic to the canvas in Mike Dominic, Italy, 209, and force the Italian to concede the first fall of the match, after 27 minutes of struggling. Still suffering from the effects of the punishing hold, Dominic returned to the ring for the second round outwardly suffering from fatigue, but still decided on winning the initial fall. It was only a matter of seconds until the unstoppable Katan applied his favorite Japanese inside toe hold and pinned after severely punishing Dominic. Referee Wells parted the pair, giving Katan the final decision and leaving the Italian youth lying prostrate and completely in pain. He had to be assisted to his dressing room. Katan being declared the winner in straight falls.

Semi-Final a Thriller.

Although Al Dunlop seemed to be somewhat too strong for Chief Lynx at the start of the semi-final bout of the evening staged at the Belleville Arena before capacity crowd, Chief Lynx, as the night progressed, got the better of the argument and by the time the Indian assumed the villain's part and for once had the fans booing for his scalp and cheering the hero-to-fore, Chief Lynx was to win. Neither contestants showed mercy towards their opponent, every illegal practice being resorted to, and when the two grapplers gouged, kicked, butted and punched their way outside of the ring the part of Referee Wells. The boys had to follow them around, dancing with repeated flying attacks that the saw action personified and a gleeful audience loved it. Some of the fans undecided whether they were for Lynx or Dunlop, but not the Chief, so unorthodox were their attempts.

After Dunlop had ferociously attacked Chief Lynx with a torrid and punishing leg scissors hold, he aggile Reddin took to the ropes for cover. Reddin was the first to get irritated fan attacked Chief Lynx who immediately retaliated. Grabbing Dunlop by the head and neck, and ... ing part, outside the ring, as he attempted to escape. The crowd of fans had taken a part and it was a case of every man for himself with the ultimate result he was hurled to the floor by Dunlop. Finally the official could regain the ring the wrestlers had returned and were into action. Dunlop, using a flying tackle, Chief Lynx with a terrific body slam and falling upon him for the count and the decision. Both rasslers and the referee were forced to battle with wits and grit from their heads to their feet as they left the ring amid loud applause.

Bell Saved Wilkins.

The bell saved Jim Wilkins, 179, Windsor, in his bout with the favorite, Frank Slavik, Toledo, 185, in the preliminary. Wilkins proved the villainous type as of old and brought the wrath of the fans upon his head. A few seconds before the time limit Wilkins administered the famous old Indian deathlock hold and had Wilkins at his mercy and seemed on the verge of the latter succumbing to ... inate the bout, in a draw.

During the bout it was announced that the next professional wrestling bouts would be held in the Belleville arena next Wednesday night. The referee of the night, was Bert Wells of Belleville.

CORBINS PUT ON BELATED RALLY

Defeat Percival Store 5-3 After Trailing to Sixth Frame

Completely baffled for five innings and trailing in the score the Corbin Hardware softballers staged a belated last inning rally to score four runs and edge out a 5 to 3 victory over the Percival Store nine in a regular Senior Softball League fixture at Coleman Flats last night. The Corbin victory firmly entrenched as the "lockmakers" in second position in the league standing.

Johnnie Bawden, for Corbins and Con Harris for the Percivals hooked up in a stellar hurlers' duel with Harris besting the veteran Bawden for over five frames when four hits, interspersed with a brace of errors in the field gave the Corbins four runs and victory. The Corbins had collected but one safe blow from the deliveries of Harris up until their sixth frame rally. Bawden hurled equally as good, however, limiting the Percivals to two safeties until the fifth when the Percivals cut loose with a hitting barrage that netted them two runs, after having previously scored in the second. And when the Percivals seemed to have victory assured, the Corbins unleashed their belated attack. Harris whiffed three and only walked one, while Bawden struck out eleven. Therefore, Harris retired the Corbins in order every inning except the second and sixth.

The Percivals outhit the winners six to five, Bawden's mates being Sinfield, Poitner and Booth hitting safely for Percivals while Hinds, Ellis, Jewitt, Wm. Bawden and Barrigge collected the Corbin hits.

The line-ups:

Corbins—Barrigge ss; Henn 2b; Ellis 3b; Rigby rf; Reid lf; Bawden p; Hinds c; Jewitt lf; Tuttle c and Bawden p.

Percival Store—Philp ss; Barrigge 3b; Thrasher 2b; Sinfield lf; Darrah 1b; Hammett cf; Poitner c; Harris rf and Harris p.

PLAN TO FILM PICTON REGATTA

Event May Be Subject of Motion Picture "Short"

Picton—(Special)—A letter from Jack Ingram, secretary, Eastern Canadian Division, American Power Boat Association to F. L. Ward tells of plans to have the Picton regatta filmed. Mr. Ward is one of the associated Screen News has promised that it will be made the feature of the month "short", or if that should not transpire, the news reel in which it will be incorporated.

Mr. Pinlayson adds that he was sending out letters asking all boats in the Canada and U. S. to send in entries early and he expected a large entry list. The letter was corresponding with Mortimer Auerbach, a famed U. S. driver, for a special added event that he was running in Atlantic City over the week end, and was expected to advantages Picton offered for 225 racing. He hoped to bring Mortimer to Picton for July 1st.

OSWEGO NETS SET BLISTERING PACE

Everybody knows it can't go on forever, but there's still no sign of those fighting Oswego Indians letting up under the blistering pace they're setting in the Canadian-American Baseball League.

Nets not only extended their league-leading lead to ten games yesterday by coming from behind in the ninth inning of both ends of a doubleheader against Ogdensburgh Colts, 5-4 and 7-6.

The Nets batted in the last run in the last half of the ninth in the first game with Ralph Crowell getting a double to score Coulter and then stepped across the plate with the winning counter parked when right fielder Solby dropped a fly ball.

Colts appeared headed for victory in the second game when they scored three runs in the top of the seventh period of the final inning. But manager Parker of Oswego started a desperate rally with a single. Novak scored the tying run with a triple and sauntered across with the winner when Henry came through again with a single.

Gloversville Glovers downed Rome Colonels 9-1 behind the three-hit pitching of Harrington. Cuccia's two Braves suffered their second straight defeat when they were handed a 5-0 verdict to Perth-Cornwall Bisons.

FOURTH STRAIGHT FOR CANNIFTON

Ernie Smith Hurls Three Hitter And Wins by 10-0

Cannilton, June 5 (Special)—Extending their current winning streak to four straight, the Cannilton entry in the S. E. League soundly trounced their Latta opponents here last night, as behind the three hit pitching of Ernie Smith, their star right hander, they applied the whitewash brush and pounded out a decisive 10-0 victory.

The Latta team, presenting a patched lineup, could do nothing with Ernie's delivering, never repeatedly popping out or being forced out at first by snappy fielding on part of the Cannilton Infielders. Hughes' one handed stop of A. Hall's drive in the fourth being of big league caliber. Latta infielders kicked on two numerous occurs with the bases well populated, causing many unearned runs being scored.

Latta Misses Chance

Latta missed a grand chance to score in the first when Orr was hit, but was forced at second on Marsh's error, rolling to second on a wild pitch and raced for home on Park's single but was thrown out at the plate on a perfect peg to catcher from behind third, and again in the fifth when Marshall hit, when Lavalley dropped a third strike to be followed by Marshall's single and Downing Marshall to third. Gowe stole second but was caught off the bag as Dunham threw to Hall.

Winners Collect 13 Safeties

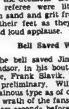
Cannilton sluggers made merry at the expense of Roy Doherty who was doing slinging duties for Latta. Collectively they pasted Doherty's offerings for exactly 13 safeties, with a four bagger by E. Jarrell, a triple by Sharpe and Hughes and Sharpe and Simpson Cannilton broke away in the first to score three on an error and three singles, adding one more in the third. In the fourth on two errors by Latta infielders they added another two and went to town in a big way in the sixth with four runs, followed by a mighty home run by Jarrell, and two extra base clouts by Simpson and Sharpe they shoved across four more.

Score by innings:



Latta—Orr, Marsh, Parks, A. Hall, Reeder, Marshall, Hall, Downing and Doherty.

TONY GRIDAITIS LEADS IN HITTING

son why Tony Gridaitis of Ogdensburgh Colts is considered one of the best batters in the Canadian-American Baseball League may be found in batting averages released today by league statistician Sid Hooper.

The lanky right-fielder, a nimble runner who covers a lot of territory at his position leads the league in that department as bat. He is batting leader with a .462 average, four points ahead of Bill Grindle of Brockville Pirates, and also tops the following departments: Most runs, 19; most runs, five; most runs scored, 29; most hits, 18; most runs batted in, 19; and fielding, .938; most chances, 36.

Oswego Netherlanders, riding at the top of the league with Perth-Cornwall in close pursuit, lead the team batting with .318 average, one point than Perth-Cornwall outfit. The Colts, paced by Gridaitis and Grindle, follow with Gloversville Tibbets with a .325 average and Rome Colonels, Gloversville with .283 comes next; Ottawa with .241, Smith's Falls, .234, Brockville .233, Regina leads with .199 are next in order.

Batting leaders follow:

PUCCINELLI BACK IN BATTING FORM FOR THE ORIOLES

"Pooch" Hits Three Homers in Double Bill Against Jersey City

LEAFS WIN

Earl Caldwell, New Hurler Beats Flowery Johnson in Clutches

Even more impressive than the three-game winning streak proudly flaunted by the Baltimore Baltimore Orioles, cellar-dwellers of the International League, was the fact that Dominic "Pooch" Puccinelli seemed to have regained his old-time form.

The Orioles, always a slugging outfit, figure on "Pooch" as the old New York Yankees used to rely upon Babe Ruth to bomb the opposition. They all were in slugging form last night, as the circuit clouters drove home runs, three by Puccinelli, in defeating the Jersey City Giants in both ends of an evening doubleheader, 6 to 5 and 6 to 2. Both games required an extra inning to decide.

Puccinelli made two of his four-masters in the second game, the last coming in the ninth, to break up a deadlock. He contributed one four-ply swat to the opening victory, which Marshall Caldwell, the former busher rookie, Roy Schalk, Ab Wright, Jimmie Foxx, Lefty Gomez and Wes Martin, who also got one in the nightcap, hit the other homers while Caldwell, Marshall Gerber and Hal Lee one to the Jersey City side.

The Little Napoleon's losing streak was extended to seven as Glen Gabler, who issued five free passes was charged with both defeats.

The Rochester Red Wings kept the International League pace instead of slumping, taking their sixth consecutive game by whipping the Buffalo Bisons, 3 to 2. Bill Harris, veteran Buffalo elsbower, limited the Red Wings to five hits which Johnny Hopp made three. Don Sturdy saved Rochester from a shutout with a ninth inning homer. Gene Corbett, and Manny Perez collected four-baggers for the Bisons.

The league-leading Newark Bears pummeled a hapless Toronto staff to eked out a 5-4 triumph over the Syracuse Chiefs. It was their fifth straight victory and increased their lead over the Senator Montreal Royals to six games. Montreal dropped a 4-3 decision to Toronto as Earl Caldwell, former Detroit ace, beat the Leafs, outlasted Mery Johnson, Toronto southpaw hurler, in a duel of Newark's winning run came when Jake Moody dished out three straight walks in the ninth.

The ladies' games committee met yesterday afternoon to draw up their schedule for year. The games and rinks will be posted on the clubhouse. A real programme has been arranged and if carried out should make a real successful season's bowling. The proposed game of Belleville Ivies will be played next Tuesday afternoon, June 8th., the rinks being made up of the following members be on hand early. The committee in charge of the games are Mrs. Lent, Mrs. Scott, Mrs. H. Thompson and Mrs. Hubbs, convener.

On Monday evening, our first regular match meets Napanee on rink. We want our entire membership out. The game will start at 7.45 p.m. sharp. If you are not there phone the clubhouse and give your name out.

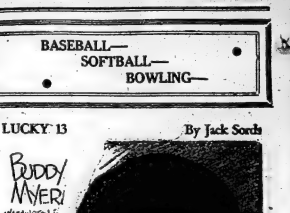
On Wednesday evening, our first home match meets Picton on rink. We want our entire membership out. The game will start at 7.45 p.m. sharp. If you are not there phone the clubhouse and give your name out.

In a game of singles on Friday afternoon, Charlie Sulman and Jack Donovan played a match. The game was even until about the 20th end, when Percy got the break. Charlie got fourteen will tell. Score 40-35.

The greens are improving every day. By the end of next week our greens should be perfect.

Next Wednesday, Kingston hold their annual doubles. We should have a full rink.

The Games' Committee have arranged the following competition for first year players — new players kindly make your entry on the list in the clubhouse as soon as possible.



In doubles last night the following are the scores—Huffman and Fisher vs. Townsend and Williams. Fisher won 14-13.

Woodley and Vanner vs Hinckley and C. Symons, Vanner won 16-13.

McGuire and Hindle vs Post and Cunningham. Hindle won 19-11.

Middleton and Black vs Delaney and Shaw, Black won 16-0.

Improving in their play each week in the kids competing in the local School Lacrosse League are just learning the art of the gutted stick racket. The kids show a vast improvement in stickhandling and general knowledge of the game, but still have not grasped the need of passing the ball and playing combination whenever possible. Like all beginners individual rushes by kids seemingly want to score themselves. Of course their lacking in system of passing will doubtless improve, as has their stickhandling of late. But the youngsters have not had the privilege of seeing proficient lacrosse players in action and have to pick the game up from practical experience, or from the tutorial experience of veteran players, who are assisting whenever possible.

The Percivals threw a scare into Harold Bawden's Corbins last night when Con Harris and Johnnie Bawden hooked up in a sweet softball pitching duel, but the Corbin infield-outfield-battery combination finally stole when the "lockmakers" pushed over four runs in the seventh and one more in the eighth to cop the game 5 to 3. Bawden coupled four hits with Harris' three safeties and ran in four runs to squeeze out a 5 to 3 win over Percivals. Corbins polished good steady ball whiffing eleven, however.

Those ancient ring enemies, Chief Lynx and Al Dunlop, staged a real battle of the old school at the wrestling bouts. Had referee Wells not been on hand to rescue of a fan, who was attacked by the mean Reserve Indian, he would have been mauled to a disqualifying both rasslers for their fighting outside of the ring. But when the official went to the assistance of the patron, he naturally could not disqualify the contestants. At any rate Dunlop and Chief Lynx gave the fans what they wanted, action personified.

Jim Wilkins, who wrested a draw with Frank Slavik last night, has been returned from a five months tour of England and Europe where he wrestled all winter and spring. Jim informed us that Mike Dominic, the pugnacious Italian who used to battle "Irish Steve" Dale here in the good old days in the Old Country. Incidentally Howard Anderson, alias Chief Lynx, who just returned from a wrestling campaign in the Middle West States. Now that John Katan is still undefeated in a Belleville ring, the city has gone up—anything to beat the former Canadian titleholder." Dunlop says he'd like another try at Katan next Wednesday night.

Three complete track and field-ship teams left Belleville today to com-pa nee in the Bay of Quinte interscholastic track and field meet at Napanee. Miss Allison took the local C.O.T. girls, champion lassies of track and field realm, while Geo. Laughlin's Collegiate boys and Frank Cunningham's C.O.D., athletes make up the other two complete teams. Mr. Laughlin is entering 20 track athletes at Napanee, capturing the dashes, distance runs and field events in junior, intermediate and senior. Gerow skipper of the Napanee high C.O.D. Cunningham has 17 on his track and field teams. Doubtless the Belleville teams will be well up in the running and garnered during the day, when the final count is taken, Napanee, Frank Howard Kerr and a lad named Baird is the stars of senior trackmen Mr. Laughlin is banking to bring district honors to the school.

Last Wednesday when Walt Gibbards, asked Tommy Fobster if he was ready to start against Napanee, Tommy replied "I'm formed Quinie — perfidor completeed of having a sore arm. Blarchch coach gives the pitching assignment of the day and was smacked out of the box in the first inning. Walter mentioned Fobster to the stab, sore arm et all, in the following match was nothing short of astounding. Pointblank speaking he not only blanked the Oshawa nine for the last three frames, but not a single Motor City batter reached the keystone sack.

Hearing that story reminds us of the time, when Belleville mourned, when the old Belleville roundsman was pitching for the old Napanee baseball team. He was in the position of having a sore arm, Manager Walt Gibbards was endeavoring to give him the pitching assignment of the day. It all came about the day when Odette was complaining of a sore arm and could not start. He said, Our other pitcher could not show up and Odette had to accept the mound assignment. The exhibition of pitching given by Odette that day was indescribable, every batter down like chaff before the wind and afterward Manager Gibbards mentioned a sore arm. Walter always changed his plans and allowed Odette with prolific results for many seasons. Whether he will be available for the match is doubtful in Pointer's case or not will be seen, but the pitching qualifying staff of all the Oshawa batters back on their heels for three frames at any rate.

If scenes we got the wrong party in the hospital in our report of the Barrage boys last night. It was Jimmie Barrage of the Belleville-Sargent squad, and not Gerald Barrage of the Ciacos, who was struck in the face and badly battered with a softball rebounding from a batter. Jimmie sustained a broken nose. Hope this report is exaggerated and hope for a speedy recovery of Jim.

The "Dizzy One" is to baseball just what ham is to eggs, so President Ford Prick lifted the suspension of Dizzy Dean yesterday. Without Dean the Cards would be like a rudderless ship adrift in the baseball seas, it seems.

by Clarissa Fairchild Cushman

Kerin paused, smiling at the fire, the soft flow of the brown lace like wings, gently fluttering.

"Well, it seems the dark days was when her husband—the ugly vicious brute of a husband that would lift into this story, who drank and beat his lovely young wife and locked her up so she couldn't run back to her mother—were over. Because of course she was rich and he wasn't. You're laughing at me! I tell you it's all true! Because my father and the other young man helped her to escape into the country to Paris. She travelled with me, pretending she was my nurse; I remember very well! And afterward she got a divorce and married the one young man and he's a lawyer and they live in Baltimore." She lifted her eyes. "So there!"

INSTALLMENT 26

"All right," Gregory said. "Tell me another."

"Another? Well, then it was the war, and my father stayed on as a newspaper correspondent. I should have told you that he was always writing books and things, political articles, although whether we lived on what he made I can't say. But when the war came he stayed, and I was hustled home, to my great sorrow, to went to school. Very tidily, till I was eleven. I learned to cook, and to wash things, and to bem beautifully and unevenly, and to skate, and never to admit to any one, for fear that I could speak German."

She paused, wrinkling her forehead. "I really ought to start teaching Donald French. It's learning as a child, as I did, that ventilates."

Gregory was amused at the picture. "Was he ever with Charemans! Gee! I can go to Tarzan, invet on half!" And as she laughed he said, "Go on with your story."

"You're not bored? Well— then the war was over, and then—then—my father came back!"

There was no mistaking the thrill in Kerin's voice at that return. He had come back—Romance had clasped her hands together for very joy in that memory.

"He stayed for a while with us, fishing, riding—enjoying, he said, the 'silliess savor of bloodless living'." Again the air sound her was redolent of sweet fern and juniper and in the distance a man was musicians in a boat, fishing. "And then she raised her eyes—grew to him, and they shone in the warm light—"we went abroad. I was with my father, just for six years for six years," she repeated raptly, "we were together. Except for vacation bonds. For six years, I saw Europe not as rather poor, ever see it, but as only my father could see it. To me, of course, it was the most romantic experience I can, now to him active of. For me it was heaven; but what did my father find in me, a child, that he so willingly burdened his freedom with me?"

Compassionately, thought Gregory. That perfect companionship that is built in speech and in silence.

"I can't begin to tell you where we went. For instance, we were the best part of a year on horseback, going from Italy eastward, wandering now north, now south, until we reached the China Sea. Everywhere he went, he seemed to me, we met people my father knew. We'd go into a cafe, and he'd say, 'Hello Williams, LAM, tiny I saw you were in a shell hole,' or something like that. And it seemed to me, a child, that he was the intimate friend of kings. Certainly we ate with beggars, but then we certainly we broke bread with potentates—all colors, black, white, yellow, sometimes my father had spells when he worried about my education, and then he would hurry me off to Paris or Rome or Vienna and hustle me through some schooling. Fortunately, pretty soon the wanderlust would seize him, and off we'd go."

She laughed, a low laugh. "Education! How much of any education sticks! My father taught me. He taught me universable things. Languages—he spoke— you won't believe this!—more than twenty languages. History! Hundreds of hours, hundreds of miles on horseback! History has always seemed to me like a long intimate conversation with great people and stirring events. But the one thing he taught me most surely was a thing he never pried to teach, but I hope I learned, for it was the most valuable thing he possessed—his power to enjoy living. It was his creed, it was what he wrote about. He seemed people to love very, the things of now, the present. It was not that he didn't admire changes; it was more that he thought the change is inevitable, the future is always upon us, we have time for it when it comes. Whereas by today, today will be gone, wrote about the things of today, the today of places and of people; and he lived as he wrote, loving each day, each experience, for what it brought. It was to me a marvelous philosophy. He used to say that he had no patience with people who thought you couldn't eat your cake and have it too. Eating one's cake, he would say, is the only way to have it. And if you aren't ever going to eat it, it's not worth having." She laughed, a low, quick laugh. "A heathenish, I suppose, you would call him. But he wasn't that. Am I boring you?"

"No," said Gregory. Under the spell of her voice it was as though he himself were in priceless vagabond companionship with those so unprecedented, so vivid.

She rose from the couch, and going over to the closed cupboard below the fireplace she came back with a thick red leatherbound book and handed it to Gregory.

"His publishers brought this out after he died. It is a compilation of his newspaper—bits of travel and so on. But it never made any stir, I suppose, more than he ever did."

Gregory opened the book to the flyleaf. Etched the Vagabond, by Carmichael Brant." A thousand-odd pages. A thousand pages of the places where she had loved.

"Could I borrow it?"

She hesitated, watching him turn the pages with the considerate half of a reader. "I don't like — yes," she said. "Though I can't get anywhere."

He rose abruptly and went to the mantel, laying the book on it. He would go with to borrow the book. Too much like an insensitive stranger. "You said she had like that should ever die. Was he very old?"

"No, barely fifty. He would have been only sixty now—" There was a depth of suffering in her voice, and then slowly, "It was pneumonia. . . . He had sent us to New York. I was to study at Barnard a year. Sometimes I think—" her voice grew rough—"I think he had me there that I'm still waiting for one day when he'll come back! Well, I'm not. What's the use of my going now?" And I'll shut up my life as you shut that book and I'll go with him again—he, and Donald and I."

She turned and leaned against the high mantel, looking up at the crimson rug. She reached up and touched it. "These beautiful things you admire are the things he had. He bought me a trunk, that we kept in Paris. And once in while we would come back to it and take everything out, and laugh over them, and pack the new and the old away together. My memory chest, he called it, and that's what it is."

"Do you realize that some of the things—" she wandered to the wall where the two Japanese prints were hardly visible in shadow—"are very valuable?"

"It doesn't matter. I should never sell them anyway. They are my father." She stroked the goose-leg fabric, lovingly, and he watched her, following her slenderness, the fatal contour of the bone at her hip. "He was a true vagabond. He was never homeless, because he made all places his home. He didn't travel so far countries just for curiosity, but to possess them."

Silence hung in the room, and Gregory looked at the room, the tailored lady, folded, away like a moth in the shadowy lace that was like too-fragile wings. Then, for the moment, flying gloriously in that Shadowy past. He wanted to take her back, to have her there beside him.

"And Carl?" he asked.

"Carl!" Kerin dropped her hands and a curious expression came into the eyes that fell again to contemplating the fire. "I can't quite explain, a humble part, of his splendid ideas. I thought he needed me dependent on me, in his own way. You must know of him, you must have read of him in the newspapers. He always said that it was his luxury to spend his time, his energy, what money he could, to fight the battles of weaker men. You see he was—he is — splendid. A year ago he had the chance to go to Russia. Russia! No one could understand better than I how thrilling to pack up in a minute and be free to go—one year, two years, three years; he didn't know how long. I was glad—I was proud—to let him go. Free! And one can't be free with a wife and child. And so I got this position—and then he didn't go.

There was a long pause, and then Kerin spoke again. He gave up the apartments, he didn't write me. But I didn't think that was significant. He wasn't a letter writer. I felt that he preferred to have me remain here. Then, five days ago, this—this divorce. So unexpected. But it seems there's somebody else." There was silence, while Kerin saw, again, Annie Beardsley in the sun. "And not," she said in a small voice, "a very nice person, either."

Gregory reached out and took the small hand in his brown one. He opened the fingers, and bending his head kissed the soft palm and closed the fingers on it. He looked up, then into her startled eyes.

"That's a tribute," he said, "to a

WALL STREET CLOSE

New York, June 5.—(AP)—Stocks got off to a good start in today's brief market session but, aside from favored specialties, most fell back under week-end profit selling.

The overnight news grist provided nothing startling. Marketwise there were many traders, believing yesterday's late rally was largely due to the drying up of offerings following the protracted decline, decided to cash in some of their gains and wait for what may happen next week.

The gold fever appeared to have abated in the wake of President Roosevelt's warning against inflation over this situation. The price of the yellow metal was lifted about 3 cent an ounce in London and sizable purchases were made for American account. Transfers were around 400,000 shares.

Fractional gains were recorded by Canadian Pacific, Distillers-Corp. Seagrams, Douse Mines and International Nickel, while McIntyre fell back slightly. Dominion Government 4s were a bit higher while Canadian dollars were unchanged at 99.68 7-16 cents. On the curb, Lake Shore mines lost a trifle.

Toronto Stock Exchange

| | Close |
|---|---|
| Toronto, June 5.—(CP)—Moderate activity characterized the industrials and the western oils in the closing session of the week on the Toronto Stock Exchange while golds and base metals were irregular. The whole market was quiet. | |
| Senior oils, Imperial and International Petroleum as well as Canadian oil ruled higher by fractions and among the junior gains of 2 to 12 cents were boosted for Calgary-Edmonton, Home Okalta, Calmont and Highwood-Sarcee. Royalite came out at 29 for a gain of a point. | |
| Utilities, foods, steels, implements and miscellaneous issues lightened up for fractional gains. The Massey Harris issues firmed 1-2 each and Cockshutt Plow added 1-4 and in the steels Canada Wire B. Dominion Foundries, and National Steel Car gained more than a point each and United Steel, Dominion Bridge and Canadian Car and Foundries Common firmed fractions. | |
| Beverages, building and banks shares were quiet and steady and in the miscellaneous group slightly higher prices were posted for Abitibi Pfd. Great Lakes Paper Pfd. Hinde and Dauch and Kelvinator. Pfd. | |
| Good buying developed in Normetal and the price firmed 18 cents to 1.50. The big base metals including Hudson Bay, Noranda, Smelters and International Nickel ruled steady to strong and chromium and Aldermac added a few cents each. | |
| A few golds traded in good volume but the action generally was quiet. | |

Board Room Gossip

As supplied to Biggar and Crawford by Financial Services.

MARKET COMMENTS

The market is now giving a very decisive account of itself. The gold question is still paramount in the minds of traders and investors and despite denials from the highest authorities, some newspapers continue to carry stories to the effect that a lower price for gold may develop. Until such fears are definitely allayed, we may expect to see an indecisive market.

MINING NEWS IN BRIEFS

Lindsley—Ore reserves as reported in high grade ore on the 275-ft. level in the new north ore.

Chesterville—High grade ore shoot on the west drift on the first level is being opened up and is 15 ft. by 2 ft. running 824 over 5 ft.

Upper Canada Mines is now proceeding with lateral work on the 200, 375 and 500 ft. levels.

Hollinger Cons. plans to undertake a large program of development work in the No. 3 shaft to open up the fourth on which level a crosscut is now being driven.

Churchill is now sinking diamond drilling on its property in the Miller Lake area.

O'Brien is expected to reach objectives on four levels in the near future.

Moneta has decided to erect a mill of 100 tons daily capacity and 200 tons daily depending on behaviour of the ore.

Mosquito-Larvae-Eating Fish Found near Bahamas

A Canadian Doctor Finds Small Fish Found Usually Near Australia

ARE NEEDED HERE

(By Charles Bruce)
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Nassau, the Bahamas, June 5.—(CP)—A young Canadian doctor, having fun with fish in Nassau may "land" a valuable contribution to prevention of malaria.

He is Dr. J. P. Crukshank-chief medical officer for the colony and the particular fish is a little fellow apparently travelling incognito in these waters.

Dr. Crukshank believes it is Gambusia Affinis or Gambusia Holbrooki, a valuable skinny native of Australia—valuable because it feeds on mosquito larvae, and much prized around Malay where mosquitos make no bones about carrying malaria.

The 36-year-old medical officer—hails from Saint John, N.B., by way of McGill University, 1925.

He has been fiddling around with fish, the half inclining kind, for years, and thought he recognized the larvae-eating gambusia samples taken from Bahamian swamps. He bred them in tanks at the Government Laboratory here and has sent living fish by plane to Miami for identification. Their actual surname won't be established until the tropical fish farm at which they are hoarding has been kicked up properly, but they are definitely members of the Cyprinodontis family and definitely larvae-eaters.

Dr. Crukshank hesitates to assess the value of the discovery as a means of battling down malaria along the southern seaboard, because fish that "specialize" on mosquito larvae are already known in Florida waters. However, his experiments are continuing and there is time in nine years he has been here.

Gambusia may be an import in malarial areas. At any rate, anything that eats up mosquito eggs malaria-in-the-bud is a very welcome thanks especially from summer campers.

MUST USE ROCKET FOR HIGH SPEED

Col. C. A. Lindbergh Writes to President of Clark University

Worcester, Mass., June 5 (AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh predicted today commerce must look to the rocket if it hopes to attain speeds of transport above a few hundred miles an hour.

In a letter to President Wallace W. Atwood of Clark University, read today at Clark's commencement exercises, the aviator-scientist said rocket experiments by Professor Robert H. Goddard of Clark might lead "to rocket equipment which will predict "in an unguarded moment that we will eventually travel at speeds measured only by the rockets of which the human body can stand."

Lindbergh's letter, written in England a month ago, said that "from the standpoint of science the rocket offers the only known possibility of sending instruments to altitudes where they reached by present-day balloons. Observations taken outside the earth's atmosphere, even in the higher levels of the atmosphere, would be of immense value to science in the study of the atmosphere, would be of immense value to science in the study of the atmosphere, would be of immense value to science in the study

NO SIGN OF UNHEALTHY CREDIT, SAYS LONDON

London Bullion Dealers Advance Price of Gold, Stem Flow to America

Rise Makes Shipments to United States Unprofitable

SELLING DISCOURAGED

Britain Will Remain Loyal to Tripartite Agreement

London, June 7 (CP)—The government informed the House of Commons today there was "no indication of any unhealthy credit conditions at present" when questions were asked following the abolition of London bullion dealers in advancing the price of gold in an effort to stem the flow of the precious metal to the United States.

Price of her gold was fixed at 140 8½d ($34.73) a fine ounce, an advance of fivepence (9.8 cents) to the ounce. The new price cuts the profit which exporters of bullion stood to make by shipments to the United States.

Britain Stands By Pact.

Lieut.-Colonel D. J. Colville, financial secretary to the treasury, said Great Britain had no intention of departing from the tripartite gold agreement reached by Great Britain, the United States and France.

Sir Nicholas Grattan-Doyle, Conservative, asked whether the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir John Simon, would "continue to borrow in order to buy and neutralize gold so as to prevent credit inflation, or whether he will propose revision of the tripartite agreement before the inflow of unwanted gold reaches uncontrollable dimensions."

Gold Sacro.

Answering Sir John's obscure, Colville said: "I think no indication of any unhealthy credit conditions present and no such conditions will be allowed to develop. The Chancellor is not clear as to what provision of the tripartite agreement the honorable member has in mind, but he has no intention of depart-

Why the Weather?

By Major A. H. Thiessen
Science Service Meteorologist
Atmospheric electricity is accepting lightning there is nothing in any ordinary experience (at least before the days of static) to indicate that the air is electrically charged. Yet the earth always maintains a negative charge.—Yet the earth always positively charged. How is this charge created and maintained? No one knows. With this mystifying existing there should be a flow of electricity. There is, the current is estimated at 1,800 amperes flowing from the earth's surface to the air. Therefore we have (1) there seems to be no return current of electricity and (2) what generates the earth's charge?

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, June 7—A moderate depression is centred this morning over Moose Bay, and the barometer is rather low over Quebec and New Brunswick while high pressure is covering a large portion of northwestern Canada. Moderate to fresh winds from Alberta to Manitoba will be experienced over the week-end in southwestern Manitoba and northwestern Ontario but except for light showers in a few districts the weather generally has been fair. It has been cool from Lake Superior westward to Alberta but warm over the greater part of Ontario and Quebec.

Forecasts: Fresh southwest to northwest winds; mostly cloudy and cooler today and Tuesday with a few scattered showers.

Manitoba—Northwesterly winds; cloudy and cool. Tuesday, partly cloudy with little change in temperature.

Saskatchewan—Partly cloudy today and Tuesday, not much change in temperature.

Alberta—Partly cloudy today and Tuesday with much the same temperature; probably a few light scattered showers.

Gold Situation

London, June 7 (CP)—The problem of gold is exercising the great powers. Great Britain, the United States and France are understood to be consulting daily on the flood of the yellow metal being unloaded on the markets by hoarders.

The Imperial Conference also is studying the possibilities. Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir John Simon is understood to have seen Sir Montagu Norman, Governor of the Bank of England, several times in the past few days.

The Daily Mail today said belief exists the projected Anglo-United States trade treaty will include a monetary agreement stabilizing the pound with the dollar and settling the war debt in addition to trade concessions.

R. J. Boothby, Conservative Member of Parliament, will ask Sir John Simon in the House whether the question of monetary policy in relation to gold has been considered by the Imperial Conference and whether the possibility of bringing the United States and Russia into consultation has been taken up.

Mr. Boothby will ask whether the Chancellor is satisfied with the working of the tripartite monetary agreement, among France, Great Britain and the United States and whether a modification or extension of that agreement is contemplated at present.

POLICE SEEKING ENGLISH BEAUTY WHO WAS SLASHED

Diana Battye Visited With Lord And Lady Tweedsmuir Last Year

CUT ON FOREHEAD

Friends Worried For Weeks by Number of Anonymous Letters

London, June 7—(AP)—Scotland Yard disclosed today a nation-wide search was under way for beautiful Diana Battye, 31-year-old society girl and aspirant for motion picture stardom, who disappeared mysteriously after being mysteriously slashed on the forehead.

"Didi," as she was known to her friends, was last seen leaving the home of her childhood friend, Viscountess Long, with whom she had been staying for the coronation season.

Escaped to Asquith

The blonde beauty is the fiancee of Michael Asquith, son of the Hon. Herbert Asquith and Lady Cynthia, and police assumed she was going to phone a letter to him when she disappeared from the Viscountess' London home. Last year she visited Lord Tweedsmuir, the Governor-General and Lady Tweedsmuir, at Rideau Hall, Ottawa.

Young Asquith said he received the letter the following day but it contained no hint she might have planned to leave London without letting her friends know.

Lady Long said "Didi" on the day she disappeared had kept a luncheon appointment at which her motion picture prospects were discussed and then returned to the house. "She left around 3 o'clock, making no telephone calls," Lady Long told police. The girl was in such a hurry she left her hat, gloves and purse in the bag with her.

Lady Long told Scotland Yard detectives she had received two mysterious telephone calls on the day following the disappearance.

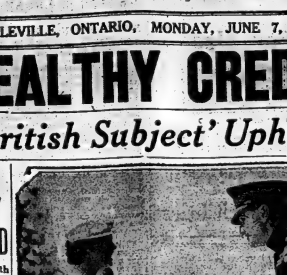
Each time she went to the telephone, she said, the caller hung up.

Meanwhile, Lady Long disclosed, had been worried for several weeks by a series of anonymous typewritten letters.

Then May 19—Coronation night when all London was agog with celebrating crowds—the girl was slashed and left to forehead by mysterious assailant.

"Diana left here on coronation evening," Lady Long said, "bleeding from a wound on her forehead. She told girls in the kitchen that with a razor by an unknown man within 24 hours of the attack.

"She would not let me call police because she said she had been warned if she disclosed the attack another attempt might be made."



Her friends said they had only about 25 (£25) with her when she disappeared.

"Didi" is the daughter of Cecil Percy Battye, a former officer in the fashionable Welsh Guard regiment, and Mrs. Leonard Hackett, the wealthy widow.

She amused her smart Mayfair friends by wearing a pair of large, a small truck with "Didi" painted on it. She explained the truck was more comfortable for her dog than a car.

CONDITION UNCHANGED

OTTAWA, June 7 (CP)—Condition of Sir Robert L. Borden was today declared to be "just about the same". The veteran statesman had a quiet night, but indicated "no improvement".

KING, QUEEN AND PRINCESSES ATTEND ROYAL TOURNAMENT

Queen Elizabeth and Princess Margaret Rose and Elizabeth are shown being greeted by Major-Gen. The tournament is an annual affair and was attended by King George, the Queen and the two princesses.

Use of Distinct Names By Dominions' Citizens Opposed by Conference

Hertzog Proposal is Understood to Have Been Abandoned

REPORTS APPROVED

Conference Will be Brought to Close on June 15th

London, June 7 (CP)—Havas News Agency reported today that informed sources said efforts of Prime Minister J. B. M. Hertzog of South Africa to have the constitutional committee of the Imperial Conference recommend that a distinct name be applied to citizens of each Dominion and the term "British subject" be abolished apparently had been abandoned.

These sources said the proposal met with determined opposition in South Africa as well as coolness in the other Dominions.

Dealing with the possibility remained that South African peasants could specify the holdings were National of South Africa.

London, June 7 (CP)—The Imperial Conference today began its final clean-up.

Committee reports on constitutional and economic questions today were approved by chief delegates at their fourteenth meeting at No. 10 Downing Street.

The reports are being cabled to all the Dominions and probably will be made public tomorrow. The conference concludes June 15.

LEADER OF C. I. O. BACKS ROOSEVELT WAGE, HOUR LAWS

But Lewis Opposes "Wage Fixing" as Contrary to Precedent

NATIONAL MINIMUM

Says Every Worker Should be Protected by Minimum Wage

Washington, June 7 (AP)—John L. Lewis threw the general support of his Committee for Industrial Organization behind the Roosevelt administration's wage and hour legislation today.

He opposed, however, what he called "wage-fixing," contrary to "American precedent and practice" and "based on British and Canadian experience".

The Labor leader told a joint committee of the United States Congress a nation-wide minimum standard of wages and hours was necessary to increase purchasing power and spread employment.

Wage Fixed Objected To.

He said the part of the measure by which it is expected would authorize a Labor Standards Board to establish "a fair wage" commensurate with "value of the service or class of service rendered" in industries where collective bargaining is ineffective.

"It may be that the intent is the laudable one, based on British and Canadian experience, to require all workers in an occupation or industry to conform to the wage standard established by a majority or minority of the workers in an industry," Lewis testified.

Continuing Procedure.

"But be this as it may, such a provision is to say the least is very confusing and extremely difficult of application.

"Moreover, what is of fundamental importance is that it is not in accord with American precedent or practice, for it amounts to a wage-

OVER OCEAN IN A LIGHT RAIN

Amelia Earhart Heading For Dakar, Senegal, in Hop

Natal, Brazil, June 7.—(AP)—Amelia Earhart headed over the South Atlantic in a light rain today for Dakar, Senegal, her goal on the African continent in her intended flight around the world.

She left here on the 1,900-mile flight at 2:16 A. M. (ET) and telephoned more than four hours later that "Everything is going fine."

500 are Killed As Volcano Erupts Off Coast N. Guinea

Kokopo, New Guinea, June 19 (CP-Reuters)—Volcanic eruptions at Rabaul, principal town of New Britain Island, took a toll of upwards of 500 dead, according to reports brought here today by the government patrol sent to investigate the devastated district.

The patrol, consisting of seven mounted bodies over a wide area and special precautions were taken against a possible outbreak of typhoid. All the natives were native. The white population is being evacuated as a safeguard.

Two eruptions of nearby volcanoes occurred June 1 on this island, which is situated 1,000 miles ago off the northeast coast of New Guinea and were followed by tidal wave which inundated Rabaul. Like British New Guinea, the islands are under mandate to Australia.

Beaverbrook is Critical Of Film Companies' Ban Ducal Wedding Movies

Ban Reached by Companies Without Pressure or Guidance of Government—Beaverbrook Says British People Treated as "Mentally Deficient Race"

London, June 7 (CP-Havas)—The British newsreel companies' decision not to release films of the Duke of Windsor's wedding brought a protest from Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express today.

Not Even For Adults!

"Not even for adults!" the Express exclaimed. "You will have to go to France or America—or maybe Russia—to see them, thereby proving that though a large-sized piece of bunting is talked over here about freedom, no censorship, no dictatorship and what not, yet the Imperial British people are still treated as a mentally deficient race."

The films "might re-awaken painful emotions among the patrons and have bad to invidious demonstrations in the theatres," Gerard Sanger of the British Movietone News declared in announcing the ban.

The understanding among the newsreel concerns "was reached without pressure or guidance from the government or any other authority whatsoever," Sanger insisted.

He declared the decision also was in line with the Duke's statement after his marriage he and his bride desired privacy.

At the same time the public pondered a defence of his decision to perform the religious ceremony at Monts by Rev. Anderson Jardine in his small church at Darlington yesterday. Hundreds came from many parts of Northern England to hear his sermon.

Rev. A. Jardine Explains.

The idea of performing the ceremony, Jardine said, occurred to him after he read in the newspapers there would be no religious marriage.

"From that moment I became in the hands of God the simple channel for God's will to be done," he said.

Longest Eclipse in 1,200 Years Due Tuesday; Few to See It

New York, June 7.—(AP)—First of a series of eclipses that will break all records of modern times comes Tuesday in mid-Pacific Ocean, at noon, lasting seven minutes, four seconds, the longest in 1,200 years.

Two still longer are to come. The first one will last seven minutes, 40 seconds, in the astronomically brief period of 18 years hence, on June 15, 1955.

The longest will be seven minutes, 31 seconds, on June 21, 2150. In between, 36 years from now, is one of seven minutes three seconds, June 30, 1973.

All that the astronomers can say is that a rainstorm on June 20, 1955, will be, to them, the most unfortunate day in 18,000 years. It obscures the eclipse that day. For that one will be over land, in Ceylon, Siam and the Philippines, where observing will be possible—barring rain.

There is no land where the June 8 eclipse lasts seven minutes and four seconds and only two of all the world's astronomers have announced that they expect to see this long sight, from the rolling deck of a steamship.

The other observations will be made where the June 8 eclipse runs between three and four minutes, in Peru and Ceylon.

Reason for these extra long eclipses is a peculiar motion of the moon in its orbit around the earth. This can be pictured by thinking of the moon's orbit as a merry-go-round.

This moon merry-go-round would not be level with the earth, or flat-bellyp. It would be tilted higher on one side than the other. It would not be round but an ellipse.

The elliptical merry-go-round would revolve once each 18 years, and the moon, a ball rolling rapidly around it, would make a circuit every 27 days.

The moon's orbit is inclined to the plane between earth and sun, the ecliptic, like this kind of merry-go-round to the floor. An eclipse of the sun can occur only when the moon cuts this plane between sun and earth once a month.

It does not occur once a month.

Love Letters of Two Poets Ordered for Sale in London

Wimpole Street Love Story is Told in Correspondence

SALE BY EXECUTORS

London, June 7 (AP)—Manuscripts and unpublished letters of Elizabeth Barrett telling of her romance and runaway marriage with the poet Robert Browning are ordered sold for ($15,000) at public auction today.

London, June 7 (AP)—Unpublished letters recording the romance of Robert Browning and Elizabeth Barrett and their escape from parental tyranny were ordered up for sale today. They sold for $15,000.

The love story of Wimpole Street, which culminated in the marriage of the two poets, was told in letters Elizabeth wrote home to her brother and sister after she eloped to escape her autocratic father.

The letters are part of the well-known collection of Miss Elizabeth Barrett Barrett, nephew, the late Lieut.-Colonel H. H. Kelly, and were sold by his executors.

The collection is said to be most important group of Browning material to reach the market since 1913 when 600 letters and papers were sold for $129,680.

Included in the papers were a number of early manuscripts left behind on Sept. 19, 1846, the day of Mrs. Browning's romantic flight from 50 Wimpole Street, an act which her embittered father never forgave.

Principal items in the collection were 111 letters from Mrs. Browning to Arabel Barrett, 57 to George Barrett, 128 to her friend Mrs. Sophia May Eckley, and her correspondence, much dating from her children.

Wolf Reported Seen Prowling About Grounds of Castle

Duke And Bride Settle Down to Country Life Routine

WINDSO R IS ACTIVE

Noetsch, Austria, June 7 (AP)—The wolf of the Dobratsch Mountains was reported today to have been prowling about the grounds of Castle Wassersleonburg where the Duke and Duchess of Windsor are spending their honeymoon.

An attendant at the chateau declared he saw the beast by flashes of lightning during a heavy storm. Word immediately spread through the countryside and hunts were planned to organize another hunt such as the one in which their ancestor the countryside the day the Windsors arrived.

Nearby farmers have put up with his ravages for almost three years. Several organized efforts to capture He has been accused of numerous raids on the castle's dairy, deer and chamois.

The Duke and his bride, meantime were settling down to a country life routine in the privacy they requested after the wedding dance at the Chateau de Cande in France.

The Duke, attired in tyrolean leather breeches, white hose and shortsleeved shirt watered flowers in the garden yesterday and looked over the grass of a field that needed cutting.

Jean Harlow Dead

Los Angeles, June 7 (CP)—Jean Harlow, glamorous platinum blond of the movie screen, died today.

The actress had been ill for some days with anaemia poisoning.

The three-married actress, whose real maiden name was Harlean Carpenter, was born March 3, 1911. She assumed a variation of her mother's maiden name, Jean Harlow, for her film career. Accompanied by her mother, the beautiful blonde made her first Hollywood trip at the age of ten years, but homesickness soon drove the two back to their home in Kansas City.

BANCROFT VETERANS TO HOLD FIELD DAY

Viscount Corvedale Baldwin's Title

London, June 7 (CP)—Sir Stanley Baldwin, K.G., who becomes Earl Baldwin tomorrow, has chosen the courtesy second title of Viscount Corvedale, it became known today.

It had been expected he would choose Bewdley, the Worcestershire parliamentary division he has represented in the House of Commons for 29 years.

Corvedale is a Shropshire valley near the village of Much Wenlock where the Baldwin family was founded 326 years ago.

CRITICISM OFFERED AGAINST PRINCESSES

London, June 7 (AP)—Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret may be the darlings of the British people, but even they deserve criticism, great or small, they get it.

This time the criticism is small. The two Princesses did not cover their heads in Westminster Abbey during their mother and father were crowned King and Queen and people have been writing to the editors about it.

The writers said the two Princesses should have worn hats. Others who did not comply with the rule were told that even if they had put a hanky on their heads it would not have been so bad.

CHIEF LYNCH WARNS PUBLIC ON PROPER CARE OF GASOLINE

In view of the many recent fires with their attendant heavy loss of property and in some instances, life, resulting from the careless use of gasoline, safety measures will be used in enforcing the law governing the carriage and handling of this inflammable fluid, Fire Chief Lynch warned today.

"We have been instructed to enforce the law to the limit," he stated, "especially that which affects the carrying and storing of gasoline in glass or metal containers. The public must use government-approved containers and those who persist in breaking the law will be subject to a heavy fine. Other information received from the Fire Marshal's Department is to the effect that motorboats must shut off their motors while re-fueling at filling stations. Both driver and service station owner are liable if this law is not observed."

NORWAY MAPLES USED TO REPLACE DEAD TREES IN THE CITY

Belleville's shade trees are being replaced faster than they are being cut or die of decay it is indicated by the announcement that fifty more new trees will be planted on residential streets of the city in a tree planting campaign carried on by the local Board of Parks Commission for the past three years.

The Board reports that some of our trees are dying, but we are replacing them faster," stated the chairman of the Commission, Chas. J. Symons.

Practical experience of the past few years has shown the Board the wisdom of planting more Norway Maples for shade trees in preference to any other type. This year, of over fifty planted, only one was reported lost.

Prize Handkerchief Owned Near Here

R.R. 2, Belleville, Ontario.
Editor Ontario Intelligencer:

I saw in Friday's Telegram of a Mrs. Baldwin of London having just found a linen handkerchief and that it was a valuable article for collectors. I would like to say that I, too, have one in excellent condition, with the motto "Absent Minded Beggar" music by Arthur Sullivan Copyrighted by Daily Mail Publishing Co. Ltd., London, England, also picture of Queen Victoria and Lord Roberts, also map of South African Republic.

I found it some 20 years ago among some papers 'of my grandfather's. Thinking this might be of interest to you to know there was one to be found so near to Belleville.

Yours sincerely,
Mrs. A. J. Sine.

STUDENTS TOLD LIFE DEVELOPED BY DISCIPLINE

Handicaps May Become Blessings Says Rev. Archer Wallace

VALUE OF AMBITION

Albert College Baccalaureate Service Held at Bridge St. Church

"Discipline has a real ministry in life," said the Rev. Archer Wallace of Toronto, honorable Editor of Sunday School Publications, of the United Church of Canada, preaching the baccalaureate sermon to Albert College faculty, board of governors and students on Sunday morning at Bridge Street United Church. "Even the potato plant is frail and fragile. Everybody knows the strongest races in physical strength and stature are those in northern climes, as Norway and Sweden, raised in the most stormy climes which sap man's vitality."

Dr. Wallace pointed out "one of the sad things of life is that we are tempted to think knowledge is everything for ourselves."

"It has been said by an educationist, that 'every boy ought to be compelled to study one subject that he heartily dislikes.'"

Discipline Good For One

"It is good for him," commented Dr. Wallace, "not because acquisition of that knowledge is a very great thing for him, but because the very process of acquisition will be good for him."

His colleague, Charles Kingsley who said, "Thank God every morning you get up you have to do things you really dislike."

Many a man who received his training and education under the Sidney and Frugally was one of the principles of the old Greek system of instruction, and developed enormous prise, has said, "I am not going to let my children have anything that way."

So the shelters his own children. They grow up weaklings, said Dr. Wallace.

There was cited the case of a noted American who at the age of 40 was stricken at the height of his powers. He was wealthy. Life had been a fulfilment. Then he had received an infantry-first birthday a cheque for a million dollars from his millionaire father.

Handicap of Wealth

The preacher said that when the registrar of a university sees a boy coming to his office in a powered car to a university and enter the office shaking he is rolled in a course, he remarked, "there is a young man who should be handicapped by the lack of a car, a tremendous handicap of too much money."

Euclid once told the King of Egypt, who wanted his son trained by the great mathematician of old "There is no royal road to learning." There was no way in which the prince could have become proficient except by study as others have to do.

Discipline is also true in the development of our moral and spiritual natures." Mr. Wallace said, telling the story of a woman who had taken sympathy enlisted with sickness, the cocoon from which a butterfly was emerging, in order to ease its pain and struggle, not knowing that the very struggle, not pain in release were intended by nature to develop the butterfly. The creature so released sickened and died.

Contributions of Handicapped

"The human race today owes its success more to the handicapped than any other people," the Wallace noted, telling how when a proposal was made for a rigid physical examination of all students at the entrance to Harvard University, one Professor Eliot of Harvard objected, said that the most brilliant graduates had been the handicapped, the deaf, those with defective eyesight and the paralyzed. The box on the ear made Edison deaf and it made him the inventor of the phonograph.

"You boys and girls are living in an age which is going to change a great deal. Just what those changes will be no one can tell. It may be some sound defeats sense years there will be less competition in business, less competition than there is in life today. I believe that in twenty-five years time there will be work for everybody.

Need of Discipline

"But nothing will ever take the place of industry, honesty, perseverance wholesome ambition."

The preacher closed the statement of a couple of his, a preacher in London, England, who told Mr. Wallace that there is so much legislation today, so much is done to protect the people, that the race is slipping back. Hundreds of thousands have been added to the state allowance of twenty-five shillings a week and the country was greatly in fear that ambition had gone out of a host of young men.

"I do not know what Britain will be like in 25 years." Rev. Dr. Wallace said. "Organized society is striving for us. It brought out self-reliance, perseverance, patience and discipline. Something will have to be done to instil honesty, ambition, perseverance in the lives of the young people. Boys, without discipline and training, will be but hothouse plants. It is the set of the sail, and not the gale that decides the course, he said.

Dr. Wallace's text was from St. Luke's 19th chapter and 17th verse "Well done thou hast been faithful over a few things I will make thee ruler over many cities."

DEATH DUE TO PUNCTURED LUNG

Nicholas Millikovitch, 40, Dies of Injuries Received Near Gilmour

An inquest looking into the death of Nicholas Millikovitch, 40 year old miner, who sustained fatal injuries while tamping dynamite near Gilmour on Tuesday last, was opened at the Coroner's Funeral Home, Everett Street this morning before Coroner Dr. Thrasher and J. J. Robertson.

Identification was established by Paul Millikovitch, Toronto, a son of the deceased. Dr. G. E. Stobie, attending physician, testified to the effect that Millikovitch had died as the result of a punctured right lung, which resulted in internal hemorrage and shock.

"I understand the deceased man was tamping dynamite on a road construction job, when a premature explosion occurred, forcing his tamping rod through his chest. Would such injuries result in the injuries received and might those injuries have been caused by his fall?" Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan KC., who conducted the investigation asked Dr. Stobie. The answer was in the affirmative.

Sergeant Booth was the coroner's constable and the proceedings were adjourned until Monday, June 14th at the Police Court rooms. Mr. Donnan instructed the constable in charge to notify the Highway Department. Mr. Millikovitch received his fatal injuries while employed on road construction near Gilmour. Millikovitch came to Canada from his native Jugoslavia in 1932, his son reported. The body was later released for burial.

Kitchen is Damaged At Belmont Restaurant

Fire, originating from the base of the range in the kitchen, caused considerable damage to the rear of the Belmont Restaurant on Front Street, Thursday afternoon at about 1.30 o'clock. Firemen pluming near the base of the stove discovered a small blaze which they put through the flames at their way through the flooring to the kitchen below.

Firemen fought their way through the smoke-filled basement in an effort to locate the source of the blaze and at times were driven back by the heat. Eventually the fire was controlled from the narrow cellar-way. Axes smashed their way through the kitchen flooring to ensure firemen get to creep along the enclosed joists to the fire.

Firemen played streams of water on suspected spots in the walls and around the concrete base of the stove, finally reducing the flames but not before they had spread to the contents of the cellar and the kitchen.

CUT DOWN WEEDS ON CITY PROPERTY

The first of the season's growth of weeds and grass on vacant and undersrush was being harvested from city property in the west section this morning by department of public works employees with the aid of a power mower.

The crop this year is declared by the foreman to be one of the heaviest on record.

PRACTICE OF YOUTHS IS COMPLAINED OF

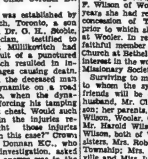
Irritated citizens today complained to the Ontario Intelligencer on the practice of youths riding their bicycles on the foot walks especially on Front and Moira River. "My wife narrowly escaped being run down by one ridden by a good sized lad on Saturday. Had she not been quick and suddenly jumped aside in all probability my wife might have been seriously injured," stated a well known West Hill resident today. It is strictly against the law to ride bicycles over the foot bridge, that bridge being provided for the convenience of pedestrians only. West Hill residents feel that police action or a warning notice would be considerably to relieve this overcrowding menace of children often not only on the foot bridge, but also on the sidewalks leading to the approach from the eastern entrance.

3rd Belleville Brownie Pack Enjoys Outing

The 3rd Belleville Brownie Pack had a delightful picnic on Saturday at Miss Tulk's Cottage, Oak Lake. A number of the Brownies' parents driving the thirty-seven out, and calling for them in the evening and Mrs. Leo Riggs, the Commissioner, kindly drove a load too and spent the afternoon with the Brownies. There were games and songs, a "Hunt for Beauty" with a prize for the six finding the most beautiful things) — and then the Brownies acted their play "Lost A Brownie Smile", for some of the youngsters. Primrose (Patty); Gwen McBrien, (the Moon), Elizabeth Keeler (Brown Owl), Helen Newton (Pillar Box), Eileen Channon, Mary Pinsoff and Betty Donnah, (Roadside Chestnuts), Lillian Jeffs, (who led the singing), and Yvonne Keeler, (who led the dalsies), remembering and doing their parts so well.



After supper the prizes and badges were given. Two of the four scamp Twisty Owls have earned their warrants and received their pins—Nancy Walker and Estelle Scott.

Owls calls for a lot of work, reading and a written paper on Brownie work and then they receive a badge them with their tests. Before leaving Hazel gained the Cooking test, about cleaning up papers etc.—singing.

Where we've been no one can find
For never a trace we leave behind.
Only folk who've helped todo?
Know a Brownie's been this way."

And great was the gratification of Brown Owl when two of the men present, who could never before had the grounds been left so clean after a picnic.

Dreamers Conceived Union Of Churches, Says Preacher

Rev. Archer Wallace Says Religious Appeal is Aspiration

UNION / SERVICE

"The world today would be poorer without dreamers. He (I) was man of this type who conceived the idea of Union, the twelfth anniversary of which we celebrate today", the Rev. Archer Wallace, Associate Editor of Sunday School Publications for the United Church of Canada, told members of the combined congregations of the United Church branches in Belleville, in an address: address "Little Ships that Never Sail" to Bridge Street United Church last evening.

They dreamed of a Protestantism without the petty, silly divisions that made a stumbling block to the expansion of the work of Christ at home and abroad. They were the type of men who were essentially men of ideals, who believed that the things of life are not those seen and temporal, but rather those unseen and eternal."

Inspiration

"True religion deals not with abstractions", Mr. Archer continued, "but with aspiration. It is not so much what man attains as what he aspires to do, and the man who consummates his desires, rather than the achievement of his efforts, has true religion. David wanted to build a temple to the Lord Jesus, but the sins of his past rose up against him and his efforts were frustrated. But what did God say to him? 'Inasmuch as it was in thy heart to build thou didst build.' For God sees not only what men achieve but what they reason in their hearts."

The speaker pointed to the fact that the majority of successful men of today were dreamers in their youth. "The great achievements of our time" he said, "were born in the mind of a dreamer. They are not achieved merely through the efforts of man, but are the consummation of the desires of youth, for the things we desire the most are the things we get."

The Rev. Mr. Archer, in his inimitable eloquence, illustrated a splendid address with many stories which brought out in simple detail the many points of his theme, "Little Ships that never Sail".

The Rev. I. B. Naylor, pastor of Tabernacle United Church was in charge of the service, an outstanding feature of which, was the splendid rendition by the choir of the Hallelujah Chorus with the congregation standing.

EAST SEYMOUR

East Seymour—Miss Edith Archer Reg.N., of Campbellford, is visiting her friend, Mrs. Harriet Cole and Mr. James Robinson at Merrie.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rannie of Campbellford, are guests of their daughter, Mrs. Roy Walker and also of their son, Jack of Merrie.

The Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's Church, Seymour held their regular June meeting at the Manse on Thursday afternoon, when an interesting program was presented.

Hoard's W.M.S. and W.A., held their June meeting on Wednesday 2nd. An interesting feature of the program was an address of appreciation of the long and faithful service in the W.M.S. of Mrs. A. H. Parr of Hoard's read by Miss Alice Rhone and Mrs. Andrew Neagle presented Mrs. Parr with a Life Membership Certificate from the Board's W.M.S.

Other items on the program were readings by Misses Mae Sharpe and Viola Parr, also Miss Mildred Neagle prepared and read a historical sketch of Hoard's Church, familiarly termed Stephen's Church because Stephen Boots donated the land for the church. The cost of the church, was $300.00 for the material, the labor was voluntarily given. The Bells was made and donated by Mr. Bunnell. In 1871 the congregation was organized with 26 families in connection with Shirling, but in 1884, the congregation was put on the Seymour Methodist circuit. In 1904 an organ was purchased; before that, the vocal leaders were Messrs. Stephen Boots, James Barnett and James Landon in succession. Mrs. Totten Williams (nee Etta Jeffs), was the first organist. There is no record of the ministers before 1864, but several were mentioned who were well known in this vicinity and Reverends Watt, Pogue, Wight, Wellsrell and others.

In 1926 the organ was replaced by a piano and 1933 a kitchen was built and 1936 a cement platform before the church took the place of the old wooden one and now the exterior of the church is being stuccoed. 1936 was the Union, bringing in some new families from the Presbyterian Communion.

Miss Jean Rannie of Brighton, was in attendance at the Milne-Ingram wedding on June 5th.

Mrs. Will Brady of North Bay has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson, her husband came for her over the week-end of June 5th.

The following is quotation in part of a letter received by Miss Alice Hume from Miss Mabel Powell of the Coderich Collegiate Institute staff, who was granted a year's absence to go to Paris, France, to learn French "as it is spoke". Miss Powell taught in Stirling for some years and many friends there will be delighted to learn of her success, etc.—"Until the end of February I took a course at the Alliance Francaise—it was a practical course in pronunciation and history and a general survey of French literature. There were two diplomas to be obtained, an elementary one which entailed only two exams or a superior one which meant five exams. I tried the superior one and fortunately was successful. Then in March I began another course, which again has two diplomas. This course embraces, literature, history, geography, philosophy, phonetics and French Composition".

"I've changed my abode since I wrote you, and am living with a widow and her maid and as they know no English, it is ideal for my French. Madam is a very cultured woman."

"I have had a wonderful winter in Paris, with the Alliance Francaise getting up two excursions a week to all the historical spots in Paris. Then I have made it a practice to go to the Comedie Francaise or to the Odeon once or twice a week. In the French classics are given in succession. I often go to music halls to listen to twilight recitals. That I had conducted tour in Switzerland and Italy. We stayed at Nice, Genoa, Rome, Naples, Florence, Venice, Milan, Nice, Strasbourg, Fontainebleau, Mount Vesuvius, Lido, Isle of Capri. I liked Naples and Venice best. I'm home for Easter Sunday, was one of 200,000 to receive the Papal blessing. I am going next week to London for the Coronation, am fortunate to have received a ticket. I'm also going to procession. Also at Pentecost I may go either to Holland or Germany. I expect to leave Paris for good and all July 7th and will first visit Lourdes, Avignon, Carcassonne in France, and Berne and Zurich in Switzerland, then I plan to visit England and Ireland— and then Home."

KILLED IN SHOOTING

George Jackson, ABOVE, Leamington, Ont., resident and brother-in-law of Hon. H. C. Nixon, Provincial Secretary of Ontario, was killed in a Hamilton hospital from gunshot wounds he received during a shooting affray in Hamilton when one man was killed and another seriously wounded. The shooting, allegedly, by Joseph Chalmers Lee, Hamilton restaurant owner, is said to have occurred following an argument over a court decision which had been rendered against Lee.

PICTON

Picton—Eight regatta police will patrol the course at Picton Harbour on July 1st. Three men in boats will also be "buoy pickets". Every effort will be put forth by the committee to avoid accidents or confusion.

Mr. Gordon Whattam and bride of Whitby spent Wednesday and Thursday, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Palmatier.

A crowd of over three hundred ladies gathered in the Parish House on Friday afternoon for the Cooking School put on by Mrs. Aitken, representing a manufacturing firm under the auspices of the R. and S. Club. The afternoon proved most interesting. A delectable birthday cake, mayonnaise, chicken dishes, strawberry shortcake, fruit and vegetable salads were almost magically made by the demonstrator, and many valuable cooking hints given. Following this Mrs. Wm. Ward, pres. of the Club assisted in the drawing for prizes. Many products of the company, and the culinary achievements of the afternoon were given to the holders of the lucky numbers. Mrs. Hussey, 78, the oldest lady present, carried off the birthday cake, Mrs. Maidens of Trenton, nee Ilah Waring of Picton, the most recent bride present, received a lovely silver tray, and many unnoverved ladies in the audience were given silver dishes. A splendid sum was realized by the Club, which received all the proceeds of the afternoon.

The June meeting of the Minerva Circle of the Baptist Church met at the home of Mrs. Walter Keech with a goodly number present. Plans were made for helping at the Hospital Auxiliary Garden Party later in the month. Delegates were chosen for the annual Association meeting in Cobourg. Delicious refreshments were then served by little Misses Doris Ackerman and Betty McLellan and a social half hour enjoyed.

On Thursday evening the W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. Chas. North, Mary St., West. Following routine business, the president, Mrs. Jno. Grimmon gave a splendid report of the Association meeting in Belleville. Following this, Mrs. Welbanks and Mrs. Frank Starr were called to the front of the room and presented with gold life membership pins presented after years of faithful service. Mrs. F. Walden sang very prettily "In the Shadows." The hostess, assisted by several members, served refreshments, bringing the meeting to a close.

DUTCH FASCIST

Holland, the land of tulips, windmills and baggy breeches, also has its fascist party, and here is the kingpin of that organization. He is Anton Adrian Mussert, 43-year-old ex-civil engineer. As in Germany, the official title of the party is "The National Socialist Party."

NEWS BRIEFS AND ODDITIES

San Francisco, June 5 (AP)—It took a bit of check, perhaps, but Mayor Angelo J. Rossi turned down a kiss—from Georges Bonnet, French Ambassador to the United States.

"Let's shake hands," the Mayor said. They did.

But when the Mayor is awarded the French decoration of officer in the Legion of Honor, he said he'd probably be kissed—on both cheeks.

Orvalla, Ore., June 5 (AP)—Thirteen of the 30 fifth grade students went on a sit-down strike, demanding immediate summer vacations.

The youngsters were sent home with notes in their parents, who sided with the teachers.

All students were back in class for the next session, sitting down as easily as possible in their seats.

Darlington, England, June 5—(CP-Havas)—Rev. Robert Anderson Jardine arrived today to find awaiting him more than 300 letters and telegrams congratulating him for performing the wedding ceremony of the Duke and Duchess of Windsor.

He said he would explain his action from his own pulpit at tomorrow's evening service.

St. Thomas, Ont., June 5 (CP)—Rural mail carriers have depended small in many types of items but one farmer has taken the front seat for his novel idea. He has an old-fashioned covered fleece lined buggy, with the lowered cup on top, hanging outside the entrance to his farm house. But he has been advised he will not be to provide a regulation mail box.

Deptford, England, June 7 — (CP)—Self-styled champion butcher of the world, Jim Fowler is dead here at the age of 67. His schoolers is 300 pounds and walked more than 5,000 miles with a bottle balanced on his head.

Selkhill, Scotland, June 7 (CP) —It's an offence to be drunk while in control of an invalid chair.

So John McGuire of Motherwell found. He was fined 10 shillings (£2.50) in police court for being drunk while in control of "a carriage, namely an invalid chair."

Evidence was that a man in an invalid chair was zig-zagging along the road, McGuire admitted the charge.

London, June 7 (CP)—Issue of stocks used in Westminster Abbey for the Coronation ceremony had been oversubscribed. The stocks were offered for sale by the Office of Works along with Peer's chairs. In most cases the chairs and stools were sold to the persons who had used them. The Office of Works is also selling 28,000 red Marieds found the next Saturday. Farmer had found the chickens in bird's wings but two chicks and all but one of several eggs were undamaged.

London, June 7 (CP)—The Bishop of Ely, Rt. Rev. R. O. P. Heywood, ward's facetious on the breakdown of arrangements for crashing guests to leave Westminster Abbey after the Coronation. He wrote: "One Peer was near me as we were walking, and after about an hour and a half he leaned in my direction and said: 'Does your Lordship ever say, tut,' when circumstances are annoying?"

"In reply I could only aver it had not been my custom to employ the particular expression to which he referred, which, indeed, seemed to me to be hardly adequate to the occasion."

Gatooma, South Rhodesia, June 7 (CP)—Piper Jock MacKay's piping was music to his bride's ears and he was rewarded him to rehearse for the Coronation.

Piper MacKay chose one of the town's streets to practice, a man whom he took to be a civilian asked him to desist. Piper MacKay said he would do so only if ordered by the police. The civilian was a policeman and Jock was fined 10 shillings (£2.50) for disturbing the peace.

Dorchester, England, June 7 — (CP)—W. J. Trowbridge, Dorchester Australian sheep farmer spent eight weeks travelling 12,000 miles in exhibit a pair of shearing and bliss cushions from the Coronation stands and Lion and Crown decorations.

Nanaimo, B.C., June 7 (CP)— A mother grouse who remained with her chicks and eggs as a forest fire leaped around her nest was rescued by firefighters near here. Robert Murray and Barney

HER KNEES SWELLED WITH RHEUMATISM

To Go Upstairs Was Agony

There is nothing in which rheumatism is a greater handicap than in doing ordinary household duties — getting dressed, running up and down stairs. How to overcome that handicap, and relieve rheumatic aches and pains, is the subject of the following letter:—

"I have been taking Kruschen Salts for three months. When I started, I had rheumatism in both knees. They were very swollen, I could not rise from a chair without assistance, I could not kneel, and to go upstairs was agony. Now I can get upstairs and kneel as much as I like. Since I have taken Kruschen I can work like a new woman."—Mrs. H. S.

Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts are effective solvents of uric acid. Other ingredients of these Salts have a stimulating effect upon the internal organs, and assist them to expel the dissolved uric acid from the system.

AIRPLANES OVER ARCTIC

"The Arctic may become one day the chief flying crossroads of the world," predicts Vilhjalmur Stefansson, noted Arctic explorer, in The Rotarian Magazine. His reason: "The near way is north."

The shortest air route from Chicago to Calcutta, he points out, is due north. The direct way from San Francisco to Berlin is north via Greenland and Iceland.

"Most great cities are in the north temperate zone", says the explorer. "The direct airlanes between them lie across the Arctic. By these routes you save from one to several thousand miles, compared with the usual rail and steamer lines. They are typical routes."

Anticipating charges that the Arctic is too cold, too foggy, too stormy, too hazardous for forced landings, etc., he says:

"The lowest Weather Bureau temperature for the north coast of Canada is 52 degrees and the lowest for the north coast of Alaska is 54 degrees. But the mercury drops lower than that in North Dakota, Montana, Wyoming. Yet there is no talk of its being too cold for flying. It has, instead been discovered that flying conditions are better in these states on extremely cold days than on some days of intermediate temperatures.

"Fog, enemy of the flier, is rare in very cold weather, as in great heat. It is worst at intermediate temperatures. Common and very dangerous in the range from just above freezing to 15 or 20 degrees below freezing. This temperature belt is seldom encountered in the Arctic during the mid-winter.

"Sleet is a major flying handicap. In most of the Arctic, sleet dangers are absent for practically every day of the six coldest months.

"Nothing promotes flying safety more than having numerous and good emergency landing places," continues Mr. Stefansson. "Now, the soil in the northern three-quarters of Canada is eternally frozen. The earth is similarly frozen in three-quarters of Alaska, in the northern parts of the Scandinavian countries, Finland, European Russia, and Siberia. Throughout this vast range, except on mountain slopes, from one-fifth to three-fifths of the surface is lakes. Everyone of them is a good emergency landing place in winter, most of them are in summer. During summer you use pontoons or flying boat and come down safely on the water.

"The Arctic lands are not generally uninhabited. There are natives on many of its coasts, including some of the islands. Settlements of Europeans are found here and there, and they are developing fast. Along the north shore of Canada and Alaska there is a habitation on the average every 20 miles."

PENSIONS FOR THE GREAT

The British Government, on the hundredth anniversary of the so-called Civil List Pensions in their present form, is to make more generous public provision for those authors and savants whom the public has in part failed to support. Hitherto the limit to which new pensions might be granted each year has been £1200; in the future it is to be £2500. At present, the state disburses £23,000 annually in this way. The new provision will eventually raise the cost to £50,000.

The days of the hungry Grub Street scribbler are nearly over. The book-reading public has taken over the office of the old private patron, and authors and scholars have greatly benefited. Men of genius are not, of course, rewarded on the scale of film stars, but they often manage to do quite well in a financial way. Both Rudyard Kipling and Arnold Bennett acquired fortunes of something like £50,000 and Thomas Hardy, who was never what is called a popular writer, saved from his earnings nearly £100,000. But in spite of these things, many an author or scholar or artist who has deserved well of his country in the end fails on poverty, as did recently the late Sir William Watson, a poet of no mean rank. It is such cases that the Civil List Pensions would help.

Pensioners have included Tennyson, Browning, T. H. Huxley, W. H. Hudson, Faraday, Wordsworth and Livingstone. But the generosity of the pension has in the past by no means been commensurate with the celebrity of the pensioners. There has long been a demand that the scale of pensions should be revised and there will be widespread satisfaction that this demand has now been granted.—Christian Science Monitor.

BELLEVILLE IS SHORT ON PUBLIC PARKS and the effort being made to create a lake shore park (The Beaches) where kiddies can play in the sand and grownups can wade and swim to their heart's content, or accumulate a nice coat of tan is a worthy one. It was necessary to locate this park to the east of the city to find clear pure water free from sewage pollution and away from the city of gasoline tanks which make a skyline of their own and discourage picnic-making in their immediate vicinity. The Beaches are (or is it is?) close enough to the city to be easily reached and far enough away from the smoke, dust, soil, and turmoil to provide plenty of fresh air and country atmosphere and scenery, and without doubt is the beginning of what will eventually be a valuable asset for Belleville. To the moving spirits behind the enterprise and all who are working so hard for its success the thanks of the public is due, and particularly the gratitude of the mothers and the children for the gift of a pleasure place of rest and recreation, and escape from the humid days to the coolness of Quinte's waters.

CROSS WORD PUZZLES ARE COMING BACK in the public estimation and many industrious folks are passing the time pleasantly and profitably figuring out what three-legged word stands for this, that and the other thing. 'Tis a great game for those who feel a lack of words in their system, but for those who are trying to escape from a plethora of words in various guises cross-word puzzles are poison. Recent cross-word puzzles required a word of three letters, the first letter being H the last being O, which when completed with a letter in the middle signified half a coconut in the language or dialect or pidgin-english-chinese of the Philippine Islands. What a handicap. Brockville folks working on this puzzle had a brilliant idea. They sent a night lettergram to the Parliamentary Library in Ottawa asking for the word and were rewarded with proper answer by noon mail. Just think of the educational advantage of knowing what a half coconut is called in the Philippine Islands—and that in three letters—and there are said to be over two thousand different uses for the coconaut, each with a different name. How about learning them?

THE FEMININE TOUCH

Like so many of those who visit the Casinos in foreign seaside resorts, the English woman tourist— obviously long past the first flush of youth—acted as though she were in her early twenties.

One night in the roulette room she walked up to the table, put her stake on No. 22.

Turning to her neighbor, she remarked sweetly:

"Do you know, I have a presentiment that the number representing my age will be lucky."

The bouncing white ball came to rest at last.

"Number 46!" caller croupier.

The neighbor turned to our English friend.

"What a pity, my dear," she murmured, "that you didn't trust your presentiment."

LOOKING BACKWARD

30 YEARS AGO

June 7th., 1917.

Col. W. N. Ponton sent some young maple trees from Belleville to England a year ago. Recently he received some leaves from those trees which are now growing in a friend's garden in London. The trees are evidently being acclimatized with good results.

Quinte Chapter, I. O. D. E., will observe June 9th. as their annual Rose Day.

At the Driving Park an interesting game of baseball was played between the Ontario Junior team and the Pony team of this city. This was the first match of the season between teams representing the City Junior Baseball League and it was certainly some game. There was a fair crowd of spectators and all thoroughly enjoyed the sport, both teams played snappy ball. At the conclusion of the 9th. innings the score stood 3 to 3, Wade and Allen were the battery for the Ontarios and Smith and J. Casey for the Ponies. The following comprised the teams: Ontarios:—Wade, Weir, Cooper, McWilliams, Lock, Colling, Mills, Aikins, Snell. Ponies:—Hunter, Lynch, J. Casey, Ketcheson, Curran, Arnold, Casey, Quilcey, Smith, Ernest Hagerman acted as umpire to the satisfaction of both teams.

ONTARIO PREMIER BREAKS WITH W. L. M. KING ON C.I.O. ISSUE

Close friends here when Premier Hepburn made his startling statement before the Canadian Life Insurance Officers' Association meeting at Toronto and added, "I hope he (Mr. King) hears me." The breach between the Ontario Liberal and his leader was a direct outcome of dissenting views on the C.I.O. Mr. Hepburn claimed the Federal government's policy was vacillating when he asked them to keep the C.I.O. organizers out of Canada. Political observers in Ontario feel the premier's statement has widened the breach in the Ontario Liberal party ranks caused by the union issue.

TEAR GAS, FIRE HOSE USED TO BREAK UP LAUNDRY RIOT

GEO. COOK HEADS CHEESE BOARD

W. C. Morrow, Retiring President Thanked For Untiring Efforts

At the annual meeting of the Belleville Cheese Board held on Saturday morning, Mr. Geo. F. Cook, Stirling, was the unanimous choice of president for the organization for the ensuing year.

The election of Mr. Cook followed the nomination of Mr. Mills as president, who, however, asked the privilege of withdrawing his name.

Mr. Cook will be assisted by the following officers during the current term:

First vice-president—W. H. White, Roslin.

Second vice-president—Herbert Burks, Ivanhoe.

Third vice-president—W. H. Bedell, Consecon.

Secretary-treasurer—F. R. Mallory, who will continue his fifteenth year in the same capacity.

Auditors — Chas. Mumby and Frank Wessels.

Previous to the election of officers, Mr. W. C. Morrow, president of the Board for the past two years, delivered the address it had been for him to be able to head that body during part of its strenuous latter years. With the Board now in good position and circumstances, Mr. Morrow requested that his name be not advanced for re-election. A vote of thanks for his capable management of the Board during his term as president was tendered to Mr. James Cook, in the form of an official motion, which was seconded by Mr. Chas. Fraleigh. Appreciation for the efforts of Mr. Morrow on behalf of the Board was also expressed by Mr. W. R. McCreary.

The auditor's report presented by Mr. Frank Wessels revealed a standing balance of $60.26 to date. Receipts during the year were $138.86 and expenditures listed at $83.40.

Although an effort was made by buyer during the year to collect the names of cheese factories making free deliveries to Belleville after sales have been made, the matter of transportation from factory to city will be one alone in which buyer and factory are directly concerned. No motion could be passed upon the board making necessary the posting of this information, it was intimated.

MASSASSAGA

Massasaga—Mr. and Mrs. Bert Kotchepaw and little daughter Eleanor of Bethesda were dinner guests on Sunday with Miss Hattie and Mr. Jim Brodd.

Miss Helen Wallbridge, nurse-in-training at the Belleville General Hospital, spent Tuesday afternoon and evening with her parents Mr. and Mrs. H. Wallbridge.

ONE SLAIN, TWO DYING, IN HAMILTON, ONT., SHOOTING

Fifty-eight-year-old Joseph Chalmers Lee, restaurant proprietor of Dundas, Ont., was placed under arrest by Hamilton, Ont., police on a charge of murder after a fusillade of bullets, allegedly fired by him, slew one Hamilton man and sent two others to hospital with scant chances of survival. John Anderson, the dead victim; his brother, Anthony, and George Jackson of Guelph, Ont., a brother-in-law of Hon. H. C. Nixon, Ontario provincial secretary, were not expected to survive their wounds. The alleged shooting occurred as the result of a quarrel over litigation which resulted in a recent court judgment against Lee, who is shown (top left). Centre is the horse shoe factory in Hamilton where the shooting occurred; at right is J. P. Gorman, who escaped the fusillade of shots by locking himself in the plant office and later called police to the scene. Lee surrendered after the shooting.

MAP RECORDS STORY OF WAR AND BLOODSHE D IN SPAIN

Above is a view of the chessboard of Spain showing the different moves and their locale as the grim game of war has progressed until now it has brought all of Europe to the brink of another 1914 No. 1, is where the Spanish rebellion broke out on July 19, 1936. In Morocco; 2—July 20 saw General Francisco Franco's Moroccan troops and General Quiepo de Llano's Spanish regulars unite at Cadiz; 3—rebels captured San Sebastian on July 22; 4—government captured to move to Toledo, but lost it later; 5—August 1 saw the beginning of the rebel drive on Madrid; 6—the city of Badajos captured by rebels on Aug. 11. This city was the scene of the first slaughter of non-combatants; 7—August 12, an uprising by army men in Barcelona is crushed; 8—Asturian miners (loyalists) launched a dynamite attack on Oviedo still untaken; 9—the rebel capital of Burgos repulsed government attack, August 26; 10—Nov. 8, aerial bombings force Madrid government to move to Valencia; 11—on Feb. 8, General de Llano's rebel troops captured Malaga, important seaport; 12—by Mar Cantabrico, bringing government supplies from New York is sunk off Gijon on March 13; 13—on March 20, Italians fighting for rebels suffered disastrous defeat at Guadalajar; 14 — Italy protests reported attack on warship, May 28; 15—May 29, German pocket battleship Deutschland bombed by government aeroplanes, 25 killed; 16—May 16, seaport of Almeria bombarded by German naval squadron in reprisal for Deutschland bombing.

PRICE BAR GOLD PEGGED $34.66 TO STOP FLOW TO U. S.

New Price is Advance of 9.8 Cents to The Ounce

PROFIT IS CUT

Bullion Dealers Say it Costs 23 Cents Ounce to Ship to States

London, June 7.—(AP)—The price of bar gold was pegged at 140s 8 1-3d ($34.66) a fine ounce on the London market today in an effort to stem the flow of the metal to the United States. The new price was an advance of five pence (9.8 cents) to the ounce.

The new price cut the profit which exporters of bullion stood to make by shipment to the United States.

The narrowing of the margin between the London price and the government-fixed price of 35 an ounce in New York made shipments less profitable and tended to discourage selling on the London market.

London sales today were 262 bars, valued at about £272,200 (1,- 326,000), as compared with 465 bars valued at about £1,296,800 ($6,484,- 000) Saturday.

Bullion dealers explained it costs about 11 1-2 pence (23 cents) an ounce to ship gold to New York for sale at the $35 price so shippers must buy at less than $34.66 an ounce in order to make a profit.

Cause Not Disclosed

What part the British equalization fund might have played in the move today was not disclosed. Bullion brokers who fixed one price said it was the result of a "small or sizeable" and an increased demand.

For two weeks an unprecented total of about $84,000,000 in gold has been sold on the London market giving rise to fears the strain would be too great for the governments of both Great Britain and the United States to handle readily.

CARNIVAL OPENS AUSPICES OF QUINTE BEACHES

Cricket Field Will be Gay Gay With Color and Merry With Music and Happy Throngs This Week

The Bloa Greater Exposition Shows trainload of equipment arrived in Belleville Sunday night over the Canadian National Railways and at daybreak Monday morning the staff of one hundred and fifty people commenced the task of unloading and erecting the equipment carried by this large outdoor amusement organization which is known throughout the country as Canada's Outstanding Midway.

Everything is now ready for the Grand Opening and from then on for the balance of this week the Cricket Field near Houlton's lumber mill will be one long amusement park with its thousands of lights, music, whirr of the riding devices and the familiar voices of the side show barkers and here with young and old may enjoy clean and wholesome entertainment and spend many pleasant hours amidst the joys and pleasures of the Carnival Midway.

Two of Canada's outstanding free attractions have been engaged and are being presented each evening at 8 and 11 o'clock out in the open and free to everyone. The Spanish Queen of the Air is presented at 9 o'clock in a sensational high trapeze act and at 11 o'clock the Wallenda Queen of the Air will present his daring Leap for Life from the centre of the tent to the waiting less than five feet of water.

The Sims Shows, as always, will operate in Belleville under the policy of FREE ADMISSION TO THE GROUNDS, and is sponsored by the Quinte Bay Beaches Association.

The Carnival will be officially opened at 8:00 o'clock this evening by His Worship Mayor Arnout, prior to which there will be a street parade, starting by the band, in which officers of the Beaches Association and civic officials will participate.

LOST SKYLINER FOUND ON PEAK

Ship Vanished Last December And is Found Badly Smashed

Alpine, Utah, June 7.—(AP)—A huge airliner that vanished last Dec. 15 with seven travellers in a mountain storm was found Sunday, smashed into "a million pieces" against a snow-drifted mountain peak.

Word of the end of the West's greatest air hunt was brought to this village, twenty-five miles south of Salt Lake City, by a breathless Civilian Conservation Corps youth. He said no bodies were "dug out" immediately.

The C.C.C. boy told me a part of it was sticking out of the snow on Lake Hardy Ridge, about five miles in the mountains above Alpine, when it was found at 8 o'clock yesterday morning," Vern Healey of Alpine said.

Healey said a guard was established at the scene.

"The plane was smashed into a million pieces," Healey said the courier related. "The wings were shorn off. Pieces were scattered e.. over the ridge above Lake Hardy. Mail bags were lying around, torn open.

The ship, a 10-passenger, twin-motored Boeing, disappeared before dawn of last Dec. 15 en route from Los Angeles to Salt Lake City.

The discovery was made by two Alpine residents—Emery Andrew and Melvin Dreyer—who had been searching nearly a month, lured as were scores of others by Western Air's offer of a $1,000 reward for the finder.

CHARGES ATTACK

In egotistive mood is pictured pretty Mary Mitchell, 20-year-old film extra, whose charge that she was attacked at a Bacchanalian party for movie saloonmen has started a new storm in the ever-storming film colony. Miss Mitchell told District Attorney Buron Fitts that she answered a studio call, believing that she was to take part in a movie. Instead, she says, she and many other young girls found themselves cast in the role of entertainers at the stag party.

REBEL GENERAL KILLED

Chief aide to General Francisco Franco and commander of the rebels's northern forces. General Emilio Mola, above was killed when an aeroplane in which he was riding crashed into a mountain side near the insurgent provisional capital of Burgos. The aeroplane, in which three others were killed, struck the mountain while flying in a fog. The death of General Mola whom General Franco claimed was the "only officer in whom I have supreme confidence," has clouded Basque soldiers to begin a new offensive against the rebel forces.

DAILY SHORT STORY

THE MAR

By Ralph Andre

Jimmy Bedford clenched his teeth to keep them from chattering. For weeks he had tried to summon courage to propose to Janet Ames. It was his last chance, for tomorrow he would sail for South America. He forced himself to look at her. Her lips were parted, her head cocked in that pert little way she had. Bewitchingly lovely, vibrant with health and love of life. Infinitely sweet and desirable she seemed.

Her bright glance caught his and held. Something, in the misty depths of the soft brown eyes gave him a breathless courage. He had a wild impulse to shout but the tightness in his throat made his voice low and husky. "Janet . . . I'm that is—I love you. Will you marry me?"

She retreated a step that brought her face into shadow. Seconds ticked into eternity, became minutes, hours, years, before she answered. "No, Jimmy, I cannot . . . we would . . . always be poor . . . can't you see, Jimmy? It's—it's because you're such an easy going! You're just a mark, a dear lovable mark . . . be like Bernard Wagner. No one imposes on him. He is a man of the world and he used modern methods . . . bound to succeed."

A smart fellow, Wagner. He had gone into the building contracting business in their home town. Every one knew that "Sunny" Wagner was a conner; a hard-headed business man; a competitor who was hard to beat. Ruthless in his methods but popular, nevertheless. Men hailed him on the street, in clubs, everywhere. They liked his brisk style and easy cordiality. He succeeded at everything he tackled. Dumb and unlucky Jimmy would watched her; wondered if that firm little chin would relent; knew that it would not. Then dully, slowly, the rest of her soft accusation burned in. His chin came up and the glance from his mild blue eyes was level. His voice was steady as he held out his hand and said, good-by.

Jimmy pitched his camp on the bleak mountainside where the icy blasts from the eternal snows of the rugged peaks of the Bolivian Cordilleras hurtled down and tore savagely at his frail tent. He threw himself into his work with grim purpose. He saved his money as never before.

It became a byword that anyone could make a fouch from "easy-going Jimmy Bedford." To a Hymans Indians he was "Don Santiago" (St. James). No one knew that the smiling, optimistic Jimmy carried a constant dull ache in his heart. He could not forget Janet Ames, but he stubbornly resisted an overwhelming desire to write to her. The silence between them held for three heart-tearing years. At the latter end of his contract he tore open a letter from Bernard Wagner with cold misgivings as her last words came to him again.

"Dear Old Friend Jimmy;" it began. A puzzled frown spread over Jimmy's fac as his eyes strayed to the signature at the bottom. He read, bewildered.

". . . and if you could just let me have a small loan—say twenty-five—

"Otherwise, things have been going well for your old pal. You, of course, remember Janet Ames. Well, old boy, I'm the lucky fellow . . . though once you had the inside track . . . be married in June . . ."

The letter dropped from Jimmy's cold fingers and he sat staring . . . Home. Jimmy swung from the train and looked about the station for his father and mother. They would be along. He was glad to be back. He said it several times as if it were a ritual to which he must cling. It was nice to see old faces, familiar sights. Everything looked the same. Not quite.

The young man took in the office and yard diagonally across the street. The windows were dirty and vacant, the yard deserted. A swinging right angle sign creaked mildly in the wind. "Bernard Wagner, Contractor," it said. Jimmy Bedford's old chum, Sunny, would have moved into the new ten-story bank building he had built—Jimmy's eyes strayed to it, a block up the street. It was not yet finished. It, somehow, looked dead.

"Jimmy," said a timid voice at his elbow.

"Janet!"

His heart contracted as he looked at her with wondering eyes. She was making a brave effort although the glistening eye belied the smile on her sensitive mouth. Her dress was neat but a trifle shabby. Why, it was the same one she had worn that last night! He remembered those pink flowers and the lace! What-you-call-it around the top of it. Her shoes. He realized by her heightened color pitifully aware of her clothes, and he looked again across the street.

"Where's 'Sunny' now?" His voice was wracked with pain. It sounded thin and metallic as it came from the top of his throat.

"He's gone, I—" Her voice trailed off and he wheeled in amazement. She was fumbling in her purse. He could only see the point of her chin. It was quivering. Presently she found what she sought, and held it out—an envelope. Dumbly, mechanically, he opened it and drew out a check. It bore his signature; and on the paper it said.

"Pay to the order of Bernard Wagner

"TWENTY - FIVE DOLLARS.

Tweed and District

Tweed—Tweed Fish and Game Club Officers are very much on the alert to provide first-class fishing in Stoco Lake for local disciples of Izaak Walton as well as for visiting fishermen. The President, Dr. W. A. Pall, announced that a new supply of a million pickerel fry were placed in the lake a few days ago and should result in excellent sport in two or three years.

Rev. E. B. Cooke of Cannington, a former pastor of Tweed United Church, spent a short time in Tweed on Friday and Saturday renewing acquaintances. He was in attendance at the Bay of Quinte Conference held in Smith's Falls and returned to Tweed with Mr. W. E. Tummon, who represented Tweed United Church at the conference. Rev. R. R. Nicholson, pastor of the United Church attended the sessions of the Conference.

Tweed Village Council held its June meeting on Monday, May 31st, instead of the first Monday in June as usual. There was a full attendance of the members: Reeve W. H. Sayers and Councillors R. Myles, C. E. Way, J. W. Kingston and P. King.

Communications were received from the Robert Simpson Company stating that as from May 1st it is merely acting as representative of the Company in a store managed and operated by himself, they are not liable for a transient traders' license.

The following accounts were paid: J. Quinn, Charity Acct. $30.00; Bell Telephone, $8.14; Rev. and Mrs. $6.02; Tweed News, $26.90; Loretta Woodcock, $8.00; D. H. Morrison, $4.00; W. H. Richardson, $30.00; H. Courneyea, shed rental, $10.00; C.P.R. Way, $3.00; Treasurer City of Belleville, $2.35; Gordon Steel Works, $41.67; R. Richmond, $22.32; Tweed Hydro, $202.77; Treas. Hastings County, $125.53.

Tweed Ladies' Softball team defeated Tamworth Ladies' on Wednesday afternoon at Memorial Park by a score of 15 to 8.

Tweed—The line-up: Tamworth: R. Steele, H. Marshall, L. Hughes, F. Wagar, L. Huffman, E. Courneyea, D. Tucker, M. Richmond, I. Wilson. Tweed: M. Luffman, 1b; C. Lang, 2b; A. Thompson, ss, c; P. Wilson, c; Marion Tummon, rf; Leola Rashotte, cf; Marjorie Tummon, 2b; E. Terry, 3b; A. Scott, p; V. Freeman, ss.

Umpires: Watson, Tamworth; Elsbury, Tweed.

In the second game Tweed High School boys defeated Tamworth High School boys by a score of 10 to 7, Gabourie, Tweed and Shires, Tamworth, were the umpires.

The Line-ups: Tamworth: Howes, ss; Quarterman, c; Carrol, rf; McKnight, if; Meeks, p; Birk, lf; Overlie, 3b; Turkington, 3b; O'Neil, cf. Tweed: Vance, 2b; Surrounds, 1b; Tummon, 1b, p; Sayers, c; Lajoie, cf; McCaw, lf; Austin, rf; Arner, 3b; Luffman, p, ss; H. McCaw, D. Porritt.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Enes left on Friday for Gananoque where Mr. Enes has been appointed Manager of the Belrite Store. During the fifteen months that Mr. Enes served as manager of the local branch of Belrite Stores he made a host of friends who regret his departing for reasons in his promotion. The Gananoque branch is much larger than the local branch. Mr. McBeth succeeds Mr. Enes in Tweed.

Weddings

KENNETT—SPALDING

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Spalding, 134 East Bridge Street, was the scene of a lovely summer wedding at three-thirty this afternoon, when their daughter, Lila Victoria, became the bride of Mr. Richard Eric Kennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Kennett, of Sutton, Surrey, England. The ceremony was performed by Rev. I. B. Naylor, pastor of Tabernacle United Church.

A wealth of Summer flowers in candle-lighted rooms made a beautiful setting for the ceremony. Masses of white spiraea were used as a background for colorful blossoms, and the ceremony took place under an arch below a window banked with flowers. The bride, given in marriage by her father, made a charming picture, wearing her mother's wedding gown of ivory Duchess satin, trimmed with rosepoint lace, and her veil, fingertip length, was of embroidered net. She carried a bridal bouquet of lilies of the valley.

Miss Elise Livingston, Baltimore, as maid of honor, wore turquoise blue marquisette, and Mrs. Gordon Kirk, Flint, Mich., as matron of honor, wore pink marquisette. Both gowns were fashioned alike in picturesque style and were made with shoulder veils caught to the hair with a hair circlet of garden flowers. They carried nosegays of Summer blossoms. Miss Katherine Hetherington, Gall, Ont., and Miss Miriam Robb, Kingston, cousin of the bride, in yellow, held the ribbons which formed an aisle for the bridal procession. Mr. Freeman Burrows, Thornton, cousin of the bride, was groomsman. Wedding music was played by Mr. John D. Riggs, and Miss Helen Spalding of Gall, cousin of the bride, sang very delightfully "Love's Coronation" during the signing of the register.

A buffet luncheon was served following the ceremony. Mrs. S. Burrows, grandmother of the bride, who today celebrated her sixty-first wedding anniversary, wore a handsome gown of ivory lace with corsage of pink sweet peas and roses and with Mrs. Spalding, the bride's mother, wearing flowered chiffon with corsage of roses and sweet peas received with the bride and groom. Irises in a silver basket centred the bride's table. In the dining room which was also lighted with candles and bright with vari colored flowers.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Kennett left on a motor trip, the bride travelling in dusty pink ensemble trimmed with navy blue. Upon their return they will take up residence at St. Agnes' Manor apartments.

The out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mrs. David T. Adams and Mrs. George Derbyshire of Evanston, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Spalding, Mrs. Earl Hetherington and Miss Edith Moore of Galt; Mrs. McGregor of Flint, Mich.; Mrs. Eva Louise Pullock of New York; Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Burrows of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Robb, Mr. Jos. Robb and Mr. Clifford Robb, Abbey Dawn, Mrs. Stephen Loughton, Miss Phyllis Loughton and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Loughton, all of Kingston.

Tomato Cutworm Worries Farmers

With practically all of fifteen million tomato plants in the fields of the county, Prince Edward farmers are mobilizing defence forces to cope with a threatened invasion of the cutworm, or "grub" as it is more familiarly known.

The ideal weather conditions which have prevailed during the planting season have been conducive to the breeding of these voracious pests, which are making their appearance in thousands in the various tomato fields of Prince Edward and Hastings Counties.

Farmers living in the Hillier district report a few days ago five per cent loss of the original number of plants put in fields, while other districts have suffered losses in varying quantities. Replacements are being rushed to the different areas while chemical "preventatives" are being used around the bases of the healthy plants.

"The situation is quite serious", a prominent Hillier farmer stated on Saturday, "and we are taking more than ordinary methods to eliminate this annual spring pest."

ABERHART TAKES PRESS TO TASK

Quotes What University Dean Thinks Wrong With Press

Calgary, June 7.—(CP)—Premier William Aberhart of Alberta opened an attack on the press over the CBC network Saturday night "The public has lost confidence in the press as an instrument for good rather than for ill."

"If anything is to be done to restore the press to its proper place in the public consciousness, we must consider wherein its weaknesses lie and prescribe such remedies as the delphine that will enable these weaknesses to be removed," the Premier said.

Mr. Aberhart gave no indication of what form such discipline might take. He declared the question is not: "Should the press be free?" but: "Is the freedom of the press being properly conducted in its regular channels?"

Quotes From Book

He described the press as "one of the most potent and most dangerous of Democratic institutions," saying he was quoting from a "modern, up-to-date book" Mr. Aberhart said:

"In the early days of 1936, mass meetings and conventions attended by from 5,000 to 10,000 persons have applauded general attacks upon the press and specific charges against certain newspaper owners as agents of Fascism and breeders of war.

"The Premier summarizes what he said Dean Ackerman of Columbia University, New York, thinks to be "The weakness of the Modern Press."

1. Newspaper standards are too often determined by a preponderant desire for circulation.

2. "Most newspapers look on subservient to local political machines and therefore color their news items."

3. News values of many papers are often superficial and trivial. A great majority of the reporters are quite inaccurate when reporting interviews."

4. "Too many of our citizens have learned by experience that the newspaper violates the individual right of privacy."

SCREEN ACTRESS GRANTED DIVORCE

Joan Bennet, blonde cinema actress, is shown ABOVE as she testified in a Los Angeles court where she was granted an uncontested divorce from Gene Markey, actor-writer. The couple were married in 1932 and parted last April. The film pair's daughter, Melinda 3, will remain in her mother's custody until she is 12 years of age. After that the little girl will spend one month a year with her father.

TOM SAWYER FROM THE NEW YORK BRONX

A few weeks ago little Tommy Kelly was just another kid playing in the streets of the Bronx, New York. His father was on relief. Here he is, with Director M. C. Potter, on the road to movie stardom. The 12-year-old lad was picked from 25,000 youngsters to play the title role in the film based on Mark Twain's "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer."

NEW TENNIS CLUB ALMOST FINISHED

Six Tile Drained Courts Soon Ready For Enthusiasts

The new tennis courts at the corner of Queen and Dufferin Streets, are almost completed, and present a picture of a big industrial taking perfectly and carefully done.

The enterprising and energetic local business men who are sponsoring this project are to be highly complimented and congratulated on the wonderful work they are doing in affording an opportunity to the young people of this city to indulge in some real healthy outdoor recreation.

Neither money nor effort has been spared to make the location a perfect playground for the young folk, and judging by the amount of interest shown, the club will have a very large membership. If the present demand for membership tickets continues the limited quota will be reached in a very short time.

Courts Tile Drained

The six tennis courts are tile drained and the surfaces of clinkers loosely rolled. This will make these courts the finest to be had for many months ahead.

Many of the more experienced tennis players, who have played on the courts during the past week have voiced loud appreciation of the fine condition of the playing surface at this early stage. With constant daily rolling and care they will be even more perfect. All of the members are looking forward to a Summer of real entertainment that has not been possible to obtain until this year, owing to the fact that there was not a tennis club convenient to Belleville within the city limits.

There has been an obvious necessity of a large tennis club in this community for a number of years because of the ever increasing popularity of the game.

Mr. George Giffin has been the contractor and the beautiful appearance of the grounds reflects great credit upon himself and his workmen. The club is by no means an easy one, owing to the fact that the land was approximately a flat grit will spend one month a year with her father.

WINS DECISION

Tommy Bland of Toronto scored a ten-round decision over Sammy Luitspring, also of the same city. It seems apparent that Bland has established himself as a possible contender for the Welterweight title since he also defeated Francis Genovese, another Toronto fighter and present title holder. Genovese captured the title from Jackie Wallace of Vancouver but is under contract to give him a return match before voicing any other contenders. Bland is pictured here in a fighting pose.

PITCHES PERFECT GAME

A virtually unknown pitcher, Bill Dietrich, of the Chicago White Sox, made everyone sit up and take notice when he registered a perfect pitching feat—no hits' and no runs. Up to this time Dietrich was only a fair but pen pitcher and unable to go the full nine innings of a game, but the bespectacled 27-year-old hurler only let three players get on base, either by walks or errors. His team defeated was the hard slugging St. Louis Browns.

SLUGGERS SCARED BY SHANNONVILLE

Foxboro Only Able To Beat Their Rivals
2-1

Shannonville — (Special) — The Shannonville Hawks with a team composed of home town players, most of whom are playing baseball for the first years threw a scare into the Foxboro Sluggers on Friday evening, when they held them to a 2-1 win.

The game was very closely fought with the visitors playing a tight in a tidy pitching duel. Juby, the Shannonville pitcher, appeared to be the better of the argument as he only yielded four hits and fanned eight in the nine innings that were played while Wilkins, erstwhile Belleville National pitcher yielded five hits and struck out eight.

Foxboro opened their two runs in the first, when Murray singled and was advanced to third on Wilkins' single. Both runners scored Murray scored, when Walt singled through short and Wilkins scored their lone run in the third, when Shaughnessy singled and stole second and third and scored on Juby's single. Shannonville nearly tied the game in the fifth inning, when Liddle the first man to bat beat out a grounder to third and scored on a single over second by the next three Shannonville batters.

Line ups — Shannonville — Juby, Coutts, Kimmett, Houston, Dies, Stevens, Liddle, Shaughnessy. Howard.

Foxboro — Ashley, Murray, Wilkins, Walt, Williams, Guay, Fox Guay, Hollinger.

LOCAL HURLER DOWNS COBOURG

Ralph McCabe, Allows Only Three Hits And Wins 4-0

Oshawa, June 7—A three-ply relief by the Oshawa inning, with the bases loaded and two out, proved the winning factor in a pitchers' battle here Saturday afternoon as Oshawa blanked Cobourg 4 to 0 in a Lakeshore intermediate fixture.

Campbell, southpaw hurler for Cobourg team and McCabe, former Belleville hurler, playing his first game in an Oshawa uniform, staged a pitching struggle each allowing only three hits. A poor start proved the defeat of the Cobourg

Horses and Jockeys Pelted With Missiles After Decision

Extra Police Needed to Clear Racing Strip

ONE ARRESTED

Toronto, June 7.—(CP)—One man under arrest, police of suburban York Township today pressed an investigation into the meeting Saturday when an angry mob dalayed for two hours the Thornciliffe Park racing card and pelted horses and jockeys with missiles. Some 300 demonstrated against a starter's decision.

Albert Low, Toronto, was arrested late Sunday night on an assault charge as police began a roundup of those allegedly responsible for one of the most turbulent scenes ever witnessed on a Canadian track.

Tommy Almers, one of the jockeys hit by flying stones, needed medical attention for a head injury, but he was the only reported casualty. Fifty special policemen, hastily sworn in, cleared the crowd from the track, using their clubs on the recalcitrant few.

For two hours the milling fans held the jubilee track prisoners, the running of the third race. A track ruling swept potential winnings out of their hands as followed a 70-to-1 shot to win a re-run six-furlongs sprint.

Flag Not Dropped

The trouble started when Lassie's Mary was missing from her stall in the second race. Eleven other horses paraded from the barrier and completed the race although starter Thomas Clark pulled it in a minute and claimed the usual yellow flag, signalling a start, was not dropped.

Vanished, a bit-warm favorite, won with Big One, the favorite, in second place and Sweet J. P. Turner and W. A. Hewitt ordered the race re-run. Backers Mary, Frost and Greene De Menthe, which had made a leisurely circuit in the first running, were scratched.

Disappointed backers of Vanished and Big One booed their disorder with a chorus of boos and in no time the track was crowded with angry fans. Leaping over the rail, pelting the sight horses that paraded out for the third race and sending them back to the stables. A crowd of 12,000 sat in the stands, at first grandstatic to the demonstrators, then jeered at the long delay. Soon it was clear the track were ignored and officials marshal appealed for police aid, summoned by township authorities.

AL DUNLOP WILL MEET JOHN KATAN

Stated Winner Will Get Shot at Earl McCready's Title

What might be termed as a semi-final championship bout for the wrestling championship of Canada is scheduled to be held at the Belleville Arena on Wednesday night when Al Dunlop, Toronto, meets John Katan, Winnipeg. Both Dunlop and Katan have covious eyes on Earl McCready's title and the winner of the Belleville bout will doubtless be considered the logical contender for the Canadian crown.

Dunlop is quite vexed with the result of a meeting he had with Katan in the Ottawa auditorium during the time that Katan was wearing the Canadian crown. "I was awarded the decision over Katan in Ottawa when the big referee was disqualified, but the wrestling commission saw fit to overrule me the bout, although I protested vigorously. They said they would consider the matter, but it was while the commission was considering the matter that Katan was beaten by McCready and the latter was given the title more than two years ago," stated Dunlop after Friday night's bouts here.

Dunlop has not only put on weight, since he previously met Katan, but he has gained much ring experience, the Toronto grappler being only a youngster when he first met the pugnacious Katan in Ottawa. Two fine supporting bouts will round out the all-important card for Wednesday night when John Katan and Al Dunlop battle it out for the No. 2 position in the Canadian wrestling ranks and the right to challenge Earl McCready for the championship.

NAPANEE LOSES TO PETES 7-3 IN SMART GAME

RED SOX WIN

Brantford Stops Winning Streak of Loss-Free London Club

By The Canadian Press

Morrison, Allander and Hall set up a record for recent years in the Niagara district Monday when the trio saw Saturday but other members of the loop will fight shy of equalling the stellar feat. It is the third straight defeat when they played Port Colborne Sailors, the 7-3 victory was the fourth win in a row for the sailors.

St. Catharines and Welland came out on top of the other two Niagara league games. Fire Hall's nine scored the plate in the first inning and Welland Cyclones were unable to get out of the rut, losing 9-2. Manager Hales was given the win in the first game after Ralph Pine had retired at the end of the sixth and finished the job to Vinny Durnell, former Belleville hurler. Durnell struck out four of the six men to face him.

First victory in three starts, Welland broke a 4-4 tie when six runs crossed Niagara Falls's plate in the eighth inning and won 10-4. Barney Burke, Welland's starting hurler, left the game with a sore arm in the end of the fourth and Hugh Bradden, 17-year-old pitcher, was credited with the win. Bradden blanked the opposition.

Brantford Ends First Game

Brantford Alerts beat the bitter-to loss-free London club 10-7 for the Alerts's first win in two scrapes for inter-county loop. The league leading nine scored unchallenged runs over, with London still at the top and Brantford in the cellar. Strachan pounded in second place with two wins and a loss and Stratford third with a win and two defeats.

London played loosely in the field and a costly error by Alerts shortstop Lou Smith's round trip with a man on base proved too much for the league leaders. Defeated Ben Hepler was scheduled game in the loop.

Three Napanee pitchers failed to stop Peterborough batting combo-ment and the Petes clubbed up a 7-3 decision in the only Central Ontario baseball league game played Saturday. Four doubles and five singles off three Napanee hurlers helped the Petes along to their second win in four starts.

Belleville Panthers climbed to the top of the intercounty interned with a 6-5 win over Trenton Hardware Hespeler 10-4. Mazie Zinck slapped out a double with the bases loaded in four trips to the plate for the Panthers. Kerr brought in the winning run with a circuit swat in the ninth to complete Hespeler's scoring after Cliff Hall had tied the count.

Letty Hammond led Guelph Leafs to a 5-3 win over Toronto Maple Leafs in the other "A" game, when he struck out 11 batsmen and allowed only seven hits. Ellsworth cracked down on the Preston roundsman, Pawelko, for eight hits. Leader and Robinson each getting a pair.

Yesterday's Stars

(By the Associated Press)

Tommy Thurlow, Tigers—Batted in Yanks with one hit in 1 1-3 inning relief job, driving in winning run in 6-4 victory.

Lee Handley, Giants—Big homer with two on led way to 9-5 win over Pirates.

Lon Warneke and Minter Hayes, White Sox—former slopped Athletics with four hits in 6-0 victory; Hayes hit double and single, driving in two runs in 6-5 win.

Alex Kampouris and Johnny Niggeling, Senators—Kampouris hit homer with bases loaded and Niggeling pitched seven-hitter, last inning saves, in 8-3 win over Dodgers.

Al Simmons, Senators—Hit two doubles and triple, driving in two runs and scoring two to whip Indians 6-5.

Don Padgett, Cardinals — His three singles drove in three runs in 7-3 win over Phillies.

Joe Cronin, Red Sox—and Julio Bonetti and Harland Clift, Browns —Cronin's homer and single drove in two runs in 6-5 opener win; Bonetti stopped Red Sox with 8 hits and Clift batted in two runs in 2-1 nightcap victory.

New York Giants Head Loop With Spotty Pitching and As a Team Batting Fifth

Chicago Cubs, However Push up Into Select Circle

CARDS WIN TWICE

Second Game Awarded The Team When Phillies Stall For Time

By SID FEDER

Associated Press Sports Writer

That their pitching is a team effort their hitting is nothing to write home about—and still those New York Giants are leading the National League today.

Some say they're lucky; others contend it's Bill Terry's strategy of out-making them in rooms, and the newly-found fight the Giants have uncovered. Whatever it is, the Terry Terriers are doing all right in the one department they pay off on—the won-and-lost column.

To a large extent, the Giants' maiden rise to the top, which they took with a 9-5 victory over Pittsburgh yesterday, may not be due so much to themselves alone as to the kindly (though unwilling) help supplied at the right moment by the Pirates and Cardinals.

They've won five of their last nine games, which is hardly sensational, as a team they're batting fifth in the league, just over .300, and two of the pitchers show a better than .500 average. Carl Hubbell and Slick Castleman. And Hubbell has been belted out in his last two starts.

Pirates Hurt

But when you figure that the Pirates have been higher than a kite and have obligingly dropped nine of their last 15 starts, the final four in succession, and that the Cardinals are barely getting by on a world's pitching staff, the thing begins to make sense.

However, the success of the Giants is shaky at best, largely because of the sudden sky-rocketing of the Chicago Cubs. For, while the Giants have been chasing the Pirates, the Cubs have been giving them both, of them, and, at the moment, are only a game away from the top and a slim percentage margin back of the Bucs, through their record of three out of their last four games.

They kept right on coming yesterday by splitting a twin bill with the Philadelphia Reds, winning the lightcap 7-2 after losing 7-1 in the first game.

American League

Over in the American League, the big thing is current "hottest" stuff. Chicago White Sox, boosted their first real streak to eight in a row by belting over Connie Mack's pathetic Athletics twice, winning 6-1 behind Ted Lyons' 5th fourth straight pitching and 8-5 in the nightcap.

That double conquest left the Sox only a few percentage points off second-place Cleveland, after the Indians dropped a 10-inning 8-7 contest to Washington Senators, in scheduled second game was rained out. New York Yankees, leading the loop, also had good, finishing on the short end of a 5-4 count to the Tigers.

The Cardinals took both games from the Phillies, the opener 7-3 and the nightcap 3-1, after the on a forfeit in 4 1-3 innings. Umpire Ollie Scott handed the second game to the spa house gang because it seemed the Phils hopelessly behind stalled in the hope the six p.m. Sunday curfew would halt the battle before the final five innings.

Alex Kampouris contributed a homer with the bases loaded as Cincinnati Reds walloped the Dodgers 8-2. The Red Sox split with St. Louis Browns, winning 6-5 and losing 3-2.

THREE TEAM RACE IN CAN-AM LOOP

Two Teams Tied And Perth Only 21 Points Behind

It's strictly a three-team race in the Canadian-American Baseball League after a week-end of ball wallloping in which the Glovers from Gloversville did themselves most good, taking two of three games.

They handed Perth-Cornwall Bisons a double Sunday licking, 21-9 and 9-8 after taking an 11-7 beating in Perth Saturday. Meanwhile however, the former undisputed leaders, Owego Netherlands, took two defeats after riding the winning end for ten straight games.

The result of all that was to leave Nets and Glovers tied for the lead with 21 points apiece with Perth a third, or a half game. A good bit behind stretched the bonors.

Pitcher Ken Ramsay was pounded hard by Bisons yesterday, but he led his mates terrific attack base clouting himself, getting two homers. Marinette did the same in the second game, when Glovers's rushed over five runs in the fifth frame.

Rampaging Nets Stopped

It took the lowly Oswego Braves and Brockville Pirates to stop the rampaging Nets. At Oswego Sunday, Ed Carr held them to six hits for a 5-2 victory and Saturday the Nets' hats could get only nine scattered blows, losing to Paul Veach 5-3.

Braves didn't improve their last-place position for they dropped a 3-2 decision Saturday to Rome Colonels and Jim O'Rogan's two-hit pitching. The Colonels continued the celebration yesterday by pounding Newark's nine on 15 hits, topped by two homers by Jim Pawlowski.

Oglensburg Colts and Smith's Falls Beavers split a Sunday doubleheader. The second game ended in a basketball score with Colts on top, 18-17, after Beavers had slugged mightily to win out 6-5 in the opener. Base hits rattled all over the Colts' mitts, nine flingers being riddled by 58 blows.

A FREAK FINISH ENABLES BISONS TO BEAT LEAFS

Walked Same Batter Twice to Force in Winning Run

NEWARK DIVIDED

(By the Associated Press)

There may not be much action around first place in the International League, but there's plenty in the cellar.

While Newark's boisterous Bears roll along at the top, Buffalo is clip in first place the circuit's orphans of the storm — Baltimore Orioles, Jersey City Skeeters and Leafs.

Had it not been for the gigs' section of the Belleville Collegiate track and field teams, competing in the interscholastic athletic meet at Napanee on Saturday, the local contingent would not have fared so too well. Trenton High School won the boys' section, amassing a total of 117 points while the Belleville girls finished atop of their flay of Quinte rivals with 46 points. Napanee, B.C.I. and V.S., won every event in her intermediate class except the 50 yard dash and the ball throw, and was second in the forever. In the junior boys, Milo, B.C.I. and Mootlick, O.S.D., were the local athletes to win events. Belleville C. I. students failed to win an event in the three series on the cinder track, although Hughes won the shot put and Evans the hop, step and jump for the B.C.I. senior girls' hop, step and jump, G. Semain won for the B.C.I. and Mary Nicholson decides for Belleville winnings. Frank Cunningham's O.S.D. athletes, both boys and girls did remarkably well winning a goodly number of points. The meet was successful and will result in some winner going to the O.A.C. summer camp for further training.

The R.C.A.F. "Flyers" have been granted a bye into the Central Ontario Lacrosse Association's series, as we understand it. President Harry Moores released the fourth schedule to be used in order to draw up this season. today. According to the latest revised schedule Peterboro is slated to play in Belleville on Tuesday night. This should have playing field as yet, but are negotiating to play their opening game in the Trenton Arena tomorrow night. In the meantime President Moores's players has other plans in the offing and hopes to have a better team and far better playing conditions within the next fortnight, he says.

Finally Walked Batter

A freak ninth inning finish gave the Buffalo Bisons a 9-4 decision over the Toronto Maple Leafs. Mike Meola walked the heavy, Bison shortstop, with the bases filled and two out in the ninth in the winning run, after the Leafs had protested the disputed third strike called on the batter. Then Meola walked the batter, forcing White behind the plate after he had walked Mulleavy out. Meola then threw three high pitches and walked Mulleavy.

remains the Flyers and the Belleville "Rovers" know now just what they are up against versus the Petersboro auburns, that is following the Auburns' 19 to 3 win over the Combines in an exhibition bouta on Friday.

Wrestling with a championship atmosphere is scheduled for the results' fans of Belleville at the Arena on Wednesday when Al Dunlop meets John Katan in an all-Canadian main bout. The boys signed the articles before leaving Toronto last Friday night and according to their agreement the winner will challenge Earl McCready for the Canadian heavyweight wrestling championship. Dunlop is hot under the collar following an alleged raw deal he received after Katan was disqualified in a bout with Dunlop in Ottawa. "If the wrestling commission can consider me any rights I would have been the logical contender for a championship bout, but the executive ignored Katan's Ottawa disqualification, so the next time we meet I'm going after the Canadian titleholder, if I beat the Winnipeger," declares Dunlop.

A softball scorer asked us this question—With one out and runner on third, third baseman comes in with the pitch, expecting a bunt. Batter attempts to bunt, but misses, catcher throws to third baseman who retires runner. Catcher throws ball to third to catch runner, but fielder fails to cover bag to recide ball. Runner scores. Is a charge with error? Catcher gets the error.

According to the St. Louis Sporting News:

Jack Feller is through for the season and the young pitcher knows it, claims Wayne K. Otto of the Chicago Herald-American, who maintains that the trouble which originated in his arm has since extended to his shoulder, making a long rest necessary.

The most mentally-harassed young man in American athletics is Bob Feller, McCreary, Tex. There dawns in the thoughts of the great baseball-pitching prodigy now the fact that he is through—at least for 1937. Whether you may or may not doubt the veracity of that writer, well, he is.

While Feller looks hopelessly around him for assistance, the panic is on. It is not the Chicago Cubs or Cyril Slapnicka, it is on with Steve O'Neill; it is on with Trainer Lefty Weisman; it is on with the public. Slapnicka, O'Neill and Weisman are not alarmed. And in proof that fact, I positively know that Feller's ailment has reached his shoulder after pairing him in his sprained arm and elbow. That means but much—that his arm is in a deplorable condition and will not right itself in a month or more from a long rest.

"Take a look at him. Sore at heart, sleepless, uncertain as to which way to turn. He does not peer into the future. He has been to specialists, arm experts and doctors. None of them seem to be able to definitely diagnose his case. Without any hesitating, Feller admits it. Anyone must concur in the thought that the admission is tragic for a lad just 19 years old, and a few months back destined to be one of the great pitchers of all time."

"THE BRIGHT HILL"

by Clarissa Fairchild Cushman.

Under the uncertainty of her smile he found his hat and said his good-byes. He climbed in his car and began driving. He felt almost as if it were he who had spent all those years with Kerin, instead of her father. As for Carl! Why not go and see Carl, and find out what he was like; what was the spell, that apparently caused the loving without love, that he cast on the gentle Kerin? Pursued by his thoughts he drove on and on, the night closing him in, until he came at last to his own door, and fell heavily into bed.

INSTALLMENT 36

Sue and Alan both wrote often, and Kerin, searching her own knowledge of Carl, decided not to go back to the west again, not to risk the possibility that things might come right for the probability that her plea to Carl would increase the distance.

She grew thin, and the girls looked at her with affection and concern, searching in the hurt eyes or the gay little Kingsbury of the past before. Some said she was in love, terribly in love, with that marvelous Gregory Leighton—and thought she knew, with the week on the street, my heart just ran out of me and lay in a grease spot at his feet!—but that her husband wouldn't give her up. Some said, more scandalously, that she was too conscientious about her job and that it was up to all of them to give her the breaks. They grew all of them more considerate, more affectionate and somewhat silent. Diffident, shall we say?—when they first came. How would it be—Mrs. Fease telephone! She would not stop jumping as Mrs. Fease pinched her with her curious great Perhaps Mrs. Fease knew exactly what it was that she, the czar of women, was waiting to hear.

In that distant court room, to which Kerin's thought continually brought her, the long bright day ran out slowly. It was mid-afternoon before Kingsbury vs Kingsbury was called; and Gregory, sitting in the emptying court room stirred, and his eye was caught by the quiet form of a dark haired girl to her husband—Susan and Alan, sitting in an agony of suspense and waiting that was not less than Kerin's own. Were they friends of hers? It must be. The lawyer's was, after all, the case against Kerin! Gregory fixed his eyes upon Carl, sitting there so secure, so incorruptible, and he unconsciously gripped his fists together. Kingsbury, the skilful lawyer, the pleader of lost causes, whose luxury it was to defend the underdog—he was like, Gregory thought, a juggernaut, fixed, if not deliberately, then too carelessly, too readily, upon the destruction of Kerin. Desertion. Cruelty. The separation of space, but not of mind. If Carl won the suit, it would be for him. Gregory, to bring to Kerin the separation of her mind from Carl that would free her, as the divorce would free him. If he did not win the suit.

And Kerin, unable to eat, unable to answer Sue's questions gently, sat and stood, and sat again, until finally the telephone rang with a shrill loudness, as if it already knew the message it carried. Carl Kingsbury had divorced his wife.

Carl Kingsbury had divorced his wife. Within twenty-four hours he one in his university circles talked of anything else.

It, indeed, a community which prided itself upon observing the decencies of life that any moment of it should divorce his wife. It was not the word divorce was in itself a shocking word; after all, it occasionally necessary to apply the humanity of legal separation even in a community that lives more on its mind than in its body. But it connected itself in such a community that one of its number should have been guilty of vulgarity. And it was simply a vulgarity (such as divorcing his wife (and she, him, as was seemly) and on a mere pretext of desertion—a flimsy pretext, for she had neither actually deserted him nor been guilty of a more overt offense. (Or even supposing, said the world, that she had!) It presupposed the right of a husband to punish his wife to stay home and keep his house; and such a supposition offended —outraged, was the word which college-bred girls used—of wives, whethe remanipulated or subjected.

If Kerin had wanted the divorce, then the whole affair would have had a different aspect. Some one saw to it, as soon as the divorce was granted, that every one knew exactly how Kerin Kingsbury had frantically come west to beg Carl to reconsider, and her robust—still dramatic addenda of her own. From Carl's first "desertion" of Kerin for Russia, with special emphasis upon Kerin's flight from him without even her clothes ("What clothes?" said Mrs. Herrick, archly; but her wit was reserved upon as not in the best of taste), the whole story was told and retold and lost nothing in the telling.

In fact, in that community in which Carl had seen himself as living up to an expectation, he was talked over with newly clarified minds. This, they said, was too much. It just wasn't to show. And when within three weeks Mrs. Reid of Ainslie Boarder there, were men who just barely didn't cut Carl Kingsbury, and who also didn't.

That Carl might have had a complete change of mental climate did not admit. Oh, he had motive all right, they said; he had Annie Reid hide from him, he taking the most convenient, the most straightforward, from his point of view the most honest, way to get what he wanted, they did not say it. He hadn't been honest, had he—twisting Kerin's letters, suppressing the fact that Don's letter it was "just" a legal letter, and therefore unusable? He certainly was still diabonesty, wasn't it? Well, perhaps not. If both parties wanted the divorce and also agreed on the—er—trick. That was different. That was decent all the time. Everybody, even the court, understood all about that. This was different. With astonishing unanimity they all agreed: that was different. It was an outrage to Kerin, to the fact that he got his divorce, that by the time Kerin knew her legal rights, did not mitigate his offense. He had been guilty of a vulgarity. He had slapped Kerin's face, and so, the face of the whole community.

As Alan had foreseen, Carl had blundered, he who had not known blundering. Not that Carl would have believed that he cared what the world thought, even if had he known. It was none of their business. That, in the world's private freedom: it established his inviolable right to be right, or to be wrong, and to have an affair; it was the banner of his sacred right to his own personality. Not, of course, that he would be wrong. The very fact that he would be giving gave it a primary presumption of rightness. But he—egotist estimated the world's tongue—its tongue over behaviors! He did not comprehend, being essential and curiously simple in his relations to people, how consistently the world, what delight in evil will hint out our mistakes and judge us by them, nor with what vastness of punishment the world can cruelly tax. He had that to learn.

However, if in the background of his mind Carl had thought to get even with Kerin in her new love's doom—to punish her for defying him, to hurt her personally as a woman he no longer wanted to stigmatize her publicly by brandishing her as a woman who selfishly pursued her own interests, he did not succeed. If Kerin were hurt, it was a hurt so mixed with relief at the final outcome that she never felt it. For she came away from the telephone with the strangest misery sensation from Alan and Sue with a mind so dazed, a body so numb, that she stumbled up the lower step of the stair and sat there, gazing at the wall, without feeling or thought. The single trailing thread was all that her mind was able to hold: he hadn't taken Donald. He hadn't taken Donald.

It was many minutes before that thought could attach itself to her mind, before a train of thought could function: he hadn't taken Donald! Donald was hers. He was hers, and Carl had no claim to him. As the fact became clear in her mind, she could see Donald—his fair hair bleached with summer, his face brown against the pillow, his bedcovers in a tangle of disorder as she had left them, his body curled up in his room fifteen—no, ten; no, five minutes ago, when she had looked at him so long, directly upon deciding if he was, legally, no longer hers. Now he was hers, hers, at the thought, grew more real, the cold numbness of her body relaxed. She leaned limply against the wall —and a great surge of feeling rose in her, a feeling of almost unmanageable portable joy: Donald was hers, never to be taken away, never to be shouted at, or shaken, or frightened, again. She pushed out her head with a little cry, and took hold of the newel post with her fingers; and the little knobs, her sweet little white house, that too was hers. This was her home.

She rose with a sudden fleet swiftness and ran up the stairs. Donald's room and snapped on the light, bedclothes all flying. He flinched from the glare, as she leaned close to him. Unable to restrain close to him, she drew herself up to the bed on her knees, leaning over him, looking at him, whispering over and over to herself, "Donald. Donald."

He twisted and squirmed from the light, and finally sat up, squinting at her with hazy sleep-filled eyes. "Gee, mom!" he said huskily, "what's the matter? Can't you let me sleep? Turn out the light, can't you?" He screwed down against the covers, hunching his shoulders. "I haven't slept all night," he said, his voice a laughter rose in her throat at the masculinity of that remark, and she crept, rebuked, to the bed and turned out the light, going softly into her own room.

Then she shut the door and leaned back against it, drawing a long breath. She let her head fall against his white panels, and in the dark her teeth crept over her lower lip in the gesture of anticipation and delight that was peculiarly her own. This was her home. She was going to live here—perhaps always. She would buy a little car. She would get a kitten. She would get Donny the dog he had wanted. She would go down to New York and buy a lot of nice clothes. And tomorrow—right away the first thing in the morning—she would buy from Amzas Gammage that beautiful Windsor chair he so scandalously untied forty-eight dollars for. She would buy it for—for what? For a celebration.

Not once did she think of Carl. Not once did she remember that he had come out of her life.

Official Coronation Films

Vina Delmar, author of best-sellers, "Bad Girl," "The Marriage Racket" and other best-sellers of modern youth and its problems, brings a powerful, provocative and highly entertaining story of American life to the screen in "Make Way for Tomorrow," the dramatic-gem coming to the Belle Theatre today (Tuesday) and Wednesday, matinee daily.

"Make Way for Tomorrow" is the story of two devoted parents and their children. Not only does it present the case of a girl in her 'teens, daughter of a modern bridge playing mother who hasn't time to sympathize with and understand her daughter, but it also forms a frank and searching light upon the relationship which exists between the generation represented by the mother and the generation represented by the mother's parents. In this it is an important motion picture with a real message for parents. Beside Mr. and Mrs. Bondi are Elisabeth Risdon, Minna Gombell and Ray Mayer as the aged couple's children; Porter Hall as a Son-in-law with a ready solution for the mother-in-law problem; Louise Beavers, Maurice Moscovitch and a score of other players.

The picture was directed by Leo McCarey. This is the director of whom Charles Laughton once said "He is not only a great director, but he can explain he is the greatest comic mind now living," an estimate which is well borne out by the sights.

The Morning After Taking Carter's Little Liver Pills

NEW MODERATOR

New Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church in Canada is Rev. Hector Munroe, of New Glasgow (above) who was elected to his new office during the assembly's annual meeting held in Ottawa. Dr. Munroe succeeds Principal Patrick, defeated two other candidates for the moderatorship, the Rev. Malcolm A. Campbell, of Montreal.

Coronation Film.

A special extra attraction on the second program Tuesday and Wednesday will be the presentation of the Official Coronation Pictures.

These Coronation pictures are not to be confused with the newsreels. It was taken entirely in Westminster Abbey and contains all the highlights of the Coronation ceremony.

Never before in the history of the world has such a picture been filmed. It shows, for the first time, the actual Coronation of the King and Queen. The picture contains many close-ups of the entire ceremony. The actual singing of the Abbey Choir, the stirring music of the military bands, the shouts of the assembly proclaiming their loyalty are all recorded just as they actually happened. Running through the entire picture is the voice of an English commentator, authority on such matters, explaining the significance of the ritual.

"The Empire's Hour of Glory," or official Coronation pictures require twenty-five minutes in presentation. The popular Metrotone News, with its up-to-the-minute world events will be exhibited on the same program.

Little Benny's Note Book

Me and glasses Magee was sitting on his front steps just sitting there, and I said, Don't one like is a slow afternoon, I bet we could sit here for 3 more hours without anything happening, I said.

I bet you're rite, that's just what I was thinking, Glasses said. Holey smokes why dont anything ever happen to us like the things you read about? he said, and I said, Well that's what I was thinking. For instants I don't wish anybody any harm, but why cant an aircopiane crash up in the street rite in front of us, I mean without any of the passengers being seriously killed or anything, and we could rush out and everybody out of the house ago just before it cawt fire and save their lives. How would that be for excitement to happen? I said.

Swell, Glasses said. Or even a earthquake that wouldn't be bad. It could be attached to a red wagon, and we could both run with it and keep having our ears and jumping around to keep the horse by the reins in between us. I'll bet we got so exhausted it had to stop. Or maybe there could be hull of dynamite, and that's why it was pointed red for danger, so we pretended it was an explosion a mile both get a meddle for it, Glasses and I said. We could get a meddle for saving the aireoplane passengers, too.

Sure, but what's a use hoping? Nothing's going to happen. Cheer up, Glasses, and I said, what's a use?

Then just then there was a fearse noise down at the corner where there is a gas station, and Glasses quick ran down and it was 2 cops wanting to fix the gas station, and they had got out of a leash, causing such a lot of excitement as made me and Glasses feel all rite again.

Sometimes it is good thing for people they're satisfied with a good eel less than they think they need.

Slanney Creek, Ont., June 5 — (CP)—Tent caterpillars are having a terrible bad time of it in this district—especially at night. Maintenance crews on provincial highways have had to resort to de-stroy webs of the caterpillars on the trees as they are a menace to the highway. The work is done at nights.

WAR - - KIDNAPPING - - POLITICS - - DISASTER - -

BUT.... it's the LITTLE THINGS that count....

New drapes for the guest room, and Junior's first haircut. A new recipe for peach pie and new pans for baking it. A picnic at the beach, and a new hat for the weekly bridge. Every day events? Of course! But they're the things that make life livable! What's a war in Illyria and another Arctic expedition, compared to the thrill of the first glimpse of the family that's moving in next door, and the delivery of a shining new refrigerator? What's a royal wedding, and twelve rooms filled with gifts, when Anne has her fifth birthday tomorrow? They're interesting enough, something to talk about, to wonder at, perhaps, but pretty far away from that most important spot and the people who live there . . . your own home.

That's where your heart is, and that's where the real thrills lie, in the things that concern you and the people who live around you, next door, in the next block, anywhere in town. There's news about them in every issue of the daily Ontario Intelligencer in "inside page" stories—and in every ad too, for the ads in the Ontario Intelligencer are news! There's news about new clothes for the family, and new food for the table, and new furniture for the home. There's news about new entertainment, and new ways to get to it. There's news about something new on every page, from the latest dispatch on the front page to the new shoes for Anne on the last . . . all written to you and for you, put up in a neat package and delivered at your door-step every day.

DAILY SHORT STORY

Wandering and Waiting

By H. Irving King

Theophilus Mercer was noted for his' prudence. The day before he died he said to his medical attendant: "Doctor, I have played many a joke in my time; and now I am going to play a joke on you. The joke is mainly on Harry, but it's on the public, too." Before the setting of another sun his jesting and his days were ended forever. When they looked into the affairs and nature of his last joke was apparent.

Theophilus Mercer, the high liver, the free spender, the man whose names was synonymous with wealth and prodigality, did not leave enough to pay his funeral expenses—If his creditors had all pressed their claims. His son, Harry aged twenty-two, not long out of college, was astounded, bewildered. His father had always spoiled him liberally with money and he had come to look upon the supply as inexhaustible.

Harry's mother had died when he was an infant, he had neither brother nor sister nor near relative; he was alone in the world with no money and no occupation.

The greatest wreck of all to Dean was the necessity he felt for postponing indefinitely his marriage with Mary Southland—or perhaps breaking off their engagement altogether. He went to Mary and told her the whole story.

Ten dollars in his pocket was every cent he had in the world; Mary had been reared in luxury. To take her from that luxury to a life of utter destitution—he loved her too well for that. Until he could support a wife in some degree of comfort he ought not to take one.

He did not dare trust himself to see Mary again, but wrote her a letter, asking her to wait for him. Then he shipped aboard a tanker bound for San Diego by way of the canal.

As they say in the "movies", "an interval of eight years is supposed to have elapsed." Harry Mercer was home again. A paragraph in the papers announced the fact and the news soon spread that he had returned financially rehabilitated. In any rate, he represented a great corporation which was exploiting copper mines in Alaska and was "on the map" once more.

Harry sat in his room at his hotel gazing at an invitation on the table before him. Mr. and Mrs. Augustine Hemingway requested the pleasure of his company at dinner on Wednesday night. This was Monday. Could he bear meeting Mary Southland again—the wife of another? Yes; why not? His love for her was still a part of his very being but was now mellowed by time. The dream of his youth was in "that deep gulf where things that might have been and career were are always wandering." He had written him at San Diego promising to wait—for years if necessary. As time went by he had left the ship and begun a series of wanderings in Central America and finally in Alaska. Sometimes mail reached him in the far, wild regions to which he penetrated; more often it did not.

He had written Mary of this and was not surprised when, occasionally, he received a letter from her and it contained references to previous letters which he had never received. Every now and then, from out-of-the-way places, he sent off letters to her, some of which got through and some of which did not.

Harry was in Alaska and had come down to Sitka from a base camp somewhere near the Arctic Circle when he met a man from his home city whom he had known slightly in former days. He was thirsty for news from home. "By the way," said the garrulous purveyor of it, "old Southland's daughter—the pretty one—what was her name?"

"Mary?" suggested Harry.

"Mary, was it? Yes, I guess that was the name all right. Her mother went on the gossip—she was married to Gus Hemingway—mighty rich fellow—I know. I left home before I left."

When Winifred Holsby died in 1934, the English literary world suffered a severe loss. Her keen intelligence and intuition, her sensitive personality and her delightful sense of humour combining with her literary gifts to make her a notable. Her posthumous novel, "South Riding" won high praise at home and abroad. Now comes another posthumous volume, "Letters to a Friend." These letters cover the period from 1920 to 1926 and deal with a variety of subjects, books, policies, people, animals, public opinion, as they were written in an intimate readable style, displaying an abundance of humour and her own wise and spiritual philosophy.

Miss Holtby was destined to play an important part in her native politics and also in international affairs through the League of Nations. Thus, her wealth of comment on people and events must be assessing a good deal by acquiring mind.

"The Empire Come Home" by W. M. Percy offers a view of the British tales that will appeal particularly to those whose ancestry it derives from those shores. Directed as it is to visitors from overseas, Mr. Percy takes the reader to those spots in England, Ireland and Scotland which have been endeared through memories and stories for generations. The beauty of the British Isles is reproduced not only in words but in fine water-colours and teachings by the author-artist.

The legend that writers are impractical people is contradicted in the case of Helen Simpson author of many fine novels and collaborator with Clemence Dane in writing the mystery novels. She has invaded the field of cookery in her latest book and writes of menus and dishes that will be favourites at this time. Her book "The Cold Table" offers suggestions for many varieties of summer meals, covering all courses from soup to sweet. The recipes have been collected from many countries. Most of them not before been printed; most are unique.

Major Francis Yeats-Brown, whose adventurous career was described in "Lives of a Bengal Lancer," has revisited India after an absence of fifteen years. He has recorded his artistic impressions in his latest book "Lancer at Large." In his studies the changing face of Mother India," with sympathy and interprets many of the weird rituals and Yogi practices." His series of age-worn philosophies and talks with Rishis and Sadhus, he observes the social and economic conditions and reports of the progress in education and in medical and hospital care. Leonard Bacon, writing in the Saturday Review of Literature says, "I know of no better guide for the beautiful, terrible and superstitiously comic world which is India than Major Yeats-Brown."

Melbourne, June 5 (CP-Reuters)—D. R. Thomson, Melbourne business man, declared he could answer correctly 95 per cent of the general knowledge questions broadcast by the local radio station.

If he failed, he said, he would eat his hat. He failed. He ate his hat in public. Police were required to regulate crowds.

Hat-eater Thomson arrived wearing a thin Fedoma. He chopped it into small pieces, served these with roast beef and vegetables, and ate the lot.

COULDN'T SLEEP COULDN'T WORK

What a relief to settle down to a real night's rest, and awaken really refreshed, ready for the day's duties! Many have found the delightful relief they long for—more comfortable. Half weeks days were tired, drowsy body and mind to such as these they suffered need. "Try Dodd's Kidney Pills," said a friend. "It may be your case." So glad I followed his advice as now I'm sleeping like a log—thanks to it!!

TARZAN'S QUEST

(Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service)

Ogdi turned away gruffly, but Jane believed that when the chance presented itself he would help her escape—not from any motive of kindness or pity, but for his own sinister purposes. Ogdi, however, was not yet ready to risk the wrath of Kavandavanda.

In the temple corridors they passed a number of black men—fat, soft, oily-looking fellows who reminded Jane of guardians of a sultan's harem. They seemed to personify cruelty, greed and craftiness. Instinctively she shrank aside as they passed close.

Finally, the tortured journey of the two captives was ended. They stood in the abode of Kavandavanda, vast and gloomy. Here, from the column, clusters of skulls leered down at them through sightless eyes—solemn omens, perhaps of their own final fate.

The far end of the hall was flooded by sunlight shining through an opening in the ceiling. Jane was blinded by the dazzling glare, but soon, as that brilliant illumination, an astonishing figure began to take shape. Jane gasped. So this was Kavandavanda!

TORONTO STOCK EXCHANGE CLOSE

Toronto, June 7.—(CP)—Following a ragged first hour of trading today, the Toronto Market turned strong, apparently on the news that the price of gold had been fixed at a higher price in London and a slight advance was staged throughout the rest of the session. Net gains were well sprinkled among the metals, all the active western oils were higher on good volume and the Industrial list registered a preponderance of gains in the Steel Imprint and miscellaneous shares.

The improved Yellow Metal market lifted Lake Shore, Dome, Hollinger and McIntyre by fractions and gains of 10 to 30 cents were boarded for Buffalo-Ankerite, Little Long Lac, Macassa, Pickle Crow, O'Brien, Pamour, Sisco, San Antonio and Toburn.

Stimulated by higher prices for copper, lead and zinc in London the Base Metal list moved forward, Noranda adding 1-2, Waite-Amulet 15, Falconbridge 26 and Pend Oreille 10. Sherritt Gordon 1 few cents. Action was slow in the Silvers with prices steady.

WALL STREET CLOSE

New York, June 7—(AP)—Getting a toe-hold on recovery proved difficult for most stock market leaders today.

Selected Oils and Specialties tilted forward moderately, but numerous issues shuffled about in a trendless zone.

Dealings were extremely slow throughout and, near the final hour, the ticker tape was motionless for moments at a time. Transfers were at the rate of 900,000 shares.

Cheese Boards Elect Officers

Napanee, June 7.—In the election of officers for 1937 at the Napanee Cheese Board on Saturday afternoon, Mr. Arthur Ray was elected President, George Fralick, First Vice-President and W. B. Nolan, Secretary.

Kingston, June 7.—The Kingston Cheese Board held its election of officers Saturday for the present season. Mr. Ernest Symons was elected President, R. B. Gibson, Vice-President, and Mr. Wartman, Secretary.

Livestock

Toronto, June 7—(CP)—Cattle prices were generally steady to strong on the Toronto Livestock Market today except on those which showed declines up to 25 cents. Calves were active and steady and sheep and lambs sold near previous levels. Feeling was weak on the unsettled hog division. Cattle holdovers from Thursday was about 100 head.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Livestock Branch were: cattle 2,300; calves 900; hogs 1,275; sheep and lambs 200.

Weighty steers sold at $7 to $8, odd sales reaching $8.65. Good butcher steers and heifers brought $7.50 to $7.75, choice light grass up to $8. Plain steers went as low as $6.50. Butcher cows made a top of $5.50 to $5.75, plain grades selling down to $3.50. Canners and cutters were priced at $2.25.

Bologna bulls were from $4 to $4.50 and light bulls from $5 to $5.25. Medium to good fed calves traded at $7 to $8.25, choice as high as $8.75. Stockers sold readily at $4.75 to $5.50.

Montreal, June 7—(CP)—Steady prices, with a slight rise on some cattle, prevailed on Montreal Livestock Markets today. There were no carry-overs on hogs.

Receipts: cattle 417; calves 1,360; sheep and lambs 339; hogs 945.

Good steers sold at $7.50 to $8.50 with a part load up to $8.75. Medium cows from $6.75 to $8 and common up to $6.50. Light steers were down to $4.50 with halfers ranging from $4 to $7.50. Good cows were $5.50 to $6.25 with a top of $6.50, medium $4.75 to $5.50 and common up to $4.50. Canners and cutters made $2 to $2.25, common bulls $3.50 to $4.75; butchers $5 to $5.50.

A few good vealers made $7.25 to $7.50 and mediums $6.50 to $7. Pair to medium vealers sold from $5.50 to $6 and commons $5 to $5.25. Common drinkers ranged from $4 to $4.50 with the Dominion Crown $4 and $4.25.

Lambs made $4 to $7 with spring lambs at $11 to $13 per hundredweight. Sheep brought $1 to $4.26 with top bulk between $3.50 and $4.

POLICE COURT

Pannis Jane Swisher, Belleville, was sentenced to serve six months determinate and a further indeterminate sentence of not more than the Mercer Reformatory, Toronto, when she appeared before Magistrate R. J. Butler K.C., for sentence today.

The Swisher woman pleaded guilty to the theft of $5.00 on Friday's court, being remanded at that time for sentence today. The two teen-aged children were given into the custody of Inspector T. D. Huston of the Children's Aid Society. "Maybe a term in the Mercer Reformatory will prove to the accused that she can't carry on like this," prompted His Worship.

"I hope so but doubt it." replied Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan, K.C.

Harold Green, 19 year old Prince Edward County youth, who pleaded guilty to a charge of intoxication and the conventional ten and costs was imposed.

"How old did you say you were?" asked His Worship.

"Nineteen", replied the youth.

"Well, then, where did you get your intoxicants?" asked His Worship realizing the lad to be under age.

"Oh a man I don't know gave it to me," replied Green, who was arrested Saturday on charges of violations of the L.C.A.

I suppose that mysterious redheaded man is at large again", stated Crown Attorney Donnan with sarcasm.

A domestic case of non-support was settled to the mutual advantage of both parties to conclude the morning's proceedings.

LONGEST ECLIPSE

because the moon seldom cuts at the right instant. Moon, earth and sun have to be in a line at the moment of this intersection. As the whole orbit revolves, too, the moon must make the intersection sometimes when it is close to earth in its elliptical orbit and sometimes when farthest.

At the same time the earth, swinging in an elliptical orbit around the sun, is farthest from the sun in summer and nearest in winter. When the sun is farthest it looks smaller, and casts a longer shadow than the moon.

The coming series of record-breaking eclipses are due to the fact that the celestial merry-go-round's position for the next two centuries will bring the moon between earth and sun, while the sun is farthest away, the moon's shadow longest, and the moon nearest.

ASTRONOMERS ON FREIGHTER

Philadelphia, June 7.—(AP)—Two astronomers sailed from Honolulu last Monday aboard the freighter S.S. Steelmaker for Panama, hoping for favorable weather next Tuesday when the paths of the vessel and the world's longest solar eclipse in 1,300 years will cross.

Dr. James S. Stokley of Princeton University, and James Stokley, of the Franklin Institute, assisted by the ship's officers, will attempt to make scientific observations of the eclipse during the seven minutes and four seconds the sun will be covered.

Harry Butler Allen, director of the Institute, said he had been impressed of the sailing in a radiogram from Stokley.

Land observers have stationed themselves in Peru and the Galapagos Islands, where early morning and evening views of the phenomenon will be possible in good weather. No land was available from which to view the eclipse at its best, necessitating the observations from aboard ship.

Stokley said before leaving that he expected bad weather.

The observation planned include a measurement of the brightness of the eclipse with the photoelectric cell and photographs in black and white and colors. An attempt will be made also, Stokley said, to photograph shadow bands which precede and follow the eclipse.

ing from that agreement."

Mr. Chamberlain replied there was "extreme tension at present in the country and on the whole question regarding the gold scare," and asked that he was not to make an early statement should be made by the government.

He assure my honorable friend the Chancellor bears all the relevant factors in mind" Colville returned.

Col. Colville Silent.

F. J. Bellenger, Labor, asked if it was not a fact that the exchange equalization fund was purchasing extraordinarily large quantities of gold and if there was to know if the government was planning to increase the fund.

Colville did not answer the question.

Josiah Wedgwood, Labor, asked if there had been any negotiations with the United States concerning a common policy in connection with the purchase of gold.

In a written reply Colville said "There has been no occasion for such negotiations. The arrangements under the Tripartite Monetary agreement in regard to which there has been close contact between the two treasuries, have given rise to full satisfaction of the governments concerned."

The change in the price of gold announced after the market opening cut the profit of sterling shippers of the yellow metal from approximately 1-16 cent the margin prevailing on Saturday to about 1-32 cent. The price of $34 an ounce in New York made shipment less profitable and tended to discourage selling on the London market.

London sales today were 262 bars, valued at about $3,636,000, as compared with 468 bars valued at about $6,484,000 Saturday.

Bullion dealers explained the cash discount of 1-16 (one cent) an ounce to ship gold to New York for sale at the $35 price to shippers must buy at the $34.77 an ounce in order to make a profit.

What part the British equalization fund might have played in the move today was not disclosed. Bullion brokers who fixed the price of gold twice daily with the seller supply and an increased demand."

$4 Millions in Two Weeks

For two weeks an unprecented total of about $64,000,000 in gold has been sold on the London market, giving rise to fears the strain would be too great for governments to stand, Great Britain and the United States to handle readily.

Most of the gold sold was said to be owned by continental interests and hoarded in London. The unloading was prolonged by fears of a reduction in the American gold price, despite official statements from the United States which counted such reports.

Regardless of the immediate possible consequence of the gold sales, there were indications authorities handling the Tripartite Monetary Equilibrium Agreement among the United States, Great Britain and France were not alarmed unduly over the week's developments.

Selling and Stabilization

The less gold that remains in hoarding, it was said, the easier it may be to effect real money stabilization in the long run, when the time is deemed ripe.

The Financial News suggested the last few days had indicated the British equalization account was "reluctant to buy," and that this reluctance had thrown the burden of the gold outpouring "on the unwilling shoulders of America, thereby increasing the danger of an American price reduction."

This newspaper called for a British gold buying policy "at a publicly announced and comparatively stable price"

In official circles, it was understood Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, had conferred several times with Montagu Norman, Governor of the Bank of England.

Simon to Answer

Sir John in the House of Commons Tuesday is to answer a question as to whether he is satisfied with the workings of the tripartite currency agreement.

He also will be asked whether any modification of that agreement is in prospect, whether the question of monetary policy in relation to gold has been placed before representatives of the Dominions at the Imperial Conference, and whether the Government has considered there consultation with the United States and Soviet Russia.

Hoardings of Gold

The background of the great outflow of gold, hoarded here by continental interests, is this:

Wealthy capitalists, big French, Swiss, and Netherlands companies among them, thought they saw in London a safe refuge for their funds. They stored it in London vaults. Bankers estimate still more will have perhaps £150,000,000 ($750,000,000) of it there.

The high price of the metal—after abandonment of the gold standard by country after country and devaluation of currency—brought into operation mines that previously did not pay South Russia, with greatly increased production, sent £1,700,000 worth of gold to London in the first half of last week.

Gold became a glut on the market here. Hoarders, fearing a break in the price and seeing a profit to be had by shipment aboard, threw their holdings on the market.

KENNETH SERGENT KILLED AS TRACTOR UPSETS

Tractor Mounts Curb On Street in Stirling Overturns on Mechanic

St. Ola Young Man Testing Out Machine on Street After Repairs

MAKING TURN

Tractor Had Been in Garage Being Repaired by Sergent

Stirling, June 8 (Special)—Kenneth Sergent, aged 26, of St. Ola, was instantly killed about noon today when a tractor he was driving turned over on him at the corner of North and Charlotte streets, this village, pinning him beneath.

Sergent, a motor-mechanic at Woodbeck's garage, of this village, had been working on the tractor in the garage for some time and having got it running, he drove out on the street to try it out. After driving a few rods he was turning around to return when the front wheel mounted a two-foot curb and the machine turned completely over, pinning him upon him.

The accident was witnessed by Mrs. Price who was sitting on the verandah of the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ralph Redden, next door. Mr. Alex. McCrorie rushed to the spot to find Sergent pinned underneath and crushed. With help they succeeded in lifting the tractor sufficiently to permit the removal of the victim. It is believed he was almost instantly killed as he was dead when taken from beneath the machine.

Dr. Algar, coroner, Dr. Demorest and Dr. W. H. Pedley hurried to the scene but no man was beyond aid. The body was removed to the Duffin Undertaking Parlors.

Sergent was an expert mechanic. His home was in St. Ola, and he was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Morley Sergent of that place. Since coming to Stirling he was employed by Woodbeck, Mrs. Lawrence Conley of this place. He was a lad in high esteem by the residents and his tragic death has cast a gloom over the village and countryside. He was unmarried.

Chief Coroner Dr. J. J. Robertson, Belleville, visited the scene and after discussing the case with doctors on the scene and the police, he decided an inquest was unnecessary as the tragedy was purely accidental.

Why the Weather?

By Major A. H. Thiemeon Science Service Meteorologist

Total eclipse of today should occure a total eclipse of the sun. The path of total eclipse does not touch this country. However, the eclipse recalls that there is such a thing as eclipse weather. The sun shakes out something. Even as eclipse the moon hides the sun almost completely and shuts off radiation to the path of totality for about five minutes. Of course the shadow is very small, about 200 miles wide. But within the shadow it does become cool and the shadow is a small change in barometric pressure. Also the air moves and hence denser air, and air ahead of the shadow moves outward from the shadow. If conditions were passive enough, these slight phenomena might be observed.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, June 8 (CP)—A shallow trough of low pressure extends southwestward from Quebec to the Ontario peninsula. Quebec is the immediate west of the Great Lakes with relatively high pressure over the western provinces, the northwestern and eastern states. Light scattered showers have occurred in Alberta, southern Manitoba, northern Ontario, but the weather has been generally fair in other districts. It has been cool in the Maritimes, mild-ly in southern Manitoba.

Lake Region—Mainly southwest to northwest winds, cloudy and cool with showers.

Manitoba—Northerly winds; partly cloudy and cool with scattered showers.

Lake of the Woods—Light winds; a little higher temperature.

Alberta—Mainly fair, with stationary or a little higher temperature; light showers in a few districts.

NEWS BRIEFS AND ODDITIES

Moscow, June 8 (AP)—Four explorer-scientists of the Soviet Union planned on the North Polar floes from their ice flee wintering camp today and reported by radio to Moscow they were in a depth of 14,675 feet.

It required three hours of grueling labor to lower the sounding apparatus and twice that long to pull it up again.

Chicago, June 8 (AP)—Here's a fish story with a brand new twist.

When the streamline train, "City of Denver," rolled into Chicago, attendants noted two things. The headlight was broken and inside the shattered lamp lay a dead trout.

This explanation was offered:

As the train sped eastward from the Mississippi River at 80 miles an hour, an eight pound mie its path. It was a head-on collision. The big bird fell. Out of its beak and into the headlight dropped the fish.

Brantford, Ont., June 8 (CP) —How to prevent the removal of telephones—take one old muzzle loading shotgun, put in a little powder, drag in a lot of wire, fire away and cap the nipple. Then place the gun about a length from the tree-lender and pull the trigger—quite a few tent and the pestiferous inhabitants. The threatened residents, who discovered the method says it's lots of fun and works—but the law prohibits use of shotguns within city limits.

Sarnia, Ont., June 8 (CP)—It's not only in the South Seas where pearls dive for riches. A number of boys swimming in the river north of the ferry landing here amazed passengers yesterday by their feats.

Harvey Burton by diving for coins tossed into the waters of St. Clair.

Kitchener, Ont., June 8 (CP)— Now it's the golf caddies who are striking for higher pay. Following a recent visit of professional golfers who paid the caddies 75 cents a round, the boys have been satisfied with the regular 65-cent payment as it hides at Westmount Club. But they've agreed to continue work until a committee of six caddies meet the club directors.

Gold Production Is Still Rising

New York, June 8 (AP)—A continuation of the upward trend in world gold production was evidenced today in a gain for the first four months of this year in the world output, excluding Russia, of 712,000 ounces over the comparable period last year, as reported by the American Bureau of Metal Statistics.

Production increased to 9,471,000 ounces from 8,759,000 in the same months last year. In April output totalled 2,270,000 compared with 2,424,000 in March and 2,226,000 in April 1936.

Higher prices for the yellow metal together with lower commodity prices have nearly doubled world output in ounces since 1929.

Jean Harlow Not Hard-boiled But Swell Girl Says Friend

Always Befriending Somebody And Was Not High Hat

Never See Picture.

CANCEL PICTURE

Hollywood, June 8 (AP) — The world knew Jean Harlow as a hard-boiled siren. It was a pose, a trademark.

On the back lot, the ordinary guys and gals of the film business swear by her memory.

The giant sound stages were caverns of sadness yesterday as newsboys shouted "Extra! Extra! Harlow dead!"

A little man, thin-haired and moustached, turned over the controls of his big mobile camera to another technician and went home. He was Hal Rosson, third husband of the blond.

The male star on the same set had been shooting all morning. He was William Powell, who held Jean Harlow's hand as she died, then wept.

Over in the studio laboratory was the record of her last performance. It lacked only a week's scenes. The picture will never get it.

Some one else will take Harlow's place—if that is possible—and a picture that has cost nearly $1,000,000, "Saratoga", will be remade.

"It didn't seem we would ever stop working together," said Ray Jacobson, cameraman with lens and lights kept her radiance fixed on the screen.

Other friends crafted reminiscences. Harlow was never high hat. When a party on the set celebrated the finish of "Personal Property", she helped serve hot dogs and pop to the crew.

At the start of "Saratoga", there were fresh flowers as usual in her dressing room. One bouquet was from Powell. Another was from a typewriter repair man she had befriended. Harlow was like that.

MONETARY POLICY OF GREAT BRITAIN IS UNCHANGED

Questions Shower Upon New Chancellor Who Makes Statement

NO CHANGE CONSIDERED

Statement is Made To Remove Misconceptions

By GEORGE HAMBLETON

London, June 8 (CP)—Great Britain is not contemplating any change in her monetary policy.

"I see no need for any new declaration of policy at the present time," Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, definitely told the House of Commons this afternoon.

Questions Showered.

The gold scare of the past week brought a shower of questions for the new Chancellor.

Had monetary policy been before the Imperial Conference? asked Sir J. Boothby, Conservative.

Were increased stocks of gold due to increased Russian production or disbursements on the part of private holders who were anxious over the widening of the discount in relation to the American stopping parity?

Was the Chancellor satisfied with the working of the tri-partite currency agreement between Great Britain, France and the United States?

Would the Chancellor consider concerted action with the Dominions, the United States, France with a view to stabilizing the price of gold?

No Change Contemplated.

Sir John: "My statement was that we intend to adhere to the course we have followed and that there is no ground for supposing we are contemplating a change. Future operations would necessarily be considered when they arise."

Josiah Wedgwood, Labor: "Are we going to continue to buy gold we don't want just to keep up the price?"

Sir John: "I see no occasion for a new declaration of policy at the present time. I think there is nothing new to declare."

Buying and Selling.

"I am glad to be able to make a statement with a view to removing the misconceptions prevalent. British monetary policy remains as laid down by my predecessor (Neville Chamberlain) in his statement to the world economic conference in 1933, in the memorandum by delegates of the British Commonwealth to the same conference, and in the tripartite declaration of last September.

"No change in this policy is contemplated, nor has come before the Imperial Conference. This policy does not involve obligation on us to buy at a fixed price but it does involve the purchase at a fair gold for the purpose of checking undue fluctuations in exchange rates.

Simple Burial Marks Passing Of Jean Harlow

Los Angeles, June 8 (AP)—Jean Harlow, author of the platinum blond vogue and central figure of martial tragedy, will be buried with simplicity contrasting sharply with one of Hollywood's most spectacular careers.

The 26-year-old movie star died unexpectedly yesterday of uremic poisoning.

Her death, at the height of her career, was reminded of that of Barbara La Mar, Wallace Reid, and Rudolph Valentino.

But her mother, Mrs. Jean Bello, and her stepfather, Marino Bello, sought to forestall demonstrations by the curious.

Bella Harlow will not lie in state. "The coffin will be closed when private funeral services are held tomorrow at the Wee Kirk o' the Heather"in Glendale.

Little warning had been given the end was near for the girl who did her first screen work in 1928 and was rocketed toward stardom as the platinum blond in "Hell's Angels". She left the set of "Saratoga", in which she was being starred with Clark Gable, last May 29, feeling ill.

Married Three Times.

She asked Dean for William Powell, who had been her closest friend for two years. Her illness was first reported as a dull headache, then as a cold. She was removed to a hospital Sunday and died there yesterday just before noon.

"Why did this have to be?" cried Powell, who with her at death. "I loved her. I loved her."

Miss Harlow had been married three times—to Charles McGrew, a wealthy producer, in 1927; Paul Bern, film producer, in 1932, and Harold Rosson, ace film cameraman, in 1933. Bern took his own life and the other marriages ended in divorce.

Whatever unhappiness may have attended her private life, Miss Harlow preferred comedy dramas to all other types of film stories. Even after her first picture, "Saratoga", she believed she was the "worst actress to enter films."

Popular At Studio.

Her popularity at the studio was due in part to her generosity. She would treat the entire company to coffee and doughnuts in the mornings and at the conclusion of a picture presents, gifts to those who had worked with her.

Until a year ago she lived in a large, white mansion in Beverly Hills. Then she sold it and moved into a modest home not far away which lacked a swimming pool or tennis court. This despite the fact she was earning about $4,000 a week and was reported to have an estate of nearly $1,000,000, largely in insurance and annuities.

Her mother, and her mother, whose maiden name she had taken for the screen and who survives, became her as "Baby". Her real name was Harlean Carpentier.

RUSH FORESTERS INTO FIRE AREA

New Outbreaks Occur in Gowganda Mining Area

New Liskeard, Ont., June 8—(CP)—Reserve, foresters were rushed today into the Gowganda mining area, 70 miles west of here, to combat new outbreaks of forest fires. More than 800 acres were a smouldering ruin after fire yesterday swept over a section between Elk Lake and Gowganda.

Forty men fought to keep the blaze within bounds and it was not considered dangerous as surrounding country is rocky and has only the occasional summer home. Smoke hung, however, over an other area in the Ashley Mine 17 miles west of Matachewan, indicating another outbreak. Rangers were seeking its exact location.

The Gowganda area is south of Matachewan where last weeks fires threatening the mining camps in that immediate section, however, fires are under control.

More than 800 feet of valuable mine timber owned by Al White of Hoyle was destroyed in Shaw Township in Timmins area in two separate blazes. A 24-hour battle by a force of Ontario Forestry branch fighters succeeded in standing out the blaze.

LEISURELY PLANS FOR AFRICAN HOP

Amelia Earhart Flies South Atlantic in Record Time

Dakar, French Senegal, June 8 (AP)—Amelia Earhart flew here today from St. Louis, capital of Senegal, for an easier takeoff on the next leg of her flight around the world.

St. Louis, French Senegal, June 8 (AP)—Amelia Earhart, flying around the world "the fun" way, made leisurely plans today for a hop across Africa.

Miss Earhart, twice conqueror of the North Atlantic, flew the south Atlantic yesterday from Natal, Brazil, covering the approximately 1,900 miles in the thirteen hours and fifteen minutes.

Miss Earhart, accompanied by Capt. Fred Norman, her navigator, took off from Paramirim airport, Natal, at 2.16 a.m. E.D.T., yesterday, heading into a light rain and fog. She set her big twin-motored monoplane down at St. Louis, on the west coast of Africa, at 3.23 p.m. E.D.T.

Dublin, June 8 (AP)—Newsreels of the Duke of Windsor's wedding, which will not be shown in England, will be exhibited in the Irish Free State, it was made known today.

LABOR HOLIDAY IS TERMINATED

C. I. O. Affiliate Succeed in Having Five Pickets Released

Lansing, Mich., June 8 (AP)—The wheels of industry and trade ground to a fresh start today in this city whose economic system was virtually paralyzed for a day by a city-wide labor holiday which involved a proportions of a general strike in protest against the arrest of eight pickets.

No casualties, no additional arrests, resulted from the stoppage. The vast demonstration, which centred about the front lawn of the state capitol yesterday, passed off with no more violence than a college hazing and a college hazing was the very experience encountered by an outriding detachment of the United Automobile Workers of America, C. I. O., affiliate whose members participated in the "holiday".

The detachment sought to extend the holiday beyond the city limits of Lansing into the suburban college town of East Lansing, site of Michigan State College. Members entered restaurants and other business places near the campus, ordering the proprietors to suspend operations. Students of the college rebelled, state police reported, and overturned several automobiles in which the unionists were travelling, ducking eight union members in the Red Cedar river—the traditional punishment meted out by hazing parties to Freshmen who offended upperclassmen.

Other students set up barricades and "deadlines" beyond which they warned unionists not to advance.

Governor Frank Murphy, long interved in the demonstration in Lansing.

Later, after three of the arrested pickets had been released, unionists left the Governor's reception to clear the streets, but continued marching through corridors of the capitol and the city hall across the street, claiming a "labor victory". The "holiday" was ended with release later of the other five pickets.

Pacific Pact Proposal Made by Australians Sympathetically Viewed

Competition by Subsidized Shipping by U.S. and Japan Studied

MERE SURVEY MADE

Draft Report Deals With Cost of Various Types of Services

By GEORGE HAMBLETON

London, June 8 (CP)—Peace on the Pacific occupied chief attention to the Imperial Conference this morning. The Australian proposal for a Pacific pact particularly was under review.

The proposal, as before the delegates, was understood to provide for signature by all powers bordering the Pacific of a pact agreeing, (1) not to resort to aggression, and (2) to employ conciliation and arbitration as a means of settling disputes.

Hemisfair Kellogg Pact.

In essence its form is along the lines of the Kellogg Pact, with particular application to the Pacific. The pact does not, it is stated, provide mutual assistance against aggression.

Delegations to the Imperial Conference are generally sympathetic with the principle of the pact, but it is realized that after the Imperial Conference rises long negotiations with the other Pacific powers would be necessary before the pact approached its final stage.

On the economic side a decision has still to be taken in regard to competition by American and Japanese subsidized shipping on the Pacific. Reports that the shipping committee had approved the construction of two large high-speed liners for the Canadian-Australian service were authoritatively stated to be without foundation.

Draft Report Is Survey.

The committee's draft report does not in the slightest degree, it understood, go beyond a survey of the position with an indication of the means which might be taken to meet competition from subsidized shipping.

It gives information on what sta-tistics are available and examines the Empire countries concerned, namely the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia and New Zealand. It deals with the costs of different types of service but does not attempt to impose binding obligations on the governments concerned. Consideration of that negotiations between the United Kingdom and the Dominions concerned will continue after the conference.

Other Case Says Telegraph.

"There was never a clearer case for assistance," the Daily Telegraph declared today in commenting on Sir Edward Beatty's mission to London to discuss subsidized Empire air services between Canada and the United Kingdom.

Sir Edward, head of the Canadian Pacific Railway, arrived yesterday to press his plea for subsidized support of two modern liners for service between British Columbia and Australia and New Zealand.

He will undoubtedly be satisfied on the score of financial guaranteed and the Imperial Conference will be favourably disposed, continues, for the determination it has shown not to allow British shipping to be driven out by heavily subsidized competition," the Telegraph said.

Absence of Purplish Liquid Cause of 'Night Blindness'

Test is Made Showing How Liquor Flows From Nerve Ends

MOTORISTS AFFECTED

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

Atlantic City, N.J., June 8 (AP)— Possibly 10 per cet. of motorists suffer from "night blindness", due to the absence of a purplish liquid in the eyes, not withstanding their eyes are perfect in daylight.

Visual Purple Mentioned.

This was indicated by a new optical test, shown to the American Medical Association today which will enable doctors to measure the fluid known as visual purple, essentially vitamin A.

It flows from the nerve endings in the eye known as rods. Only these rods can "see" in dim light.

Night blindness, until the new optical test was perfected a few weeks ago, was supposed to be confined mostly to people on very poor diets, who ate almost no vitamin A. It was common in Russia during the war.

Medical men did not dream the same blindness could affect persons who ate perfectly adequate food.

Seeing in either daytime or bright light is done with a different set of nerves known as cones. They have none of the fluid that is found in the rods. Without it the rods cannot act.

In a Dark Theatre.

That is one reason why a person going into a dark theatre does not see for a few seconds. He sees as soon as the purple flows again.

With using the new optical test to discover whether certain diseases were due to lack of vitamin A, William J. Erickson, M.D., and Jacob B. Feldman, M.D. of Philadelphia found many persons with whom the flow of purple fluid is long retarded.

PRINCESSES TO SEE CEREMONY

Throwing Down of Gauntlet a Century-Old Ceremony

London, June 8 (AP)—Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret were invited as guests of honor today to see the revival of a century-old ceremony—the throwing down of the gauntlet by the King's champion.

Josiah Boo, the newly crowned King was the central theme of Rushmoor Tilton, in which thousands of troops will take part every evening until June 19.

Today's show was planned as a daylight rehearsal for the heiress presumptive to the throne and her sister Margaret. The tattoo takes its name from the "continuous beating or drumming" of regimental bands throughout the pageant.

The highlight will be the throwing down of the gauntlet by the King's champion for challenge to all who do not share the army's loyalty to the sovereign.

As the champion rides into the arena, a procession bearing the banners of the Kings and Queens from 1066 to 1937 clusters around a representation of the Royal Empire Sunyre guarding the Imperial Crown.

ECLIPSE OF SUN IS LONELY VIGIL

Astronomers in Mid-Pacific Seek New Knowledge of Corona

Washington, June 8 (AP)—Scientists with powerful telescopes and amateurs with bits of smoked glass scanned the skies today in the hope the weather would permit them to observe a total eclipse of the sun.

Astronomers stationed on lonely spots in mid-Pacific focused their instruments on the path of the full eclipse—the lowest in twelve centuries.

On Canton Island, representatives of the National Geographical Society and Pan American Airways saw the sun's corona—the strange light around the sun—for during six eclipses.

With them were United States Naval observers intent on timing the exact moment when the rim of the moon and the rim of the sun become centered exactly over each other. Today time is reckoned. They reported weather conditions were "not as all reassuring".

Partial Eclipse.

Canton Island was in the path of the total eclipse, but scientists said persons in a belt 1,000 miles strip from Eureka, Calif., to Palm Beach, Fla., could see a partial eclipse.

The phenomenon was awaited in California at one p.m., E.D.T. In Washington and other Texas cities between 2.30 and 4.15 p.m., and in Florida about 6 p.m.

Scientists calculated the sun would be blotted out by the moon for the longest four-seven minutes, four seconds—at a landline point in the Pacific more than 1,000 miles east of the geographic-navy station at Canton Island.

IRREGULAR TOLLING OF CITY CLOCK HAS BEEN REMEDIED

The town clock slowly tolls the passing hours again, and policemen of the local force engaged on regular street patrol duty for the past week or more, heave a sigh of relief from the tension of answering the summons of one stroke formerly sounded at erratic intervals.

Repairs made yesterday by custodian of the clock, Jack Fe'lin, have restored the bell mechanism to a more regular and faithful performance after being sadly amiss in its operation for several days.

Policemen on beat duty have long been accustomed to responding to a single toll of the bell by calling the station from the nearest telephone for orders. Thus, when only single strokes of the bell were sluiced at irregular intervals, confusion reigned among the blue-coated ranks. Desk sergeants found much of their time occupied with answering the phone and assuring constables that there was no need for their services.

"A pair was wrong, one of the striking levers", explained Jack Rohlin today after exquisitely had been restored to the police force.

FREE BUS SERVICE WEDNESDAY MORNING

The outstanding success of the free bus experiment tried last Wednesday morning by Belleville merchants has resulted in the same arrangement being provided for this Wednesday when, free transportation downtown on the bus bonus has been provided for. Just board a bus any time, any time, between nine o'clock and twelve noon and consider yourself the guest of the merchants of Belleville. Get off anywhere, and shop in your heart's content. Then shop early and thus give the store staffs a better opportunity to enjoy the half holiday. Remember the stores close at twelve o'clock noon.

FISHERMEN TAKING UNDERSIZED TROUT ARE GIVEN WARNING

A warning has been issued by the Ontario Department of Game and Fisheries against the catching of undersized trout.

"Various streams are being planted with yearlings just now, and reports have been received that they are being fished out so fast as they are distributed", the warning states.

"There is no desire to prosecute any one, but a close check will be made on all creels of those visiting. Fines will be imposed upon any one in possession of a trout under the legal size limit."

As a guard against catching yearlings, which are liable to live inches when planted, it is recommended that all fishermen use nothing smaller than a No. 4 hook.

R. R. OFFICIALS USE INSPECTION AUTO WITH FLANGED WHEELS

Speeding along with effortless ease, a shiny new sedan inspection car containing officials of the Canadian National railways travelled over the local division on its 16 flanged wheels this morning. The car travelled the rails with the speed of an ordinary locomotive and with a minimum of noise and vibration.

H. BROWN REPRESENTS LOCAL BLACKSMITHS AT KINGSTON MEETING

Belleville was represented last evening at a meeting of blacksmiths of Kingston and district blacksmiths and wives, at the Frontenac Hotel by Mr. Harry Brown, well known local blacksmith. About seventy-five members of that craft gathered were present. At the banquet which followed the afternoon's business of the gathering, chief speaker was the Hon. T. A. Kidd, Dr., Reg. of Belleville, who also delivered a witty and interesting address to the gathering.

PLATE GLASS SECTION CRASHES TO SIDEWALK

Engaged in removing a large plate glass section of window from the corner building to be occupied by Ben Phipps Men's Wear, Front Street exit Victoria Avenue, a gang of workmen cracked for safety this morning when the section of glass slipped and fell shattering in scores of pieces on the cement walk. Pedestrian traffic along Front Street at the location was halted briefly while shovelling up operations were in progress.

Kinsmen Complete Plans For Big Kid Kar Derby Day
About 150 Entries Will Take Part in Novel Event
PARADE PROPOSED
With nearly one hundred and fifty entries practically assured, the annual Kid Kar Derby sponsored by the Kinsmen Club of Belleville, which will be run here on July 1st bids fair to be one of the most attractive sports events of the season, according to the reports submitted by the chairmen of the various committees in charge of the affair, at the fortnightly dinner and meeting of the club held in the New Queens Hotel last night. President Norm. Garbutt occupied the chair with Orioff Lloyd acting as sergeant-at-arms.
Kinsmen Cleo Colling, in his report stated that a splendid response had been made by business firms as regards advertising especially those outside the city. Loudspeaking apparatus has already been arranged for and will be furnished by Mr. A. Young of the Stewart-Warner Co. Snowcones will be erected around the main parts of the race course. Animated discussion regarding the broadcasting of the event over a Toronto station resulted in a delegation consisting of Kinsmen C. Colling, O. Lloyd, F. Rodman and N. Garbutt being appointed to interview two stations with regard to terms and rates.
Kinsmen Fred Jobson promised that members of the Belleville Municipal Band would be in attendance 100 per cent. "There will be two bands at least", he said, "but if suitable arrangements can be made there will be three."
Regarding the proposed parade, Kinsmen Jobson suggested that efforts be made to include decorated bicycles, children's pets, floats and automobiles.
A survey of the entries submitted at the various schools brought out the information by Kinsmen Phil Huddleston that so far, Queen Mary had submitted 30 entries; Queen Victoria, 15; St. Michael's 30, and other local members, which total to all appreciably fair.
Funds For Eye Clinic
Kinsmen Carl Hills appealed to the members for their full-fledged support from now till Derby time. He outlined the various activities already undertaken and stated that prospects for a record-breaking Derby looked exceedingly bright. "If we work together and cooperate, we shall not only have a splendid day's fun," he said, "but the fund for an Eye Clinic will be amply replenished."
The club unanimously voted a sum of money to be donated to a fund to send a local man to Toronto for an optical operation, which means the saving of his eyesight. Kinsmen Lloyd Rodman was delegated a committee of one to interview other service clubs of the city with it was understood are also giving donations to this cause.
Kinsmen Rodman reported on the annual "stag" party which this year will include the initiation of new members, were completed:

Peterborough Contractor is Awarded Contract for Repairs to School Roofs

Chas. Hyde Protests Giving The Work to Outside Party
WAS LOWEST TENDER
As the lowest of four bids submitted, the tender for the repair to the roofs of Queen Victoria and Queen Mary Schools, and replacement of sections of flashing, by Alex McLeod of Peterborough, was accepted by members of the Sites, Buildings and Repairs Committee at the Board of Education at its meeting last evening.
Three other bids had been submitted by Arthur A. Sills, Arthur Hagerman and J. C. Hagerman, all local contractors.
The successful tender provided for a five-year guarantee against leakage and defects.
Protest against the award of the tender to an outside contractor was lodged by Chas. L. Hyde, chairman of the committee. At its last regular meeting of the Board, this stand on this matter was clearly outlined by the Trustee.
"I do not approve of the action of the Board in awarding this tender to an outside firm, and I do not believe a good job can be done at the price quoted—particularly a job which will last us for five years, as guaranteed. The price to me seems too low to hold any guarantee," Trustee Hyde told fellow committee members.
Against the objections of Chairman Hyde the motion that McLeod man Hyde the motion that McLeod be granted the tender was passed.

ROTARIANS TOUR EIGHT COUNTRIES IN 20 MINUTES
Brief, Witty and Informative Travel Talk to Rotary Club by Miss Jessie Tuite
There are no flies in Stockholm, a city so clean and sanitary that the windows of the hotels are kept wide open in the summer, and no fly or mosquito dare enter — in fact there are no flies in Stockholm for they have been banished by decree with strict supervision. This is just one of the many claims to fame possessed by Sweden's capital, as outlined in a very interesting talk on Sweden before Belleville Rotary Club by Miss Jessie Tuite, noted reconteur and teacher of expression at Albert College.
Miss Tuite described her impressions and observations on a trip aboard last summer which took in eight countries. With Norway and Sweden she was very much impressed, pleased with the people who are strong, sturdy, quiet and courteous—in fact commenting upon some usual courtesy at a summer resort she was told by an attendant that it was the typical Swedish way to abide all the noise, out of season it was as quiet as a church. Stockholm is one of the most beautiful cities in the world, being built on a number of islands, and connected by bridges, and comparing with Venice for beauty and splendour. In cleanliness, Sweden does not loom large on the map but it is a busy, progressive people, and the educational feeling and an important factor in each evening.
"We are a small people but we should think great thoughts", is an description above the New Town Hall in Stockholm, and this aptly describes the ambitions of its people. Those who think great thoughts can not help but achieve greatness.
Miss Tuite described the co-operative system in Sweden which functions so successfully, selling groceries and other commodities; also the state aided home construction whereby citizens can own their own apartments on the principle of from ten dollars per month upwards according to the type of house desired.
Many interesting things about Norway and Sweden were touched upon by Miss Tuite in a very interesting manner, also glimpses of Germany, Denmark, Holland, Denmark, Paris, London, bits of England, Scotland and Wales, closing her land with its awakened memories of Bobbie Burns, Sir Walter Scott, and Robert Louis Stevenson, each touched lightly in passing and although all was a most delightful journey that the Rotarians enjoyed Miss Tuite in the short time at her disposal, at the noon luncheon.
Miss Tuite was introduced by Archie Cameron, and Jack McFee voiced the appreciation of those present. Children's choir was accepted the chair, Oswald Scott led singing with Leo Riggs at the piano.
Guests present included: N. Bowen, Geo. Joyce, Max Malinski, Zeb Asia, Claire Northey, Trenton; Art Rosebrugh, Estarian Bill Hisey, Winnipeg; Chatham; Ken Hodgert," Port Hope.

W. SCHREIDER IS GIVEN ONE YEAR
Sentence to Commence From Time of Arrest in February Last
Wallace Schreider, Thurlow mechanic, was sentenced to serve one year in the Ontario Reformatory determinate and a further indeterminate sentence of not more than one day was the appeared for sentence before His Honor Judge Deroche today on a charge of theft of a motor car. On three lesser charges, the theft of an automobile battery, electric torch and rear light contruent sentences of three months each were given. His Honor dealt with all sentences to commence from the time Schreider was first apprehended and taken into custody last February last.
After being convicted in County Court on four charges of theft Schreider pleaded guilty yesterday to day at which time A. B. Collins, K.C. counsel for the accused, presented character references on behalf of Schreider. Dr. Bell Hamilton, ex-mayor of Belleville, Thos. Hutchinson and Harry Snell, all neighbors and personal friends of the accused man, all three men stating Schreider was an industrious worker and a good provider for his family.
Suggested Suspended Sentence
Crown Attorney, Lloyd Jeffers in the court, made mention of the accused man's long and spotless record as a workman on the railway and suggested a suspended sentence would meet the ends of justice, as he felt his client had suffered sufficiently and had learned crime does not pay. "In view of the five months, detention suffered by my client and appealing that justice is tempered with mercy", he submitted, that the balance of any corrective sentence be in the form of a suspended sentence.
In concluded Mr. Jeffers.
B. C. Donnan, K. C., County Crown Attorney, cited Schreider's previous record, that constituted a suspended sentence for theft registered in 1934, "Appearing with consideration shown this man in 1934 has no effect on the skills of mind" pointed out Mr. Donnan.
His Honor Judge Deroche, took well into consideration the unfortunate family ties and openly stated he believed he was being as lenient as possible under the prevailing conditions as he passed sentence.

POLICE BLOTTER
While playing in the vicinity of the intersection of West Bridge and Coleman St., yesterday afternoon two teen aged boys are reported to have broken a glass globe on one of the gasoline pumps operated by John Lloyd.
Detective Fred Izard later apprehended the two lads and it was discovered that the throwing stones, one of which had struck the globe. The boys became frightened and had run away. Restitution will be requested from their parents.
A bicycle stolen at the Belleville Collegiate yesterday afternoon was later recovered. Apparently the bike had been taken for a joy ride and abandoned.
While patrolling their beat last night local police found two pair of shoes left hanging on display outside a local shoe store. The boots were removed to the police station for safe keeping and returned to the owner today.
One inebriate and two lonely transients shared the cell block at the police station last night, the former being detained today, how-

GASOLINE BLAZE DAMAGES BARBER SHOP
Fire originating when an electric light bulb burst ignited a pan of Naphta gasoline on a table a few feet away, destroyed six hats in the cleaning department of the barber shop of Harry Penn at 8 East Bridge Street shortly after ten o'clock this morning, and caused considerable damage to walls and ceiling of the shop room.
J. G. Benton, employee of Penn, was cleaning hats in the small room beneath a stairway when the explosion occurred. Pieces of falling glass from the broken bulb splashed blazing gasoline around the room, and threatened to ignite a nearby gasoline stove. Benton attempted to extinguish the flames with water, but inability to control the blaze resulted in an alarm being rushed to the fire department.
Chemicals from fire apparatus quickly reduced the flames which were licking at the walls when firemen arrived. Benton suffered a slightly injured hand in his attempts to throw water on the blaze.

LIFE MEMBERS OF W. M. S. HONORED

Mrs. Donald Gunn Sr., And Mrs. Melissa Ostrom Named

The regular meeting of the Bayside Auxiliary of the W. M. S. was held at the home of Mrs. J. Fred Wilson on Wednesday with a large attendance of members and visitors present.

The meeting, consisting of solos, readings, etc., was ably conducted by Mrs. Geo. W. Bush, president of the W. M. S.

On Wed. June 23rd, a meeting will be held in White's Church, to do honor and bid farewell to Miss Elsie Hunt, Rev. N., who is being sent as a missionary to Cold Lake Hospital, Alberta. Miss Hunt was born on the Front of Sidney and graduated from Kingston General Hospital and is well equipped to carry out the duties expected of her in this distant field of endeavor.

Mrs. Donald Gunn, Sr., and Mrs. Melissa Ostrom, life members of the W. M. S., who were present on this occasion, were given a delightful birthday surprise at the close of the meeting.

The following address was read by Mrs. Arthur L. Burks:

Birthday Meditations

Dear Mrs. Gunn and Mrs. Ostrom,

To the ladies of the Women's Association and the W. M. S. this is an important and delightful occasion.

An occasion freighted with fruitful memories and recollections of useful deeds in the days long past.

To you, Mrs. Gunn, this day marks the 90th anniversary of your birth and to you Mrs. Ostrom, this week brings you to the 86th milestone along the highway of life. Surely goodness and mercy have followed you and you both have every reason to count your many blessings and return thanks to Him who is the giver of every good and perfect gift. Along this beautiful and historic Bay of Quinte, where our United Empire Loyalist fathers labored so wisely and well, there have been many changes in the community life. Many have crossed the frontier of life and disappeared from view in the shadows beyond, others have moved to greater fields of usefulness, but we rejoice in the fact that we still have citizens such as yourselves who have given their entire lives in the service of others and for the betterment of conditions in our own neighborhood.

During the long period of your service, both to the church and public welfare, you have experienced the many and varied changes that life holds in store for us all.

But through the tears and sorrows and days of darkness you have continued unerringly in Christian service. We are proud of your many blessings and return thanks to Him who is the giver of every good and perfect gift. Along this beautiful and historic Bay of Quinte, where our United Empire Loyalist fathers labored so wisely and well, there have been many changes in the community life. Many have crossed the frontier of life and disappeared from view in the shadows beyond, others have moved to greater fields of labor.

As tokens of remembrance on these your anniversaries, we present these bouquets of seasonal bloom—symbols of fragrant beauty and charm and emblematic of your lifework.

May the richest blessings of heaven be yours to enjoy in the days ahead.

Mrs. Gunn and Mrs. Ostrom were each presented with a beautiful basket of roses by Mrs. Fred Wilson and Mrs. Geo. W. Bush respectively.

Both recipients were deeply touched as they expressed their sincere appreciation and thanks to the ladies on their birthday anniversaries. A beautiful birthday cake was served in honor of Mrs. Gunn, Mrs. Ostrom and Mrs. Frank White of Trenton, all of whom are life members of the W. M. S.

Mrs. Mellow and Mrs. Wm. Rutter poured tea.

An appropriate vote of thanks to the hostess was tendered Mrs. Fred Wilson for opening her home for the occasion and her contribution toward making the occasion a crowning success.

Mrs. Gunn is the mother of Miss Jean Gunn, Superintendent of Toronto General Hospital.

DISLOCATES JAW AFTER LONG YAWN

Transient Taken to Hospital For Medical Attention

Yawning so strenuously, that he dislocated his lower jaw, a transient, who police state was Percy Ucey, 42, caused Belleville police authorities some little concern last Friday. Ucey had applied at the police station for a night's lodging late Thursday night and was "booked". Early Friday morning, when rising Ucey entered upon a refreshing and lengthy yawn, that was so intent, that it resulted in his dislocating his lower jaw. Sergeant Harman and other members of the force heard peculiar noises coming from the general direction of the cell block. Investigations resulting in the finding of Ucey in his precarious condition. The man was taken to the Belleville General Hospital where the dislocation was ultimately remedied. Ucey soon left the institution, and was last seen lamenting his lower jaw with the aid of his hand still dubious as to its ability to function, when it came to meal time.

PLAINFIELD

Plainfield—Mrs. Emma Fargey who was taken to Belleville General Hospital a few days ago is improving and expects to return home in a few days.

Mr. David Gillespie is employed painting the general store belonging to Mr. Frank Cronkite.

The public school was closed on Thursday and Friday on account of the teacher's absence in Toronto.

Mr. Louis Wright and Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Hillier were the Sunday guests of Mrs. Richard Wright and family.

Mrs. J. F. Everson spent Wednesday in Belleville attending her daughter Mrs. Orland Bertrand who is a patient in the General Hospital.

Mr. Emerson Lobb has been confined to his bed for several days with illness.

Mr. and Mrs. John Herbertson and little daughter spent Sunday with Mrs. Robert Wright and family.

Mr. Stanley Hamilton has been working for some time in Belleville.

The ball game at Cannifton on Friday evening was a big disappointment to the Plainfield fans, when the score resulted in a ten to nothing victory for the home team.

ROSLIN

Roslin—The June meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary was held on Thursday evening June 3rd at the home of Miss L. Wilson with an attendance of sixteen.

Mrs. G. Sills presided and the meeting was opened with a hymn, followed by prayer. Miss Alice Wilson read the Scripture Lesson.

The Secretary and Treasurer gave their reports. Plans were made to quilt the quilt which the members are piecing. Plans were also made for the annual Lawn Social.

After the business period, Mrs. W. Weir took charge of the programme. Mrs. W. Gillespie read a poem "The Touch of the Master's Hand." Miss Alice Wilson read a letter by a missionary in Africa.

A hymn was sung and Rev. Beaser closed the meeting with prayer after which the hostess served lunch.

Mr. W. White and Rev. J. W. McDonald spent Thursday and Friday in Ottawa.

The annual meeting of the Upper Canada Bible Society was held in the Anglican Church on Tuesday evening.

Rev. F. C. Beaser and Mrs. Beaser spent the tea hour on Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hall of Lake.

FEW COTTAGE OWNERS SPEND WEEK END IN THE NORTH COUNTRY

A waiting queue is still being played by campers and cottage owners of this city at the present time it was indicated by the comparative desertion of northern lakes and resorts over the week end. While summer camps still lie idle, owners of the city have been awaiting reports of the abatement of the black fly and mosquito nuisance, reported worse this year than for several seasons. Even fishermen on the Bay of Quinte report the fly particularly bothersome.

LOCAL LONGSHOREMEN FIND WORK SCARCE

Local longshoremen, scanning ship news of expected arrivals at the docks since season opening have had a thin summer for work so far due to slow movements of freight in and out. Monday morning the steamer Glen Allan, after skipping her regular trip last week due to lack of freight, was loaded with over 1,000 chests and a small miscellaneous cargo for the east. A few oil tankers are expected within the next week or so by local companies. The season thus far has been one of the slowest on record.

MADOC

Madoc—The June meeting of St. Peters Presbyterian W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. Gordon Poole on Thursday afternoon and was in charge of Mrs. R. Jenkins who conducted the devotional exercises assisted by Mrs. M. Allen. The business was held over until the end to allow some who had to leave early a chance to hear the guest speaker, Miss Jessie Morris of Vancouver. Miss Morris gave a very fine address in which she described the enlarge council executive of the Missionary Society.

She was sent as a delegate from British Columbia. Delegates were present from Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec, two from each province. She vividly described the work done at the four day session in Toronto. She also gave information on the work in British Columbia. Her address was of great use to us in enlarging our vision of the greatness of the work we are assisting in.. A vote of thanks was given Miss Morris who was one of the first Mission Band Presidents. The business was then taken up. Miss Mackintosh read the minutes and roll call. Mrs. Curry gave the Treasurer's report and Mrs. P. R. Hailstone described the bale ready to be sent to which a beautiful wool afghan was added also a fine quilt made by the members. A sale of home cooking was arranged for. The hymn "Blest be the Tie that Binds," was sung and Miss Jean Morris closed with prayer. The hostess was assisted in serving lunch by Mrs. J. E. Hailstone, Mrs. Cecil McCoy and Miss Wright.

Mrs. F. Harrison, who has spent some time in St. Petersburg, Florida, is spending a few days in Madoc.

Mrs. Brightnapp and little daughter who have been spending the past eight weeks with relatives in Sault Antonia, Texas, have returned home.

Mrs. Huffman and Miss Helen Wellman spent the week-end in Peterboro.

Propaganda That Defeats Itself

If you believed all the propaganda you read, you would think of the Brewing Industry as the confessed and active foe of Temperance. However, the opposite is true.

For although we are in business, the fact that we contribute materially to the economic welfare of this Province and Dominion, surely accords us in a British community the right to state our side of the case.

The cause of True Temperance, or moderation, is the only conceivable policy for the brewers —and that for entirely obvious reasons. We share the same principal foe, the bootlegger — the same objections to hole-and-corner consumption—the same desire to foster respect for law and order.

We submit, therefore, that the folly of trying to make people sober by law has been so clearly demonstrated already, that no sane person could wish to try that experiment again.

We believe that a careful consideration of the facts will convince thinking people that much of the present propaganda against beverage rooms is definitely mischievous because, if successful, it would defeat the object of true temperance.

For true temperance can never go hand-in-hand with a policy that assists the bootlegger!

We'd like to thank Mr. E. Hood for the following expression . . . read what he says!

"Lots of people take their automobiles for granted. But not me. I want to know what's under the hood. I'd like to pay Nash this compliment—the Nash LaFayette—"400" is one of the best engineered cars today. That "400" engine is a "knockout." Those LARGER hydraulic brakes will save, me many a dented fender. That big roomy body is a joy to our whole family! I'm proud of my new Nash . . . it's a grand automobile!"

We hope that some of you people will look at the Nash LaFayette-"400". It's a great big 117-inch wheelbase car. You get a remarkably economical 90-horsepower six cylinder engine. You get longer hydraulic brakes, stronger all steel body. More room. More comfort. Come in. Let us show you all the extra value Nash offers—for just a few dollars more than those "All Three" cars cost.

TO THE NEWLY NATURALIZED

Newcomers to citizenship in Canada numbered eighty-three at a naturalization court held in Port Arthur last week and the presiding Judge John McKay, who is within nine months of his seventy-fifth birthday and is soon to retire, delivered a comprehensive address which should be studied by not only every candidate who comes up for naturalization but also by those who are so used to their British heritage that they take for granted all that being able to say "I am a British citizen" means to them. Among those eighty-three doubtless will be many whose proudest word will be "I am a British subject". The ancient who could say "I am a Roman citizen" was the proudest of men in the old days. In a world of vastly larger implications, of wider civilization and of intricacies of diplomacy and involutions of problems, to be able to say "I am a British citizen" cannot but be the proudest political or national utterance to which one can give voice.

Judge McKay said that those desiring to become naturalized must reside here for five years' residence be of good character. He pointed out that Courtney Ryley Cooper in his book claims there are 3,500,000 persons in the United States engaged in crime, forming by far the biggest industry in America and a ministry whose expenditure of fifteen billion dollars in all phases of profit, expense and loss; that the public enemies of the last five years, with very few exceptions come from the village, the small town or "typical American city," that these criminals are made in the open in childhood, at a time when parental control could have saved them and that many successes have been made in reforming criminals by the kindly and highly efficient work of the private institutions backed by public-minded citizens.

How heavily the cost bears is painted out. The annual world arms burden is 15 billions of dollars. Canada has aggregate taxes annually of three quarters of a billion dollars, municipal, provincial and national. "It is of very vital importance that Canadians should not be called on to pay an additional sum of about one billion dollars by allowing crime to come in like a flood," the judge told the applicants for naturalization.

These were also told that "men and women of good Christian character are of priceless value to Canada." "When the people of this great and favored country of ours look back to the childlike faith of its youth, God can take it and use it for loving a whole world into peace."

The judge directed his hearers to the priceless heritage in the Bible, and cited men of all races and times in proof of its supremacy as the greatest of possessions in the world. "History has proved that God blesses every people and nation that reverences the Bible and obeys its receipts."

Pointing to the felicity of the domestic scene in the lives of King George Fifth and of King George Sixth, Judge McKay referred to the domestic virtues which spring from a deep and vigorous faith in the importance of the home and in the domestic virtues which spring from happy firesides." He cited Robert Burns:

"From scenes like these, old Scotia's grandeur springs
That make her loved at home, revered abroad;
Princes and lords are but the breath of kings,
An honest man's the noblest work of God."

The judge pointed out that Justice Fawcett, presiding over New York City courts for more than twenty years, had sentenced over three thousand boys and young men for crime. "And only three of them had been members of a Sunday School.' He allowed 1090 first offenders out on parole, under the supervision of a minister, priest or rabbi and over 1,000 of these became law-abiding citizens. His solution of the great crime problem was to have the nineteen million teachers and Sunday School scholars bring to their schools the seven-teen million boys and girls who do not belong to any Sunday School or church in the United States."

Roger Babson, economist, was cited — "There are forty millions of church members with an annual income of about forty billion dollars. Calculate the tremendous power summed up in one tenth of that amount, four billion dollars. Spent honestly and wisely, such a sum would furnish sufficient money in a few years to teach every living soul the principles of righteousness."

The judge in closing paid this tribute to the freedom of British citizenship. "A British subject may believe whatever he pleases, and live whatever kind of life he may desire, provided that he obeys the laws of the land. By faithfully upholding the dignity of his fathers, and diligently teaching it to his children, he can advance, in the most effective way, the best interests of the British Empire, and also those of the whole world. The fears of unemployment, crime and of world wars, will be most effectively dispelled."

WITH THE WIND

With the wind is gone forever
Down the corridor of hours,
Many dreams so fondly cherished
Fading, as unwatered flowers.

Bits of sorrow, bits of laughter
Never to return once more,
Yet in memories golden chap-book
Each sweet reverie we store.

Hoping every waking moment
Their return, to fill our day,
Nor each one is part of something
Dearer—as it fades away.

BRITISH INSULT TO AMERICAN WOMANHOOD, screams the Anglo-phobe Hearst press in a blistering leading editorial in its many newspapers, asserting that

The absence of any member of the British Royal Family at the wedding of the Duke of Windsor to Mrs. Wallis Warfield of Baltimore, is the cheapest act of snobbery of which the English ruling classes have ever been guilty.

Then the Hearst spleen descends with the full force of a gutter pipe upon Mr. Stanley Baldwin, who, it says, "is a very common commoner," with other cheap slurs added. Hearst bases this attack on Royalty and Stanley Baldwin upon the assumption that the British action was taken because the woman was "a commoner." Hearst well knows that that is far from the truth—England's strength lies in its commoners, surdy, strong and true, but England has "strange" notions of honor, strange to folks like Hearst writers inured to promiscuity of wives and easy divorce mills. One divorce in a family would shock the English conscience, but two divorces? Not when it touches the British throne—by any manner of means. Hearst's dislike of England and the British is based on nothing more stable than the fact that England has always refused to take him seriously.

"WAR ADMIRAL", GREAT SON OF A GREAT FATHER, "MAN O' WAR" furnished the big sporting event of last week when this game little thoroughbred won the Belmont Stakes Saturday, thereby linking up a triple victory with the three greatest races of the American turf, The Derby, The Preakness, and The Belmont. "Pompoon," who ran second to "War Admiral" in the two previous races, and touted by admirers to win The Belmont, finished sixth. "War Admiral" started this time from the outside, which completed the picture having had the inside position in the other races. It is interesting to note, also, that War Admiral met with an accident at the barrier, suffering a deep cut in front leg, which bled all through the race. On all counts "War Admiral", small, but fast and courageous, is the outstanding equine of the year—proving also, among other things, that size isn't everything, for War Admiral had no trouble beating all the "big uns."

MICKEY COCHRANE GALLANT CAPTAIN OF THE DETROIT TIGERS' professional baseball team, who had his skull fractured by a pitched ball, is at his own home now, but will not be able to play again this season, or possibly ever. Referred to one "Dizzy" Dean, who said that any player who could not take a "bean" ball or two in a game was a "Sissy". When pitchers have to peg at the batter instead of the plate it's time they were removed from the game.

Spawning Habits Of the 'Muskie'

In the "Fourth Column" written by J. V. McAree in Monday's issue of the Globe and Mail is an article on Muskalonge and its spawning habits. Much of the material appearing in Mr. McAree's column was taken from the Peterborough Examiner's Special Edition in which appeared the interesting observations of a local authority on fish — Mr. Wellington Hill of Lakefield.

An old timer was sitting out in our yard one day when a train went by. "What's that?" he asked. "Grand Trunk?" We told him that there was no longer any Grand Trunk, but the Canadian National. He said nothing for a few moments and then mused: "No more Grand Trunk, hey? I remember when it was all the go." So it seems is that today sex is all the go. But we had supposed that fishing problems might be discussed without dragging in sex. In fact we did not know that fish had any organs for sex work talking about, though we do recall a passage in The Way of All Flesh in which one of the Pontiffexs grew purple and indignant at Ernest Pontiffex had placed on the table a cock lobster instead of a hen lobster seem to us biologically more correct than, let us say, muskalonge. If that is the way it is spelled. But sex problems seem to afford the Muskalonge, too, as they are to believe Wellington Hill, of Lakefield, a 70-year-old authority on their sex life. In the special issue of the Peterborough Examiner, which is the result of his special effort on the part of our old friend Harold L. Fitzsimmons and his staff, he discourses on the problems of the muskies, as he calls them familiarly, in the Kawartha Lake district.

Females Are Scarce.

One of those problems seems to exist because the muskies have not learned the use of polygamy. There are not enough females, and too many males. The consequence of this is that the fish are growing scarcer and in time may become extinct unless government intervenes with some fishing regulations. Under ordinary conditions Mr. Hill believes that the sexes of the muskies would be about equal but their tendency is to go in pairs. When a male fish finds mate he goes matchless until he can pick up another, which, in view of their growing scarcity, may be never. Now a male, or Jack, muskie is highly esteemed, from the point of view of the fisherman, but he is utterly useless as a progenitor unless he can find a female.

The reason the males outnumber the females by two to one, in the opinion of Mr. Hill, is that fishing conditions at the present time are loaded against the female — or Jill, fish, and might in the end exterminate them. Of course when the females go the species go too, which would be a disaster of considerable size to this province and the thousands of Americans who visit it.

Only Annual Spawning, But—

The muskinonge is a warm-water fish, and, according to Mr. Hill, spawns but once a year. They mate in the early part of May and are to be seen swimming comfortably in shallow water along the shore or in channels through the marshes. We have said, on the authority of Mr. Hill, that the Jill spawns but once, but, before she spawns, she certainly does spawn for she discharges from a million to a million and a half eggs. Depending upon the temperature, they are hatched in between 14 and 19 days. For weeks after the eggs are laid the female fish is sick, and on this account and because she wants to protect her young she hangs about the spawning spot in the shallow water. In September she is beginning to develop more eggs for next year's spawning. She becomes hungrier and as the weather becomes cooler she moves into shallow water where it is likely to be too weedy for trolling. But she is sufficiently enough taken by casting, and this Mr. Hill objects to, and he would go further and forbid the taking of 'lunge after the spawning season. He would be kind enough to open the season on June 1, for by this time the males will have left their allies of the spawning enterprise and might be hooked, and the females are not biting.

One Day's Respite

In order to restore the balance between male and female fish, Mr. Hill would not only cast-casting, but the use of power boats, and he would ban all Sunday fishing. This is a concession to the sabbatarian but because he believes that it will give the fish a break if they had one day's law protection. The fish have other enemies besides men, and they include mud turtles, black snakes, herons, kingfishers, and pickerel, like the muskeat and bigger species. To forbid the use of the motor boat would also tend to reduce the number of fish caught, and Mr. Hill deplores the mobility of the fisherman. This old-timer believes that the pleasure of taking fish has been appreciably enhanced if the fisherman has to do some rowing when he is handling him, and if he had to row or paddle a canoe he would get just as much sport, even if he caught fewer fish. The same arguments he advances against pump gun for hunters would apply to the use of the motor boat, or dynamite, for that matter, when trying for lunge.

Chance for the Young

These restrictions would also tend to give the young fish a better chance to reach maturity. Mr. Hill says that by the second spring the little lunge are about eight or nine inches, and by that from fifteen to nineteen inches long. From the time they are hatched they remain in the familiar marsh or weed bed where they were spawned, but in August of the third year they are inclined to seek a little, for they are becoming hungrier and more adventurous. But they still regard their spawning place as their natural home and keep returning to it. They are safe enough from the troll because of the weeds, but they are easily enough taken by the cast, and Mr. Hill expresses his deep disgust with fishermen who take little, or no longer than a shaving strap and proudly display them. His own practice is to return such fish to the water, unless they have been hooked in the gills. Then the only thing to do is to kill them.

Little Benny's Note Book

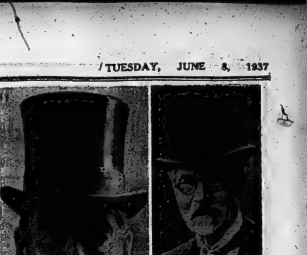
After school my back tooth started to hert like the dooce and I hurry up statted to go around to the dentist's without anybody even knowing it had to.



Proving how fearse it was hert-ing, and Persey Wefrew saw me wewking fast holding one side of my face up and he ask me from on you going, Benny, you got a tooth ake?

Me not even bothering to condescend to anser him, and he said, If you was a Tibetan in Yogie in India you could make it stop herting just by pure will power. Or maybe by jungling and hert, and Persey yelled, Owich, hay, ouch, owtch.

Aw, you're a heck of a Yogy, ey and sit o na nale, I said.

Which just then I realized my tooth ake didn't hert any more at all because I was having stopped in the excitement and I said, Hay, I'm a Yogy, look.

And I gave myself a carefu punch on the tooth ake, saying See, I dont feel a thing, O boy am I grate. Maybe you're a Yogy too. Have me feel your fingers again, I said, and Persey said, No sir, nothing doing I'm going in the house.

ONE GOES IN, THE OTHER GOES OUT

The leadership of the British government changed hands recently when Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin resigned as Premier and Neville Chamberlain formed a new cabinet he selected with the help of other political leaders. At the same time Ramsay MacDonald, one-time premier, resigned as Lord President of the Council. Both resignations became official at the time though rendered several days apart. At the left from the King, left above is Neville Chamberlain, after he had been received by King George VI at Buckingham Palace on Monday to form a new cabinet. At the right is Ramsay MacDonald as he returned to the privy council office in London after he tendered his resignation to the King at Buckingham Palace. Upon his retirement from politics the still continues to sit in the House of Commons) he was given the Order of the Merit from the King.

Belleville in Good Financial Condition Says Financial Post

The excellent financial condition of Belleville at the present time is revealed in a survey of the city contained in the current issue of The Financial Post.

"Belleville, located in the middle of a mixed farming and dairying district in Eastern Ontario, has diversified its relief costs during the depression years out of current revenue. In 1936 the city's share of relief costs was $30,367 lower than in 1935.

"During the past four years Belleville has reduced its net debenture debt by $494,940. In 1936 the reduction amounted to $148,940. Floating indebtedness was reduced by $32,000 in 1936.

"Tax collections showed improvement in 1936, outstanding arrears being reduced by $14,000. Collection of current taxes were better, amounting to 77.4 per cent of the levy as compared with 74 per cent in the previous year.

30 YEARS AGO

June 8th., 1917.

A pleasant event took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gunn at Bayside, Trent Road, on June 5th. when they celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. All members of the family were present. Those from a distance were Mr. D. McClark, Edmonton, Alberta; Mrs. N. Armstrong and Mrs. J. Lewis Tims, both of New York City, and Miss Jean Gunn of Toronto. The members of the family who live here and who were present were Mr. George S. Gunn, Mr. John J. Gunn, Mr. Donald A. Gunn and Miss Vivian Gunn. Other guests were Mrs. Alex. Gunn of Oshawa and Mr. John Gunn of Napanee. In the evening many friends and neighbors gathered at the Gunn residence and a most enjoyable time was passed. The estimable couple received many presents. Mrs. Gunn received also many flowers. An address was read by Mrs. (Dr.) Marvin and Mrs. Herbert presented Mrs Gunn with a life membership certificate in the Women's Missionary Society.

SPANISH GOVT ANTI-FASCISM DOCTOR STATES

REASONS GIVEN

Says War Will Last Long While With Loyalists Victorious

(By H. M. Peters)

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

New York, June 7.—(CP)—Charges in sections of the European Press the Spanish Government is "Communistic" were denied by Dr. Norman Bethune of Montreal, visiting New York today en route to Canada from Madrid where he directs the Canadian Blood Transfusion unit.

The "clenched fist" salute of Spaniards is no Communistic gesture but is the gesture of Anti-Fascism, he declared, and is used by Liberals of all shades. The Valencia Government "fighting an armed rebellion" has but two Communistic members in its cabinet of nine, he said.

Dr. Bethune described his bottled blood distribution service as a "glorified milk route", and made the following points in discussing aspects of the civil war with which he has been connected since late in 1936 and in which he will return after a lecture tour of Canada:

1—The morale of Spanish Government troops and civilians is "higher now than ever before".

2—The civil war will last a long while with the "properly elected government" victorious provided the "non-intervention farce is ended".

In Third Stage

3—The conflict is the "third stage of the world war" of democracy against Fascism. The first two "both won by Fascism" were in Manchuria and Ethiopia. The present "will not win this one."

4—No non-intervention "farce" only aided the Insurgents as it prevented arms and men reaching the government whereas both were being obtained by the Insurgents in large numbers.

5—Madrid would never fall to the Insurgents and Bilbao would make a successful defence provided it was not razed by shells and bombs or poison-gassed.

Dr. Bethune, thin, keen-faced and grey-haired, returned yesterday "clearage" in the liner Queen Mary to save the unit's money. He plans to leave for Canada Thursday to begin a lecture tour, showing pictures of the 25-man unit that has collected 90 gallons of blood from 1,200 donors and injected it into the veins of more than 700 wounded soldiers and civilians.

Put in Bottles

The blood, drawn from soldiers and civilians who have had physical and blood examinations including a Wassermann test, is bottled—"in ordinary milk bottles"—stored with six per cent of sodium citrate for preservation purposes, and placed in electric refrigerators at the base hospitals and dressing stations.

As demand arises at any point, he said, the blood was sent out by five fast cars. It was administered to anyone who needed it, no distinction being raised between government soldiers and Insurgent prisoners.

Dr. Bethune will return to the unit after his Canadian visit. Three other Canadians are with the unit: Hazen Sise, Montreal, Transport Officer; Allen May, Toronto newspaperman, Acting Secretary and Hemmen Bornstein, Toronto, Interpreter.

SHORT SESSION HOUSE MOOTED

Alberta Legislature Only to Meet to Pass Adjournment

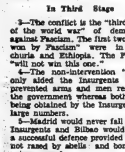
(By J. F. Sanderson)



(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Edmonton, June 8.—(CP)—The Alberta Legislature will meet today just long enough to allow the Government motion declaring a recess until June 14.

The adjournment will enable G. P. Powell, Emissary of Major C. H. Douglas, father of Social Credit, to confer with the government on Legislative plans since his arrival here Thursday.

The House would have adjourned yesterday but Liberal Leader Bowlen refused to give his consent to the motion which needed unanimous approval. He forced Premier William Aberhart to give 24 hours' notice, claiming he did it as a gesture of impatience with the Government's lack of Legislative action.

Meanwhile Social Credit members will caucus today to heal the breach between Insurgent and Loyalist forces which has split the party wide open for weeks and at one time almost defeated the government. The caucuses were held yesterday but only the adjournment was discussed.

ROBBED OF $5,000?

A. M. Orpen (above) dean of Toronto's sporting men and well-known Grace track promoter was held up by three armed men and forced to drive to a Toronto bank where he withdrew a sum which was taken from him. Mr. Orpen was held up as he was about to enter the National sporting Club and forced to drive right along to his bank. His assailants removed the elderly man's glasses to prevent his identifying them.

FEAR ABDUCTION IN BATTYE CASE

Michael Asquith, Fiance of Blonde Heiress, Admits Getting Letter

London, June 8.—(AP)—Pearl blond "Didi" Battye might have been abducted were mailed today after her fiance disclosed he had received a note threatening to "remove" the missing beauty heiress.

High officials of Scotland Yard took precautions for the safety of the flying search and issued instructions to watch every port and airfield in the country.

The fiance, Michael Asquith, son of the Hon. Herbert and Lady Cynthia Asquith, was expected to interrupt his final examination at Oxford to come to London and tell yard officials about the letter.

The message was received by young Asquith before the disappearance of the former photographer's model June 1 from the London home of her childhood friend, Viscountess Long.

The letter mysteriously warned Asquith:

"Unless you take better care of Miss Battye she will be removed".

The letter was handed over to Scotland Yard experts for study along with scores other anonymous letters containing similar threats which were received by Miss Battye. All were typewritten.

Diana dropped out of sight June 1 after returning to Lady Long's home from a luncheon engagement. After the guest's disappearance, Lady Long disclosed that "Didi" had been attacked on Coronation night, May 12, by an unknown man who slashed her forehead with a razor.

NAMED HEIR TO ROCKEFELLER FORTUNE

When informed that she had inherited the bulk of the late John D. Rockefeller's $35,000,000 estate, Mrs. Margaret Strong de Cuevas, shown above with her husband, exclaimed, "There must be some mistake." This exclusive and hitherto unpublished photograph was taken in 1932 long before she had any intimation of inheriting the huge fortune. The Cuevas estate is to be held in trust during the life of Mrs. de Cuevas, the trustees being empowered to pay her the income on that huge amount. After her death it passes to her two children, John and Elizabeth. Included in the trust fund is the Rockefeller Institute of Medical Research which will be given the principal should there be no descendants of Mrs. de Cuevas.

Ameliasburg

Ameliasburg — The Township Council met at the Town Hall on Monday last for the transaction of urgent routine business.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cornfield and family were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Moreland, Hillier, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Pile and Albert attended the movie talkie "The Doctor" entertainment and banquet at the Country Club, Belleville, on Tuesday evening as guests of the Imperial Oil Co. of Canada. There were about two hundred present and everyone reported a jolly good time.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Gault of Bath, were entertained at "Glen Mawr" on Sunday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. Chas. Pile.

The Ladies' Guild of St. Alban's Church met at the home of Mrs. George Lough on Thursday afternoon.

The Amateur Nite at Idylwilde Assembly Rooms on Friday evening May 28 was an unqualified success and everybody was really pleased with the talent displayed by our young people. The credit for the success is due in a great measure to Mrs. Shelby Williams whose untiring efforts produced such splendid results and we trust it will be an incentive to work for a bigger and better program when the Ladies' Guild are planning another similar night in the future.

The judges were Frank Walkom of Redrooffs, Mrs. Thomas Dix, Sudbury and Jack Hewitt of Trenton and their decisions met with hearty approval by the vast audience. Mr. Charles Kinnear assumed the character of Major Hose and filled the role in a creditable manner, while Charlie Margetson officiated as the announcer. After opening with the National Anthem the announcer stepped to the 'phone and delivered the following message. "This program is station WTIN broadcasting from the roof garden of the Crystal Ballroom at Idylwilde presenting Major Hose and his Amateurs. I now take great pleasure in handing the microphone over to Major Hose who made the following announcement "This is station KUKU. This program is sponsored by the makers of Williams' Corn Salve.

The following program was rendered and each received plenty of applause.

Recitation—Eleanor Williams
Solo—Kathleen Young
Recitation—Billie Williams
Solo—Gladys Ann Kinnear
Recitation and dance—Margaret Corfield
Piano solo—Victor Mastin
Recitation—Doris Williams . . .
Piano solo—Marjorie Cannons
Recitation—Mary Kirby
Solo—Mrs. Albert Tripp
Recitation—Lorne Weir
Guitar duet—Reta Adams and Beulah McCoy
Vocal duet—Misses Barbara and Shirley Wilson
Instrumental—Jack DeLong and his school orchestra
Solo—Miss Thelma Weir
Solo Impersonations—Ralph Margetson

At the conclusion of the program the judges retired to deliberate and after careful consideration the following awards were given out: The four winners who were in each prize are as follows: Mildred Adams, Ralph Margetson, Misses Barbara and Shirley Wilson and Lorne Weir.

During the program the announcer made the following station announcement: This is station KUKU. This program is sponsored by the makers of Williams' Corn Salve the most sensational remedy ever presented for corns, calouses, bunions, cuts, burns, bruises, abrasions. Hairdressers use it for finger waves, hair waves, permanent waves and permanent shaves. Thousands of testimonials on file are indisputable evidence of its efficiency in chronic cases of lumbago, neuritis, colds on chest, aching tired feet, old maids knee pimples, black heads, and boils. Mr. Eldon Adams our local barber has used Williams' Corn Salve for the past twenty years with astonishing results and has to say for it in his intrinsic worth, we quote "I have tested several bottles for applications on my customers after shaving. After discovering that it produced a permanent shave I have used it continue its use as my customers do not any more shaves" end of quote' Mr. Fred Russell is another booster for Williams' Corn Salve. His testimonial speaks for itself, we quote. " After using six bottles of Williams' Corn Salve I am pleased to state that the hair follicles in my scalp were rejuvenated and invigorated so that my bald spots were covered with a mass of silky black hair and my friends say that 'I look twenty years younger'" end of quote. And so it goes. Hundreds of testimonials reach us by each day's mail from enthusiastic users thanking us from the bottom of their hearts for having changed their gray hairs to their natural pristine color, and remember friends, you can produce any color hair desired. Why wait. Don't delay. Get a large bottle of this unique remedy before the supply is exhausted. Call or phone Pile Bros.' Store and don't forget the name "Williams' Corn Salve." The price is much less than you would pay for a permanent shave. When you get your bottle of Williams' Corn Salve, tear off the wrapper and send together with your name and address to Williams' Corn Salve, care of this station and you will be mailed a generous size bottle of Whiskerine, guaranteed to grow two hairs where one grew before."

When the judges reached their decision they were invited to the platform where Jack Hewitt announced the awards and each of the judges gave their reasons for their decision. The announcer closed the evening program as follows: "This is station KUKU signing off at exactly 10.45 p.m. Eastern Standard Time. Speaking on behalf of Williams' Corn Salve and Whiskerine and bidding you Good Night."

The remainder of the evening was enjoyed by the young people with dancing until 1 a.m. and everyone reports a jolly good evening.

CAR DRIVEN IN CAREFUL MANNER

Accidental Death is Verdict of Jury in W. Poole's Death

Accidental death is the result of a fatal accident which occurred on Monday last when a car driven by an automobile, was the coroner's jury verdict submitted at the termination of the adjourned inquest touching into the death of William Poole, Belleville, who died at the Belleville General Hospital on May 30th, as the result of injuries received on May 26th. The adjourned inquest was concluded in the public court room held before Chief Coroner Dr. J. J. Robertson last evening.

Wide identification having been established at the preliminary inquest one week previous, P. C. Evans was the first witness called last night. "I was on duty at the intersection of Bridge and Front Streets about 5.55 p.m. on May 26th, when I saw a man start to walk across Bridge Street, midway between the lower bridge and the four corners. When over the centre of the road the man seemed to walk directly into the left front fender of a west bound car and was knocked down. I later found out th. man was Wm. Poole and the driver of the car was George Gleason." stated P.C. Evans.

Car Driven Carefully

"How was the motor car being driven, would you say?" asked Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan K.C. who conducted the investigation.

"In a careful manner and very slowly." was the reply. John Adams, local insurance agent, corroborated the statement of the former witness as did Russell Wooten and Eddie Zerbin, all eye witnesses. All witnesses summoned to testify were definite in their testimony, that no fault could be attached the driver, as he was proceeding at a very moderate rate of speed and was not blinded by any rays of light as he came to the side of the moving car.

Mr. Gleason, the driver of the car, stated he sounded his horn upon seeing the man and at first the pedestrian had halted his progress, but had later walked into the left front fender. "I stopped my car as soon as I could." stated Mr. Gleason.

That th. said Wm. Poole came to his death as the result of injuries received when he accidentally collided with a motor car, operated by George Gleason, was the text of the coroner's jury.

B. C. Donnan, K.C., County Crown Attorney, conducted the investigation. The jury was composed of Eddie George, Thos. Harris, H. McGinnis, Mark Spafford, F. Gauthier, Mac Hill and H. Hattman.

DEATH STRIKES BLONDE SCREEN STAR

Jean Harlow, famous platinum blonde of the screen, died suddenly in a Hollywood, Calif., hospital following a brief illness that developed from a slight influenza. Physicians attributed her death to cerebral edema which followed acute uremic poisoning. Though she had been ill for several days, the turn for the worse which closed the glamorous film star's career came with stunning suddenness. This picture of Miss Harlow was one of her most recent portraits.

DAILY SHORT STORY

Understanding

Gracia Collins had an enviable income. And, now that she was the sole surviving member of her family she felt that she had a right to live as she pleased. She had always fitted her tastes to those of the family and it was not until the last two years that she had begun to be an individual and express her own personality.

Her apartments was not large, but it was furnished exactly as she had always dreamed her own home should be.

Today, she sat in the big cloth-covered chair beside a long fire in her library. All about her were shelves of books. A little autographed volume of Christopher Morley's lay open on her lap. She had found a line that had struck home. "Poetry must be lived before it can be either written or properly understood. And that is why all the enjoyment of poetry is essentially a feeling or recognition: the recognition of something you though you had forgotten or never hardly aware that you had once noticed."

Gracia's eyes took on a glow that made her very lovely. "So that is why I have begun to appreciate poetry of late. That is why I am secretly trying to express myself in verse," she admitted. "I have lived. I understand."

Perhaps the thoughts that tumbled one after another through her mind as she sat in the solitude of her own environment were not too tangible, even to Gracia herself; but when she finally moved to mend the fire her spirit was possessed of a strange homesickness.

"It's ridiculous," she said, quickly switching on a light. "I'm only homesick. I'm only lonely. I have all that I want—all that I have ever wanted—right here." She let her eyes wander about the room as if to convince herself that she was not mistaken. "I need a cup of tea. It is the dampness and the gloom that has put me into this mood. There, Christopher Morley, go back to your nook." She tucked the small volume into the vacant slit on the shelf.

"Music—that's what I want this afternoon—not literature. I'll have music with my tea." She adjusted the dial of her phonograph and sat set in a secluded corner.

"Liebestraum," she murmured. "Oh, why is everything possessed to make me suffer this afternoon? That is the one bit of music that hurts, oh, how it hurts me." And yet she did not stir. She sat with her head in her arm on the big chair. Her tea grew cold. The sad haunting strains of Franz Liszt's beautiful dream of love died away.

The voice of the announcer brought her back. She looked at the cup of cold tea and at the dying fire. A petulant, whining gust of wind sought admittance at the window. Gracia shivered.

She arose and walked toward the telephone. For a long moment she sat with her hand on the receiver as if summoning courage to lift it.

At last she called a number she seemed to know well. Her hand was cold; her lips trembling close to the glass mouthpiece. No answer. She waited to be told that the party did not reply and then she hung up the receiver.

A sound startled her. The knocker was being gently tapped.

She swung open the door. A man with a folder of manuscripts stood there.—Jean Hubbard.

"I had just called you on the telephone," she said, trying to be cheerful. "The smoke from the fire has made my eyes too tired to read and I was—lonely."

The man put his cap—he wore a cap and tweeds as if he had come from the country—on a chair.

"I have been writing poetry in my sister's bungalow and somehow, it seemed as if you were the only one who could help me," he began.

Gracia had made the fire bright and was offering him the chair opposite her own.

"Poetry! But—Don—you never said to write poetry," she exclaimed after she had looked at the page he handed to her.

For an important fraction of a minute they looked at each other while understanding dawned in the eyes of both.

"Sometime I'll tell you what I have been doing this afternoon. Don," she said, later, "and you may explain many things."

The rain seemed less to chill Gracia now. The fire burned brightly. She was happy. They talked on about. Don's efforts and Gracia almost admitted to him that the years of perfect independence were not too perfect, after all.

"You'll miss your family and the old home?" he asked when, in his heart, he knew very well what it was that they were both missing.

Gracia nodded. "I seem to need something more in my life," she whispered.

"I know," he said. "I have always known that some day you would understand. I'll have tea with Gracia."

But one thing she would not do was to give up the lovely apartment. It was big enough for two. So Don and Gracia began to plan. They had suffered too much to protest longer. After all, what did error things matter so long as he might marry the girl his dreams had been him.

SHANNONVILLE W.M.S.

The monthly meeting of the W.M.S. of the United Church of Shannonville was held at the home of Mrs. Stanley MacDonald on Thursday p.m. June 3rd with Mrs W. S. Dies, group leader in charge. After the opening hymn, Bible readings from the book of Luke were read by Mrs. W. D. Robertson and Mrs. O. Stratton. Mrs. Dies gave a short reading and the Devotional Leaflet was read by Mrs. Sam Elliott, and Mrs. L. E. Mills led in earnest prayer. Roll was called by the secretary, members responding by repeating a verse of Scripture in which the word courage occurred. A hymn was read in unison and the 4th chapter of the Study book was taken by Mrs. Dies who made it very interesting.

Mrs. Charlie Liddle, Peace Secretary, gave a suitable reading on this subject by Stanley Baldwin.

Mrs. Dies, Temperance Secretary, made a few appropriate remarks and announced the convention would be held at Belleville the middle of this month for Temperance workers of the Dominion of Canada.

Mrs. (Rev.) Clark, President, then took charge of the business. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the Secretary and adopted. Mrs. F. McPhrane sent her thanks for the card she received from the society during her recent illness and Mrs. Frank Detlator expressed her thanks for the same. As the President, Mrs. (Rev.) Clark who has given such efficient leadership for nearly nine years will soon be leaving to make her home at Deseronto, she expressed the wish that all would continue faithfully in the work. The members all sincerely regret the parting as her faithful services have been deeply appreciated and the best wishes of all go with her for her new home and it is hoped she may meet with the members often.

Twenty ladies of the W.M.S. were present at this meeting and collection was $2.70, and for the flower fund 95 cents. Mrs. Diss pronounced a benediction and the hostess and her assistants served a delicious lunch. Mrs. MacDonald's kind hospitality was much appreciated.

KNOCKING ON WOOD?

It is great to have a steady job . . . good health . . . a regular income! But even when the future looks rosy, most of us "knock on wood" just to play safe. There is no need to "knock on wood" if you have a North American Life Retirement Income Policy. It guarantees you a steady income, to start when you want to quit work, and to last for life.

PICTON

Picton—A sad death occurred in Toronto General Hospital on Sunday June 6th, when Roderick (Rod) M. Rose of Wapoos passed away in his fifty-fifth year. The deceased had been ill for more than a month, suffering from a growth on the brain. Two weeks ago he went to Toronto for an operation, which for some time was thought to be successful, but the last of the death came as a shock to friends here. The deceased was a son of the late Nelson Rose and Mrs. Rose and was born and spent his entire life in Wapoos. He was a successful and prosperous farmer and fruit grower, and one of the original stockholders of the Wapoos Canning Co. He was a Liberal in politics. Surviving are on brother Herb Rose and two sisters Alice at home, and Mrs. Harry Fox, all of Wapoos. The deceased was of a genial, cheery disposition and had a host of friends. The funeral service will be held at his late residence on Tuesday afternoon, June 8th, with interment in Glenwood Cemetery, Picton.

Cecile McAlpine eight year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice McAlpine is in the local hospital. He received a cut on the leg while playing at St. John's School on Friday, but he did not report the accident, and the wound becoming infected, he was rushed to the hospital on Saturday.

Judge H. McClean and Col. A.E. Adams accompanied Sergeant-Major James Mercer to Kingston on Monday. Mr. Mercer entered the General Hospital there for a major operation. Friends here regret Mr. Mercer's recent breakdown and wish him a speedy recovery. Mr. David Campbell is supplying at the Mercer duties for Mr. Mercer.

Mr. George Lossing, late of Port Rowan, and his fiancee Miss Agnes Storms of Cressey spent Saturday evening in Picton. Wedding plans of the famous "Mail Order" couple are still announced as indefinite.

Back to School

It will be back to school for many of Prince Edward County's Old Boys and Girls when they return home for the Centennial celebration and Re-union, June 30th to July 5th. But instead of a little red school house where many of them received their first R's, they will spend an afternoon in a moderately equipped building, the Collegiate Institute. There former teachers and pupils will preside and the classes of former days will be the students.

A committee of Dr. C. S. Slack, Carmon Hubbs and B. S. Welsh was appointed to take charge of this feature of the celebration which is billed for July 3rd.

S. S. of Ameliasburgh is planning a "back-to-school" day on June 30th and D. K. Spencer, Belleville R.R. No. 7, is Secretary of the committee.

Popular Couple Feted by Friends

On June 4th a very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. P. Ryan, 73 Front Street, when a shower was given in honor of her daughter, Burnadette, bride-to-be of this month, and Mr. Jack Cleaver. The early part of the evening was spent in playing cards.

The gifts were then brought in to the living room where an address was read by Mrs. Albert Wilson and they were presented with many beautiful and useful gifts. Burnadette Ryan thanked the many friends for their kindnesses and invited all to visit them at their new home. The remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

The address follows:—

"Belleville, Ont.

June 4th.

"Dear Burnadette and Jack: \

"We your friends and neighbours have gathered here tonight to celebrate the happy occasion of your approaching marriage and we are very happy to have the opportunity of wishing you every happiness in the sea of matrimony.

It is our sincere wish that your future home here in Belleville may be a happy one. A home which will possess all the virtues that go to make it ideal. May you always be blessed with your share of Health, Happiness and Prosperity.

"We ask you as a slight token of our love and best wishes to accept these gifts and may their use recall this happy event.

"May a rainbow of happiness "Arch over each hour, and you find all the joy

Wished you at this shower.

"Signed on behalf of your friends."

MASSASSAGA LADIES' AID

The Massassaga Ladies' Aid held the June meeting at the home of Mrs. Gray, June 1st. Twenty-four ladies were present. Mrs. George Ackerman was in charge. The meeting opened by the theme song taken from the convension program followed by a hymn. The Scripture reading was read responsively.

The minutes of the May meeting were read and approved. The letters of appreciation to the society were read from Miss B. Wallbridge and Mrs. T. Jordan. An invitation from the Ameliasburg Ladies' Aid was read to which them when Mrs. C. E. Macklin of Stirling was guest speaker.

Miss Bros, President, had charge of the business discussion. Mrs. George Flower gave the morning report of the convention held at Consecon. It was indeed very interesting. Mrs. Osborne and Mrs. Ackerman sang a lovely duet. Mrs. Davidson was the accompanist.

Mrs. R. Valleau gave the afternoon report of the convention session. It was also very interesting and from both members learned ideas which gave new spirit to carry on. The offering was taken and a hymn was sung. The Benediction closed the meeting.

A contest conducted by Miss A. Ackerman was enjoyed. Mrs. George Flower was the winner. Lunch was served and all enjoyed a social time.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ackerman and Alma entertained company from Brighton recently.

London, June 8 (CP)—Captain Harry Crookshank, Secretary of Mines, told the story at a Coal Merchants' Federation luncheon the other day:

A rent collector, calling at a house, was asked by the householder anxiously: "What won the 2.30?"

The collector replied: "I am not interested in racing."

The retort was: "Then you ought to be because the rent is on the 2.30."

AT THE BELLE
Family Problems Make Up Plot of Vital Picture Coming Here

The conflict of the generations has been made the subject of a powerful and at the same time highly entertaining screen play of American Life by Vina Delmar in the motion picture "Make Way for Tomorrow," on the Belle screen today and Wednesday, matinee daily.

With her characteristic sympathy with the younger generation, and her deep understanding of its problems Miss Delmar has provided a motion picture which lines up well with her best-sellers "Bad Girl," "The Marriage Racket," and other of her great best-sellers for warmth and frankness while at the same time revealing an understanding of the problems of old age which combine to make of "Make Way for Tomorrow" a living, breathing human document which should be seen by all.

"Make Way for Tomorrow" is the story of a typical American daughter, played by Margaret Read, whose preoccupations of a good time not only conflict with those of her parents, played by Thomas Mitchell and Fay Bainter, but those of her grandparents, played by Beulah Bondi and Victor Moore.

Barbara's mother is too busy with her contract bridge to bother about the girl. When the grandmother undertakes to advise and warn the girl, the mother resents the intrusion as an invasion upon what she presumes to be her own domain and proceeds to make life miserable for her mother-in-law who is forced to live with her through economic necessity.

Barbara's problems are far from ironed out by her parents and when she gets into trouble the grandmother is blamed.

The vital problem of the relationship between old parents and their middle-aged children is also intelligently and sympathetically handled in "Make Way for Tomorrow," making of this sterling piece of motion picture entertainment a highly provocative often amusing and thoroughly human story.

The cast also includes Porter Hall, Elizabeth Risdon, Leslie Beavers, Minna Gombell and other skilled feature players. The picture was directed by Leo McCarey, whom Charles Laughton once called "The greatest living mind for Comedy."

His deft use of comedy and pathos in the brilliant picture sparkle with humanity and life.

Among the highlights of the popular Metrotone News to be presented on the same program are "Spain and Germany Clash in Europe's Gravest War Crisis," and their up-to-the minute events.

Real Coronation Films

A special extra attraction at the Belle today and Wednesday is "The Empire's Hour of Glory," or official Coronation pictures, require twenty-five minutes in presentation.

SUCCEEDS MOLA

Gen. Fidel Davila has been appointed to succeed Gen. Emilio Mola, northern rebel commander who met death in an aeroplane crash near Burgos, Spain. Mola was recognized as General Franco's right-hand man and his death is regarded as a serious blow to the rebel cause.

HOUSES BOY SCOUTS

The thousands of boy scouts who will attend the international Jamboree in Washington from June 30 to July 9, will owe the fact that they have a roof over their heads—even if it is only a canvas one—to this gentleman. He is Harvey A. Gordon, national director of engineering of the boy scouts, who is handling the huge task of preparing the tent city that will house visiting scouts.

DELORO SOCCER TEAM DEFEATS CANADA PACKERS

Peterborough and District League Fixtures Leads in 5-1 Score

Deloro Soccer team brought off a fine win in the home grounds on Saturday afternoon by defeating Canada Packers, Peterborough in Peterborough and District League fixture by the handsome score of 5-1. For the first ten minutes, play went in favor of Peterborough whose pressure contributed to by Downer and Buchan failed to yield a goal, the home goal and backs being in excellent form. Then the homesters showed a superiority which had little intermission for the rest of the game. Breaks in the right wing centred beautifully to J. Hart, (capt.) who was playing for the first time in the centre forward position and the latter beat Curtis with a splendid shot. The Peterborough players returned to the offensive without success after which W. Hart narrowly missed scoring at the other end. A dispated penalty was given Packers for alleged handling of the ball by Smith, and Jones who took the kick-shot sent the ball wide. Brown soon had possession of the ball and dribbling past several opponents sent the sphere into the further corner of the net, giving the goalie no chance. Deloro becoming aggressive, had Hi-lock as G. Downer failed to score when in good position. Deloro putting on a great spurt scored three fine goals Brown getting two and W. Hart battling Curtis with a shot which rebounded the upright. Half-time arrived with the score Deloro 5, Packers 0. By a strange coincidence both teams had goals disallowed in the early stages of the second half. Richardson and Jones handling the ball on its entry into the net. Good combination by Packers culminated in a fine shot goal by Foster. Both teams kept trying for further goals but neither the defences too good. Final score Deloro 5, Packers 1.

K.I-Y SOFTBALL

Three games of softball were played in the local Ki-Y Softball League last week with the Knickerbockers winning 18 to 11 over the Flying Canadians and the Lucky Strikes triumphing over the Nationals by the score of 8 to 4 and 25 to 7. The Wildcats will try to beat the Wildcats 25 to 9.

At Queen Alexandra School grounds the Tigers scored in every inning, except the second, to mount their score to 26 runs while the Wildcats, who were shorthanded in the matter of playing strength, only scored in three frames to count nine runs. The Wildcats played with a seven-man team, however.

The line-ups — Tigers, Arnot, Fisher, Doolittle, Woodley, Cornish, Orr, Lemmie, Mason and Symons, Wickets — Watkin, Gilbert, Sword, Herne, Mansel, H. Yorke and Denison.

Score by innings

Wildcats 0 5 3 0 1 0 9 runs
Tigers 8 0 3 7 x 26 runs

At Queen Mary School grounds the Lucky Strikes scored 25 runs in the first two frames to coast in to a hard-fought 8 to 4 victory over the Nationals, who staged a belated rally to score in subsequent innings.

Line-ups — Nationals — Hebert, Wood, Bruce, Ellis, Alexander, Thompson. Ashmore, Davis and Kloss. Lucky Strikes — McCabe, Carter, Graham, Herman, Lynch, Noakes, Willerton and Harrison. Umpire — High.

Score by innings—

Nationals 0 0 0 0 1 7 0 4 runs
Lucky Strikes 8 1 0 1 2 1 2 8 runs

A free hitting game was featured at the Queen Victoria school grounds with the Knickerbockers triumphed 18 to 11 over the Flying Canadians, the winners scoring seven runs in the fourth to clinch the game.

Score by innings —

Knickerbockers 4 4 1 7 0 2 0 18 runs
Flying Canadians 1 3 3 2 0 2 M —

BELL-SARGENTS WIN OVER CLACOS

Score Winning Run in The Seventh With No One Out

Three free passes to the initial sack, three bad errors, coupled with a timely hit spelled defeat for the Claco softball club in the Deloro City League, when the Bellevillers-Bargents "lockmakers" came from behind to overcome a six run lead and capture seven runs, to win the game. The Corbyville lads 13 to 11 at Ostrander Park last evening.

Trailing by the score of 9 to 2 in the fifth the Bell-Sargents took full advantage of the wild delivery of the Clacos last evening to elevate their league standing to a tie with position in the local softball loop as a fifth inning rally proved sufficient to top Bob Dunlop's Clacos for the "lockmakers" and Sager for Claco were unsteady, issuing free passes to the initial sack being tallied, but in accordance with the number of errors committed by the contesting teams. The game was featured by a marked drop in the number of errors committed in any league game played in the loop this season.

Circuit blows by McMartin, with three aboard and Ridley, with one on, materially helped the "lockmakers" who had been held to but five singles by the Bell-Sargents with the visitors getting a Mcdonald led all batsmen of the night with three hits, a double and a single, as Bleckman and Kiser helped themselves to a brace of hits each. Three circuit blows were registered by the losers, two by McMartin, Ridley and Dick Philp, all blasted homers. Philp scoring the lockmakers initial tally in the first frame.

The lineups:

Bell Sargents — J. McGuire 2b, McMartin cf, Hughes rf, Bushel lb, Robinson c, P. McGuire ss, Philp lf, Semark 3b, Lewis p.

Clacs: Lopenette. Howlett, Sharpe, Kiser, Bleeckman, Sager, Latchford, McDonald and Boyle.

The incident against the re-running of the day's second race. Due to a poor start of the second race; track officials declared a false start and ordered the race re-run. In the second running of the race, Lassies Mary, which failed to win the first time for first running or the race, finished rupted the day's races.

Yankees Losing Faith in Advice to "Go West" as They Drop Lead Piled Up at Home

Chicago White Sox And Cleveland Bolt Gain on Yankees

By BILL BONI

Yankee Stadium, New York — Advice when Horace Greeley first uttered the phrase to the world champion Yankees are beginning to lose faith in this "go west" business.

The first time they deserted the Bronx for Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago and St. Louis, they returned with the indifferent record of four victories and five defeats. Now, going into Chicago to meet the amazing White Sox, they carry with them a record card showing only five triumphs in six stars since they opened their tour in Cleveland a week ago.

Circuit blows by McMartin, with three aboard and Ridley, with one on, materially helped the "lockmakers" who had been held to but five singles by the Bell-Sargents with the visitors getting a Mcdonald led all batsmen of the night with three hits, a double and a single, as Bleckman and Kiser helped themselves to a brace of hits each. another week. The Indians have been doing well enough without their schoolboy wonder, as witness their 17-5 shellacking of the Senators yesterday that marked Earl Wellebrand's 200th major league victory. The 37-year-old Cleveland pitcher, dean of Cleveland staff, allowed only one hit for four innings, then eased up after his mates gave him eight runs in the third.

Clarke Widen Gap

In the other American League game Al Hildebrand's double off first turned back the Red Sox, 9-6, as Wes Ferrell lost his sixth.

Meanwhile the Giants widened their National League lead to a game and a half over the idle Cubs, with a 5-2 defeat of the Pirates. The Bucs have lost five straight and have dropped their last six battles with the Terrymen. The Dodgers gave Roy Henshaw, who won his first game last Saturday, his second triumph in three days by edging out the Reds, 3-4, in 10 innings.

QUEEN VICTORIA KIDS WIN BY 5-1

Defeat Queen Mary School in Minor Lacrosse Loop

Fading before the onslaught of a torrid attack on the part of their school-rival lacrosse opponents the Queen Mary beaten gutted-stick artists of the School Zone Minor Lacrosse League lost to the Queen Victoria Kids by the score of 5 to 1 at the B.C.I. campus last evening. The Queen Mary squad scored early in the first period, but from the halfway mark until the final whistle sounded, were outplayed and out-classed. The score at half time was 1 to 1 for Queen Victoria, with the Pine Street School lads netting in three more counters in the final period.

Carson scored twice for Q.V.S., while McBride, Morgan and McClelland each notched one with Langhorne scoring the Q.M.S. tally. The victory elevates the Queen Victoria lads into a tie for second position in the league standing.

The line-ups—Queen Mary—Salisbury, Wiggins, Rogers, Keegan, Belnap, Hall, Yorke, Cook, Sarnaup, Branch, Langhorne, Hutchinson, Barlowe, Lummis, and Lucas. Queen Victoria — Welch, Sharpe, Kerr, Tompkins, Givens, Ashman, McClelland, Goodier, Carson, Robinson, Morgan, McBride, Hoel, Sherry, Evans, Boyle, and Burley. Score by periods—

LIGHT-HEAVYWEIGHTS SIGNED FOR BOUTS

Four new faces, all light-heavyweight wrestlers, will appear on Wednesday night's rasslin' card at the Belleville Arena as preliminaries to the Al Dunlop—John Katan main bout, the winner of which will challenge Earl McCready for the wrestling championship of Canada.

Sensing the desire of the local wrestling following for the appearance of the lighter and more agile class of wrestlers, the Arena promoters have signed four light-heavyweights to appear on the program, none of whom have ever displayed their ring wases in Belleville previously.

In the semi-final bout of the evening "Bad Boy" Brown, the 183-pound Kentucky grappler meets Tex Mobly 178 pounds of Tulsa, Oklahoma, while in the preliminary bout Jack Hamilton, the 180 pound Georgia acondis meets Floyd Byrd, of Amerillo Texas. These lightweight grapplers have been appearing in upper Michigan and Ohio states all spring with considerable success, their willingness to add gusto to the bouts always proving sensational and a crowd-pleasing performance is assured.

WITH THE LAWN BOWLERS
by
GEO. E. WATKIN

The first men's Jitney got under way last evening with a good crowd for the early season.

On Wednesday evening at seven o'clock sharp the first mixed jitney will take place as well many bowlers, ladies and gentlemen on the job. Let us make these Wednesday mixed games a real treat all season.

Three new members put in an appearance last evening—John Cochburn, Duncan Campbell, and Art Rogers. These boys were rolling them down like veterans before the evening was over.

Two teams are going to Kingston on Wednesday. Rod Mitchell and C. Sulman and Joe Black and Fred Hindle.

Joe Shortt put in an appearance last evening. We are glad to have tired of Y.M.C.A. in our midst. Joe should make a real bowler.

The new tennis courts constructed on the Quinte Skating Club property on East Queen St., are in splendid condition and attracting more than the usual amount of interest. The need of a club in interest the youth of Belleville in out-of-doors recreation has been met here.

Sensing the demand for the lighter type of wrestlers, the Arena promoters included four light-heavies on their Wednesday night rasslin' card, all of whom are newcomers to a Belleville ring. We have read accounts of the ability of "Bad Boy" Brown, who meets Tex Mobly, and his advance press notices are very favorable, as he is of the villainous type, the calibre of whom usually irritates the fans and has the patrons shouting for his scalp from the first bout. The light-heavies always proved popular in Belleville and are being given another try.

"Chuck" Barrett's Bell-Sargent softballers suffered a surprise thrashing to overcome a mid-game six run lead and win over the Clacos 13 to 11 last evening to move into third position in the local softball loop. Gerald Barrett's Corbyville charges apparently were so surprised at being set to front, the shock left them spell-bound. The "lockmakers" must win over "Red" Townsend's Alpines in Deloro today, however to retain their lofty league position.

The laugh of the week—a certain Great War Veteran, who refrained from driving his automobile on Sunday because he heard the electrical power was turned off.

Hugh Bradley of the New York Post observes: "St. Louis gamblers insist Mrs. Dizzy Dean now speaks to only three of the wives of her husband's teammates....Leo Durocher, the only one top-ranking National League pitcher fails to dust him off a couple of times when he comes to the plate....That's Carl Hubbell....Al Schacht, the baseball comedian, is considering a three-year movie contract....Frankie Frisch's newest gag is that Umpire Barr, who runs an umpiring school, should go to see....Until Barr and Frisch get out of the Cards thought Mel Ott was the lad who looked young when Cardwise. Now they're talking about getting even Billy Jurges' age....Billy thinks though....People don't really make passes at old Adolf Luque, who is covered with the minor risks of monkeying with buzz saws."

Sports Roundup

One Chicago newspaper reports it received scores of telephone calls from baseball fans, most persons wanting to know who won the Braddock-Schmeling fight....Baker, pinch hitting for Mickey Cochrane as manager of the Detroit Tigers, put Ray H. Owing to inability to field a team at this time, the R.C.A.F. "Flyers" were granted a bye into the O.A.L.A. play-downs last week. As this move would deprive players now residing at the Airport of playing lacrosse all summer, a movement was opened over the week end, whereby the Belleville Rovers and the flyers may subsequently amalgamate and play as one unit in the O.A.L.A. This seems to be the most logical move and we submit the same conditions would prove more profitable in our rugby football circles as well. Neither lacrosse or rugby could be successfully linked as major sporting events in the Bay of Quinte area as yet, and to enjoy the sport fans do throw themselves into the arms of something they know little of a ridiculous. It is entirely different with hockey, a game that has flourished and thrived in Trenton and Belleville for nearly a half a century.

What the Belleville Rovers are sadly lacking is a lacrosse box in which to play their games. The leg-gutted-stick game is not calculated to play its initial league game in the Trenton Arena tonight versus the Peterborough Lakers and it would not surprise us to see the Flyer-Rovers amalgamation consummated before game time, if the tilt is not played. Within the many players garnered from the entire Bay of Quinte area, we suggest that an amalgamated team be known as the "Quintes". Joe Gould and some of the other veteran lacrosse stars at the Airport are assisting Coach Jeffers with President Gord Delaney's Belleville outfit, the local squad being equally as interested in the proposal.

The local lacrosse team, minus a playing box feel they will be permitted to use the Belleville Arena premises, but failing to get a permanent military force) was included in the local lacrosse set-up in the Ontario Association, although a hardwood floor, would be an ideal place in which to watch a lacrosse game. We can't say as to the matter of personal interest, but might be, the fall players, on the hard floor, as this modern lacrosse business is a pile-driving sport, once the contending players begin to lay on the cod wood pumping home counters and the fans from this district will doubtless take to the O.A.L.A. game on Wednesday with the Peties at Napanee and Oshawa at Kingston. Even if the Belleville team do not repeat is see Jack "Chief" Williams and Lefty Biddle back again in a fast-side flinging battle, which should be interesting to watch. Incidentally Ralph "High-pockets" McCabe, local junior moondeman, landed a berth with the Oshawa Intermediates over Coach Saturday. Incidentally Another Belleville Junior hurler, Pete Nash, Jr. landed in the Oshawa and has caught on with the newly organized Oshawa intermediate club, coached by Bert Pocock, former Oshawa C. O. R. L. player. Although the Oshawa baseball moguls are preparing for the future by building their baseball from the ground up. What mystifies us, however, is how they can import so many players at such a late date and get them passes through the O.B.A.A. at any rate they deserve credit for their interest taken.

The new tennis courts, constructed on the Quinte Skating Club property on East Queen St., are in splendid condition and attracting more than the usual amount of interest. The need of a club in interest the youth of Belleville in out-of-doors recreation has been met here.

The Voice of Canada

Canada speaks in every home in which a Canadian daily newspaper is read.

Every local newspaper is in effect an open forum in which Canadians of all classes and creeds meet on common ground. There the opinions and problems of all parts of the Dominion are reported and discussed.

All phases of local and national progress, every improvement in standards of living find the most eloquent and active proponents in the daily newspapers.

Each local newspaper is a link in the chain which binds the nation with bonds of mutual respect and understanding. It reconciles the parochial and national points of view, and not only reflects the prejudices and conditions within its own territory but also projects national problems for local consumption in their true perspective.

More than two million families from coast to coast maintain a daily contact with their fellow Canadians through the columns of their local newspapers . . . a condition which has been constructive and far-reaching in its results, and is a vital element in the social, political and economic development of the country.

Southern Gold

Southern Gold is speeding underground development at its property in the Piedmont section and is opening good grade ore sections according to official advice. In addition to crosscutting and drifting the company is now setting up a raise in ore on the No. 2 vein which shows widths of around 100 feet from which recent samples gave returns of $3 per ton. Work on the No. 3 vein also is making good gill grade.

In addition to underground operations the company has located several promising surface showings which will be extensively explored in the immediate future. Recently the management completed arrangements for speedier development of the property and in this connection additional men were taken on.

Board Room Gossip

As supplied to Biggar and Crawford Wire Private Service

MARKET COMMENTS

The apparent uncertainty of the gold question is retarding business progress in many of the leading countries, including Great Britain, and consequently some definite progress may be expected shortly. The Financial News of London has made the statement that the United Us the only way in which British can fairly and squarely broaden her share of the trade is by undertaking to buy gold at a publicly announced and comparatively stable price."

In the belief that the United States cannot continue indefinitely to absorb the world's gold at a price of $35 an ounce, the Canadian Government is about to launch a drive at the present Imperial Conference in London for a revival of the gold standard, state a report emanating from Ottawa. That action alone, Ottawa believes, will save the yellow metal. Prime Minister W. L. MacKenzie King is scheduled to have exchanges views with President Roosevelt on the question to have received the assurance that, if a British agreement can be reached which will bring in the important gold-producing countries of South Africa, Australia, Canada, and the financial and trading interests of the United Kingdom, the United States will co-operate.

The idea of King and Roosevelt is understood to be that if a gold standard can be established which the price of the yellow metal at approximately its present level—can be established in the British Empire and the Republic, the rest of the world will have to follow. The part which the United States Government is expected to play in the picture is to afford the necessary gold loans to countries which lack the metal, but in order to enable the new standard to get under way, the price of such loans would be largely nullified. While a nominal interest rate of possibly 1 per cent. per annum is suggested, the chief condition of the loans, would be that it believed the stability of European countries to discontinue their armament programs and join with America in the world to foster exchange of goods and services and the pursuit of a world prosperity based on peace.

Leitch

Leitch production for May is given as approximately $39,000 as compared with $35,000 in April and other figures for May of $38,000 and $35 would run from $18,000 to $16,000 for the month.

English Demand Boosts Cheese Prices Here

Toronto, June 8—English demand for Canadian cheese continues to boost prices higher, and in sympathy with the Eastern Ontario cheese boards prices advanced 1c to 1-3c on the local produce market yesterday. Butter prints eased, while eggs and dressing cream held unchanged.

With the stores stocks and good consumption, the English market is absorbing considerable quantities of Canadian cheese, which, in turn is lifting prices despite the seasonal trend. Export prices are affirmed moved through wholesale channels in a wide range of 14 1-4c to 15 3-4c with twins at 15 1-2 and the longhorns 14 1-2 to 15 1-4c. The average price paid to shipper f.o.b. country points imported eggs and dressing cream held unchanged.

While the large high cheese prices are attributed to maintaining butter at the present values. Butter buyers will be forced to pay comparatively high cream prices in order to keep competitions with cheese operators, and therefore, butter dealers can ill afford much higher prices and consumers should be under way, buyers are nervous under the existing conditions, and are withholding from the market until they are more confident of present prices. Production and storage figures for the month of May are awaited with interest by the trade and this also is impeding trading. The report is likely to be released Thursday or Thursday. Meanwhile, butter solids continue to trade in small quantities at unchanged prices. No 1 Ontario creamery solids were quoted at 24 1-2c to 23 3-4c, 33 score at 22 3-4c to 23c and 36 score at 22c to 22 1-2c. Prints eased 1-2c in accordance with the previous decline in butter. Finished sold for 23 1-2c to 24c, seconds for 22c to 22 1-2c and third grades for 24 1-2c to 25c.

Yum, Yum, Fresh Peas We Will Have Soon

"The peas are in the pod, and will start to be in cans reaching us an approximate length of from eighteen to twenty two inches, depending on the crop but are exceedingly bright" Arthur G. Murphy, Field inspector for the Canadian Canners, Ltd., stated this morning.

"The early varieties which have received the full benefit of the recent rain look exceptionally well" Mr Murphy stated, "and with a little consideration on the part of the weather man I can't see why the late varieties should not yield as heavily as the early ones."

MANY NOVELTIES IN CARNIVAL SHOW AT CRICKET FIELD

A slim figure hurtling through the air clad in a bathing suit to crash into Bedford-topped water of a six foot tank static ntx feet below; the daring acrobatics of a "Spanish Queen of the Air" on an aerial trapeze thrilled and delighted a large throng of people last night at the Cricket Grounds, where the Sims Greater Exposition Shows opened a week's show or outstanding attractions, which not only pleased the crowds, but augurs well for the success of the show for the remainder of the week.

The show which is being held under the sponsorship of the Belleville Rotary Club promises to be a clean and distinct novelties with many features not usually found on an aerial circus or the grownups. There is the "Wall of Death" motorcycle stunt, a snakelike "caterpillar," the large illuminated ferris wheel reputed to be the largest thing in the country, the "Tut-a-whirl" a distinctly new ride which has just been brought over in the eyes of many last night, "Dodgem" and "Merry-go-round," a sensation which has to be experienced to be really appreciated. Perhaps one of the most interesting and amusing "rides" especially with the children is the Kiddie Auto Ride, a small merry-go-round on which the children are seated in and drive miniature automobiles, perfect in every detail.

Outstanding Sideshows

Outstanding among the sideshows is the Big Tent which is filled with amusing animals, clowns etc., disport themselves in some really fine acts. Featuring this particular show is a trio of trained monkeys, who drive miniature cars in a thrilling race around a circular track. An Australian wrestler claims a cash challenge in a clever manner, cutting up her long tresses and "shaving" an act by cutting a small piece of paper in two, held in the mouth of a collegian, who turned down on another attraction here.

"Bluebeard" features a number of living wild animals. Small alligators in a tank by with frog, before consuming them. Snakes of all varieties are here with a number of fine specimens. Hands of fortune here is an Anteater, who delights in taking apart from a bottle and rubbing it on various parts of its body. Another attraction from Brazil is also a source of interest in the sheathed body.

The show last night was officially opened with a parade headed by the Belleville Boys' Band with Queen and Vocational Institute, which stayed on the grounds during the remainder of the evening rendering a number of selections from the various "rides".

The Sims Shows are some big-ger and better than ever and will undoubtedly please the public by display of novel and amusing offerings.

M. O. H. Underpaid Charge is Made

Toronto, June 8 (CP)—Medical Officers of Health in smaller centres are underpaid for their services and make health duties secondary to private practice, Controller W. J. MacDonald of York County said today. He advocated such duties be made a full-time job with adequate salary.

The controller said municipal employees' health must be protected before the Ontario government proposal to compel all municipalities to send tuberculosis victims to proper institutions would be feasible.

Additionally many victims of the disease will not produce themselves voluntarily, he said, "No health officer can do this duty adequately on the wages now paid in towns of 5,000 or 10,000."

Officiating Minister is Brother of Mrs. Windover of Belleville

BRIDES 24 YEARS OLD

Mrs. Windover, Albert Street, Belleville, has an interesting newspaper, a copy of the June 3rd issue of Carthage (New York) Republican-Tribune containing the account of the wedding of 24-year-old triplet sisters of Croghan, New York, married in a triple ceremony by the Rev. William S. Bradshaw in the Methodist Episcopal Church of Carthage on Tuesday, June 1st, before seven hundred and fifty persons. Dora, Doris and Dorothy Zeller were the brides and the grooms were Francis Kloster of Croghan, Dewey Hill of Lyons Falls, and Norman Kloster.

Mrs. Bradshaw is the brother of Mrs. Windover.

The triplets were born on June 4th, 1913, the same month as the wedding of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Zeller. For years these people had come from all parts of the State to see the little girls in their home.

The three brides were attired alike in gowns of white satin, lace jackets, net veils, beaded coronets, and customary orange blossoms with white accessories. Two pieces of the Kloster brothers and a nineteen-months old niece of the Zeller sisters were flower girls, dressed in pink and carrying sweet peas. Miss Dorothy Zeller of the bride, Amelia Zehr, was ring bearers and wore blue satin.

The three couples left by motor for Belle Glade, where they have relatives and expect to return shortly. The Klosters will reside near Croghan and the Hills near Lyons Falls. All three bridegrooms are engaged in farming.

The triple ceremonies were virtually a state event as the press of the entire state was represented by reporters and photographers.

In the interest of the three girls difficulties of identification were solved by tying red, white and blue ribbons on the wrists of one of the girls were presented with beauty pins inscribed with the name of each girl. They have always dressed similarly, have the same likes and dislikes, and attended the same classes at school, leaving at the age of sixteen to reside at home. They were brought up on a farm at Croghan, and Zehr taught two of twelve children moving to the village when their late father began to fail in health.

TUESDAY MARKET

A few broiler chickens selling at sixty cents per pair; a negligible quantity of new Spring asparagus and onions featured a sluggish Tuesday market today. No noticeable changes in prices of vegetables was noted with asparagus selling the week at from twenty-five to fifteen and twenty cents per pound bunch.

Small quantities of cut flowers, tomato and cabbage plants were offered for sale by local growers at eighteen and twenty cents the dozen.

RAWDON

Rawdon—Miss Carlin Johnson visited Miss Gordon Walker over the week-end.

Mr. Frederick Beckett, opened his summer home on Lake Ontario, Wellmans Young Peoples' Society and took charge of opening Devotional Service. Miss Bernice Dafoe presided and Miss Isobel Beckett read Scripture lesson. Miss Mina Dracup outlined the topic of "One Hundred Point Man."

Miss Isobel Beckett rendered a piano instrumental and Miss Mabel Beckett sang a vocal solo.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Preston and family and Mr. Alex Martin were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Percy and Mrs. Will Martin, 8th Line.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wiley are holidaying in Vienna.

Springbrook Young People's Society Literary Circle is active on Monday evening when about forty members journeyed to Chard's Bridge and enjoyed a feed of weiners and marshmallows.

A presentation was given to the three losing Convenors with "Cash and Carry" banners. Another group as guests of honor, they returned the favors for their hosts.

During the evening Rev. and Mrs. H. W. Foley were presented with a loose leaf blanket and the following address:

Springbrook Ont.,
May 31st, 1937

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Foley—

Even before breakfast she had acquired title to a kitten, quite simply, by asking the milkman; by the time they were eating cereal she had promised Donald the puppy he wished—and, indeed, Kerin's manners were more engaging than his accuracy—if he kept scrupulously! Kerin hoped for the best); by the secon she had promised to buy the pony and the saddle and the cart) in the spring; and on her way to the office she told Amasa Gammage to hold the chair while she thought it over.

"I dunno, Miss," Amasa assured her gloomily. "Only yes'day a man was in here and he was nearly taken with that chair. Said the only other one he'd ever seen like it was five hundred fifty dollars. Said he'd be back today. I dunno —maybe he won't come. Just maybe he will. But if he does, I kindo said—'Course, the chair's still why then it's too bad he didn't take it, yes'day like I told him to. That there's a gray chair. It's a pity man, for you to miss it. Why don't you just talk it and be sure? You'll be sorry you didn't when it's gone." He fixed her, like the ancient mariner, with his bright blue eye.

"Amasa Gammage," said Kerin, "you're just stringing me. You've had that chair for a month. You can't make me believe—"

"All right, man. Have it your own way. It may be you know better than I do." He gently conceded the sadness of his mistake with blunt, brown-stained fingers. "Well, if it ain't here tomorrow, don't say I didn't warn you. 'Smaller of fact, it's that old feller Wilson up 'to the lodge. Always buying. Old feller with a bay, winder? Don't look like most of them peaked-looking professors. Nice to do biz'ness with, and he's got a great eye for antiques."

"Well—" Kerin looked at the chair. "I'll put a deposit on it—how's that?"

"You goin' to—paint it black? Now that there color is good, it's got real patine—"

"Paint it black! Cover up those beautiful soft old arms?" Kerin stroked the satin surface of it with sensitive fingers and explained. "I'll take it," he extracted a bill and waved it lightly in her fingers. "Now tell me honestly, Mr. Gammage—what did you pay for it?"

"Five dollars," said the brigand, casually lifting the bill from her inert fingers. "Paid it took a half day. I driv' sixty miles to the old farmhouse, and sixty miles back —that's a hundred an' twenty—and that's all I got, and when you count gas and oil, and if you count my time's worth anything—and maybe a little for profit—after all, I ain't in this business for fun—"

"Don't apologize," said Kerin. "And you don't have to—I'm glad either. I'm buying this chair for a —." She couldn't say it. It was indecent to think of it. For a celebration.

If the town knew of this event in Kerin's life, if the faculty wives told each other over the tea cups, if the students told it, rounded-eyed and astonished or cynical-eyed and sniggering, if they were sorry for her or indignant for her, or if she were a fallen idol, she never knew it. There was no one, in Mrs. Winslow's absence, who could speak of it to her.

And if President Sheldon, hearing of it, looked very grave and wondered, in his ignorance of this affair was short-lived. Indeed, the ignorance of every one, on a matter of which Kerin was absorbed, rapidly dissipated. Gregory saw to that.

He came in town directly from the west. He did not go to see Kerin. He did not want to see that she was grieved, and crushed and heartbroken. Curiously, he even had no wish to see her. He had looked at Carl in that court room, and he had watched him going away, big and handsome, conquering laughing. He had heard it said that Carl's first remark had been, "Trust me to beat the alimony racket," and he had wondered, with distaste, how Kerin could ever have cared, how she could ever have wanted to hold on to him.

But he came hot-foot to Amberley. His hope was to get there as soon as the story.

He caught Aline just as she was going to class and figuratively carried her by the scruff of her pink and white neck back to her sorority house and sat her down firmly and stood over her.

"Now listen, Aline—Dear me! I'm not much of an uncle, am I? No box of candy in the cool-laila. No package in tissue paper peeking from the avuncular pockets. What do you need, Aline?"

A white bonny coat for evening. Uncle Greg. Mother thinks they're too ordinary. But they're sweet! All the girls—"

"Good heavens! Do you expect me to face a complete stranger and utter the words 'bonny coat'? I won't. I pay, but you buy. Now, Aline, listen. No—you've got to cut this next class. I've got something to say to you."

He drew up a chair and sat down facing her. "Now, Aline, quit trying to be so pink and white and bothered. I'm not twenty, any more. Stop thinking of how you look and listen to me, because I'm going to depend on you to do a terribly decent thing. For Mrs. Kingsbury."

"Oh, Uncle Greg! Are you going to marry her? Mother'll be simply furious!"

"Child—child!" Good heavens! How could anybody get up any thrill over the ghastly age of eighteen? "There's nothing like that in the air. Nothing. Do you understand? But she has just been divorced—"

"Divorced! But that's what I told mother! And mother was furious. Uncle Greg—aren't you really going to marry—"

"Aline, listen. I want you to understand the truth of it. And I want you to tell Carol Ann like. Her husband got the divorce from her for desertion. He treated her abominably, as a matter of fact. It's like this, Aline. He pretended he was going to Reno for heaven knows how many years, so she got the job here. And when she was all signed up he didn't go, and now he'd sued her for desertion because he wants to marry again—She's terribly cut up. Aline—are you listening!"

"Am I listening! Why, the girls will just eat it up! But can't I just say that you're—you're—just the best bil—you know, in love with her? And Uncle Greg, how much can I pay for the coat?"

Good heavens! thought Gregory. Youth! Jolly fish! Heaven knows what she would tell—not visually—but that she flew from that room to tell it—darling Mrs. Kingsbury, heartbroken, being— girls, so brave. But look at her eyes, suffering, suffering.

With President Sheldon, Gregory had to deal not with youth but with age; and age, even when it is wise, is more than likely to be a little cynical. "It's not a pretty story," agreed President Sheldon. "She deserves every bit of our support, and my wife will see she gets it from the women-folks." But he couldn't keep the twinkle out of his eyes. "But how about yourself, Leighton? Come come! As a matter of fact, you can't quite ask an old fellow like me to believe that she hasn't been aware of you, my dear boy? Hey? Well, as a matter of fact I believe you. You're decent. She's decent. Maybe I'm absurdly romantic. And the Carl Kingsbury does certainly offend my sense of decency. After all, even a divorce can be a dignified proceeding."

And more than for any other reason, thought Gregory, he would not go to see Kerin at just this moment because the eye and the ear and the nose of gossip would be on her. It would be sheer unkindness to her.

He would, however, drop in on Amasa Gammage and exchange a few pleasantries with that engaging scoundrel before catching a train to New York. And look at a few antiques. Old chairs and bureaus and tables were so much easier in their setting in Gammage's store than in Park Avenue, even if the old codger asked prices which would have shamed the avenue.

"Well, Amasa—hi-ya, chairs!" Amasa, coming up from what he called his "story hole" in the cellar, looked around speechless, saw a brass kettle somewhere behind Gregory, and spat, missing him, by that slee've's length, by about an inch. "Lucky you're a good shot, Amasa," he said, good humoredly.

"Aim to be," said Amasa, and grinned. "That there's a man," he said, with some surprise. "Chairs? Yonder's a good little piece. Sold it yes'day. Your little friend Mrs. Kingsbury bought it."

Gregory moved over to it, and lifted it out when he could see it. It was definitely a man's chair, with splendies rising like the skeleton of a barrel, the back ones caught in a high curved slat, the side ones ending in the strong incurving arms. It was a quaint old piece, and in fine condition. It would look well in the simplicity of Kerin's house. "Yesterday? You don't mean yesterday?" That was an odd thing for Kerin, the despondent, the deserted she heartbroken, to be doing on the day after the divorce. "Are you sure it was yesterday?"

"Right and early. Still had cep on my mouth. Came in here chipper as a lark. Got a kind of dimple, she has, when she's feelin' good. Likely you ain't noticed it." He liked Gregory with his roving blue eye, and his bushy eyebrows twitched. He had observed Gregory and the pretty widow-woman Mrs. Kingsbury, had Amasa; and he was not above his little joke. "Put a deposit on it and skipped out like she was single." Not a bad little piece—the chair I mean, of course," said Amasa.

"What did you ask her for it, Amasa?"

"Forty-eight dollars," said Amasa and scratched his chest and grinned. "Best chair I ever had. Cleaned up and put in one of them New York shops it'd bring—"

"About thirty-five dollars, you old skinflint. Haven't you heard that they're giving away antiques with breakfast cereals?" Has a kind of dimple, has she, when she's feeling good? Went out like she was single, did she— Kerin Kingsbury, who had said to him that she was not leaving her husband—never, never, never in this world? The tones of that sentence came back to him clearly and with conviction. She wouldn't leave him—but she wasn't heartbroken to be free. Gregory felt more cheerful than he had felt in weeks. He felt, in fact, like celebrating.

"How much does she still owe you on it?"

"Forty-three dollars. And they's a two-draw' stand back here she's kind o' interested in—"

"Then you better throw it in with your compliments, if you want to keep my good will, Amasa!"

"But there was another feller—" "Who was just going to buy it. I know. You do as I say."

"Well," said Amasa Gammage colefully. "Seein' it's you. Didn't give but two bucks for the stand anyways. Not but what it's a good little stand. Cleaned up and—"

"Good-by," said Gregory.

INSTALLMENT 38

Kerin wrote Gregory, thanking him primly for the stand, and apologizing about the chair. "It was a fine example of the extravagant thing for me to do, but it was, for me, a sort of gesture." She had meant to write "of independence", but she decided to leave it at "gesture". "I've been terribly extravagant—besides the chair I've acquired a yellow kitten, a spotty pup, a white pony, and a cook Agnes (white with a nice red face), and for myself I am coming to New York this very week-end to buy me a lot of nice new clothes." Gregory looked up, startled. What was today? Saturday! She was here. She was here in New York, away from prying eyes of the little town. Well, that held a laugh! How in the world was he ever to find her? Aline! Perhaps Aline—

He wired: Find out address Mrs. Kingsbury staying today hotel in New York City or where she buys her clothes. Keep mouth absolutely shut and I can be held up. Wire, Gregory Leighton.

He did not get an answer until late afternoon: Darling Uncle Greg don't try to fool me any longer and mother will be furious. She's staying Hotel McAlpin Twenty-eighth Street buys her clothes at Mary Alice's aren't They terribly smart all the girls buy there now. Crazy to have a black satin evening dress sim fourteen. Aline a very slinky mothers thinks too sophisticated. Your adoring niece Aline.

AWARDS, PRIZES ARE PRESENTED AT COLLEGIATE

Memorial Scholarship is Awarded to Arlo Pitcher

Presentation of awards for academic, musical, literary and sports achievements at Belleville Collegiate Institute and Vocational School took place at the annual commencement exercises held in the Collegiate Auditorium this morning. The school's major scholarship, the memorial scholarship for 1936-37 was won by Arlo Pitcher, the presentation being made by the chairman, Mr. P. G. MacLaurin, who this term celebrated his twenty-fifth year as principal of the school.

The Collegiate Band was in attendance and the splendid rendition of their selections added greatly to the enjoyment of the exercises.

Representatives of the Board of Education, City Council, the Kiwanis Club and the Catholic Women's League were present on the platform and participated in the presentation of the staff of R.C.H.S.

Mr. MacLaurin in making the presentation of the Memorial Scholarship, briefly outlined its origin, to commemorate those from the school who had answered the call of their country during the world war. This is the seventeenth year the scholarship has been presented.

The presentation of Secondary School diplomas brought to mind the fact that with the introduction of the new course, these diplomas will supersede the former "junior matriculation" certificate. This was explained by Mr. MacLaurin.

Mr. G. W. Proctor, member of the Board of Education presented to Miss Dorothy Bailey the I.O.D.E. Scholarship and Miss Margaret Hayes, president of the Catholic Women's League presented to Miss Doris Horton, the Scholarship given by the Girls organization for first year commercial work. Miss U. K. Brown presented the diplomas for various phases of collegiate work.

In keeping with the part of their program devoted to education, the Kiwanis Club has been engaged in furthering secondary school work by offering a scholarship for highest marks in first year collegiate. Mr. Edson Logan, president of the club, presented this award to Miss Jean Sharpe and Mr. O. E. Griffin, secretary, gave a brief and interesting address which was keenly appreciated by the students.

Alderman Laurie Lewis who donated a cup for bowling made the presentation of this handsome trophy to Miss Jean Sherry, representing the victorious Collegiate team in the Y.M.C.A. League.

Miss Margaret Bunting presented the "Elevator" literary awards, and Miss Merry, the Upper School English prize to Miss Doris Waddell, while Mr. Ross Hunter, director of music in the school presented the Valerie Eaty prize in music to Robert Stevenson and John Haggarty.

Presentation of prizes and diplomas in the vocational department was made by Mr. G. A. Ferguson and Miss Eric Grout.

Miss Marion Allison and Mr. George Laughlin presented prizes for sport.

Mr. Laughlin explained that a new system of Field Day awards is being planned. Instead of awarding to intermediate and senior champions, the awards would be based on the breaking of school records. This will enable a boy to specialize in the sport for which he is best qualified.

HUGE FRENCH FIGHTING SHIP MAY BE SENT TO SPAIN

An excellent view of the French Dreadnought Dunkerque, as seen from the destroyer Milan during the naval review off Brest, France, recently. The Dunkerque is credited with having the most powerful armaments of any ship afloat and is expected to be one of the French naval units sent to Spanish waters during present crisis.

NINE PERSONS KILLED WHEN BUS OVERTURNS ON HIGHWAY

Eight passengers and the driver were burned to death when a Pacific Greyhound bus overturned and caught fire on the highway north of Redding, Calif. The driver and passengers were trapped when the bus overturned in a ditch and had no chance to escape from the roaring flames which burst from the engine, according to reports. The above photograph shows men searching for bodies at the scene of the wreckage.

EAST PRUSSIAN TOWN EXPECTS HITLER VISIT

Large Concentrations Suggest Possible Change In Status of Free City

Official Birthday of King George VI is Celebrated

Local Newspaper Published News of "Great Day Before us"

HIGHER-UPS PUZZLED

Big News on Saturday, June 19th Would be No Surprise

Marienwerder, East Prussia, Germany, June 9 (AP)—An indiscreet announcement by a local East Prussian County seat to excited satisfaction of a "surprise Saturday" visit June 19 by Adolf Hitler and 600 high aides.

The announcement likewise had stirred foreign correspondents and diplomats to speculation regarding a possible immediate changes in the status of the Free City of Danzig or a possible Nazi seizure of the territory toward Polish Upper Silesia, both of which lie nearby.

Another Newspaper

Onlookers are reports of large military concentrations in East Prussia and just west of the Polish Corridor.

Now, however, everyone's lips are sealed. As a matter of fact, the premature publicity may have caused cancellation of the proposed visit.

But here is what happened:

A short time ago, the little county leader of the Nazi movement in Marienwerder county, which comprises a public appeal to "the population of Marienwerder county", in part it read as follows:

"A great day is dead of us.

"On Saturday, June 19, our Fuehrer Adolf Hitler, accompanied by 600 leaders of the party, pays a visit Marienwerder County and will sojourn in Marienwerder.

"Germans of all classes! We want to show our gratitude to the savior of our country and to all fighters by a dignified reception.

"All leaders are asked, and specially the streets through which our visitors will drive, to make a decorated way."

Angered Spouses Run into Danger

San Diego, Calif., June 9 (AP)—Too many persons getting angry at once is one of the greatest marital pitfalls, San Diego's veterans in marriage agreed today.

It all came about when 135 couples belonging to the True Vow Keepers Club, all married at least 50 years, held their annual picnic.

Honors for being married the longest went to Mr. and Mrs. A. De Weerth, wed 67 years ago in Peoria, Ill.

"Our formula for a happy married life," De Weerth explained, "is that we never get angry at the same time.

"Whenever my wife gets angry at me I just keep still and pretty soon it's all over. She does the same when I get angry."

FEW CLUES LEFT IN ORPEN CASE

Police Continue Probe Into Abortion Case

Toronto, June 8.—(CP)—An advertisement which appeared today in a newspaper and in a news paper prompted Toronto police to check the movements of a man who robbed A. M. Orpen of $1,000 Monday, may be endeavouring to obtain more money by extortion.

The advertisement read: "Awaiting further instructions. Mail Reply was to be addressed to a box number.

Alfred Orpen, son of the 83-year-old Sportsman, said the advertisement was not known to anyone connected with the Orpen family. He said the wording of the message answered as his father's diamond ring, taken by the bandits at the time of the robbery had not been returned as promised. The advertisement, he thought, might be in connection with the ring.

Police investigation into the kidnapping and robbery of the aged race-track owner, who was driven from his office to a downtown bank to obtain the $1,000, has yielded few clues.

Handicapped by lack of adequate description of the man, detectives here hoped that the $500 reward offered yesterday may produce a lead to arrests.

"You pick them up, then came to see me," police quoted Orpen as saying, when asked whether he would endeavour to identify any suspects. "I'll tell you then," he said.

APPOINTED INSPECTOR

Peterborough, Ont., June 9 (CP)—Keith A. Wilkinson, principal of Central Public School here the past 14 years and before that principal of Prince of Wales, has been appointed public school inspector for the Lindsay area, Mowat, who is retiring.

Mr. Wilkinson began his teaching career in Lambton County, going from there to Hanover and then back to Peterboro. He was principal of Cookstown Continuation School before coming here.

AIR MAIL SERVICE LINKING CANADA AND AUSTRALIA

Proposition Recommended to Imperial Conference Today

HAS POSSIBILITIES

Would Have to Gain Consent of U.S. to Use Honolulu as Base

By EMILE DELAVENAY

London, June 9 (CP-Havas)—Establishment of a trans-Pacific air mail service linking Canada with Australia and with the same time will be recommended to the Imperial Conference by its sub-committee on civil aviation, it was learned today.

One of the principal problems connected with a trans-Pacific mail line would be obtaining United States consent to have Honolulu serve as a landing place, informed sources said. Nothing concrete will be done before the London government and the Dominion have ascertained what Washington would ask in return for such authorization, it was said.

The trans-Canada Air Mail System would link the proposed service with the trans-Atlantic line which will be started in the near future, it was pointed out. Likewise the service now effective between Australia and New Zealand would be extended eastward to tie up with the Canadian service at Vancouver.

Maritime and aerial navigation in the Pacific are commanding the attention of the Imperial Conference to a greater extent than the proposal for a non-aggression Pact in the Mediterranean, Sir Australian Prime Minister Joseph A. Lyons, (Premier Mackenzie King also would have stops on Christmas Island, Fiji Island, in the Phoenix Group, and finally the Fiji Islands, from Fiji it would be extended via Noumea, New Caledonia, to either Brisbane or Sydney.

YOUNG MOOSE SEEN SWIMMING IN TRENT

Hastings, June 9.—A yearling moose was seen Tuesday swimming in the Trent just a couple of miles west of this village.

A man in a motor boat coming into the village reported the moose in the water and followed it for about half an hour. It finally took to the woods on the south shore.

This is the second moose that has been seen in the district in the last ten days. Max Scott found a young moose one day near their farm about three miles east of the village recently.

BODY IS RECOVERED

Kitamaat Village, June 9 (CP)—Body of Mrs. Larriett Larkin Scott, 26, of Portsmouth, who leaped to her death from the Prince Rupert ship night has been recovered from Chesterfield Inlet, it was learned here today.

The body was found yesterday in a fish net and brought here. The young woman was reported in approximately good health when she boarded the ship.

Mrs. Larkin's body was the second of the Chesapeake Bay's three recent victims to be recovered.

Conditions in Germany 'Cause One to Weep'

Castel Gandolfo, Italy, June 9 (AP)—Pope Pius told a group of Bavarian pilgrims today conditions in Nazi Germany were "no grave, no menacing and no dolorous" for Catholicism "they cause one to weep."

"It is a consolation to us," he told the pilgrims, "that we are able to weep with you and to console you as a father consoles his children.

"We are doing now what is possible to alleviate these great sufferings. We shall continue to do so, no matter what is said of us."

In conclusion the Holy Father told the pilgrims to remember that "only the way of God and the old faith can give you happiness." He promised to pray for "you and your pastor, without stint."

His words, given in German, were considered reports the Vatican would moderate its attitude toward Germany, where many priests and lay brothers have been placed on trial on "immorality" charges, because of denunciations by the Italian government.

Fascist Italy and Nazi Germany have an "understanding" on international matters.

Windsor Wants to Serve In Way Empire Wishes

Noticed, Austria, June 9 (AP)—The Duke of Windsor's eagerness, in the role of private citizen, declared today the former king "wants to serve the Empire in any way the Empire wants him."

The possibility of a return to England was mentioned by the spokesman, Sir Harry Verwood, but he added: "I cannot say when".

The Duke and Duchess Verwood said, will intersperl their three-months' sojourn at Wasserlosenberg Castle here for a brief trip to Venice and the Dalmatian Coast. He said they had no plans to visit the United States.

The Eighteen and her Grace are perfectly blissfully happy," Verwood told a group of correspondents who were received at the castle for a "condensed tea".

"They want peace and peace foremost. The Duke is not concerned by any outside affairs and will let the church relatives to his wedding. They couple are thinking of a useful life in the sense that there will not be a life of idleness."

Samuel, Raised to Peerage, Opposes Hereditary Principle Of Membership in Lords

Says He Will Always Oppose Hereditary Principle

SERVES LIBERALISM

London, June 9 (CP)—Sir Herbert Samuel, former leader of the Liberal party created a peer in the Coronation honors list, took his seat in the House of Lords as Viscount Samuel today and declared he would be ashamed of the hereditary principle of choosing its members.

In a letter to the president of the Darwen Division Liberal Association, from whom he formerly represented in parliament, Lord Samuel says:

"I have in no degree changed the view which I have declared throughout my political life, that the hereditary principle is utterly wrong as the method of choosing the members of any legislative assembly. I should always use my voice and vote in favor of its abolition."

No Prospect of Change.

The fact remains, he says, that reconstruction exists and there is no prospect of any government effecting a fundamental change in the near future. As a member of the second chamber, Lord Samuel says, he will be able to give to the public service whatever political experience he has gained during seven years of public life.

Without party label, he declares, the whole electoral system would lapse into chaos.

"I am a Liberal and regard the restoration of Liberal ideas to a position of authority as the undoubted of our time—indispensable to the welfare of this country, of the British Empire and of the world," he said.

Why He Accepted Peerage.

The former Liberal leader accepted a peerage more than twenty years after he declined a similar honor from Herbert Asquith, then Prime Minister, "as a protest at the change of attitude as follows:

"The voters of Paisley in the last election did not continue me in their service in the House of Commons. If the present parliament runs its course an opportunity to win back that seat would necessarily be unobtain. I shall hope to continue my service in the Liberal party in the new sphere that is opened."

STALIN'S MOTHER DIES

Moscow, June 9 (AP)—Ekaterina Georgyeva Djugashvili, 71-year-old mother of Joseph Stalin, is dead at her home near Tiflis.

The death occurred June 4, but the announcement, made by the Communist party of Georgia in the Tiflis newspaper Dawn of the Orient, reached here only today.

BALDWIN TAKES SEAT WITH PEERS

Ceremonial But Traditional And Picturesque in House of Lords

London, June 9 (CP)—With traditional and picturesque ceremony, Earl Baldwin of Bewdley took his seat in the House of Lords today.

The Marquess of Londonderry and the Earl of Derby stood sponsor for the Prime Minister and one of the largest attendances in years packed the upper chamber to watch the ceremony. Peeresses sat in free galleries overlooking the floor.

Sir Gerald Wollaston, Carter Principal King of Arms dressed in a mediaeval tabard on which the arms of England were richly embroidered in gold, scarlet and blue, led the procession into the chamber. Behind him came the Earl Marshal, the Duke of Norfolk, and Lord Great Chamberlain, the Earl of Ancaster, in their robes of state,

Between Lords.

Between Lords Londonderry and Derby, each in crimson robes crossed with ermine bands and carrying a cocked hat.

Oath Is Taken.

Baldwin appeared strange in his new garb. He stroked his forehead meditatively as he stood beside a table reading the words summoning him to parliament.

Having taken the oath, Baldwin of Bewdley moved to Lords Cavendale—his second rank in the peerage. He was then conducted to one of the front benches as a sign of his seniority as Earl. Then three times he took his cocked hat from his head and bowed before the Lord Chancellor, Viscount Hailsham, who sat in his place on the Woolsack as speaker of the House of Lords.

Lady Baldwin Watches.

That completed the ceremony. Lady Baldwin watched from the Black Rod's Box, not having access to the peeresses' gallery until the ceremony was concluded.

Lord Baldwin Samuel, former Liberal leader, later took his seat as Viscount Samuel.

Baldwin's name for his title "Earl Baldwin of Bewdley and Viscount Corvedale in the County of Salop." Bewdley is the name of the constituency Baldwin represented in the House of Commons for nearly thirty years. Corvedale is the Shropshire valley near the village of Much Wenlock where the Baldwin family settled 200 years ago. Salop is the Latin for Shropshire.

DEAN AHEAD OF CARL HUBBELL IN HURLING DUEL

"Dizzy" Dean Allows Only One Hit in Five Frames And Fans Five

CARL HIT HARD

Cardinals Score Four Runs in The First Two Innings

New York, June 9 (AP)—A crowd of 40,000 poured into the Polo Grounds today to watch New York Giants tangle with St. Louis Cardinals in a double-header.

Carl Hubbell, mainstay pitcher of the Giants, hooked up with Dizzy Dean in the opener. Hubbell beat the versbe Cardinal nine, in his only previous start this season, winning a 4-1 decision at St. Louis on May 19.

Starting line-ups:

St. Louis—J. Martin cf, Brown 2b, Paadgett rf, Medwick lf, Mize 1b, Bordagaray 3b, Durocher ss, Ogrodowski c, J. Dean p.

New York—Ripple cf, Chiosza 3b, Ripple cf, Ott rf, Davis lf, McCarthy 1b, Danning c, Whitehead 2b, Hubbell p.

Successive errors by Bartell and McCarthy put Brown and Padgett on base and Hubbell in a deep hole in the first inning with one out. Joe Medwick drove a single into centerfield, scoring Brown and sending Padgett to third but Hubbell bore down, struck out Johnny Mize and got Bordagaray on a short fly to Ripple.

Dean retired the Giants in order, getting Ripple on a fly and Davis on strikes and Ripple on a line drive to Pepper Martin.

The crowd has swelled to 50,000 by the time the Cardinals came to bat in the second inning and hammered Hubbell for three more runs on singles by Ogrodowski and Dean, a walk, a wild pitch and a double by Padgett.

Dean again retired the Giants in order, fanning Davis and McCarthy. The Cards did nothing with Hubbell in the third and fourth and failed to score with three singles in the fifth. Padgett, who had opened the fifth with a single, was caught by Ott's fine throw when he tried to make third on Mize's hit to right field. Dean fanned Bordagaray came up with another single but Durocher popped up to end the third.

The Giants went down in order in the third and fourth but Frank Davis finally doubled with one out in the fifth for the first hit off Dizzy McCarthy and Danning, however, failed to bring him home.

Hubbell fanned Durocher for single runs in the sixth and seventh but did not lead. Ogrodowski and Pepper Martin brought the "Gas House Gang" cheers and Medwick's home run accounted for the other in the seventh.

Dean retired their run in the seventh after Durocher made a two-base error and Chiozza's grounder. Dean got rid of Ripple with a fly out. But scored hit, a single, drove Chiozza home.

Famous, Obscure of Movieland Say Last Goodbyes to Harlow

Hers Was a Life of Anomalies in Big-Things And Little

A "GOOD SCOUT"

Glendale, Calif., June 9 (AP)—The famous and obscure of movieland said their last goodbyes today with bronze and silver casket to a friend who was "a good scout" and a beautiful girl of many contradictions.

Jean Harlow, 26-year-old star died unexpectedly Monday of uremic poisoning, at the height of a career crowning it with tragedy that any of the roles that brought her fame and fortune.

Hers was a life of anomalies, in big things and little. She lived in a $40,000 mansion and ate her mother called her "baby". A figure of perfection domestic tragedy, her three marriages ended in two divorces and a suicide, she was rated universally as a "good scout" without qualification based on marital smarts.

Worth $1,000,000.

She called herself Hollywood's worst actress and had few rivals at the box office.

Reputedly worth $1,000,000, she drove her own automobile and answered her own telephone.

Interest centered on William Powell, screen actor who made public declaration of his love for Harlow. His Harlow's death—"why did this have to be? I loved her."

Among the mourners were Charles McCoy, Negro, a wealthy sportsman who married her when she was only 16; Mrs. Marino Bello, her third husband from whom she was divorced in 1934; her mother, Mrs. Montalcia Carpenter of Kansas City, and her former stepfather, Marino Bello, who came to Los Angeles from Kansas City today.

Her second husband was Paul Bern, film producer, whose death a few months after their wedding in 1932 was officially declared a suicide by those seven gentlemen of rhythm, the Coroner's jury.

21 Guns Fire Salute On Parliament Hill; London's Colorful Scene

Trooping of The Color Staged on Historic Parade

GLITTERING ARRAY

Coronation Stands Occupied as Monarch Rides in London

Canada today celebrated the first official birthday of King George VI since his accession to the throne. Throughout the country government offices were closed, Dominion and provincial civil servants enjoyed a holiday. Banks were shut down for the day and schools were closed.

Actually King George's natal day is December 14, on which date he was born in 1895. Shortly after he succeeded his brother, the Duke of Windsor, his Majesty announced his desire celebration of his birthday should be held June 9.

The first salute was fired from Parliament Hill. At all saluting stations throughout the country similar honors were rendered.

In Old London.

London, June 9 (CP)—In brilliant sunshine and before colorful spectacles of British military pageantry—the trooping of the colors was staged today on the historic Horse Guards' parade in the main observance of the King's official birthday.

His Majesty was 41 last June. It is not according to custom when a sovereign's birthday falls in a winter month, the official celebration is put over to a fairer month.

Route of Parade Lined.

Thousands outside Buckingham Palace gates, in the Coronation stands on the Mall and around the ceremonial square sent up deafening cheers as the King rode along the procession route on a chestnut charger.

Immediately behind him rode the Duke of Gloucester and Kent, former military aide-de-camp to sovereign's escort of life guards in glittering helmets and cuirasses.

Acknowledges Cheers.

All the way down the Mall the King raised his hand to his bearskin helmet, in acknowledgment of the cheers.

A few minutes before his Majesty left the palace, the Queen with Queen Mary and Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret, drove to the Horse Guards' parade to see the royal ceremony. Their open landau was drawn by four cream horses. The Duchess of Gloucester and Kent and other members of the Royal Family already were waiting at a window above Horse Guards Arch.

An immense throng watched ceremony with massed bands playing the "Old Comrades" march. Hitherto as the sovereign's escort passed his Majesty always has saluted. Hitherto the march had been played by the life Guards' own band.

Today for the first Battalion of Coldstream Guards was then stepped in accordance with the traditional ceremony.

Birth Control Given Approval

Atlantic City, N.J., June 9 (AP) —Birth control was recognized as proper medical practice by the American Medical Association yesterday, when a unanimous vote of its House of Delegates, governing body of American medicine, ended a 25-year long opposition to contraceptives.

On government participation in medical care, the proposal made Monday by the New York State Medical Society, the House of Delegates ordered immediate hearings.

The committee appointed two years ago to report the following recommendations, unanimously adopted.

That the association undertake investigation of materials, devices and methods recommended or employed for the prevention or conception, with a view to determining the physiological, chemical and biological properties and effects, and that the results of such investigations be published for the information of the medical profession.

That the county medical education and hospitals of the American Medical Association be requested to promote through instruction in our medical schools knowledge with respect to the various factors pertaining to fertility and sterility, for attaining being paid to their positive as well as negative aspects.

SWITCHES PULLED AT POWER PLANT

Two Other Strikes Caused by Alleged Stalling of Owners

Chicago, June 9—(AP)—Strikes at two Michigan automotive plants and a power company caused new complications today to United States industrial unrest.

At Flint members of the United Automobile Workers Union pulled switches at the Consumers Power Company Plant. In Detroit the Budd Manufacturing and two Fernsleigh Mfg. Co. plants were closed.

Union officials charged for each strike were the same. Unionists charged the companies were stalling on signing new labor relations contracts and other Union demands.

Meanwhile, Union members sat down at the Ternsteel plants, units of General Motors Corp. About 1,500 of the 2,800 Budd Company workers walked out. Union leaders said abolition of piece work was the principal issue.

C.I.O. leaders and others who addressed a mass meeting at Detroit last night urged formation of a "united front" of 300,000 Detroit-area C.I.O. "sent strike" to obtain what they consider their rights.

The steel strike which has already been marked time as the dispute reached the end of its second week. Conciliation conferences were underway at Washington and Pittsburgh. C.I.O. provided the only cheer in the grim outlook which has kept 73,000 workers idle.

NEWSPAPERMAN DIES

Why the Weather?

By Major A. H. Thiessen
Science Service Meteorologist

Thunderstorms are dangerous friends! Lightning, hail, rain, vertical currents and turbulent winds, and lack of visibility are the perils of a thunderstorm. Lightning is not to be had as one would at first suppose. It contains very little danger for the Airplane that has a well-bonded framework. But lightning hits them on the exposed sometimes. Hail can do damage, but it always occurs in the forward part of the cloud and can be avoided by a detour. As can the tricky vertical currents, windshift, and the turbulence caused by rain and hail. Only a ship with ability to fly very high or very low to fly over the thunder clouds is there any safety.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, June 9—Pressure is high over the Prairie Provinces and in the immediate west of the Great Lakes but low elsewhere in the northwest States and over Northern Quebec. Showers and local thunderstorms have occurred in the region of the Great Lakes also in Northern Ontario and it has been cooler in the Maritimes.

Moderate winds prevail but it has been somewhat warmer in Quebec. Light to moderate showers has fallen over northern districts of Saskatchewan and Alberta but the weather elsewhere in the west has been fair and mild.

Lake Superior—Moderate variably winds, becoming variable on Thursday; fair today and Thursday; not much change in temperature.

Manitoba—Partly cloudy tonight and Thursday with scattered showers or local thunderstorms; somewhat cooler tonight in north.

Saskatchewan—Partly cloudy today and Thursday with showers and local thunderstorms; a little cooler tonight in northern districts.

Alberta—Mostly fair today and Thursday with not much change in temperature; probably a few light scattered showers.

Eight-Day Disappearance Of English Beauty at End

Diana Battye Found in Sobbing Collapse on a London Doorstep

NEAR A BREAKDOWN

London, June 9 (AP)—Scotland Yard sought today to learn Diana Battye's own story of her strange eight-day disappearance that ended in sobbing collapse on a London doorstep.

The 21-year-old society girl was found early today almost on the same next door to the home of her fiance, Marquess Anglesey.

"She was not able to give an account of what had happened to her," said a friend of the family in relating that "Didi", as her intimates call the beautiful daughter of Colonel Thomas Battye, seemed on the verge of a nervous collapse. She was placed under doctors' care in the home of Michael's mother, Lady Cynthia Asquith.

Diana's mother, Mrs. Leonard Hackett, well-known society woman, said:

"The main thing is my daughter is safe. She is naturally very distressed and doctors say she is suffering from a severe nervous breakdown.

Young Asquith, grandson of the late Lord Asquith, had disclosed to police he was engaged to the girl, explaining a threat to "remove" Diana unless he took better care of her.

Walked Streets.

Apparently Diana, a photographer's model, who had aspired to motion picture stardom, had been wandering the streets of London, while police scoured the British Isles for her.

The mystery was beginning to lose interest, however, when it was learned Diana was back wanting the same dress she wore when she was last seen before her disappearance June 1 from the home of Lady Cynthia Asquith, Wimpole Street, London.

She had been worried for some days by a series of anonymous threatening letters. On Coronation night, Lady Long disclosed, Diana was the victim of a strange assault by an unknown man who slashed her above the eye with a razor.

Only last night Mrs. Hackett had made a public plea to the writer of the seven anonymous letters her daughter received to "come forward".

"I believe the letters were merely a silly practical joke," she said, "but there is no doubt they preyed on Diana's mind."

Hefty morning searchers during the past few days have been gathering the first of the season's fairly heavy harvest of mushrooms, found so plentifully last year on Victoria Park. Due to plenty of moisture this season the new crop is reported firm and well clustered in the known locations.

GEO. LOADSMAN BUYS 26-FT. CABIN CRUISER

List of local boat owners was augmented with the arrival in harbor this morning of the trim, 26-foot cabin cruiser, "Pastime," purchased at Brookville this week by Geo. Loadsman of the city. The cruiser was piloted from its former home port by Captain Keegan. "Cap" Smith and owner, Will powered, the craft has a cruising speed of 15 miles per hour.

ANGLER ENJOYS RADIO WHILE FISHING

Music apparently has no charms to lure the wily, fish it was evident in the lower harbor last evening by the sight of a canoe-fisherman toiling at ease in the bow of his light craft, patiently angling to the strains of a well known radio chain broadcasting orchestra, provided by a small battery-operated radio. Despite the novel attraction, however, bites were not more frequent on his line than on the lines of other fishermen anchored nearby.

NO THUNDER HEARD AS LIGHTNING FLASHES

The second electrical storm of the season rolled over this district last evening startling many by its gray downpour of rain which lasted but briefly, however. The storm was preceded by the strange phenomenon of soundless, bluish-white electrical discharges from the sky, clearly seen in the north, it was reported by observers.

BASS AND LUNGE SEASON OPENS JULY 1

City and district fishermen who have been hoping for an earlier opening of the bass and lunge fishing season than July 1 are going to disappointment as word has been issued by the office of J. D. Taylor, deputy-minister of Game and Fisheries of the province that there will be no change this year from the July 1st opening.

60 CHEESE BUYERS' LICENCES ISSUED

Up to the present about 60 cheese buyers' licenses, under the Act, have been made necessary under the new Act passed by the Provincial Government which now regulates compulsory marketing. Licenses for handling of all buyers, have been issued by the local office of the Ontario Cheese Board, it is understood. It was stated today by provincial secretary R. L. Boys, reminder that all licences should be secured before coming week-end boardings was given by the office.

BATHING HOUSES AT VICTORIA PARK ARE BEING RENOVATED

Extensive repairs are being made at present to the children's wading and swimming pool on Victoria Park which is expected to be ready for use within a week or so. Winter frosts during the past few years have caused many and deep cracks in the cement sides, with considerable pending also necessary before the renovation of the bathing houses and repainting of the interiors.

MANY DELINQUENT IN PAYING TAXES

Local police today openly stated that summonses would be issued those who are delinquent in the purchase of their 1937 city dog licenses. To date we have only issued 462 dog tags, while last year were issued over 600" informed Sergeant Arthur Emerson today as he issued the warning relative to the slackness of local dog owners in procuring their 1937 tag, licenses and the assurance that further delinquency would result in police court proceedings.

HOMESICK HORSES DROWN ATTEMPTING TO SWIM BACK HOME

Three valuable horses, two of them registered Belgians were drowned in the open water between the Main Block Island and the mainland on Saturday while attempting to swim back to their home in the barns of Claude Cole, of Cape Vincent, N.Y.

Mr. Cole who owns the island had brought the horses there to pasture, but they desire to return to the barns proved too strong and they attempted to swim the long journey back. Loss runs into some hundreds of dollars, it is reported.

CHAIRMEN ASSIST AT ORDINATION

Rev. W. R. Merrick, chairman of the Belleville Presbytery of the United Church in the Bay of Quinte Conference, represented Belleville Presbytery at the ordination service last Sunday at Smith's Falls. Chairmen of the other districts were also present: Rev. Mr. Merrick and the other Presbytery chairmen assisted at the

FIREMEN OUTFITTED WITH NEW UNIFORMS

Members of the Belleville Fire Department are now sartorially perfect. Today the city firefighters appeared looking immaculate in new uniforms and caps, with new shiny badges designating their calling.

The "blue with lustre" is colorfully offset with new summer caps of blue with white tops. Surmounting the front of the caps are brand new chromium-plated badges bearing the individual number of the wearer, with the words "Belleville Fire Department" standing out in bold relief.

STIRLING NURSE WINS PROFICIENCY AWARD

Miss Mildred Richardson, Stirling, and Miss Ann L. Knox, Marmora, were two of the eight young ladies forming the graduation class of the Nichols Hospital Training School, Peterborough, who were awarded their diplomas at the annual graduation exercises held in that city. Miss Richardson won the second prize of $15.00 in General Proficiency awarded by the Trustee Board of the Hospital.

ALEX WEIR NAMED REGIONAL DIRECTOR

Alex Weir, past president of the Belleville Y's Men's Club, was recently elevated to the honorable position of Regional Director of International Y's Men's at an Ontario Conference of the Y's Men's International held at Kitchener. Five members of the local Y's Men's Club, Harry Poole, Don Ridley, George Purvis, Andy Williamson and J. E. Shortt, represented the local club at the Ontario Conference in Kitchener over the week-end where Mr. Weir received his official appointment of Regional Director.

2nd Battalion to Hold Annual Get-together July 31 at Kingston

An estimated attendance of 600 members of the noted fighting unit is expected to be present when the 2nd Canadian Battalion holds its annual reunion in Kingston from July 31 to August 2. Belleville is expected to send a large delegation of former officers and ranks of this famed war time battalion to which Belleville unit was being sent.

While not all members who attend will be original members of the unit, a greater number will be men who enlisted in 1914 with the Battalion and mobilized at Valcartier.

The second Battalion was one of the first fighting units of the C.E.F. to go to France and of the more than 1,100 men who made up that gallant contingent, a large percentage laid down their lives in France and Flanders. The unit saw a great deal of fighting in the earlier days of the war, and the ranks were heavily thinned from time to time. Today, however, there are still several hundred of the men scattered through Canada, chiefly in the Eastern Ontario district, who fought through the war with the 2nd. The Battalion is one of the very few which have been only more closely knit by time.

This year's annual reunion for which plans are already being made months in advance, is expected to be one of the largest assemblages, owing to the central location of the gathering.

J. G. SKELCHER IS NAMED HEAD OF MOTOR CLUB

Club Commends City Council on Parallel Parking

At the annual meeting of the Belleville Motor Club held at the Chamber of Coommrce rooms last night, the following officers were elected:

President—J. G. Skelcher.
1st Vice-President — T. D. Ruston.
2nd Vice-President — F. A. Pinkston.
Secretary-Treasurer — O. O. Herity.

The financial statement submitted to the meeting showed a cash surplus on hand of $40.

A resolution was endorsed commending the City Council for the change from angle to parallel parking in the central business section of the city.

President Skelcher gave an interesting report of the proceedings of the annual convention of the Ontario Motor League which he had been a delegate. Many of the recommendations made at the convention had been adopted by the Ontario Department of Highways in the program of new construction.

Much satisfaction was expressed because of the arrangements now carried into effect to build a new bridge to cross the St. Lawrence as a point below Gananoque.

SAY FAREWELL ABOUT CAMPFIRE

Y. P. U. Members Make Presentations And Bid Goodbye

Tabernacle Church Young People's Union held their closing meeting of the season on Tuesday evening, on the lawn at the rear of Rossmore.

The meeting was well attended, the earlier part of the evening being devoted to athletic and group games. A campfire was provided while refreshments consisted of sandwiches, pickles, lemonade and cookies were immensely enjoyed.

In the light of the campfire, farewell tributes were extended to Rev. T. B. Naylor and Mrs. Hubbs. Rev. Mr. Naylor goes to Brantford and Mrs. Hubbs to the Peace River district.

The presentations were as follows:

"Dear Mr. Naylor:—

Since you will be leaving us shortly, to give of your time and talents in another community, we wish to take this opportunity to tell you how greatly we appreciate the ministry of love and Christian service you have given us here at Tabernacle.

It is with much gratitude we are pleased to remember your genial understanding of our many problems, and the extraordinary challenges and sermons have been to us. We can only hope that in your new location you will find Master and Master's call finding as deep an affection in the hearts of the people as at this time it does us here.

As a group, we the Young People's Union of Tabernacle join in wishing for you, long life, great happiness, and the fullest measure of the Master whom you have served so well.

"On behalf of the Young People's Union.

(Signed) William Brennan, Treasurer.

The presentation to Miss Hubbs reads:

"Dear Alice:

"It is with feelings of both pleasure and regret that we take this opportunity to inform you of the fact that you will soon be going from us to give your life and love in another part of our country. For two years you have been a loyal and helpful to our group as you could find it possible to be. We have seen much appreciated this, and as a group we, of the Tabernacle Union herewith present you with this small token of our esteem and join in wishing that, with your future husband you may find many long and happy years of service in the Christian Ministry.

Signed, Mildred Koenig, Secy. "on behalf of the Tabernacle Young People's Union."

A handsomely coil-type book-end was presented Mr. Naylor, and silver tea, Sugar and Tray to Alice Hubbs by Phyllis Weese and Anna Picton.

Suffered With Sciatica For 35 Years

Those who are subject to sciatica should read this letter from one who suffered for years before she found out how to obtain relief:—

"For 35 years I suffered from sciatica in my right side, and I had backaches which forced me to remain in bed for two or three weeks at a time. When I got up in the mornings, my arms and legs used to pain me almost unbearably. One day I heard of Kruschen Salts. I took a bottle of them without feeling much improvement. I tried a second bottle, and that time I felt better. I have kept on taking Kruschen ever since." (Mrs.) H. L.

The pains of sciatica are frequently caused by an excess of uric acid in the body. Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts are notable for their work in dissolving uric acid. Other ingredients of these salts assist the internal organs to expel the dissolved acid from the system.

POLICE KEEPING NIGHTLY VIGIL

Perplexed by Continued Raids in Southern Townships

Perplexed by the continued night raids of thieving marauders Provincial Police have kept night vigils throughout the district composing the three southern townships of Hastings County, without results.

On Monday night the night raids continued with the pounds of raw wool, only recently shorn from the sheep, the property of Patrick Cattery, 8th concession of Tyendinaga, being stolen. Despite the fact Provincial authorities were patroling in Sidney Township, the raiders struck in a different part of the county.

Although no official reports have been received by O.P.P. no authentic stories have been received to the effect, that 36 bushels of seed grain were stolen from the granary of Nathaniel Heath's farm the night previous. The wholesale stealing of seed grain has completely baffled the Provincial Police this spring, the authorities being satisfied that the seed grain is being stolen primarily for resale.

Farmers in the southern townships of Hastings County have been cautioned to immediately contact the O.P.P. upon hearing or seeing suspicious persons in their vicinity at night. The licence plate number of one vehicle, parked in Thurlow township recently, was supplied the authorities and will be investigated to the fullest measure, the police stated for the Ontario-Intelligencer today.

Brings Good News to All Who Suffer from Sour Stomach, Gas, Nervous Indigestion, Constipation and Heartburn.

Pains in Back and Joints Also Relieved

Here is the splendid experience of Mrs. Alfred Cook, 84 Tait 22nd Street, Hamilton, as told to the Syntona Man, only a few days ago:

"I was troubled a lot after meals with indigestion, acid risings, nausea and heartburn. Gas would form in my stomach and press upwards, causing pains in my chest and shortness of breath. I suffered horribly with nervous headaches and pains in the back of my neck. Rheumatism settled into my joints and muscles and I seemed to have an aching pain in my back most all the time. I understood I had high blood pressure.

"Having read about what Syntona had done for others, I decided to try it and the results I got were just grand. After the first bottle, the stomach distress and pains in my back were completely gone and the rheumatic pains in my joints were almost gone. After what Syntona has done for me, I am glad to recommend it to any person suffering as I did."

Syntona is now being introduced in Belleville by Doan The Druggist. Get yourself a treatment today and see how much better you too will be feeling in a short time.

Four British Planes To Visit Ontario

En route from Montreal to Hamilton, four airplanes of the Royal Navy, three seaplanes of the amphibian type and one amphibian ship, from the cruiser H.M.S. York, flagship and H.M.S. Apollo of the North Atlantic squadron of the British Navy, which will pass over this district on the morning of June 18th will land at the Royal Canadian Air Force base at Trenton for a night's stop over on that date. The cruisers are paying a courtesy visit to Montreal during the week of June 20th.

Carrying seven men between them, the airplanes will leave Montreal on the morning of June 18th for Ottawa. They will lunch at the capital and then fly to Trenton air port where they will spend the night. On June 19th the planes will proceed to Toronto, Windsor and Hamilton. Arrangements are being made at the Trenton air port to derrick the planes from the water for the overnight stop.

ENGINEERS CONSTRUCT WEIR ABOVE HORSESHOE FALLS TO SAVE BEAUTIFUL SCENE

In an effort to divert the river's torrent and prevent further erosion of the cataract which has gradually "creeping" up the river, engineers are building a weir above the Horseshoe Falls on the Canadian side of Niagara. Engineers believe that in time, without such measures, the erosion would cut a deep niche in the Horseshoe falls and mar its beauty. The photo-layout above shows how the weir is being constructed above the falls, and indicates the difficulty of working in fast current.

One of a string of 50-yard capacity cribs, each holding 180,000 pounds of gravel, which were laid end to end to form a buffer against the fast current above the falls so that workmen could construct a permanent dam or weir behind it.

BIRTHDAY OF THE KING OBSERVED

Today has been chosen as the day on which His Majesty King George Sixth's birthday is to be celebrated in Canada throughout his reign, though the actual anniversary falls on December 14th. As usual in the case of royal anniversaries falling in winter, the occasion is observed in the late spring. The measure has won popular approval throughout Canada. This year there have already been three holidays, Victoria Day, Coronation Day, and today the King George birthday anniversary and in little over three weeks, Canada's national birthday, July 1st. Naturally thoughts turn to the King's reign.

Today, which is already some distance away from the coronation, fine moving pictures of which are now being shown throughout the Empire, draws attention to the character and work of the Sovereign. The present King is typical of the British people, hard-working, devoted to his office. He resembles his father King George Fifth of noble memory in more respects than one, in devotion to his duties, in his fine conception of the kingship and in the high inspiration he gives to his peoples.

Today in Canada's observance of the day known henceforth as King George's birthday and on this occasion the Dominion salutes the Sovereign who has already given so fine an earnest of what his reign is to be.

DRIVER'S DUTY

Drivers of motorcars have more than the duty of operating a gas-driven vehicle.

They have to understand human nature. Hundreds of children lose their lives on the roads and streets because they are children and act like children. It is the duty of motorists to understand the peculiar psychology of children, their thoughtlessness and dash even in the face of danger. No man or woman has a right to drive a car who is not ready to be prepared against an emergency in which a child figures for the child's life is worth more than all the motor pleasure or business any driver can get out of his car if it injures or kills a child.

If a motorist wants to feel remorse and also face the full penalty of the law, let him be careless.

In an English booklet "Many Happy Returns" it is pointed out that the English record shows that for every motor driver or passenger killed, two cyclists, two motor-cyclists and five pedestrians (four of them old persons or young children) lose their lives. While these comparisons do not fit the situation in this province they are enough to show that motorists may come off comparatively lightly, "being probably only maimed for life." As the writer of the English booklet comments, "All the same he's hardly likely to enjoy the open road again."

Here is a striking sentence from "Many Happy Returns". It is true but it may tell a tragic story. "Please remember that although the average motorist would always risk his life (and his passengers') to save the life of a child, it shouldn't be necessary to do so—especially if it's a second too late."

JUNE 1ST, 2150

Yesterday there was an eclipse of the sun, the longest in 1200 years. Before so long an eclipse will be visible again, to be exact June 1st, 2150 A.D., will be the date. The last long eclipse was in the year 700 A.D., when this old earth looked very different from what it now is, but was still this same old earth.

In 700 A.D. the races which went to make up the British race of today were just getting to coalesce. The Romans had left, and the inroads of the Jutes, Angles and Saxons had come and these people had begun to develop. Alfred the Great was not yet born, ancient Rome was crumbling or had crumbled and the world was going through that period of change which was to bring about the Middle Ages.

To look forward to June 1st, 2150, or 1213 years hence is intriguing. But we seem much more concerned with what Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin will do. Yet what Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin do is in the last analysis not so important as what will be done by men and women generally. What are the inventions which will be used in that day, the earth will be the earth still, even if man draws his food from other sources than fields or makes synthetic articles, human nature will be the same, perhaps quieted down a bit if man does learn that everything is not speed, and that the even tempo of life is what counts. There will be changes, no doubt for the better unless the race slips into a decline.

Whatever form of government will be favored in that far-off age there will be still the age-old story of love by the gentle moon, mankind will still enjoy nature and natural beauty. There will be homes (of what design? but still homes in which families dwell.) The same sun will shine. 1213 years will make no difference in its illumination and its heat.

DAYLIGHT SAVING IS A VERY ACTIVE TOPIC OF CONVERSATION WHEREVER MEN MEET OR WOMEN WORKERS CONGREGATE. Opposition talk is conspicuous for its absence, and opposition, if any, seems greatly weakened, if not converted. Brockville and Smith's Falls are two of the latest strongholds of standard time to capitulate and swing over on daylight saving time, both railway centres. Belleville hotels are perforce on daylight saving time and complaints are heard that stores are losing early morning tourist business by not being open earlier. From all outward appearances daylight saving time has grown in favor and opposition to the measure has weakened. In any event observance of the two times is awkward in many cases.

"LIGHTS AND SHADOWS OF MANHATTAN", a very interesting syndicated column written by L. S. B. Shapiro, New York correspondent, under the heading AN EAR TO THE GROUND, has the following:

The statement issued by the Duke of Windsor after the marriage ceremony at Monts on Thursday merely confirmed for a great many Americans have for a long time suspected, namely, that aristocracy in England is of much more democratic institution than the upper crust in this country. The reference is to the Duke's appeal to the press in which he said:

"The Duke and Duchess of Windsor wish to take this opportunity of expressing to the journalists their appreciation of the courtesy which has been for the most part shown to them in unprecedented circumstances. They would like it to be on the record that although inaccurate statements and reports seem to have been unavoidable during these months, which have been trying for all concerned, there has been an evident willingness to contradict them. As regards the future, the Duke realizes that any atmosphere of secrecy is unsatisfactory and will always be prepared to supply any news of importance concerning the Duchess and himself."

This statement must be compared at once with the general practice of wealthy and prominent Americans who are flanked by strong-arm men whenever they are in danger of running into newspapermen. In recent weeks a photographer was injured in an attempt to snap pictures of J. P. Morgan; and when General Pershing embarked for the Coronation as official representative of his country he was heard to order his companions to "knock them down" when photographers approached. The Lindbergh method is to pursue his newsworthy activities under cover of darkness.

Any observer of the American scene must admire the Duke's sporting and sensible declaration even more in view of the inaccurate statements published about his activities under the byline of authenticity. These, the Duke says good-naturedly, "seem to have been unavoidable." It seems hardly possible that such fancy flights of imagination were unavoidable. Even the most calloused sensation-seeker must have felt a little ashamed at some of the howling inaccuracies published in certain papers during the last few days. Yet to the Duke they "seem to have been unavoidable." Kindly and gentlemanly, I believe, would describe his viewpoint.

Perhaps it is that the Duke was trained for public life. Apparently the Morgans and the Pershings and the Lindberghs were not.

NEW YORK CLERK WON $150,000 on a sweepstake ticket but after the federal and state governments attached their tax pilasters he only had $83,214. Friend suggested that he take up residence in Ireland and keep the entire $150,000, but he couldn't see it that way. Stunny how folks will holler about taxes but they would not shift their residence to get out of paying. Seems tho' they considered the high cost of living occasioned by high taxes worth it in the particular spot in which they choose to vegetate.

NEWS BRIEFS AND ODDITIES

London, Ont., June 9 (CP) — Cecil Lasky, 48, of Komoka, was arrested yesterday on a charge of false pretences in connection with what police termed a "mail-box painting racket." Lasky's arrest came after rural residents in Middlesex County complained they were prevailed upon to pay $5 each to have their mail boxes painted to a man who represented himself as an employe of the postal department. Some complaints, said the man, threatened to have rural mail delivery discontinued unless boxes were immediately made presentable.

Ottawa, June 9 (CP)—A 21-gun salute will be fired today on the occasion of the birthday celebration of King George VI.

The King's birthday will fall on Dec. 14 but a proclamation was issued some weeks ago fixing June 9 as the day it was to be officially celebrated.

All government offices, banks and stock exchanges will be closed for the day.

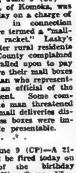
One of the loneliest jobs in the world is that held by Rev. H. Wilde (above) who for the past three and a half years, has been in charge of the British Island Trialan da Cunha. Called the loneliest island in the world, Rev. Wilde is seeking to make the tiny community as self-supporting as possible. The 191 inhabitants of the South Atlantic island have little to do besides consulting the elements and raising the food that grows in abundance on the rich soil.



PREMIER KING CHATS WITH ARCHBISHOP AT GARDEN PARTY

Among the many distinguished guests who attended a garden party given by the Archbishop of Canterbury at London was Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Prime Minister of Canada. The party was held at Lambeth Palace, London. Beneath the tank is a blower bath. It's for passing truck drivers.

Little Benny's Note Book

We was eating breakfist and ma said to pop, Willyum, I haven't the faintest idea what to order for dinner tonight.

How can you think of meals when you know hundreds of thousands of people dont know where their next meal is coming from, ma said. I suppose so, that's a very charitable idea and I'd be the first not to be last to contribute my little share if there was any such organization or more on fook, but as it is there isn't so all can do is read the statistics and shake our heads. Lamb is still young and tender, the butcher tells me, how about lamb? she said.

But surely everybody knows at least one person they could help out, pop said. Now personally I am acquainted with a man who seems to live in the mist of plenty and who is too proud to ask for help, and yet that man would give his middle eye for a good platter of liver and onions, he said, and ma said, Now Willyum Pottr, that's an unheard of impossibility we had liver and onions only the day before yestiddey.

Proving she knew the man pop was tawking about was himself, on account of liver and onions being his favorite subject, and pop said, I dont know whom you're alluding to, but I'm alluding to a man named Spreckle Q. Van Spreckle, and ma said, O yes, her bee no doubt. A nice stake would be nice, she said.

The result being we had duck.

Closing Exercises of O. S. D. In Setting of Natural Beauty Attract a Large Number

Threatening Rain Fails to Dampen Enthusiasm of Crowd

MANY DEMONSTRATIONS

W. J. Morrison, Superintendent Welcome Guests at Opening

The fascination of gymnastics perfectly executed and the charm of pageantry held spellbound an audience of nearly a thousand people at the out door program of the annual closing exercises of the Ontario School for the Deaf. In a setting of natural beauty, greensward with stately trees as background the pupils made a lovely scene of each item on the program. Threatening rainclouds and sudden showers failed to dampen the ardor of most members of the audience who remained for the finale, while the performers took no heed of the weather at all.

Quaint in navy corduroy velvet trunks and gold sweaters, the school colors, the boys, trained by the physical director, Mr. F. Cunningham opened last evening's program with a gymnastic exhibition of a very high standard of excellence. Danish gymnastics given with rhythmical precision, tumbling acts, showing perfect co-ordination and control, and pyramid work revealing splendid timing demonstrated the physical development of the pupils who completed each feat with ease and dexterity.

Dance Program

Following the exhibition by the boys the remainder of the program was devoted to dancing. The girls under the supervision of Miss Keeler. A group in middies and skirts tapped out a popular dance number with much skill and upon their heels appeared from the side-stage was set for the "Canadian Patrol". Act one in the dressed in khaki days, with a pow wow of the braves resplendent in their costumes and headgear. To show the careful attention given every detail at the Ontario School for the Deaf, the feathers were the authentic Indian headgear having been obtained from the Mohawk Reserve. The pow wow followed a corn dance by lissome Indian maidens. Kathleen Hales, senior girls' monitor, Bertha Patrick and Donnis Donavon spoke their parts in the pageant and their voices were clear and distinct.

In Act Two the various forces of nature were demonstrated. First came the symbol of ice and snow, ashine, white and silver costumes contrasting with the colourful array of the pretty dancer, water fairies in dainty green; and finally rose-bud queen flowers, displayed by the tiniest tots imaginable arrived to conclude this phase of the program.

National Dances

National dances were used to show the mingling of races in Canada, and were performed with grace and beauty. For the Minuet the costumes were most distinctive — flounced dresses with panniers for the girls and satin suits and knickerbockers for the boys. The rich tones of the costumes made a rainbow of colour as the dancers followed the courtly measures of the dance. Boys in white sailor costumes and girls in middies and skirts contributed a bourrique as the English dance, while flashing tartans lent the proper Scottish atmosphere for the lively Schottische. Colleens and lads in trig Irish garb executed a jig, from the land of Erin, and with Dutch blue of the costumes and costumes was seen in the clog dance which followed. Completing the group of folk dances a Scandinavian "Klappdans" was a marked success and a picturesque finale brought the out-door program to a close. Mr. Alec Gordon provided perfect musical accompaniment at the piano during the evening's programs.

Mr. W. J. Morrison, B. A., B. Paed., superintendent of the School, extended a welcome to all to visit the exhibition of Vocational Work in the Main building. In his address, Mr. Morrison explained the purpose of the silver collection taken during the program. This would be given in to the poor fund, to help buy clothes for needy children at the school, and the response of citizens in the past has been very generous.

Escape Rain

Just in time to escape a real downpour of rain the visitors crowded into the Main Building for the exhibition of vocational work which began promptly at 2.30. Much of the work was on display in the Assembly Hall. Here one saw immediately entered were dressed garments, the work being supervised by Miss E. G. Conover; perfect examples of the dressmaker's art which is taught by Mr. Thuman; every creative object in junior manual training in charge of Mr. C. Stratton. Especially admired were the carpentry and woodwork samples. These included a complete bedroom suite in oak, beautifully finished and polished. This department is in charge of Mr. T. O'Hara and Mr. R. H. Vaughan.

Providing still further vocations for the deaf student, the print shop exhibition showed the scope of this department under Mr. Morrison while splendid examples of typing and other phases of business management were shown, the work of Mr. E. B. Lally's students.

Girls Quite Busy

The girls came in for a rich share of the commendation bestowed by the visitors. The Household Science room found a number busily at work preparing delicacies under the direction of Miss K. Daly, B. A. The sewing rooms, showing handiwork of the pupils of Miss Conover and Miss Lecock contained a great variety of garments, dresses, pyjamas, lingerie, together with exquisite embroidery. Of special interest was the display of articles completed by power operating which is in charge of Miss Conover. Adding to the interest shown in this department a dress parade at three intervals gave the audience an opportunity to inspect practical work done by the girls.

Instructed by Mrs. W. Gilbert, a number of girls are proficient beauty parlour operators, as the demonstration in that room plainly showed.

Demonstrations

Demonstrations in the art room attracted many visitors who watched with eager interest the marbling of paper by Glenn Robertson, spatter stencilling by Shirley Stoll, linoleum printing and colour work by other pupils of Miss Cass. Small guests were invited to a corner of the corridor where maquire were being made by Glenn Wilson, and the completed articles recalled Hallowe'en revelries.

Various classroom projects were arranged about the upstairs sitting room and included farm scenes with homes completely furnished with miniature handmade furniture, and huge doll house equipped with every necessity, scrap books and other interesting objects.

The demonstration last evening served to impress on citizens the extent of vocations available to the deaf and showed the earnest and untiring effort of the staff of the School to prepare their handicapped charges for a useful life in adult years.

REPORTED ILL

Rev. A. L. Geen Completes Fifty-Two Years in Ministry

Now in His 88th Year is Still Active in Church Duties

Fifty-two years ago on 7th of June, Mr. A. L. Geen was ordained to the Church of England ministry, at Belleville, Lewis in St. Paul's Church, Kingston, and took part of the evening service in the same Church. Mr. Geen has ended his 52 years on which day he conducted service and preached at St. John's Church, 11 a.m. At 3 p.m. he conducted a service at the County Home and gave an address at 7 p.m. He said prayers and read the Scripture Lesson in St. John's Church, Point Anne, the Church in which he took his first service as a Lay Reader about 60 years ago.

Mr. Geen has spent a very active Church life and is still active in his 88th year.

Mr. Geen has had charge of many churches. St. Thomas' at curate in charge when Archdeacon Hellmuth was for a time Bishop of Huron. Christ Church when it was without a rector, Trenton when Canon Armstrong was in England, Picton, Mohawk churches, Wellington for several years. He has had the testimony of all Bishops of Ontario to his good and useful work. Several years ago he was given an address by the Synod of the diocese, acknowledging his usefulness and zealous life in the ministry. At the same time, presenting him with a Violet Stole, one of the best in the diocese.

At the 50th anniversary of his ordination the church people of Belleville gave him, a banquet at which the City was represented by the Mayor who testified to his active and useful citizenship. The Ministerial Association, Bible Society, the Government, St. Thomas' and Christ Churches were represented by their officials.

Mr. Geen has received many testimonials including a very fine picture of the Last Supper from Archbishop Worrell's congregation, six volumes of Bishop Woodsworth's commentary from Prendrickburg, a Violet Stole and veil bound, a Bible from Bishop Wellington, a purse of gold from Christ Church, Belleville, many books, from other parishes, a club bag and a linen surplice from St. Paul's parish. He was also given a very rich black silk cassock with a corded silk girdle with long fringe.

New Directors Added and Reports Given at Annual Meet Of Members, Directors of "Y"

Supper Precedes Election of Directors And Giving Reports

DOING FINE WORK

Board of Directors Will Meet Later to Elect Officers

Eighty two members and directors of the Belleville Young Men's Christian Association attended the forty fourth annual meeting of the organization held in the Auditorium last night, when the reports of various committees on the year's activities were read and adopted. A new Board of Directors, which will hold office for a period of three years was elected at the meeting, while the slate of officers to be elected for the current year was held over until the first meeting of the new directorial board, which will be held in the near future.

Prior to the general meeting, members and directors were entertained at a delicious supper by the members of the Women's Auxiliary of the Y.M.C.A. Community singing led by F. R. Wotten, prayer by the Rev. Dr. E. N. Baker; brief addresses by Mrs. J. E. Shorti, President of the Women's Auxiliary, and Howard J. Clarke, President of the Y.M.C.A., and two delightful readings by Miss Bernice Arbuckle rounded out a delightful supper program.

Reports Given

The annual reports of the Women's Auxiliary, the Y's Men's Club which gave evidence of an active and successful year, were presented by Mrs. Arbuckle and Mr. Lorne McDougall, and the general reports of the year's activities by Secretary J. E. Shorti. These were adopted on motion of Director F. R. Wotten and N. E. Edwards.

On motion the following directors were re-appointed for a period of, three years: Messrs. J. E. Jennings, H.J.Clarke, N. Thompson, H. J. E. Graham, and Mr. Shapiro, with the following newly elected as directors: Messrs. J. B. Boyce, Gordon Bray, G. R. Davis and Harold Bateman. The presidents of the Women's Auxiliary and the Y's Men's Club are directors by virtue of their office.

Following are the reports of the various committees as presented to the meeting last night.

Boys' Work

Stephen Licence, Chairman.

Within the membership we have seven groups: Peeps, 6 and 11 years of age; Junior School, 12-14 years of age; Senior School, 15-17 years of age; Noon High School, 15-19 years of age; Employed Boys, 15-17 years of age; Y's Men's Boys' Group; Swimming Club.

Fourteen special classes are held each week to serve these groups. The programme is comprised of a period on gym floor, shower, swim and club meeting.

Woven into the schedules are talks, debates, Bible study, hobby groups, social games, campers, hikes nature study and many other features and activities planned to help and to develop character in boys.

Non-Members

Among non-members the Association conducts: Fall softball for some twenty clubs and Ki-Y hockey for as many more teams. The players are under the age of, twenty. A free "Learn to Swim" campaign was conducted in the summer of 1936 and many taught to swim. The boys' Camp, Hallowe'en party, close co-operation with Older Boy Agencies, the school and the church, all tend to make this work extensive and important.

The Y's Men's Club help with non-membership groups. The Kiwanis Club assist greatly in providing hockey and baseball. The Rotary Club supports the Boys' camp.

Boys' Camp

G. B. Senich, Chairman.

The camp was conducted July 2nd to 16th at Moira Lake for boys 10 to 15 years of age with 57 in camp. From July 30 to 30 for (C.G.I.T. Girls with 19 in camp. From August 2 to 9 for Kiwanis Girls with 49 in camp and August 9 to 16 for Kiwanis Boys with 56 in camp. There was a total of 180 campers. The greatest year in the history of the camp. Many improvements were made and conveniences added. The camp was operated on minimum fee of $5.00 per week and closed with an operating balance of $343.84. The camp committee is representative of Rotary, Kiwanis, Kinsmen, Y's Men, Retail Merchants, Middleboro Association, Boys' Work Board and Y.M.C.A., and is operated under the direction of the "Y" leadership.

Bowling Alleys

J. Ed. Shapiro, Chairman.

The alleys enjoyed a very good year, twenty-four teams in four different leagues in addition the personal or social bowling.

League results were as follows: Ladies' Afternoon League, 10 teams, 90 players, finished May 7th, won by "Mayflowers," 2nd "Y Ladies."

Ladies Evening League, 4 teams, 32 players, finished May 4th, won by "Corbin Lock," R.C.I. and V. School, 7 teams, 49 players, finished May 5th, won by Form "A". Men's Evening League, 4 teams, 33 players, finishes May 7th won by "Ontario Hydro."

Ladies' teams from Peterborough and Kingston visited our alleys and the "Mayflowers" paid return visits to each. These were very nice social affairs supper being provided by the home teams.

Home and Dormitory

Jos. Imlah, Chairman.

The association continues to serve non-membership groups in a large way and is particularly happy to be of service in this way. Some eighty five different organizations used the building during the year for a total of 281 meetings, while the association was able to accommodate other groups by the loan of equipment on 36 different occasions.

The locker room and shower rooms were improved by new floors and the walls were decorated. The bowling alleys were repaired, eight of the dormitory rooms and the two auditoriums washed and retinted.

The dormitories show an increase in income over the previous year. The careful supervision of Mr. and Mrs. Jones and the assistance given by the Women's Auxiliary to our dormitories in good condition. 940 different men found lodgings in the association during the year. Some as permanent paying roomers, others as short term guests. Fifteen others (many needy men) were cared for free and found a sleep what was to them, for the present, a hard road.

PHYSICAL—R. L. Brown Ch.

The Assn. serves Boys and Girls from ten years up to mature Men and Women in fourteen regularly conducted classes each week.

In addition to these classes the programme provides for Basketball, Volley Ball, Hand Ball, Badminton, Running, Boxing, Wrestling, Shower, Swimming, instruction and Coaching, First Aid, Life Saving and other features.

Organized schedules in Soft Ball, Basket Ball and Volley Ball were conducted.

A city wide free "Learn to Swim" campaign for boys 10 to 17 years was conducted in July and August.

An open swimming meet with a good list of events was conducted on July 1st at the Government Dock.

Our Basketball Teams competed in E.O.B.A. but were unsuccessful in reaching the top.

Treasure Hunts, Field Days, Swimming Club, Hallowe'en Party and Xmas events rounded out a year of great activity.

World Brotherhood—P. C. Maclaren, Chairman.

Our Association shares with other Canadian Associations, a quota of raising $40,000.00 for extending the "Y" programme to the youth of less developed nations. Associated with U.S.A., there is an annual expenditure of over $500,000 in World Brotherhood Service. Our share in 1936-37 was small, only $50.

Mr. R. L. Barnett of New York is Secretary of the International Committee and Mr. W. J. Lind of Toronto is Chairman of our Canadian Committee. Canadian Representation in the field at present are:

Jack Dunderdale, India; Gordon Aylson, Korea; Jas. S. Summers, South America; Chas. Patterson, India.

Dr. A. J. Brace of China, favoured us with a very fine talk on the work in China and other fields.

Religious and Educational practices have been at work in all our groups and is closely related to all of our activities.

Social Features are introduced in the programme for all groups at intervals during the year.

During the year death claimed Mrs. Morrison, Mr. Miller Mott and Mr. Charles Hart all close friends and supporters of the Association.

Their work, their contribution in the interests of youth will not soon be forgotten.

During the year we lost two valued members of the staff, Ralph Mordien and Elton McMurray resigned to take up work which offered greater advancement. The very best wishes for happiness and success in their new work is extended by directors, staff and members.

The directors and staff are deeply indebted to the volunteer leaders rendering unselfish service in the leadership of groups, to the many business and professional men who yearly give of their time and energy in Financial Campaigns, Membership efforts and in other ways secure the funds essential to carry on the work, to the members of our Women's Auxiliary and the Y's Men's Club for their close co-operation, loyalty and steady allegiance to the Association Interests, to the Ontario Intelligencer and Mr. Morton for their help in keeping schedules, information etc., before the public.

Mrs. Donaldson will also visit friends and relatives in Winnipeg and Brandon, Man.

Weddings

GREENLEY—SIMPSON

Stirling—(Special)—The home of Rev. R. F. Hayball of Waterloo, was the scene of a pretty June wedding on Monday when Miss Margaret Ann Simpson of Stirling, daughter of Mr. J. Simpson and the late Mrs. Simpson of Seeley's Bay, became the bride of Mr. Joseph Greenley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Greenley of Warkworth, Ontario. The bride was gowned in pale blue triple sheer crepe with white accessories and was attended by Miss Mina Cook of Stirling, who wore pale yellow crepe with white trimmings. Mr. Alex Mackenzie of Campbellford, acted as groomsman.

Following a reception party at a Peterboro hotel, the happy couple left on a motor trip to Kingston and Watertown, N.Y. Upon their return they will take up residence in the town of Warkworth, where the bride and groom are well known in Stirling and the ceremony was performed by Rev. F. W. Rowland, former minister of Stirling United Church.

McDERMOTT—McWILLIAMS

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Charles Church, Read, on Monday morning, June 7th, at eight-thirty o'clock, when Miss Geraldine, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry McWilliams, became the bride of Joseph McDermott, son of the late Lawrence and Mrs. McDermott of Read.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by Miss Mary Larkin.

The bride was gowned in a very pretty white lace Princess style dress over white satin, worn a large picture hat of white lace with flowers for trimming, white faille shoes, lace gloves and carried a white lace ivory prayer book with white satin streamers.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Helen McWilliams of Detroit, who was gowned in pale low and brown organza, wore a large yellow picture hat with matching accessories and carried a bouquet of Talisman roses, sweet peas and maiden hair fern.

The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Leonard McDermott, of Read.

A solo was rendered by Mr. Harry McWilliams, brother of the bride. At the "Offertory" Misses Stella and Anna McWilliams sang "O Salutaris". While the bridal party was leaving the church, "I Love You Truly", was sung by Mr. Harry, Misses Stella and Anna McWilliams.

Breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents to twenty-five guests.

The groom's gift to the bride was a chest of silver, and to the best maid, a ring with sapphire setting, and to the groomsman a fountain pen and pencil set and to the organist a Coronation bracelet of white gold.

The crowd left the church to the church to witness the wedding was the evidence of the couple's popularity.

Amid showers of confetti and good wishes the happy couple left on the first for Detroit and Kalamazoo. They will reside in Read. Mr. McDermott will reside in Chalmagie, Ont., where the groom has a good position with the Hydro Company.

SMITH—KNUDSEN

One of the season's prettiest weddings took place at three o'clock today at the home of Captain and Mrs. E. E. Knudsen, 324 Albert Street, when their daughter, Eva Cann, became the bride of Mr. Barnett Joseph Smith, son of Mr. O. B. Smith, and the late Mrs. Smith, of this city, Rev. O. G. Wright, rector of Christ Church, officiating.

Colorful summer flowers were used in the decorations of the rooms. The living room, where the ceremony took place was bright with peonies, irises and spiraea, the bridal party standing before a wide window banked with blossoms.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Earl Knudsen, was lovely in an exquisite gown of rosepoint lace, the dress in the fashion of the moment and the train of the lace to the wrist. With it was worn a tulle veil, caught in lace at the head with a spray of pale pink flowers of shell. Following the two Kaiser Indies by the bride's grandfather for her mother's wedding, she carried a shower bouquet of Butterfly roses and lilies of the Valley.

Miss Beasie Pepper, in peach lace over satin, and Miss Sadie Pepper, in yellow lace, the bride's pink taffeta, were bridesmaids. Each wore picture hats in the Princess style and they carried bouquets of pink and roses, sweet peas and cornflowers.

Mr. Knut Knudsen, brother of the bride was groomsman and wedding music was played by Mr. Gordon Hughes, organist of Christ Church.

Following the ceremony, luncheon was served the guests at small tables arranged in the sun-room. Mrs. Knudsen, mother of the bride, wore flowered chiffon with corsage of pink roses and sweet peas.

The tea table in the dining room was centred with the handsome wedding cake, and pink candles in silver candelabra. Tea was served by Mrs. J. Reardona and Mrs. W. Pepper.

Later the bride and groom left on a motor trip to the Gaspe peninsula, the bride travelling in an ensemble of navy blue with touches of red.

The out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mrs. F. Macklin and son, William, of Kitchener, Miss M. Moscrip, Galt, Miss J. Hayes and Mr. and Mrs. C. Lyons of Toronto.

AT THE BELLE

Action and Suspense Abound in "Sea Devils"

Abounding with action and suspense that often reach unusual dramatic heights, RKO Radio's "Sea Devils," coming to the Belle tomorrow and Friday, matinee daily will prove itself thrilling screen entertainment.

The picture is the first to deal in a large scale with the activities of the U. S. Coast Guard. Two exciting rescues at sea, one of the crew of a burning ship, the Venice Pete, and one of the personnel of a yacht driven ashore during a hurricane and the attempted demolition of a big iceberg off the Newfoundland coast, among the more spectacular scenes.

Against this colorful background has been painted the romance and rivalry of the Russian story, Victor McLaglen, Coast Guard Petty Officer of the Coast Guard, has a delightful time with Preston Foster, a roving coast guardsman with an eye for feminine beauty and the plot begins to thicken, building up to one crisis after another with fine dramatic effect.

Vividly realistic battles between McLaglen and Foster at sea and ashore, and lifelike incidents of Coast Guard work are woven into the story, and the brilliant performance of its cast make the picture a picture as it is exciting. McLaglen's portrayal is perhaps his best since the memorable "The Informer." Foster scores sharply as the devil-may-care seaman, and Rita Lupino is charming as the heroine, with Woods giving a finely sensitive depiction of Foster's pal. Helen Flint, Gordon Jones, Murray Alper, Billy Gilbert and Pierre Watkin stand out in the supporting cast.

Many of the scenes were filmed aboard on one of the sea-going cutters of the service, and the whole picture bears an unmistakable stamp of authenticity that adds greatly to its realism.

"Sea Devils," coming to the Belle tomorrow and Friday, matinee daily will prove itself thrilling screen entertainment.

Smart Show Tonight

Vina Delmar, author of the best-sellers, "Bad Girl," "The Marriage Racket," and other best-sellers of modern youth and its problems, brings a powerful provocative and highly entertaining story of family life to the screen in "Make Way for Tomorrow," so — starring Victor Moore and Beulah Bondi to be presented at the Belle tonight for the last times.

Coronation Films

The official Coronation films, not to be confused with the newsreels, are presented on the same program. Showing for the first time the entire ceremony, in Westminster Abbey. An interesting newsreel completes the program.

DAILY SHORT STORY

Prissy's Quest

By Helen St. Bernard

The Wednesday afternoon Ladies' Aid society at Midhill was crammed into silence. Eleven pairs of hitherto busy hands were idle. Eleven flannelette night gowns for the small inmates of the Orphans' asylum were forgotten. The textile member of the "Aid." Priscilla Pratt, was standing in the door, her hand on the knob, her round face flushed, her eyes shinning. In her other hand, she held some gaily colored, descriptive circulars, the covers of which bore a picture of a diminutive steamer.

"Think of it," and her voice was husky with emotion. "Four months of romance! Panama—Honolulu — Japan! Cherry blossom time in Japan! India—and the Taj Mahal by Egypt! The Nile and the Pyramids! Italy and Vesuvius—Venice! St. Marks and the pigeons! Monte Carlo and the Rock of Gibraltar! Mine . . . for . . . four . . . whole months!"

Prissy had read the literature of "The Golden Tour" thoroughly.

Mrs. Carruthers, the minister's wife was the first to speak.

"We are glad you had the money left you by your uncle, Prissy. You have worked so hard taking care of your folks. Getting along in years . . . and never having married, poor dear . . ."

The newly made heiress started to button on her coat, her eyes traveling from face to face. She spoke slowly and distinctly. Yes, all that! Getting along in years . . . never having married . . . and that is why I am going to spend part of the money Uncle Charlie left me . . . going around the world! I'm going to see things! Beauty, life! I mean to find that romance they talk about."

Priscilla Pratt, the staid demure little spinster of Midhill—going around the world!

"Prissy, you should change your mind, Prissy, you might take a nice little trip down to Pittsburgh. It's only a day's ride from here, and there are lots of theatres and parks and big stores . . ."

"I am going around—the world! You don't understand, none of you! I want romance! Something I have never had . . ."

John Blake, Midhill's carpenter, was a regular caller at Prissy's little cottage on Main Street. He lived across the apple orchard in the home he had built many years before, when he had first asked Prissy to marry him. John had always made things easy for Prissy. He had told her at that time, that he would wait —always.

Prissy had the circulars ready to show John when he came that night. His face was ruddy and red from the cold and he held his hands out to the stove.

"Winter has set in now, Prissy, and you'd better get in another ton of coal while Jeff has it. And I'd told Watkins to have you a few of his hubbard squash when he passes . . ."

Prissy was sitting very straight in her little rocking chair.

"I don't think . . . I'll need any more coal, John . . . nor any of the squash, although his squash are fine, I know."

John looked up quickly. "No?" he drawled.

"You have been a good friend, John . . . and I have thought, perhaps, some day I could repay you for all your kindness."

"It's been nothing, Prissy." John was embarrassed. "You remember what I told you twenty years back? You were ready to come to me . . . I'd be waitin'? I ain't changed, Prissy . . ."

"I know, John. Life has been hard for me . . . and I would have been harder if it hadn't been for you. I want you to know I'm grateful . . . for you, all my life I dreamed of romance . . . and beauty . . ."

John hitched his chair closer and leaned forward. His plaster has hard hand over hers. His voice was gentle: "Prissy, life is hard . . . if you have anyone to care for . . . or care for you, Hard . . . and lonely. And I love you just the same."

Prissy reached out for her serving that lay on the window seat. She dropped it over the gaily colored circulars by her lap and her hands were folded on top of it; idle, but as eleven pairs of hands had lain idle that afternoon on sewing, at the Aid society. She met John's kind grey eyes, and smiled. He smiled at her.

"I'll do my best to make you happy, Prissy. I'll try to bring all the beauty I can into your life. All the romance and the . . . happiness . . . that comes with love, Prissy dear. I'll love you . . . always."

She smiled at John and his hand tightened over hers.

"Do you suppose I could give you all the romance and happiness you have wanted all these years?" he asked gently. "Do you, Prissy? We might take a trip down to Pittsburgh for two or three days, but there's nowhere to get the ocean on his walls so he can move in and out . . ."

"Life wouldn't mean much if you don't have some one to love you . . ."

"Would you like to honeymoon at Niagara Falls, Prissy?"

"I have always wanted to go to Niagara, John, since I was a mite of a girl. Always!"

Prissy's head was against John's shoulder now. "And they say the blast furnaces light the sky up beautiful nights . . ."

RUMORED AS POSSIBLE SPANISH RULER

Archduke Otto of Hapsburg (right), pretender to the exiled Austrian throne, is being groomed for the Spanish throne by Premier Benito Mussolini in the event of the rebel forces should win, according to a spokesman close to ex-King Alfonso XIII. His consort on the throne, the spokesman said, would be Princess Maria of Savoy (left), 22-year-old youngest daughter of King Victor Emmanuel of Italy. The engagement of the young couple has many times been reported and denied.

BAIN'S ENTRY WINS HANDICAP

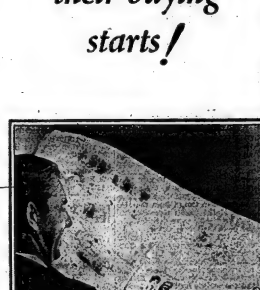
By The Canadian Press

Cease Fire, H. R. Bain's sturdy three-year-old, won Thorncliffe Park's closing feature race yesterday running away from the Parkwood stable's Silver Jubilee in a length victory in the $25,500 Prince of Wales plate. The winner was one of Worthmore outgoing Silver Jubilee in a two-horse struggle. Second to Goldfin in the King's Plate, Cease Fire kept ahead of Silver Jubilee from the start. H. C. Ralph's Gazer finished in shop position.

C. H. Hendrie's Alsadan flashed over the six furlong course to take a length and a half victory from Greenbush in the third event as expected nicely by the veteran Dude Fenton, the Hazelton owned colt finished with a burst of speed in the stretch run.



Wee Santan covered the route in 1:13 2-4.

J. E. Smallman's London stable took the last two races with Top Hitch, odds on favorite, winning the sixth and Ceallaigh, also the choice, banging up his second triumph of the meet in the finale. Top Hitch came home two lengths ahead of Goldfin while Ceallaigh beat Miss Cog to the barrier by a length.

Dean and Hubbell Hook Up At Polo Grounds in a Game Of Twin Bill Scheduled Today

Fans Will Be Out in Droves to See The Contest

CHICAGO TIES YANKS

White Sox Climb From Cellar to Top in a Month

By Jack Hand (Associated Press Sports Writer)

It's a press agent's dream, that double-header today the New York Giants and St. Louis Cardinals are scheduled to play at the Polo Grounds. If only a Dexter Fellowe had been let loose on it, Manhattan would have been plastered this morning with screaming posters, something like this:

"Big pocket demand—return engagement—the pitchers' battle of the century—Carl (Screwball) Hubbell vs. J. Herman (I ain't signin' nuthin') Dean."

For Joe Medwick man from Meeker, Okla., and the pop-off ex-cotton picker are slated to tangle in the game of this afternoon's bargain bill, a set-up brought about when yesterday's scheduled opening game of the series was rained out.

If anything, the build-up for this demand performance has been even better than the pitchers. Of course, Hubbell no longer is trying to extend that fabulous winning streak, as he is now on the short end that they met in St. Louis. Hubbell walked off with a 4-1 decision and Dean lost control of the ball game, his temper and a $50 fine.

The latter was the fine assessed by National League prexy Ford Frick on Dean's behalf for injecting a minor riot. Jimmy Ripple, the Giants' outfielder, suffered similar punishment as the principal party of the second part.

On top of that much precedent, however, there also is Dean's recent run-in with Frick, in which the latter came out second-best as Dizzy stuck to his "sign-nuthin'" principles, to lend gladness to this occasion.

Jerome Herman's reception by New York fans, who haven't seen him since the two Dean-propelled disturbances, promises vital, and interesting, part of the picture.

The prospect of the Dean Hubbell clash cast the events of yesterday into the shade, even the facts that the Chicago White Sox ran their winning streak to ten straight to the the Yankees for the American League lead, and that the Pirates cut their lead-sitting start at five to more to behind the Giants and ahead of the rained-out Cubs.

From Cellar to Top

The Sox now have completed a climb from the cellar, that began May 8 and required exactly a month. The final victory was Chalo's 4-1 triumph of the Yanks yesterday, accomplished despite Joe Dimaggio's ninth homer and Lefty Gomez' two days and Lou Gehrig's eighth.

The Pirates, on Russ Bauers' six-hit pitching, routed the Phils, 8-1, Lefty Lee Grissom, with a 3-1 batting mate, handed the Reds a whip, in the American League. Hank Greenberg's 16th homer and Eddie Aukers one-hit hurling stopped the A's 8-0, and the Red Sox piled up eight runs in the ninth to edge out the Indians, 10-8.

The Browns and Senators were rained out.

KI-Y SOFTBALL

The West End Midgets won the "B" section of the Belleville Ki-Y midget softball group by virtue of their 24 to 10 victory over the Tigers last evening. The West End kids now await the play-offs between themselves as winners of the "B" group, and the ultimate winners of the "A" section for the midget softball championship of the city.

The big bats of the West Enders sounded lustily last evening as the West hill lads counted nine runs in the initial frame and kept adding to their numbers until they rolled a total of 24 runs, while the Tigers were limited to ten counters. Symons was on the mound for the winners, hurling steady ball and was given fine support by his team mates. Herrington the Tiger moundsman, was touched frequently for extra bases.

The line-up: West End—Leadabeer, Symons, J. Reid, Ingram, Salisbury, Mercredy, R. Reid, Smith and Cunningham. — Tigers —Quinn, Herrington, Garnett, Potts, Aylesworth, Keller, Bly, and Claus.

Score by innings:

West End ..... 903 760—24 runs
Tigers ..... 431 021—10 "

Batteries—West End—Symons and Salisbury. Tigers—Herrington and Quinn.

The only other game played in the Ki-Y league last night saw the

The prince is the son of the new premier of Japan. He is a member of the junior class at the university and a member of the Key and Seal club.

Junior Yemen moved up in their league standing by virtue of a 14-10 victory over the Husky Rangers. A Seven run spurge in the latter part of the game put the "y" kids come from behind to win. The Point Anne Terriers game to the bantam section was not played as scheduled. The umpires, for the game, are Lee the Ex-Y'amen win were High and Semark.

Sports Roundup

(By Eddie Brietz
Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, June 9—(AP)—Agony hasn't been the order of the day in eight starts has the front office baseball society ... its Current Report beginning to ask questions!) ...is has given the old heave-ho to all remaining exhibition games hoping that will shake the jinx... Business manager Barrow points out both of this season's disastrous western trips followed bursts into the spring—one in month ago the Yanks visited Cleveland, Detroit and Chicago—five out of nine league games ... last week they stopped off in Akron and you all know what Dayton done since...

Inside dope: Leo Diegal, four-time winner of the Canadian Open, told the props his elbows on the counter and his left foot on the brass rail and gives you the low-down on this week's National Open... A new type (of golf shoe)—a high floating iron—will be needed to win, he says ...and lists Ralph Guldahl and Ed Dudley as the finest exponents of this particular kind of shoe ... Guldahl will cover any bet that 290 is broken ... looks more like a 302 or tournament to me ... most of the golf men pick Harry Cooper on form.

Cauliflower alley: If Maxie Baer will be a good boy and come on home and fight Bob Pastor, Madison Square Garden will drop its Breach of Contract suit ... Huey Welch, the Texas promoter, will town today to offer Lou Ambers $25,000 to defend his lightweight title against Henry Armstrong at Wrigley Field in July ... Ambers will take or reject the offer when he gets the next report on his 'injured hand ..... a boxer named Will Feel. Ain't kidding! was released by the New York Commissions yesterday.

Bottom of the barrel: The second heat of Dean vs. Hubbell is scheduled in today's double header ... Lucky Lee Ostler's little black book has Joe Louis an odds on 2-1 favorite to trim Jim Braddock ... of which we aim to take a little slice ... Mrs. Marion Turpin, the feminine angler, says sport-or golf begins at 30.

NEWARK BEARS HURTLING ALONG IN LEAGUE RACE

Steven Sundra, Orioles With Five Hits

ROYALS KEEP PACE

Although Outhit Manage to Defeat Rochester

5-2

When a team like the Newark Bears of today comes steaming along to run wild through the opposition, International League magnates begin shaking hands all around that the Shaughnessy playoff plan is in effect.

While none of the moguls have given up hope for the championship the red-hot play of the Bears has put wide gaps between them and the field. Bruins were seven games in front of the second place Montreal Royals today who in turn were one-and-a-half more in the van of Buffalo Bisons. From there on, however, the field trailed from the 11½ games of the fourth place Toronto Leafs to the 21 game deficit of the last place Baltimore Orioles.

But the hope the play-off system holds out—four places in the Governors' Cup series—is the right to meet the American Association playoff winners in the Little World Series—perhaps the turnstiles clicking and the players hustling.

Bears Hurdling Along.

Bears who are hurtling along at a better than .750 pace, were in top form last night as they trounced the Orioles 6-0. Steven Sundra, the eighth-handed strikeout artist, proved that a revamped Baltimore batting order wasn't very effective. He allowed only five hits and fanned ten batters, reaching the peak of his form in the sixth inning.

With two on and none out, the Yankee farmhand whiffed Les Powers, "Frosch" Funzinelli and Joe Wright, the heart of the Orioles' attack, in succession.

The league-leaders' attack was well taken care of by George McQuinn and Bob Seeds who belted for the circuit with a man on in each case. The Bears had a setback however, as their two catchers, Rudy Rosar and Bill Hershberger, suffered split fingers.

Montreal Wins.

Outhit for the second straight day by Rochester Montreal's band of opportunists came through with a 3-2 win over the Red Wings. Three Red errors proved costly as the Royals made only seven hits to their opponents' twelve.

Two Montreal runs were scored in the second on a double, triple and Cuccinello's error. What proved to be the winning run was made in the sixth on misplays by Roettger and Stungy.

The Syracuse-Jersey City game was postponed because of rain and Buffalo-Toronto contest on account of wet grounds.

MANY ENTRIES IN GOLD CUP RACE

Best Drivers in The World to be Present at Picton

Holders of the World Championship Speed Boat records will compete in the Gold Cup races which will highlight the Picton Centenary and Prince Edward County Old Boys' Reunion Celebration to be staged in the Prince Edward County town from June 30th to July 5th. The regatta being staged on June 30th and July 1st, by the Prince Edward Yacht Club is the first regatta ever held by the Canadian Yacht Club that has been sanctioned by the American Power Association, the World's foremost organization of this type. The 225 class race for the $750.00 Prince Edward Gold Cup will be the feature event but the outboards will also give keen competition. A score of the best American drivers have entered these events. World's records may be established at Picton.

The Celebration however, is not confined to the regatta. Horse races, historical parades, lacrosse and baseball matches and all the minor trimmings necessary for a successful celebration have places on the wide and varied program.

TORONTO BANTAM LOSES DECISION

Baby Yack Defeated by Angelo Callura And Fans Disappoint

Hamilton, Ont., June 9 (CP) — Hamilton's Jackie Callura, 126 pounds of fighting dynamite, put forward a bid for the Canadian featherweight boxing championship today.

Callura administered a 10-round beating in the ruin here last night to Baby Yack of Toronto, undefeated tilist who entered the ring after a two-year lay-off. Callura tossed in his claim against the ruling of the Canadian Boxing Federation that officially awarded the title to Montreal's Frankie Martin last month.

Martin, also featherweight champion, got the official nod from the Commission when he defeated Young Leirun at Sherbrooke, Que., May 29. But as far as Callura and Cook were concerned, last night's bout was the one for featherweight championship, which the young Hamilton boxer won in convincing style.

There was little doubt of the outcome after a cautious first round. Before 2,000 of the faithful who sat through rain showers to view a snappy bill of fights, Callura set the pace with power in both hands and cleverness in the art of self-defence. Yack showed the effects of his long layoff.

A few customers enlivened the program after the semi-final bout in which Angelo Callura, Hamilton, was awarded a close decision over Baby Yack, Toronto, after leaving a bruising rounds. About twenty fans from a Toronto contingent staged a free-for-all at the ringside following the decision. The crowd soon disappeared.

Yack is to fight Martin, a Montrealer, at Montreal next Monday night with Martin's bantamweight title at stake. The decision was a tough blow to his hopes.

In both the main bout and semi-final wee Callura made the footing bad for the fighters.

In order that track and field athletes of the Belleville Collegiate may specialize in whatever line of their endeavours they are best qualified, the system of the B.C.I. annual field day may be changed another year. Athletic Instructor George Laughlin intimated at the annual commencement exercises of the B.C.I. & V.S. yesterday. Years ago in the larger centres the old system of declaring school champions after field day events has long since been displaced and the more satisfactory method of giving awards for athletes breaking individual school records in track and field events adopted. Mr. Laughlin announced he would propose this more up-to-date system be adopted by the B.C.I. next season, dispensing with the school championships in the senior and intermediate groups.

The system of awarding prizes or points to the aathletes breaking school records enables the contesting athletes to specialize in one or two events. For instance a good sprinter would only compete in the dashes, while a distance runner would not train for field events, confining his activities to the field of athletics in which he is most skilled. A boy who has proven he is being a good pole vaulter would naturally receive all of his training upon securing a height standard in pole vaulting and so on down the list of events. Instead of being a jack of all trades as the athletes are now, the boys would have an opportunity to develop into perhaps a master in one particular line.

Personally we believe the proposed move to be an excellent one, one that will undoubtedly result in higher standards being attained by the contesting athletes in our College. Track and field events are advancing with rapidity in the eyes of Belleville youths and this system of awarding of athletes should be encouraged to a more marked degree than is the case at present. With the B.C.I. & V.S. St. Michael's Academy and the C.B.C. all holding track and field events the day should not be far off when a circle field day would be in order in this city. There is no better training or finer sporting events in existence than track and field competition.

The promoters of wrestling at the Belleville Arena feel they have accomplished something in the signing of the light heavies for to-night's professional bouts. Fans will recall with pleasure the exciting bouts staged some years ago in the Armouries by the lightweights and according to advance sales the show here faces sizzled for tonight's card are equally as good and better than the Black Panther, Danny Mc-Donald and Steve Wolf bouts. Besides two preliminary bouts of the lighter-weight lads, the promoters have an ultra-heavyweight bout that carries a championship air when Al Dunlop wrestles John Katan for the main fixture. The winner is declared going to challenge Earl McCready for the Canadian title.

Everything is tranquil in Kingston baseball circles now, the Pontiacs managed to get their three boys ported passed by the O.B.A.A. Jimmy Pozykowski (you pronounced it, we give up) their new hurler St. Lawrence's star basketeer U.S.A., Johnnie Goodfellow and Jack Sykes, former Wolfe Island players, were given a clean slate. Pinkie Clark, former Bell Telephone infielder of Toronto, was passed for Peterboro, but Oshawa got him out on Mitchell, Cobourg catcher.

The burning question of the hour is what is really behind the postponement of the Peterborough Belleville Central Lacrosse League game of last night? President Harry Moore, of the C.O.L.L. called the game off although Fred Delaney, president of the local gridiron-court artists, says his squad was ready to take over the box score. Moore says "We have been negotiating an amalgamation with the R.C.A.F. and I believe that our two clubs would have joined forces last night had the plans been played." Trenton as previously arranged," stated Mr. Delaney this morning. What the local lacrosse club lacks in power, it has a host of fans ready to play their rooms. Reliable information has it that in the effort to effect an amalgamation with the "Flyers" is being sought by both parties concerned and if successful that the R.C.A.F. interests can procure the services of Bombardier Joe Wiley to play their games. In the meantime Peterboro seems to be the only club ready and willing to fulfill its part of the league schedule.

Congratulations to the West End winners of the "B" section of the midget Ki-Y softball league, their last night's victory clinched these honors.

In the role of relief hurler Vinny Uteroki struck out four Thorold batters in the last two innings at St. Catharines on Saturday as the "Saints" won another. Incidentally Uteroki retired the side in the eighth and ninth in order.

Jimmy Dykes' Chicago White Sox tacked up their tenth consecutive victory in the American League by winning 5-4 over the Yankees yesterday. The win elevates the "Pale Hose" into a tie with the league-leading Riflemen, which is something of a surprise to many. Dykes' school champions after field day is getting what a winning team needs mostly, good pitching and hitting simultaneously.

Trailing for three periods, the Cobourg lacrosse team staged a gruelling finish to score four goals in the final chukker and defeat the Oshawa gutted-stick squad 7 to 4 the other night at Cobourg.

Tommy Fillingham, graduate of the Picton Blue Sox, was recently awarded a certificate to play with Meaford. How those boys do get along, with "Shorty" Phillips in centre field and "Warpy" Phillips, both formerly of Picton, having moved back to Meaford again.

EUROPEAN RULERS MIND P'S AND Q.S

Crowned Heads And Dictators Mostly Temperate in Their Drinking

London, June 9—(CP)—Ruling Europe is a sober business. To keep pace with the job, the heads of most of the states keep away from alcohol or imbibe very little.

King George is an illustration. He is not a teetotaler—but he is ruled by the most abstemious of all modern British Kings.

Adolph Hitler, German's dictator, drinks no liquor at all. He made his famous putsch from a beer hall, but when he has that tired feeling he calls for tea or a glass of milk.

Joseph Stalin, Russia's iron man, is almost as stern. He unbends sometimes for a sip of wine from his native state, and on occasions as state affairs drinks vodka or cognac, but strong drink is reported forbidden in his modest house in the Kremlin.

Premier Mussolini of Italy—or a careful diet since he suffered from stomach ulcers some years ago — drinks Tuscany wines but only at meals. The server uses hard liquor, and he tells his soldiers: "He who drinks not at all is a sheep; he who drinks too much is an ass."

Holland's Queen Wilhelmina changes from tea to coffee and from coffee to tea. Wine is served only when there are guests. She may sip port at social functions, but she never touches her country's famous gin.

King Gustav of Sweden would be playing tennis at 73 were he not sparing in both food and drink. Sure, he takes a glass of special bordeaux at dinner, and perhaps a small cognac with his coffee.

Wine, usually Greek varieties, is served regularly at the palace of King George of Greece. But the King is said to be indifferent to alcoholic beverage. He likes tea.

An exception to the rule is the dictator of Turkey, Kemal Ataturk. He doesn't drink while working, but when he lays the cares of state aside he likes to get together with his cronies over Yaki', Turkey's national liquor. It's made of pure raisins and is vetted especially for him. Kemal also drinks whisky and champagne along with his guests at banquets.

A climber is not complete to Leopold of the Belgians without wine. His cellar is rated unusually fine. He learned to make a stronger liquor on his frequent visits to Sweden, and he always downs the rather strong "gueuze" or Brussels beer, when he is a guest of Belgian sports societies.

Trenton and District

Trenton, June 9 (Special)—At a special meeting held on the first reading of a by-law ordering Trenton's four hotels, the Gilbert House, Royal, St. James and the Quinte, to close their bar parlours at 11 p.m. one hour earlier than at present was sanctioned by the Mayor and Councillors. The adjustment in the closing time comes into effect on July 1.

Commanding Officer

It was announced last week that Squadron Leader R. B. Grandy, at present stationed at Winnipeg will assume the Commanding Officers position of the Air Navigation and Sea Plane School at the R.C.A.F. base here. Squadron Leader Grandy was attached to the Trenton Air Station in 1935 and was transferred to Winnipeg that year. Mrs. Grandy and her four children will accompany her husband to Trenton.

Friday's Court

Fournier Van and Storage Company were fined $23.75 including costs for allowing a trailer to be overloaded on highway No. 2, to the extent of approximately one ton. P.C. J. Whitty, officer in charge of the investigation gave evidence for the Crown.

A case of harbouring a dog without a license was dismissed against Edward Bazset, local resident. I gave the dog away two years ago but it keeps coming back to my house at regular intervals was Bazzet's testimony in proving his innocence.

Lost in the Arctic

Experiences of being lost in the North West Territories for four weeks with a limited supply of food and tobacco in the late summer are related by Flight Lieut. S. W. Coleman, Adjutant at the R.C.A.F. Station here to the members of the local branch of the Canadian Legion at their regular meeting. Officer Coleman and his mechanic, L. A. C. Purdy were forced down beside the Arctic Circle, when their aeroplane was thrown off its course by a faulty compass. They snooshed their flies and the freezing air of the northern wilderness. When their food rations became low they were compelled to eat squirrels. Having loaned their fire to a friend it was impossible for them to kill caribou, which were plentiful at that time of season.

Finally their tobacco supply ran out and to satisfy their habit they had to smoke pins bark. One morning a month after they were forced down a commercial plane piloted by Matt Barry located the two stranded air force men. Returning to civilization Flight Lieut. Coleman learned that nine air crafts, six R.C.A.F. machines and three commercial models, had been searching the district for him and his mechanic. Flight Lieut. Ray was in charge of the hunt and combatted with unthought of condition before he was rewarded. The speaker was introduced by L. D. Porter, past president of the Legion and F. Sprague moved a hearty vote of thanks to the speaker.

Lilac Tea

Hixon, during the afternoon Mrs. Mackenzie, Mrs. W. S. Powers, Mrs. W. Bain, poured tea. Women assisting were Mrs. Wm. Jones, Mrs. W. Miller, Mrs. Weaver, Mrs. Porter. The home cooking table was in charge of Mrs. Clarke and Mrs. Meyers, with Mrs. S. Hair and Mrs. Galbraith assisting; candy table, Mrs. D. MacDonald; apron, Mrs. Larry; flower table, Mrs. W. B. Wilson and Mrs. W. B. McClung. Following tea a musical programme was given. It was conducted by Mrs. Wilkins, church organist. Taking part in the programme were; piano solos, Ruth Dixon, Shirley Dixon, Margaret Jean McClung, Catherine Miller, Dorothy Barker, Alice Wilkins, Janet Miller, Peter Smith; piano duets, Mrs. I. Calma and Miss Dorothy Calma, Jean and shirnlee Alyea and Peter Smith, Shirley Keitel and Marion Bellwood solo, Miss Nora MacLellan.

Children of Mary Tea

In the auditorium of St. Peter's Catholic School, Children of Mary's Society held their annual tea and sale. The delightful function attracted a large number and the hall was gaily decorated for the occasion. Kathleen Dadswell, president of the association and Zeta Collier, vice president, received the guests. Women pouring tea were Mrs. Cola, Mrs. M. Breen; Mrs. O. Fortune, Mrs G. Robinson. Assisting were; Ann Dunkley, Helen Shoniker, Mary Hafley, Eileen Pilon, Mary K. MacAuley, Dorothy Mary Dadswell, K. Couture, vice president, received Kenwood blanket was won by Mrs. Dobson who held the lucky draw ticket.

Three Injured

Three persons were injured and two escaped, when two cars collided at Sweetman's Service Station on highway No. 2 beast three miles west of here. Police reported a car operated by George Roberts, Fairhaven, Mass., turning into the filling station was struck in the rear by an auto driven by John Goodwin, Trenton. Beatrice Pomfret, riding in the American machine was thrown from it and received painful leg and arm injuries while Mrs. LaFrance and her daughter, Mabel were shaken and bruised in the Goodwin auto. Drivers were unhurt. The cars were damaged negligerably.

WALL STREET CLOSE

New York, June 9 (AP)—Widening of strike areas cast a blanket over a quiet and uneven stock market today.

Except for specialties and shipbuilding issues, which displayed modest gains on the upside, prices drifted fractions to a point or so lower.

With Wall Street watching attempts to settle the power strike in the Tennessee Valley of Michigan, trading came frequently to a complete standstill during the afternoon.

Trading was at the rate of about 750,000 shares for the full session.

Board Room Gossip

As supplied to Biggar and Crawford by Financial Services

MARKET COMMENT

Sisco Ceiling Splendid Results

Gossip has it that drilling from Sisco Gold is advanced toward the West Sisco properties. Several new diamond drill holes have been completed and are reported to have shown good commercial ore, with best values obtained averaging $14.03 over six feet six inches.

The press has finally come to the conclusion that the "gold scare" is passing, this despite the fact that President Roosevelt at all times was on record with the statement that they were not afraid of a change in the gold price. It would seem as if the press itself created the so-called "gold scare" and is now endeavouring to make it disappear.

Everyone who could handle a typewriter sat down and gave his views on the gold question. Writers of every description set forth their views and the result was that the public became "gold conscious" to a degree that the Financial Services maintained an attitude that there was no likelihood of a reduction in the price of gold.

Now that some of the nervousness has been dissipated and with the gold scare disappearing, it becomes evident that many bargains abound in the list, this being true of many of the senior and junior gold producers. Taking this group we are very attractive and appreciation possibilities also exist.

Produce Prices on Montreal Market

Montreal, June 9—While the Canadian Commodity Exchange will be closed for the King's birthday, trading will be carried on almost as usual on the local produce markets today, at least until the afternoon, when some may declare a part holiday. The regular weekly auction will be held at 11:30 noon today at the Board of Trade when both butter and cheese will be offered to the highest bidder.

The butter market was a little firmer yesterday. Three butter futures, November, June and July, sold at the Canadian Commodity Exchange at 28 1-2c.

On the open market the general asking price was 24 1-4c, with a range of 24c to 24 1-4c, first. Small lots to the retail trade were quoted by jobbers at 25c for solids and 25 1-2c for prints.

Receipts were 2,032 cases of eggs, 2,278 boxes of cheese and 1,706 boxes of cheese excluding truck arrivals.

The egg market was quiet with graded shipments in used free cases being spot at 21 1-2c to 22c for A-large, 19c for A-medium or B, and 16c for C. Offerings at the Commodity Exchange were at 21c for A-large, 19c for A-medium and 16c for B-grade.

Previous close on contract basis hogs $8.85 to $9.

Heavy steers were at $12.50, calfmostly at $9. Good light ewes sold up to $3.50 with culls at $1.50.

CLAIMS CHURCH SECULAR POWER

Paper Demands Germans Choose Between Hitler And Pope

Berlin, June 9.—(AP)—Official organ of Chancellor Hitler's picked Nazi Guard, Staffel Corvette called on Pope Pius today to come to Germany and find out the facts in the breach between the Catholic Church and the Nazi Government.

The paper's article followed an official press demand that Germans choose between Hitler and the Vatican.

"We must now demand one single decision," the Government-controlled Weltdienst-Berichter at Berne said editorially—"Are you willing to obey Adolf Hitler more than a foreign potentate with only long ago became a secular power? That is quite evident in Rome that there is a religious leadership but a purely secular centre of power, fighting by means of the most unscrupulous methods. Therefore we must call upon the Pope to come to Germany "and convince himself with his own eyes on conditions here and decide after that who tells the truth and who does not."

It is said the offensive was intended to estrangement of relations between Berlin and the Vatican as parade mediating in Polish Catholic by monks and nuns to smuggle money out of the country and immorality.

ROWE CRITICIZES PREMIER'S ACTION

Conservative Leader Says His Policy Recognition Labor's Rights

Barrie, Ont., June 9 (CP)—Premier Mitchell Hepburn is antagonizing at the roots of civil liberty by his attempts to destroy Conservative leader.

In an address to the Barrie Women's Liberal-Conservative Association last night, Mr. Rowe charged the Premier was trying to "frighten" the people of Ontario by his address on the conference for industrial organization, United States labor leader, Toronto.

He added that while Mr. Hepburn had made a "noisy condemnation" of the C.I.O. he had "done more or less taken the position that the labor man must join the union he selects for him." the Conservative party policy was a clear recognition of labor's rights.

"I believe the labor man has the right to select the union of his choice, but we believe this unionshould be selected by the secret ballot" Mr. Rowe said. "After this we will trust the working man to be loyal to his country."

The party leader said he hoped the people would not be stampeded by the vile, vicious efforts of the (Toronto) Globe and Mail which is Hepburn's handmaiden." The newspaper, he said, "is not only out to destroy the Conservative party but me, as leader, because I wouldn't subscribe to their ideas."

"Heil Hitler!"

Higher-ups flabbergasted.

Hitler's order was flabbergasted. There is a rule that impending Hitler visits in Germany must be kept secret.

In the propaganda ministry's daily conference with German newspapermen in Berlin, the Marienwerder story was cited as having grossly violated the journalistic ethics of the third Reich. One story has it the editor was put in a concentration camp for a few days to think over his folly.

Foreign correspondents, despite Hitler's public statement six months ago "the time for so-called surprises is now ended," remembered Saturday that it was by way of developing big news in Germany.

The theory of foreign observers was the Nazi regime might be planning some unusual act with reference to Danzig, fifty miles from Marienwerder.

Danzig does have about a two-thirds majority in the Free City's parliament. Hitler's Nazis and their satellites have made their peace with the regime and several Socialists have deserted their camp and gone over to the Nazis.

Plan Active Campaign To Eradicate Weeds

35 Meetings Are Held in Ontario to Plan Weed Control

CAUSE OF BIG LOSS

Soil Robbed of Plant Food —Increases Cost Farm Operation

Reeves, Councillors, Road Superintendents, Weed Inspectors and others interested in the welfare of the County gathered in Shire Hall for the purpose of planning the 1937 campaign for the control of weeds.

Thirty-five such county meetings are being held in the Province. Meetings in Eastern and Western Ontario are being held simultaneously.

If the interest and enthusiasm which was shown at this meeting is representative of public opinion throughout the Province, a decided improvement in the weed situation may be expected during 1937.

Following the appointment of Jos. Wilson, as chairman, discussed the Weed Control Act and its administration.

It was pointed out that the main purpose of the Act was to form a basis whereby everyone might cooperate in controlling weeds. Ratepayers with well cared for farms, lawns and gardens must be protected, rather than penalized. Duties of the Weed Inspector being to see that they receive this protection.

The main cause or body of the Act was to control Perennial weeds. The Crops, Seeds and Weeds Branch through the District Inspectors will act in a supervisory capacity and will be available to give information on any phase of our work and also to direct Weed Inspectors in any difficult problems which they may have.

Methods of Prevention

In discussing weeds and weed control, H. J. McLeod, Guelph, said the losses due to weeds by way of decreased yields; robbing soil of plant food and moisture; increasing the cost of every farm operation; lowering the market value of crops and value of farms,etc. This annual loss amounts to millions of dollars each year in Ontario, stated the speaker. He also emphasized the importance of sowing clean seed, and following a thorough cultivation, a short rotation of clean crops, hoeing, mowing, clovers, smother crops, the use of chemicals, cropping, pasturing, hoed crops, summer fallowing, after harvest cultivation and the disposal of weed seeds, all of which are important factors in weed control.

Weed Inspectors were instructed to make a thorough job of cleaning up, to endeavour in every possible way to create interest in the work and to secure the co-operation of everyone, by good judgment when discharging their duties and that the Act was to be found necessary to enforce the Act.

Municipal councils are appointed by the Minister to safeguard their interests. Profitable crops can not be grown when weeds are present. Weedy farms mean lower yields, less revenue for the grower and unpaid taxes. Municipal councils can not evade their responsibility with regard to the control of weeds. It will pay them in dollars and cents to adopt a weed control policy and to enforce it vigorously, stated the speaker. Good Weed Inspectors must be appointed. These must be well paid and supported in their work.

The part which the Road Superintendent plays in the control of weeds was also emphasized. Roads are public property, owned by the municipality, he municipal council are administering the Act and should first clean up their own property therefore setting a good example to the ratepayers and thus make their work of the Weed Inspector much easier. The destruction of weeds on roadsides if road maintenance and the road authority is responsible for seeing that the work is done before seeds mature. He must have the support of his council in this work.

Co-operation Required

The Weed Control Act itself will not control a single weed. It was stated. Any work done must be the result of definite human action. The co-operation of every ratepayer is necessary. Pressure brought to bear on the Municipal Council by the ratepayers will enable the Council to take action. Knowing that they have the support of the public in this important work of weed control, the council will be in a position to adopt a vigorous clean up campaign and the work of the Council, Road Superintendent and Weed Inspector will be much more pleasant.

Weeds within the corporate limits of cities, towns and villages are a disgrace to the municipality.

The importance of the tourist industry in Ontario was emphasized. Approximately $100,000,000 was spent in Ontario by tourists last year. To clean, attractive municipality will be an inducement for tourists to prolong their visit and to return. In this connection a reader's reprint reasonably free from weeds is of equal importance.

Municipal councils who are largeing in their work will be visited by District Inspectors and their reports will be brought to bear if necessary in order to bring them up to the standard set by the Act.

"THE BRIGHT HILL"

by Clarissa Fairchild Cushman

He lost no time calling her hotel; but she was out. He called up Mary Alice's; she had just left. He called the hotel again; she hadn't come in. After fifteen minutes he called the hotel again. Still unchecked out. He swore softly to himself. Fool that he had been not to leave a call. He could see her, feet twisted under her chair, eating somewhere—with company, no doubt this great city she was so much lost to him and she had done it intentionally. He looked up the trains to Amberley. Surely she wouldn't take the night-ten, and arrive at four-thirty in the morning? But what might. He would best go to the train, for fear he would miss her. And what, he asked himself, was he going to the train for? Oh yes,—to persuade her to stay over a day.

She wasn't on the eight-ten; so he hung about for the eleven-twenty. Yes—there she came at last, walking quite jauntily in a swagger suit of deep brown with pale gold—en mink about her face; a new suit that had cost the extravagant little hussy a pretty penny, if he, Gregory, knew his New York. Jaunty, yes, that's what she was.

He strode down upon her, but she did not see him until he was speaking to her. Then she stopped dead, and her eyes widened with honest astonishment.

"Why—it's you!"

"Kerin," said Gregory, "that's the nicest greeting in the world. When you say it, it almost makes me believe that I am, to you, a real person, and not just a shadow, as I sometimes think. On the other hand, the way you say it makes me wonder, since you are always so surprised to see me, if you ever think of me in between times. Kerin—don't answer. Leave me my illusion that I am important to you."

The dimple was playing in and out of the soft chin. "Then I'll have to say nothing," she said.

He looked at her. She certainly had no look of the feckless and deserted wife about her. "A new hat," he said. "Very becoming, too and a new suit—"

"And a new coiffure by Henri and a whole new wardrobe. A new evening dress—"

"Black? Slinky? Backless?"

"White, blue—while—very demure."

"Allne will be heartbroken. Kerin I've been here all evening to head you off. Get over and tomorrow we'll go on a lark."

"On a lark? On Sunday—in New York? Even the respectabilities of New Hampshire are more exciting on Sunday—than New York."

"There's the museums and Coney Island. Kerin, I'm desolated. What did you do this evening?"

The dimple flashed. Her eyes looked mischievous, even naughty, under the brim of her new hat. "Went to the movies of course," she said. "Donald calls love-stuff. Are you terribly disappointed in me? But I love the movies, and up in our town—after all, I'm the dean of women."

"Stay over. We'll go to the movies all day."

She shook her head, her eyes dancing. "You keep forgetting I am the dean of women, Mercy! What a stern sir I would have to assume if I discovered one of my girls had come down to New York and was running around—running around in the daytime—she hadn't come in. After fifteen minutes he called the hotel again. Still unchecked out. He swore softly to himself. Fool that he had been not to leave a call. People are saying that as long as he one calls on "the bride and groom" no one needs recognize her on the street, or even have heard of his having married again. Which is a joke, with the whole campus simpering and the men all saying that if Carl Kingsbury could show such bad taste, such bad judgment, is he, perhaps, after all, quite, quite, the infallible and brilliant genius they had all thought him? The clay feet, Kerin. The clay feet. I wish to heaven Alan would tell everybody what he knows and how he feels, but you know Alan. He fought Carl single-handed for you, and now the world's against Carl he's mum as a clam. Good-by, hon. I wish you'd come back here and I'll throw a great party and you wear your swankiest dress and you can give Annie Beardsley the cold shoulder.

The letter, the clipping, threw Kerin into a kind of rage. She sprang from her chair and roamed her quiet room, restless and confused. People were cruel. People liked to be cruel. It must be that deep down inside, every one was a sadist. It was stupidity that made them cruel. If they understood about Carl, they would not treat him so. There was nothing secretive about Carl; that was what they didn't understand. Carl hadn't really hurt her; he hadn't taken Donald; Carl had simply wanted to be free. He had seen that she was better off this way, and that was best. He hadn't counted on the smallness of public opinion that would see, in his straightforward acting after what he wanted without chicanery, something to snicker at, to deplore.

INSTALLMENT 29

Carl had blundered. It was the same blunder he always made: he held in contempt, in derision, as compromise and a concession of weakness, the knuckling under, as he called it, to public opinion. His mind and his work, in those things the public had a right to judge him; but his personal relations were no one's business, nor were they, comparatively speaking, of importance. It was a mistake. The whole of his was a single pattern; it was right that we should be judged on the whole.

Kerin traversed the room, touching with unfeeling fingers, seeing with unseeing eyes, the kindly comfort of her house. If she could only, even now, make Carl understand; if once, just once, he would listen to her! She felt, more nearly than she had ever before in her life, full of the disturbing necessity, to make Carl listen to her. She could see so clearly, now, just what it was she wanted to say to him. She wanted to make him see that it was only himself he was hurting—not any one else. Of what use was it to defy the community? They didn't care. They were more jealous than not, even his colleagues because he is a genius. His mind and his work, in those things ning to stumble. He had stumbled, seriously, and she, Kerin, had not been able to save him.

She paused, looking unseeingly at the great red knight, caught for half a thousand years in his immobile ferocity, his horse for another half a thousand years to come rearing to resist the shock of the enemy. What was time or space that could say that she was separated from Carl, when her heart ached for him? What were red seals than she had ever before in her life, felt, the disturbing necessity, to make Carl listen to her. She could see so clearly, now, just what it was she wanted to say to him. She wanted to make him see that it was only himself he was hurting—not any one else. Of what use was it to defy the community? They didn't care. They were more jealous than not, even his colleagues because he is a genius. His mind and his work, in those things now. He had missed something in her. Had now, in his blundering, it was she, Kerin, who understood, who cared. It was she who knew

Kerin went to her office beaten in mind and body. Carl pressed upon her heart, upon her mind. His hand had not stretched out, he had laid not one finger upon her to claim her loyalty; but ten years had done it, ten years of marriage, summer and winter, summer and winter, succeeding each other ten times.

that inner Carl who could be great, who was nevertheless given so unfortunately to being his own worst enemy. Annie Beardsley was nobody. Nobody? She was his wife. Kerin was not. The law, the immovable stupid law which Carl had himself invoked, had spoken,

TARZAN'S QUEST

(Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service)

RANKINE LEADS FIELD TO CAPTURE DISTANCE RACE IN U. S.

One of Canada's outstanding distance runners, Jack "Scotty" Rankine has again distinguished himself by capturing the United States 20-kilometre championship at Canton, New York. Rankine, who comes from Preston, Ont., has represented the Dominion at two Olympic games and won the American 15-kilometre title in 1935 and 1936. He has also captured numerous titles in Canada during the 10 years he has been running in distance races. In the above layout, Rankine is pictured competing in a couple of marathons. The photo at top left shows him winning a marathon while the photo alongside it shows Bob being assisted off the course after collapsing during the race. The inset picture is a close-up of running "Scotty."

WAR ADMIRAL LEADS FIELD TO VICTORY IN BELMONT STAKES

The horses are shown coming into the first turn during the 69th renewal of the $65,000 added Belmont stakes at Belmont Park, L.I. At this point, War Admiral who finished first is leading. Flying Scot is running second and Somershifter is in third position. War Admiral joined the immortals of the turf—Sir Barton, Gallant Fox and Omaha—by winning this race, one of the three great stake races of a single season. The other two classics which War Admiral won were the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness. The Admiral also set a new record for the Belmont stakes, his time being 2 minutes, 28 3-5 seconds, displacing the old record of Man o' War by a fifth of a second.

DUST FLIES AS WHITEHEAD SLIDES INTO HOME PLATE SAFELY FOR GIANTS

The dust certainly flies when the boys in the diamond game start sliding for the base. Here we see Burgess Whitehead, peppery infielder of the New York Giants, pictured as he is scoring on Chiomis's hit in the second inning of the first game of a double-header with the Chicago Cubs at New York. Umpire Parker called Whitehead safe, as the ball plunked into the mitt of Catcher Hartnett of the Cubs.

SIR ROBT. BORDEN, WAR TIME PREMIER, DEAD

Great Canadian Figure Head of Union Gov't In Trying War Period

Outstanding Figure in Political And Financial Life.

83 ON JUNE 26

Noble And Gracious Personality Endeared Him to all Classes

Ottawa, June 10.—(CP)—Sir Robert Laird Borden, distinguished statesman and Prime Minister of Canada throughout the Great War, died at 7.30 a.m. today. He would have been 83 years old June 26.

Bedridden for more than a month when he suffered a heart attack, Sir Robert made a gallant fight. On three or four previous occasions his physician, Dr. Archibald Laidlaw and relatives at his bedside feared death was near, but approaching but each time he rallied. His serious condition was learned with deep concern, in every province, in every city, town and hamlet, friends and admirers awaited the bulletins issued twice daily telling how the battle was going with the veteran statesman.

Death Casts Gloom

The bulletin came from the stately colonial home on Wurtemburg Street in Ottawa with its tree and gardens, where he had since before he first became Prime Minister, and when the bulletins were carried to every part of the Empire, to the United States and other foreign countries where friends, many of whom he had made during the dark days of the war, anxiously awaited the outcome.

The serious illness of one who had played so great a part in the constitutional development of Canada and in fact the entire Empire setup, cast a gloom over the sittings of the British and Dominion Premiers in London at the Imperial Conference. Conference sittings messages of encouragement to Lady Borden, the constant companion of the stricken statesman. From all parts of the world came similar messages.

OWNER SAVES CAR

Collingwood, Ont., June 9.—(CP)—Police today searched for an unknown assailant who while riding with Clare Irvine on Collingwood's streets, attacked him in what Irvine believed an attempt to steal the automobile. Irvine was driving alone from Midland to Collingwood last night and offered the stranger a ride.

State Funeral For Sir Robert Saturday, June 12

Ottawa, June 10 (CP)—Funeral of Sir Robert Borden, who died here early today, will take place on Saturday, June 12. The cabinet decided to give the deceased former premier state honors.

Following a private religious service at the Wurtemburg street home, there will be a public service in All Saints Church. Interment will be at Beechwood Cemetery.

It was announced today the body will not lie in state in public.

Honorary pall-bearers will be those members of the present cabinet at present at Ottawa, together with those former colleagues of Sir Robert who are in the capital, or who will be present for the funeral.

Capital and country were not unprepared for the announcement of Sir Roberts death, but that fact did not diminish the sadness with which it was received. The Canadian people had revered within their hearts a warm place for Sir Robert. He had belonged to them, and he had served them with a total disregard for self, moved only by the loftiest of ideals.

From government buildings here flags fluttered at half-mast and wherever men gathered the name of Sir Robert Borden was on the lips of all. Tributes from the notables of the land were quickly voiced.

To a peculiar degree Sir Robert held the warmest affections of one particular section of the community. The war veterans of Canada, founded first, No man in public life received from them that unstinted admiration which they reserved solely for their war-time premier.

ERNEST McMASTER BRIGHTON, KILLED

Victim Jammed Between Cab And Transport by Collision

Kingston, Ont., June 10.—(CP)—Ernest McMaster, 52, of Brighton, was killed early today in an accident when two transports sideswiped a mile west of Napanee. McMaster was driving a Smith transport when it was sideswiped by a Martin transport, driven by Gordon Fletcher, who was uninjured.

According to a report emanating from the scene of the accident, the body of the latter, transported in broke loose from the tractor and landed into the ditch, while at the intersection of the Stack Road and Highway No. 2, McMaster, who received terrible injuries to his head, almost instantly, it was stated.

Why the Weather?

By Major A. H. Thiessen
Science Service Meteorologist

Hailstorms and crops! Hail storms vary greatly in extent. One storm in Kansas in 1928 covered 6780 square miles and caused $5,000,000 damage. On the other hand, hail storms covered area may be very small. In most hail storms the covered area is much less than that over which rain falls. Hail does the most damage to crops like tobacco, grapes and beans. Three hundred yards of southern Europe vineyards were ruined by hail in one year, 1915, in the United States, the hail loss totalled $27,000,000.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, June 10 (CP)—A shallow disturbance is moving northeastward from Pennsylvania and the pressure is now low in the southwest States with high pressure over the region of the Great Lakes and over northwestern Canada. Showers have fallen in Manitoba and in Ontario and Quebec. It has been comparatively cool over Ontario and Quebec. Showers have fallen in Alberta, also in some parts of Saskatchewan and northern Ontario, but it has been fair in southern Manitoba and southeast Saskatchewan.

Manitoba.—Fair in south; mainly cloudy and cool with showers in north portion. Friday partly cloudy and cool; scattered showers.

Saskatchewan.—Partly cloudy and comparatively cool today and Friday, with a few showers.

Alberta—Partly cloudy and cool today and Friday; light showers in some districts.

FORWARD PLANS TO OPEN PLANT DESPITE RIOT

Lewis Unionists Ban Way to Gates And Fights Break Out

TEAR GAS USED

Food Truck Gains Entrance After Which Strikers Give Up

Youngstown, O., June 10 (AP)—Police and sheriff's deputies clashed with Great Lakes Steel strike pickets here early today leaving seventeen persons injured even as plans went forward for reopening a Republic Steel Corp. plant at Monroe, Mich., in the face of a boycott which John L. Lewis Unionists said would involve 75,000 to 10,000 men.

Hand-to-hand fighting broke out in the tall-swept gates of the strike closed Republic plant in this northeastern Ohio industrial city as a food-laden truck reared down a viaduct ramp into the mill, occupied by maintenance men and company guards.

Tear gas and night sticks were brought into play by the fifty policemen and deputies against a force of several hundred strikers. The strikers gave way only after at least fourteen of their number were gassed, two policemen received head injuries, and a spectator was wounded by an exploding tear gas shell.

Tear Gas Overwhelmed.

The newest outbreak of violence in the bloody controversy which already has cost eight lives overshadowed plans made by governors of Ohio and Michigan in the Steel Workers Organizing Committee strike for signed contracts from Republic, Youngstown Sheet and Tube and Inland Steel Corp.

The twenty pickets on duty under the viaduct amid a heavy rainfall shouted to fellow unionists for aid as the plant entrance. They claimed a police squad car escorted the food truck. Police said their driver "by mistake" must have decided the truck but the cruiser did not enter the grounds.

Pickets placed a car across the road under the viaduct, blocking it. Police attempted to remove the car. Strikers surrounded them in steadily increasing numbers.

Suddenly fighting broke out. Tear gas was released by police as sticks were brought into play and the melee ended. Many received minor injuries.

ALL-SCOTTISH TITLE

Turnberry, Scotland, June 10.—Jessie Anderson, Scottish golf champion, defeating Mrs. Andrew McNair, 4 and 3.

An all-Scottish final was assured when Miss Anderson, defending title, Scottish title-holder, eliminated Elsie Corbett of Lytham, runner up in the 1935 British Ladies' tournament, by a margin of 3 and 2.

Mysterious Fire Sweeps Yard Five Freight Handlers Killed

300 Freight Cars Consumed in Fire in Germany

HEAVY DAMAGE

Halle, Germany, June 10 (AP)—Five freight handlers were known today to have been killed and many others of the eighty on duty were reported missing in a mysterious fire which swept the railroad yards of Halle early today. Fourteen auto clerks were injured in the fire which broke out last night and destroyed 300 freight cars.

The freight depot, a long building covering an area of 20,000 square yards, were for the most part completely destroyed.

The damage was estimated at many millions of marks.

The fire spread with amazing rapidity through the trans-shipping section of the German Federal Railways.

All attempts of the fire department to bring the blaze under control failed as explosion after explosion in rapid succession spread the flames.

Many of the cars contained benzine and others were filled with inflammatory acids and as they exploded they spewed the flaming liquid over the yards

FALLS FROM DECK

St. Catharines, Ont., June 10 (CP)—Falling from the deck of the Sandsucker Charles Dick off Niagara-on-the-Lake, Mrs. Lillian Harris, 20, Windsor geek hand, was drowned. The accident was not witnessed by any of the crew. The vessel was rolling in a heavy sea just off the mouth of the Niagara River when Harris was seen trying to swim in the waves.

LARGE INVESTITURE

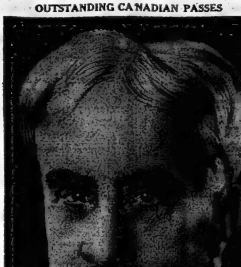
London, June 10 (CP)—In the ballroom of Buckingham Palace the King today decorated 275 men and women whose names appeared in the Coronation honors list.



All attending the function at Buckingham Palace were in morning dress and large crowds walked outside the palace gates to catch a glimpse of the brilliant scene. His Majesty wore the scarlet and gold uniform of a field marshal.

R. RAE APPOINTED GENERAL MANAGER

Toronto, June 10 (CP)—Appointment of John Rae, 53-year-old former Manager of the Dominion Bank, succeeding Dudley Dawson, who died May 24, was announced at the bank's headquarters here today. Mr. Rae has been Assistant General Manager since 1931.

Neil Golden Drowns Crossing Poudash Lake with Logs

OUTSTANDING CANADIAN PASSES

Sir Robert Borden, seriously ill for more than a month past grows heavy condition after consultations passes at Ottawa early today. His fatal illness cast gloom over the Imperial Conference now sitting in London, England. Sir Robert was a great imperialist and had unbounded faith in the British Empire.

Tributes To Sir Robert Paid In Canada, Britain

Prime Minister King Expresses Sorrow of Dominion at Passing And Cables to Senator Dandurand to Offer State Funeral on Behalf of Government.

London, June 10 (CP)—Deeply pained at word of Sir Robert Borden's death, Prime Minister Mackenzie King today expressed heartfelt sympathy to Lady Borden and regret he was absent from Ottawa.

He said he had cabled Raoul Dandurand, Acting Prime Minister in Ottawa, to offer a state funeral on behalf of the Canadian government.

Widespread Sorrow

"The passing of Sir Robert Borden will be deeply felt throughout Canada and the British Commonwealth, and indeed it will be in many countries outside the Empire," Mr. Mackenzie King said in paying tribute to the war-time premier.

"To Lady Borden, who shared Sir Robert's life through well nigh half a century, there will be extended nation-wide sympathy.

"The death of Sir Robert has removed from the scene one of the few remaining figures of the public life of Canada of the period before the war. To me personally Sir Robert's death means much more than the loss of one whom I knew for nearly 40 years and with whom at different periods of his career I was privileged to sit in the House of Commons."

4-POWER RING TO GUARD SPAIN

France, Italy, Germany And Britain to Adopt Formula

BY GEORGE HAMBLETON

London, June 10 (CP)—The Ambassadors of France, Germany and Italy will meet Foreign Secretary Eden at the Foreign Office either today or tomorrow to put the final touches to the formula restoring the four-power naval ring round Spain.

The draft of the formula follows the British three-point proposal: (1) Extension of safety zones for patrolling vessels; (2) more effective guarantees that help sides to Spain respect the safety of the four-power naval patrol; and (3) consultation between the four powers in the event of any further attack on their vessels.

Spaniards to Approve.

Since Spanish government aircraft attacked the German warship and the subsequent German shelling of Almeria, Germany and Italy have been absent from the patrol.

When the formula is finally agreed upon it will be referred to both the Spanish government and the insurgent authorities for their approval.

Russian Request Rejected.

A Russian request the formula be submitted to the full non-intervention committee for consideration was rejected on the grounds that no objection to the four-power negotiations had been raised at the last committee meeting, when the matter was discussed.

The Russian request, made in a note from the Russian Ambassador,

COMPLAIN BOY SLASHED CALVES

Constable Says Boy Told Him He Wanted to Test New Knife

Georgetown, Ont., June 10 (CP) —A 14-year-old employee of a dairy tenet farmer was placed in Ontario Hospital for observation following complaints he slashed the legs and bodies of nine calves with a jackknife, Provincial Constable Cochman said today. The wounded were alleged to have taken place on the farm of Jas. Mackenzie, where the boy worked.

The constable said he went to the Lindsay farm and found seven calves staggering about squalling and bleeding, while two were unable to move. From the spine of one animal protruded a four-inch knife blade.

Entering the store where the knife was purchased, the constable says he was able to find the boy. Questioned he broke down and cried. Apprehended, the lad admitted he "just" he could not tell it out but had "just wanted to try out my new knife."

66 OF CREW RESCUED

London, June 10—(CP-Havas)—A launch from the cruiser Leander picked off Weymouth in Dorsetshire early today after colliding with the battleship Nelson. All 60 men on the lost boat were saved despite the darkness, it was reported.

Most of the crew members of the launch returning to their ship after spending the evening in Weymouth were picked up by life-boats. The others succeeded in swimming ashore.

ASKS FOR FACTS ON GOLD RESERVES OF GREAT BRITAIN

Former Economic Adviser to Government Seeks Clarity

STERLING BALANCE

Restoration of Confidence Seen as Real Need at Present

London, June 10 (CP)—Publication of the facts about Great Britain's gold reserves was urged today in a letter to the Times by J. M. Keynes, one of Britain's foremost economists and former adviser to the government.

Keynes said an "atmosphere of nervousness and suspicion" had been generated around the gold problem and urged that it be dispelled by a statement of exactly the amount of gold held by the British government, the Bank of England and the Chancellor of the Exchequer, to make this statement.

If it were proved the British government had a gold surplus, the Dominions would be forced to reconsider their policy of handing their gold reserves over to Great Britain exchange for sterling balances, Keynes said.

Task For Confergence

"Indeed, it would be well for the practical conference before it disperses, to consider whether they could not help us carry the weight of gold by exchanging their sterling resources for earmarked gold," the economist wrote. "Since many of them are gold producers, they have much to gain from the restoration of confidence which this would undoubtedly effect."

No Reform on Gold Base.

Rumors Great Britain planned to long Island home of the Parsons. long Island home of the Parsons.

The demand for the $26,000 ransom was contained in a note, left in the Parsons car as it stood outside their white colonial house in Gould Road yesterday.

The note and the discovery of the two weapons left authorities confronted with two theories—murder or kidnapping.

Dr. Benjamin Morgan Vance, assistant medical examiner of New York, who made a first examination of the axe and the hatchet under a microscope said the stains on the hatchet were undoubtedly made by blood. Hairs were adhering to the axe, but Dr. Vance thought these might be from an animal.

Stony Brook, N.Y., June 10 (AP) —Two theories—kidnaping and murder — confronted United States government investigators seeking to unravel the mystery today of the disappearance of Mrs. Alice Parsons, 34, from her fashionable North Shore home on Long Island.

Note Is Found.

Bolstering the abduction theory was a note, penciled on cheap white ruled paper, enclosed in a white sales envelope, addressed to William H. Parsons, husband of the missing woman. Parsons is a Yale graduate and retired business man.

Blood-Stained Axe Found But Believed Used For Killing Hens

Stony Brook, N.Y., June 10—(AP) —A blood-stained hatchet and an axe, found on the poultry farm of William H. Parsons, gentleman farmer, were rushed to New York City for examination today as A. Parsons was reported ready to pay $25,000 ransom for the return of his missing wife, Alice McDonald Parsons, 36, and prominent socially.

The axe and the hatchet were found by investigators, called to the

The axe and the discovery of the two weapons left authorities confronted with two theories—murder or kidnapping.

Dr. Benjamin Morgan Vance, assistant medical examiner of New York, who made a first examination of the axe and the hatchet under a microscope said the stains on the hatchet were undoubtedly made by blood. Hairs were adhering to the axe, but Dr. Vance thought these might be from an animal.

Stony Brook, N.Y., June 10 (AP) —Two theories — kidnaping and murder — confronted United States government investigators seeking to unravel the mystery today of the disappearance of Mrs. Alice Parsons, 34, from her fashionable North Shore home on Long Island.

Show Farming Possibilities To Keep Young on the Land

Representatives Told Most of Wealth Comes From Earth's Surface

QUESTION OF LIVING

Guelph, Ont., June 10 (CP)— Show the possibilities of life on the land to the young people and keep them in the farming area," was the plea made today by Hon. Duncan Marshall, Federal Minister of Agriculture to a gathering of some 200 delegates attending agricultural representatives in convention today. "If you can do that," he said, "you are doing more to do away with unemployment and help the future of the country than anything else."

Mr. Gardiner accompanied by J. B. Fairbairn, Deputy Minister of Agriculture and Dr. G. I. Christie, president of the O.A.C. gave the representatives an account of his life on the farm in Huron County some 36 years ago. Farmers, he said, were not overly concerned with dollars and cents, but they should keep others from deriving unearned profits from the labor of others.

"Most of the money running the railways, banks and educational institutions came from the top six inches of the soil, Mr. Gardiner said. Until the farmers can live and make a profit from the land it would be hard to keep the young people on the land. The farmer wants to live well, so that all he can take things easy. There were more farmers at 100 age living comfortably than there were in the cities. This was a fact that should be pointed out to all farm boys. There were few farmers at 60 years who told you they had enough for all, but many old men of the cities complained they had spent their all as they went along.

WATERS OF LAKE BECOME ROUGH, CAUSE DROWNING

Golden, a Bachelor of 40, Hauling Raft of Logs Behind Launch

COMPANION SAFE

Accident Takes Place on Wednesday, Body Recovered Today

Neil Golden, 40, bachelor of Hallinburch County, was drowned in Paudash Lake, 100 miles north of Belleville on Wednesday afternoon. Golden, with two companions, was moving some logs across Paudash Lake to some cottages owned by Mr. Jones, lumberman of that district, the lumber to be used in construction of new cottages and repairs to those already erected. It is stated by the police who received telephone communication from that northerly point, that the lake became rough while the lumber was being transported and in some way Golden went into the water and was drowned. The name of his companion was not given. Information was meagre on the drowning due to the distance in the northland. Inspector Gardiner stated he did not think there would be an inquest, the drowning being purely accidental.

Body Recovered.

Eldorado, Ont., June 10 (CP)— The body of Neil Golden, drowned when the launch in which he and two other men were riding overturned on Paudash Lake yesterday was recovered today. The men were towing a raft of logs in heavy waves. Paudash Lake is 85 miles north of Belleville.

MANSLAUGHTER IS CHARGE LAID

Winfield H. Ross Appears For Preliminary Hearing at Tweed Today

Winfield H. Ross, Belleville, was charged with manslaughter in the death of Mrs. Ida Hubbs, 60, of Tweed on May 2nd last, when he appeared before Magistrate F. A. Lloyd of Northbrook at Tweed this afternoon. G. Donald Ross, K.C., informed the court the charge had been raised from that of criminal negligence causing death. R. D. Arnott of Belleville is appearing for Ross. The trial is proceeding.

NEGRO ORGANIZER OF C. I. O. BEATEN

Made to Walk Out of City, Where He Was Picked up by Friends

Monroe, Mich., June 10—(AP)— Steel workers and newly deputized special policemen today sought a complainer for the Committee for Industrial Organization out of the city before noon today as the zero hour passed for reopening of the strike-closed Newton Steel Co. plant.

Fifteen or 20 men seized the organizer, Louise Mcdowell, on Monroe's principal street as he attempted to flee in his automobile.

They made him leave the motorcar, led him about two blocks to walk a mile out of the city, toward Toledo. There, they said, an automobile containing a Negro would be picked him up and headed westward.

FINE GROWTH OF RYE NEAR HASTINGS

A four acre field of rye averaging six feet in length is now growing on the farm of Mr. Thomas Butters, lying one mile east of the village of Hastings. Butters produced a stalk measuring six feet one inch and claims that the entire four acres will average a length of six feet. Corroboration of Butters' claims was given by A. Armstrong, a neighbor.

FIRE DESTROYS FINE RAWDON BARN

Fire, believed to have started in one of the mows, completely destroyed the barn of Louis Wilson, on the eighth concession of Rawdon Township late Tuesday night. The barn which was 90 by 42 feet was comparatively new having been built to replace its predecessor which was destroyed by fire five years ago. A few head of livestock in the barn at the time were saved.

Wilson was not aware of the fact that his barn was ablaze until nearby neighbors telephoned him the news. The barn is insured at $2000 and is partly covered by insurance.

WILD MUSTARD WEED PLAGUES FARMERS

Mines and yellows are filling the unwanted sections of the rural districts in the immediate vicinity at the present time to the season's healthy and heavy weed crop now attains luxuriant growth. Present indications point to a bumper crop of wild mustard and blue-devil particularly, in the section.

"June 15th, or thereabouts is always the proper time to buy a farm," commented one of the district's best known farmers this morning. "Then you can see what you're getting. At one time when weeds cannot be hidden."

BIG HATCH TURKEYS INDICATED THIS YEAR

Turkey will be a good crop in the district this year, it is indicated by the number of eggs turned into local hatcheries for incubation at present. Due to a reported shortage and higher price of the fowl last Thanksgiving and Christmas, and the expected demand this coming year, heavier raising of the birds is indicated. Duck eggs have also been received in large numbers for hatching.

Obituary

MRS. JOHN HAGERMAN

Rideroado, June 10.—There passed away on Sunday, June 6, aged and respected member of the community in the person of Mrs. John Hagerman, who has been in poor health for a number of years. Her death came as a sudden shock to relatives and friends after a stroke on Friday.

Mrs. Hagerman, whose maiden name was Margaret Long, was born in Madoc Township in Hastings and has spent her life there until recent years when she became a resident of Rideroado. She was 72 years of age. Mr. Hagerman died nine years ago and five of their 11 children—Will, Percy, Delbert, Fred and Rob—also predeceased their mother.

The surviving children are: Annie (Mrs. Graham), Cooper; Mary, (Mrs. Oscar Wannamaker, Bannockburn); Myrtle, (Mrs. L. McCannon), Anerold, Madoc; Maud, (Mrs. Ross), Stirling, John of Denbigh, and Cecil at home. There are 20 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

The funeral was held from her residence in Rideroado to Cooper Unified Church, of which she was a devoted member. The pall-bearers were—W. J. Irwin, Will Fitzgerald and Bernice Thompson, all of Cooper and E. A. Strobe, James Pope and Clarence Farnham of Eldorado. The service was in charge of her pastor, Rev. W. G. Fletcher and interment was made in the family plot in Cooper Unified Church Cemetery.

LATE MRS. CLARENCE D. KETCHESON (Thurlow)

Many friends were present at the funeral of Mrs. Clarence D. Ketcheson which took place from the family residence in the 9th concession of Thurlow Township on Wednesday afternoon, June 9th, to the Unified Church at Bethel where an impressive service was conducted by the pastor the Rev. J. P. Everson.

Interment was made in Moira Cemetery, the bearers were Messrs. W. Phillips, W. Wannamaker, all C. Clarke, H. Phillips and E. Sayers.

JUDGE DEFOREST PAINE

Cobourg, June 10 (CP)—Judge DeForest Paine, 86 of Cobourg, who died here Wednesday. He was a summer visitor in Cobourg for the last four years and was a familiar figure in the town. He was born in Alton, Mich., and educated at Ann Arbor, Mich. After his graduation in 1886, he practiced law in Detroit, later being made a judge, retiring in 1916. Surviving are his widow, Mary DeForest Paine, and a daughter, Mrs. Percy Davis, Winnetka, Ill. and five grandchildren.

LATE MRS. ELLA B. MARACLE

Wednesday afternoon the funeral of Mrs. Ella Maracle, relict of Glen Maracle, who died at Hamilton, Ont., on Sunday, June 6th, took place from the residence of her sister, Mrs. Violet Bryans, 13 Foundry Street, Belleville, to Christ Church, Tyendinaga where the burial office of the Church of England was conducted by the Rev. Rural Dean Herbert Pringle.

Interment was made in Christ Church cemetery. The bearers were Charles Brant, Elmer Brant, James Brant, Joseph Maracle, Wilfrid Hill and I. Green.

Nice Clean Boy Just Loves Tar

He had just undergone his after breakfast clean-up. He was covered in new, crisply laundered rompers. His ruddy little cheeks glistened from the effects of soap and scrubbing. His golden curls stood out over a fresh little forehead in a halo of tiny ringlets.

The immediate call by his mother to "try and stay clean for a little while" rang in his ears. He nodded on chubby legs through the front door, gazing in five-year-old wonder at the warm June world on just without the door.

Irresistibly he was drawn by the sight of a dark, shimmering coating of wet tar gleaming under the sun on the newly brushed road on St. Paul Street yesterday. With sticky fingers he explored and tested its wetness and stickiness. And having tested, and found good, it was but the work of a minute to squat directly in the gooey mess.

"Surprised" was the second by workers. But a mother today was still trying the various blots on the removal proferred by other sympathetic mothers.

Small Dog Hooked By Boy's Fish Line

An agonized yelp split the dull Wednesday afternoon silence on lower Front Street yesterday. Pedestrians halted in their strolls. The driver of a passing motorcar halted his machine, with the high whine of dry brakes pulling it to a shuddering stop.

From the centre of a knot of small boys on the pavement streaked a small hound, pained and startled fright. Behind him clicked the heels of a fishing rod, paying out the line in snaky lengths from the leg of the dog held high in the air as he ran.

It was a catch of another sort a very small boy held in wavering

Local Cheque on Lost Air Liner

Finding of the lost air liner of the Lee Air Service in Salt Lake City run missing for six months, which was located recently in the mountains of the State of Utah, has been followed with particular interest by William Jones of Belleville.

A premium for insurance sent by Mr. Fry local representatives of the Occidental Life Insurance Company from the city to Los Angeles head office, had been endorsed by the office and was en route back to Belleville by air mail on the liner when the crash occurred. As yet the missing cheque has not been forwarded.

Prices of Coal

BROCKVILLE, Ont., June 10—(CP)—Reductions in the price of the larger sizes United States Anthracite coal are reported today by local dealers. Egg, stove and nut sizes are down from the previous price of $12.50 to $12. Coke is also 50 cents per ton lower at $12. Buckwheat No. 1 Stower coal has been increased to $10.25 per ton and rice coal to $8.75 per ton. These prices will apply until the opening of navigation a year hence.

Prices quoted by one Belleville dealer today are coke $12; Buckwheat No. 1 $10.25; rice $8.75; U.S. anthracite stove and nut $13.50; pea coal $12.00; Scotch anthracite $16.75.

Belleville prices have been down for about a month.

WHO WAS SO-SMALL?

Stratford Ont., June 10.—(CP)—Victims of bullets from a small calibre rifle, two members of Stratford's rifle club, fatally were found dead today on the banks of the Avon River, outside the west city limits of Stratford. Nearby a nest containing four swans eggs was discovered. Whether the shooting was deliberate or accidental has not been determined.

POLICE BLOTTER

Belleville police today were asked to assist in the recovery of an automobile stolen at Picton early this morning. The vehicle was described as a 1935 Chevrolet coach bearing Ontario license plates number 7-J-26.

Traffic Officer Douglas Ellis, city motorcycle patrolman, was busied yesterday curbing the practice of driving at a greater rate than 30 miles per hour on local streets. The government has increased the speed limit in the cities to 30 miles per hour with safety and those who persist in violating this law will be summoned into court without warning as the present speed limit is sufficiently fast enough to accommodate any motorist on city streets," warned police officials today.

One lone inebriate and eleven transients occupied the cell block at the police station last night, the former paying ten and costs in today's local police court.

Good sound securities often represent the personal savings of years. It is not necessary to part with them in order to arrange for an emergency, to finance a major purchase or for other temporary purposes.

If ready funds are needed, such securities can be used to secure a loan with the bank. Interest and the securities are returned by instalments out of income and the loan is retired.

Branch Managers of The Royal Bank are always glad to discuss such personal loans with responsible men and women.

NEW PATHS BEATEN

There will be a new beaten path to a new inventor's door, unless the proverbmaker is mistaken. The better mouse trap has come. It is on display in New York City, among five hundred other gadgets including a self-navigating diving device.

It has taken the "perpetual motion principle" to get the mice by the dozens. The inventor is E. L. Harrison of Portsmouth, Ohio. The device lures the mouse through a door by the smell of cheese or bacon. When the door shuts behind it, the mouse, alarmed, runs through a corridor beyond the dangling delicacy as it hunts for a way to escape. The corridor, however is so wired that it catapults the mouse into an adjacent antechamber, at the same time throwing the entrance open once again for the next victim.

The mouse seems a tiny thing to cause the minds of the men all through the ages to scheme and plot how to destroy the little rodent. But the little rodents are mischievous, do a deal of damage, and seem to have no real place in nature today, except to keep housewives busy setting traps.

It should not be hard to catch mice anyway. Not long ago a mouse got into a trap in this city and left his long tail as a sign of its wounding in the sprung trap. Less than a week later the mouse, minus a tail, and with signs of healing where the tail had been chipped off by the descending wire of the trap was found dead in a trap in the next room. So much for the brains of a house mouse. It simply will not learn! Still it is time to make its catching more easy. Yet it is safe to say that the new wholesale mouse trap will not find the mouse studying the physical sciences to get to understand how to avoid the intricate means of finding his life which Mrs. Harrison has invented.

Another device is intended to reveal to farmers which hens are good layers and which are not. Invented by five brothers in Berkeley, Calif., this device has three doors. If a hen lays an egg, the egg rolls down an incline, shutting a side door but opening the front exit for the hen. Thus, a hen which has not laid an egg must leave the trap by a side exit, while the egg layer has her way through the front door.

A large rubber bag enables bathers and travellers to disrobe in comparative privacy. A person wanting to make a change of apparel can enter the bag, which fastens around the neck, and by side garments through apertures for the arms. Another invention designed to add to the comfort of travellers is a sanitary package which is released at the insertion of a small coin. The package contains a small tube of shaving cream, soap, towel, a razor and a powder puff.

Inventors deserve a place in the hearts of the people, for a few cents one can secure today gadgets wonderful and yet simple for the use of people of all the ages seemed necessary before even the simplest devices could be discovered. A look at the countless gadgets in a hardware store to make easy the work in the kitchen, the polishing and scraping tools, the gadget that turns an egg or piece of bacon and so on proves this. Yet no one saw how the little implements could save labor and worry or how the need could be met until recently.

Inventors are largely unknown but they play a great part in the comforts of life.

GREAT TASKS

Five great tasks face the modern world, said Rev. Dr. S. L. Seaife at St. Peter's P. E. Church, New York. They are the building of cities with no slums; betterment of rural life so that the stampede from the country to the city may be abated; fortification of the home to shelter the morality of the youth and children and men and women as well; Christian solution of the problem of unemployment, and creation of a Christian sentiment for moral reform and a Christian desire for the building of spiritual values that will pass the test. Only by bending every effort to bring them to success can we hope to redeem the world. The need is to realize their importance and then to proceed to bring them to fruition. They are fundamentals in the reconstruction of a Christian civilization. With Christ and His church standing for these ideals in a sorry world, there is no doubt that they can be accomplished.

"The final thought is that we can never hope to do big things outside in the world until we do them first in our hearts."

Were man but constant, he were perfect; that one error fills him with faults, makes him run through sins; inconstancy falls off ere it begins.—Shakespeare.

WHO WAS BETSY FLANAGAN? Who is Betsy Flanagan? Betsy Flanagan is a cocktail featured at The Hotel Roosevelt, Madison Avenue at 45th street, New York City—so if you go to New York City and have a weakness for cocktails don't fail to sample a Betsy Flanagan at the Roosevelt. So important do they consider The Betsy Flanagan that the Hotel Roosevelt folks have immortalized the name and the drink in an illustrated booklet which tells the story of the original Betsy Flanagan. Here's the legend:

The Origin of The Cocktail

Much has recently been written concerning the origin of the cocktail, but all reliable authorities now agree that the cocktail had its origin in America.

The originator of the cocktail was Betsy Flanagan, who owned and operated a tavern during the Revolutionary times near Yonkers. Horace V. Myers, of Kingston, Jamaica, says, referring to Betsy's Tavern:

"The place was the favorite haunt of American and French officers, who took a great liking to the drinks concocted by Betsy and spread far and wide the praises of her bracing mixtures. One day, as the story goes, the American officers raided a British Commissary and stole several male birds, which they brought to Betsy and asked her to roast and on the evening of the feast Betsy decorated each bottle and jar in her tavern with the luxurious parts which followed, one of the guests called for a "glass of the cocktails", and Betsy prepared one of her bracers, stirring the mixture with the tail of a cock pheasant.

"Rising to the call for a toast, one of the officers said: "Here's to Betsy and her marvelous drink. It offers to the palate the same delightful sensations as the cock's tail feathers offer to the eye!"

"Whereupon one of the French officers present exclaimed: "Vive le cocktail!"

Betsy afterwards married Mr. Thomas Hustler, and moved to Lewiston, New York, where she opened a tavern on the Main Street in Lewiston, and when James Fenimore Cooper wrote "The Spy", he stated as follows:

"Betty had the merit of being the inventor of the beverage which is so well known at the present day, and which people who make a winter's march between the commercial and political capitals of this great State and which is distinguished by the name of cocktail."

Betsy Flanagan lies buried in the old Lewiston Cemetery and a grave marks her last resting place. She has made her contribution to the happiness of man.

The ingredients that Betsy used in making her cocktail are not definitely known, but from such information as we have found she has discovered, certain of the essentials have been established and the "Betsy Flanagan Cocktail" is now introduced for the first time at the Hotel Roosevelt, New York City, and if those gallant American officers and officers who helped establish the reputation of Betsy Flanagan Cocktail, were now alive they would join in the praises of the Betsy Flanagan Cocktail served at The Roosevelt.

A BELLEVILLE BUSINESSMAN WHOSE HOBBY IS FISHING and whose reputation for veracity is A1 tells this one: It happened near Madoc, fishing from the Moira bridge with a bet on who of the Belleville party would catch the first fish. The fisherman hooked a good-sized pickerel, and not wishing to put too much strain on his split bamboo rod, he put the pole down and played him by hand. Tuning to his companions he joked about the bet, then began easing the fish out of the water. Just as the fish was about to leave the water a huge maskinonge swirled up, opened massive jaws and swallowed both, line, sinker, fish and all, before the fisherman could get his bearings and prepare for a fight, whisked away, breaking the line. Believe it or not, aforesaid fisherman is going back after that nassy 'lunge, and if he catches him will have him embalmed as a monument to his veracity for all time.

Great Canadian Figure

Sir Robert Borden, Canada's wartime prime minister, was the only leader of a nonbelligerent nation to hold the reins of power from the beginning to the end of hostilities. The affairs of war, peace, the business and cares of office, undermined his health and he resigned to the tranquility of an old colonial home overlooking the Rideau River in Ottawa—the capital city. Here his history sicked deeply, his recognition as a world figure assured.

A Nova Scotian, Borden entered parliament in 1896, became minister of militia for war in 1901 at the height of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's popularity. He slowly united the fortunes of his party and rode into power in 1911 in fighting opposition to the Taft-Fielding reciprocity pact with Washington.

It was Borden's destiny to be leader of a government during war time. But he seemed to be destined for that particular task—patient, determined, self-sacrificing. There was nothing devious or subtle about him. With relentless tenacity, he speeded the nation to victory. When enlistments fell off in the dark days of 1917, he formed a Union government and put on conscription law.

The tall, broad-shouldered Canadian with the quizzical grey eyes played a leading part at the Versailles peace conference and he insisted that Canada sign the treaty as a separate nation. Then, until July 10, 1920, he remained in office, starting the reconstruction period. His health undermined by this job done, Borden retired from politics to be succeeded by Arthur Meigen as Conservative leader. He lived quietly in Ottawa, in the loveliest time for books, time for golf. He travelled. He picked up sufficient business directorships to keep him busy. And he found time to represent Canada at world affairs as the Washington naval conference in 1922, the League of Nations in 1930. He lectured on behalf of Great Britain. And he puttered with his garden.

While not a drinking man himself, Sir Robert was not a prohibitionist. He was amused to have the only Canadian prime minister who cheered tobacco, a man of the pipe hidden under his cheek, few people ever knew smoked it. He was the only premier to earn a car, in fact boasted about it.

In later life, Borden played golf and bowled and in his younger days in Halifax was a crack tennis and tennis player. His great hobby was books and few agents ever turned away from his door without an order.

Beloved By Veterans

During his years of retirement Sir Robert was confined to the house in the men who had fought the Great War, and in Ottawa to observance of men's funerals was completes without him. His popularity was great, the war veterans entertaining for him a profound and sincere affection.

They appreciated the gesture of Prime Minister Mackenzie King in delegating Sir Robert on the government's official party at the unveiling of the National Memorial to Vimy Ridge in July, 1936. The veteran statesman made the journey and with it came what was to be his high honor by the French government.

Arising from the National Service campaign of 1918 Sir Robert Borden is the wartime measure he made possible through an annual grant of $50,000 to the national organization in Canada. At that time there were four distinct service associations, one in the Maritime province, two in Ontario and Quebec and one in Western Canada, each drawing its basic support from the United States but unable freely to exchange Canadian news because of the high tariff on printed matter. It leased wires the gaps separating them.

Through this grant the national news gathering and distributing organization known as The Canadian Press was brought into being April 1, 1917. Before the grant was withdrawn in 1924 it had served its purpose in building up a co-operative interchange of news so essential in wartime and in the years following the formation of a national spirit.

Borden's last opportunity in testifying to the value of an honest and well-informed press and he has always been a devoted friends men of all shades of political.

Born at Grand Pre, N.S.

Sir Robert Borden was born in Grand Pre, N.S., June 26, 1854, near the historic fields, edged with memories of the old Acadian well, the church and burial ground immortalized by Longfellow's "Evangeline". A descendant on Samuel Borden, an American surveyor who moved to Nova Scotia in 1760 before the Loyalists. He was educated at Acadia until a year's study in Boston, returning to Nova Scotia to study law and eventually going into practice.

In September, 1880, he married Laura Bond, daughter of Henry Bond. No children.

Borden's brother, like his cousin, Sir Frederick Borden originally was a Liberal but he differed from the Laurier policy in 1891 and he always drifted into the Conservative camp. He was defeated at the age of 40, he was elected Conservative member for Halifax.

He was the first election that swept Laurier and the Liberals into power, and they held until 1911. In a House of 213, there were only 86 Conservatives and it wasn't they until the studious member from Halifax, with the deep, sonorous voice, was marked for greater things. His keen intellect along with his fine personality gave him the finest possible training for a future office-holder.

The Conservative party, after long years in power during the glamorous days of Sir John A. Macdonald had fallen on evil days. One leader succeeded another. Laurier formed his "Cabinet of All the Talents" and swept everything before him.

Appointed Party Leader

Sir Charles Tupper, led the Conservatives in the election of 1896. At a party caucus in Ottawa Feb. 13, 1901, Borden was selected party leader in the Conservative members.

Borden was comparatively unknown when the mantle of Macdonald, Abbott, Thompson, Bowell and Tupper fell on his shoulders. The Conservative party was disorganized. The Liberal stronghold of Halifax defeated Borden in 1904 and he offered his resignation at a caucus. It was declined and a seat was found for him in Carleton, Ontario, Borden still resigning.

That marked the turning point in Borden's career. He began to get an opposition leader received no salary from the Dominion and half a dozen wealthy Conservatives contributed $5,000 a year to him. Again Laurier took a couple of days to think it over and then, in Borden's words "said he could not endure a government which would enforce compulsory military service."

Regarding the alignment with the Liberal leader, Borden said: "He would not join a party in a party memory I revere and I am sure he was sincere in what he said at the time he was elected after all that in the national interest perhaps he might be of more service to the party as its leadership, cliques that wanted him cast aside as the party lost again and again."

Borden's courage and tenacity of purpose were tested by those parlor revolutions. A group of Conservatives headed by Senator Richard Muirdie from British Columbia as leader of the party. Borden knew more about the movement and gave a dinner party to Senator Muirdie. Present was Muirdie as speakers.

Muirdie's task was to be a test between them with the leadership the prize. McBride, a fiery, irrepressible fighter, with a sounding phrase and happy adjectives, spoke first. Borden followed, a quiet, cold logician, a colorless speaker who had only the force of unadorned rhetoric. But it was Borden who emerged victorious. It was he who became premier.

Laurier stayed in power and Borden his resignation with the statement "I only came that day in 1911 when the Liberal government was overwhelmingly defeated at the polls and Laurier went into opposition to the Conservative benches. It marked the beginning of Borden's dictatorship.

The war clouds were hovering over Europe even in those days and Borden's attitude was marked by a personal one. In 1913, believing there was imminent danger, he proposed to add three dreadnoughts to the British fleet, a step in line with the policy of a Canadian navy to protect Canadian shores. But the government was defeated in the House after the longest filibuster in history, which lasted eighty-one days, three, five and 10 hours. Every naval commission in the British Empire was quoted. Whole plays from Shakespeare were read. Borden finally introduced a resolution in the first time in Canadian history. Although the Senate was overwhelmingly the Liberal majority in the Senate defeated it. Hostilities continued with its own naval forces.

Direct in Speech

All this time Borden was gaining political strength and popularity. He was never a spellbinder himself but he generally toured the country during the campaign and his wit and jokes, epitome the crowd—Oot Hugh Guthrie, Borden's right hand man. Borden was not a good mixer like Laurier, he lacked the sparkle, the wit and humor, but the confidence of the Liberal leader. Borden in his speeches was direct and outspoken. He was a master of the single meaning. On the platform, Borden was still the lawyer arguing a case before the court of public opinion. Curiously enough, hecklers brought out the best in Borden.

It was the war that brought out the best in Borden. Sir Wilfrid and Hughes, Borden's minister of militia, organized the first Canadian contingents of war were sent across the Atlantic. The Canadian Corps was formed in September, 1915, when the Second Division went to France, followed by the Third and Fourth.

Meanwhile, Borden and his ministers, his party, had reformed financial and agricultural life of Canada to a new pitch. He was the first Dominion Premier to be invited to attend the sessions of the British Cabinet of War. He went to France in the spring of 1916 in 1917. In February and May, 1917, he was present at meetings of the Imperial war cabinet, the first Dominion premier to be invited to sit of the Empire.

But Borden had his political as well as war difficulties. Enlistments were falling off despite a nationwide appeal he made by radio in June of 1916. In that year parliament had extended its own life 12 months but was far from unanimous in passing a similar resolution in 1917. Borden declined to accept the split opinion, deciding an election must be held. Meanwhile the franchise in Dominion elections had been extended to women.

A union government had been mooted for months with the Conservatives divided on the project. At a caucus in May, 1917, Borden told his followers the decision must be his and the next morning conferred with Laurier.

Meanwhile, a conscription bill had been introduced in the House, Canada's first experiment with the draft. At the conference with Laurier on May 18 Borden told frankly his fears for the future efficiency of the Canadian corps without adequate replacements. He gave him all the confidential information he had gathered in England—and invited Laurier to join in a union government of equal representation with Borden as premier.

Laurier hesitated, insisting conscription should be left to a vote passed without a mandate from the people, preferably through a general election. He took two or three days to think it over.

Borden next proceeded to him to form the union government and pass the conscription law, making it operative only if the new government were sustained at the polls. Again Laurier took a couple of days to think it over and then, in Borden's words "said he could not endure a government which would enforce compulsory military service."

Regarding the alignment with the Liberal leader, Borden said: "He would not join a party in a party memory I revere and I am sure he was sincere in what he said at the time he was elected after all that in the national interest perhaps he might be of more service to the party as its leadership, cliques that wanted him cast aside as the party lost again and again."

Formed Union Government

Negotiations with Laurier ended June 6 with the Liberal leader opposed to compulsory conscription by any government, no matter who was opposed, a wing of his party was agreeable to entering a union government and enforcing conscription.

"Borden decided to enter an agreement with the Liberal wing, offering equal representation in the cabinet with Conservatives. This caused six Conservative ministers, Conservative members and Borden threatened to resign at a caucus. Again Borden triumphed and the Liberal union government was formed. Referring these problems to the union government, Sir Robert said: "The cabinet was never free from party lines. There were many subjects upon which the government was unwilling to support it, unwilling to oppose it. But on these questions we were convinced him it was his duty to oppose it. He did oppose it, so strongly indeed, that he resigned and made an election.

The latter election was one of the bitterest in Canadian history with reciprocity the major issue. Borden emerged a great victory with reciprocity defeated and Laurier went into opposition to the Conservative benches. It marked the beginning of Borden's dictatorship.

The war clouds were hovering over Europe even in those days and Borden's attitude was marked by a personal one. In 1913, believing there was imminent danger, he proposed to add three dreadnoughts to the British fleet, a step in line with the policy of a Canadian navy to protect Canadian shores. But the government was defeated in the House after the longest filibuster in history, which lasted eighty-one days, three, five and 10 hours. Every naval commission in the British Empire was quoted. # MERRY THRONGS CATCH SPIRIT OF CARNIVAL

Beaches Association Carnival Drawing Large Crowds —Big Time For Kiddies

Large crowds were in attendance all day yesterday at the Beaches Association Carnival at the Cricket Field in Belleville, where The Sims Greater Shows are exhibiting all of this week and judging by the good humor of the crowds and the laughter from the people riding the rides and attending the side shows, real enjoyment was the order of the day.

This large outdoor amusement organization has brought to Belleville one of the finest attractions of its kind ever seen in this city. Here may be found all the oldtime riding devices such as the Merry-Go-Round, Ferris Wheel and Merry Mixup surrounded by their new companions the Caterpillar, Tilt-A-Whirl and the Kiddie Auto Ride making its first appearance in Belleville. Here small kiddies may sit in small automobile and trucks and receive the same thrills as elder people experience in driving their own cars. At the entrance to the Midway is the big Circus Side show filled with clever entertainers and where many mystifying and thrilling acts are presented and where "Madam Rita" is located. Then there are the trained monkies who drive and operate their own racing cars, trained dogs and whipcrackers, "Jungle Land" is filled with strange wild beasts and reptiles gathered from the fal corners of the world. Daily at 3 and 10 o'clock the free attractions are presented with Miss Canada in high trapeze and Captain Matchland as a world famous "Leap for Life" into a tank of flaming gasoline. This is truly Canada's outstanding Midway here, there is free admission to the grounds and the free attractions are presented out in the open and free to everybody.

TWO MEN SEEK NATURALIZATION

Max A. Wodzak And T. T. Carswell Are Recommended

Two naturalizations were recommended at the opening of the Jury Sittings at the County Court held in Belleville before His Honor Judge Deroche this week, while two minor jury civil cases were postponed with dates being left in abeyance.

The applications for naturalization were tendered by S. G. Donnan, K. C., County Crown Attorney. One was that of Max Alfred Wodzak, 34 of Maple Leaf, Ont. Mr. Wodzak's application stated he was born in Germany in 1903 coming to Canada in 1924. The second was that of Thomas T. Carswell, 56 of Madoc, Ont. Mr. Carswell was born in the United States, but has been a resident of Madoc since 1916. Both applications were granted.

The civil actions in the non-jury court were: Mrs. M. Schryver, Belleville, versus the City of Belleville, an action for damages following injuries received as the result of a fall through alleged defective sidewalks in the city. The firm of Donnan and Butler represented the plaintiffs while A. B. Collins, K. C., appeared for the defendants, as City Solicitor. The case was adjourned indefinitely.

The Wright versus Walbridge case was indefinitely postponed, being an action at the request of the plaintiff, Malcolm Wright, for fees expended. T. J. Wills represented the plaintiff, while Donnan and Butler appeared on behalf of the defendant.

POLICE SEEK TO

the grounds of the Parsons' chicken farm. The investigators expected to complete the details of the case though it was suggested the axe might have been used to kill chickens.

Both Well-to-Do.

Mrs. Parsons, the former Alice W. McDonell, was said to be worth about $300,000, of which she recently inherited $60,000. Her husband, too was said to be well-to-do. He was graduated from Yale in 1910.

The story of Mrs. Parsons' disappearance came from Mrs. Anna Kuprymova described by the police as a high-born Russian woman, who had worked for the Parsons family for about four years.

Mrs. Kuprymova, Joseph S. Arata Assistant District Attorney, Suffolk County, reported, said a middle-aged couple called for Mrs. Parsons' yesterday morning at the Parsons' home and that the matron drove off with them.

Parsons had gone to New York, 86 miles away, to meet two Russians, he told Arata, had been made by Mrs. Kuprymova after he had expressed a desire to learn how to make a Russian delicacy called English squab pasts.

Drove Husband to Station.

Mrs. Parsons drove him to the railroad station, about ten miles away and promised to meet him when he returned about noon.

Parsons told Arata he got off the train in Stony Brook a little after seven o'clock last night, waited a time for his wife, and then slightly perturbed by her failure to appear, took a taxi home.

From Mrs. Kuprymova he learned his wife had gone off with two apparent strangers, he said, after waiting a while and fidgeting, he decided to call the police.

Mrs. Kuprymova told Arata Mrs. Parsons told her:

"I'm going over to the Sammis place."

This was described by Arata as an estate near Huntington, about fifteen miles away, in which Mrs. Parsons had an interest.

NAPANEE COUPLE WEDDED 68 YEARS

Mr. And Mrs. John Gibson One of Oldest Married Couples in Canada

Quietly, and in the midst of members of their immediate family, Mr. and Mrs. John Gibson, highly respected residents of Napanee celebrated the sixty-eighth anniversary of their wedding, at their home yesterday. The celebration took the form of a double event for today Mr. Gibson will be ninety-six years of age. Mrs. Gibson will be ninety-one in July.

Until the past few weeks, both Mr. and Mrs. Gibson have been in excellent health, but for the past few days the infirmities of age have made it necessary for Mr. Gibson to spend part of his time in bed. At present however he is much improved and is able to be up each day. Members of the family are: Mrs. A. G. Stine, Tilsenburg; John and Frank, of Wellington; and Mrs. W. Anderson of Napanee. The aged couple were the recipients of many messages of congratulations yesterday.

The outstanding guest speaker of the meeting comes from Japan, in the person of Mrs. Yume Gauntlett, who will address the delegates on Tuesday night.

Plans for entertaining the visitors include a banquet on Tuesday evening and a drive through the district on Thursday.

Weddings

REID—RAY

A quiet, but pretty wedding was solemnized on Wednesday at Plainfield United Church Parsonage, by the Rev. J. F. Everson, when Miss Martha, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Ray of Hallowray, became the bride of Roswell Kenneth Reid, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Melville Reid of West Huntingdon.

The bride was attractively attired in a dainty frock of white sheer. The young couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Armstrong of Stirling. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Reid left by motor for Toronto and Niagara Falls, the bride travelling in a flowered crepe dress, with white swagger coat, white hat and accessories to match.

TISDALE—RYAN

At the Church of St. Michael the Archangel, the marriage was solemnized at nine o'clock this morning of Frances Burnadetta, daughter of Mrs. Ryan and the late Mr. Peter Ryan, and Mr. John Aislem Tisdale, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Tisdale. The ceremony was performed by Rt. Rev. J. F. Nicholson, V.O.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. David Ryan, wore a pretty frock of sunex blue silk tulle, with white transparent picture hat, trimmed with loopes of blue, and white accessories. Her bouquet was of carnations, larkspur and baby's breath; Miss Irene Mealey of Campbellford, was bridesmaid and wore a peach sheer gown with pink and white accessories. She carried larkspur and baby's breath.

Mr. Matthew Ryan, brother of the bride, was groomsman.

Following the ceremony, wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride, 73 Front Street. Mrs. Ryan, mother of the bride, wearing figured crepe with corsage of roses and lillies of the valley and Mrs. Tisdale, mother of the groom, in figured georgette with corsage of cornflowers, received with the bride and groom.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Tisdale left on a wedding trip to Toronto and Niagara Falls, the bride travelling in pine green suit, with matching hat and accessories. Upon their return they will reside at 26 Turnbull Street.

WILTSE—EMERSON

Toronto — "Wynnwood", Queen's Park, was the scene of a lovely wedding at three o'clock, Saturday afternoon, when Miss Helen Henrietta Emerson, daughter of Mrs. Emerson and the late Mr. W. G. Emerson, became the bride of Ralph Clifford Wiltse, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Wiltse. The rooms were decorated with tall standards of carnations, peonies and delphinium, which, with palms and ferns, made an effective setting for the ceremony, conducted by Rev. H. W. Aylen. Miss Isabella Anderson played the wedding music, and during the signing of the register, Miss Marguerite Landell sang "Still As The Night". The bride was given in marriage by her mother. She wore a gown of white chantilly lace over taffeta, made on princess lines with a short train, sleeves puffed at the shoulder and tight from elbow to wrist, and low V-neckline. A finger tip length veil of tulle was caught in her hair with a coronet of pearls, and she carried a bouquet of butterfly roses, orchids and lillies of the valley. Miss Mavyn Emerson was the bride's only attendant, frocked in dusky pink suede lace fashioned on long lines with cowl neckline, and matching hat of lace trimmed with cornflowers. Her bouquet was of talisman roses and cornflowers. Mr. Jack Strachan was the groom's best man, and ushering the guests were Mr. Joe Angus and Mr. William Mansell. Following the ceremony the bridal party, with the bride's mother, and the mother and father of the groom, received the guests in the beautiful garden of Wynnwood. Mrs. Emerson was gowned in peony-yellow gray chiffon with a picture hat of carnelian red, and wore a corsage of talisman roses. The groom's mother chose a gown of blue lace with matching hat and a corsage of pink roses. Later Mr. and Mrs. Wiltse left for a trip to Florida, the bride donning a lighter-than-navy nubby wool suit with accessories to match, and wearing with them the gift of the groom. On their return they will live at 466 Riverside Dr.

The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts

Boston, Mass., June 10—Progress of Christian Science expressed in the organization and recognition of fifty-nine new churches and societies; in sales increase of 98 per cent for the writings of Mary Baker Eddy, Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science; in an increasingly friendly public thought as reflected by legislative-bodies when handling measures involving medical and religious freedom; and in much good healing work; featured reports by meeting church officers at the Annual meeting of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist.

The election of Judge Clifford P. Smith of Newton, Mass., as Church President for the coming year, and of Stewart L. Ripley of Brookline as Treasurer, and Sara W. Palmer of Marshfield as Clerk, was announced. The President is elected by the Christian Science Board of Directors to serve for one year. His duty is to be presiding officer at the Annual Meeting.

DAILY SHORT STORY

Kiss Mary Louise

By H. Louis Raybold

"And it will be a great treat for me to see you all again. Give Mary Louise a kiss and she her if she remembers her 'Cousin Warren'."

Mary Louise's mother looked up from the letter she had been reading aloud and smiled at her pretty daughter curled up in the chair opposite.

"I guess", she said, "that Cousin Warren has forgotten just how big you've grown".

"And who," asked Mary Louise, "is Cousin Warren?"

"Well, to begin with, dear, he isn't really your cousin. He's just a sort of a very dear friend of mine. At the time of her death Warren was to us for a little visit. He must have been—well, about six-teen at the time and you were five or six. He let you tag around after him and was much more friendly to you than boys of that age usually are to little girls."

"And now," mused Mary Louise, "he must be—why, nearly thirty years old! Oh, I guess he's so old that it's quite all right for me to be accepting a kiss from him!"

If Mrs. Sumner smiled wantly at Mary Louise's calm assumption that thirty years spelled middle-aged age, she gave no sign. Certainly Warren would seem mature to her daughter accustomed to a crowd of youngsters with whom she ordinarily associated. There was little of what his life had been, she could well imagine, but he would prove even older than his years.

Perhaps had she known all that was going on in the mind of her daughter, she would have been alarmed, for the young woman, as she listened to an account of Warren's life, had arrived at a singular conclusion.

As a starter, she would borrow Trixie Horton's lip-stick. Janice Roberts saw shall-lint rouge, and Clara Brayton's "How To Behave In Society". She would read up on a couple of the latest plays, a few of the more sophisticated magazines, and perhaps buy a sports skirt another inch. A kiss to Mary Louise indeed!

Warren Wayne looked about him with interest as he got down from the train. There had been a twinkling look towards the knot of people gathered on the platform.

Suddenly, something drew his eyes over to a certain group and that instant a slender hand waved to him.

Hurrying over, he saw a dashing young thing evidently sure that he was the person for whom she was waiting, although he himself was by no means certain. "Are you, by any chance, Mr. Wayne?"

"I'll say I am!" he replied promptly, looking intently at the scarlet-lipped, black-lashed girl before him whose cheeks glowed with a radiance liberally if not quite skillfully applied.

"I am Mrs. Sumner's daughter, drawled Mary Louise. "Please allow me to relieve you of your bags as I go along in. I fancy the station man will see to your trunk."

She swung away up the main street, on hand carelessly on the wheel, with an air cool would have distinguished a sportier model of car than the flivver she was driving.

So this was his old friend. Mary Louise! Well, well! Then he gave himself up to picking out old landmarks along the way.

Meanwhile, of what was Mary Louise thinking? She was, for one thing, wondering just what her mother would say when she saw him. She had not yet had pleasure, for Mary Louise had made a back-door exit, merely putting out a good-by to her mother who sat on the side porch, and then ran on, mistakenly thinking that thirty was not as ancient as her mother. And Warren never thought to mention the fact that Warren was handsomer than her favorite movie star of the moment.

She wished just a little, that she had left the make-up business alone. Well, well! Then he had not gone into it on such a heavy scale.

Mrs. Sumner came down to meet them. "My dear boy, she cried, and kissed him on her sunken cheek as she had when he had come to her, motherless, years ago. When she caught sight of her daughter. Just for an instant words deserted her. "Why, my dear! Goodness gracious!" she exclaimed.

Then recovering again for the play? Do run upstairs and wash your face or you'll never believe you are the same sweet little girl he used to let beat him at croquet!"

Warren stayed on all summer. One day, near the end of his visit, he took Mrs. Sumner aside for a little talk. Afterwards, he hunted up Mary Louise and found her busy with her sewing out under the trees.

"I asked your mother," he said gently, "if she ever gave you the kiss I sent you. She said she hadn't and gave me permission to give it to you myself. You see, the girl I sent it to was the one I have always carried in my heart."

Opening the back of his watch, he produced a faded little snapshot of a curly-haired child that looked not one whit like the steadfast face. "And even if she had grown taller," he went on, "I'd still see in her the same darling little girl. Do you think you could ever care to accept that kiss? How about it, Mary Louise?"

And Mary Louise slipped into his arms as if she had always belonged there.

DESERONTO

WITH THE LAWN BOWLERS
by
GEO. E. WATKIN

The members of both clubs will be sorry to hear of the departure from this city of Fred Hindle the chairman of our games committee. Fred had prepared for a real season in the bowling and was doing good work along those lines, this is one of the most important posts in our organization and Fred is going to be missed. He has been bowling and holding offices in various clubs throughout Ontario for years and had wide experience. I might add that I personally will miss Fred very much. I was in close touch with him in his work for the club and he was the right man in the right place. I am sure the members of our club wish him every success in his new venture at Simcoe and trust that he will be able to pay us a visit from time to time.

Toronto came into the limelight on the 20th of May when Oliffield Bowling Club started Sunday bowling. In conversation with one of the bowlers who took part on that day he said that half the bowlers in the city were out to watch the games and there was a danger of it spreading through the city clubs. I have agreed with several bowlers on our own club with reference to it and the opinion of the majority was that there was no more harm in bowling Sunday than playing golf or tennis. This may be correct but my own personal opinion is that we have all got along as a club very well and the seventh day to rest and if we do not need the rest the grass certainly does, however everyone to their own opinion there is no harm in expressing ourselves.

The greens committee are to be congratulated in their choice of greenman Jack Smith. Jack is a real worker and takes a great interest in his work. He started under a heavy handicap this spring but the fine weather has favored us and the bowlers for the next week or so will have the time of their lives on the bowl to stand off the green and give the ends a chance to grow. Thanks.

Mrs. Hindle will continue to reside in the city for some time this is good news for the Ladies' Club.

On Friday night there will be a mixed Jitney, this game will commence at 7.45 sharp.

The selection of a chairman of games will be a problem that the executive should give lots of thought this is a very important position and means a lot to our club.

Rain spoiled the game last evening, better luck next Wednesday.

The Parks Commission have planted the flower beds in front of the greens in coronation colours, these should make a splendid showing.

Joe Black has been struck off John Shaw's list officially. But the officially John still thinks he can bring him.

GERMAN CATHOLICS MUST CHOOSE STATE OR CHURCH

A new breach between the Roman Catholic church and Nazi Germany was made known by the official German press when Roman Catholics were asked to choose between Adolf Hitler and Pope Pius. The government-controlled newspaper Westdeutscher Beobachter at Cologne demanded that German obey Adolf Hitler rather than "a church government which long ago became a secular power." This is the latest breach between the Roman Catholic church and Adolf Hitler which began last year with the trials of members of the Catholic clergy on charges of immorality. That Pope Pius had broken with the German government came known early this year when his denunciation of German national socialism was read from German pulpits. A still more recent flare-up occurred when Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago called Hitler "a paperhanger, and a poor one at that." He also referred to Dr. Goebbels as "that crooked propaganda minister." The Vatican took no action following the German government's request that the Cardinal be censured whereupon Germany announced that normal diplomatic relations between Berlin and Rome had been severed. Some observers feel this is the first move to complete severance of relations with the Vatican. In the upper LEFT is Pope Pius XI, who has bitterly assailed German Nazism while in the CENTRE is Dr. Joseph Goebbels, German propaganda minister, and Hans Frank, who has warned that Catholic clergy may be hailed into court should they question the fairness of the immorality trials. In the upper right is Cardinal Faulhaber, Archbishop of Munich and outstanding Catholic prelate in Germany who so far has had nothing to say about the present controversy. At the lower LEFT is Cardinal Mundelein, of Chicago, whose outburst against Hitler and the German government has caused strained relations between Germany and the Vatican. At the lower RIGHT is Adolf Hitler, chancellor of Germany, who was raised in the Catholic faith and who declares will be the position of the church in Germany.

SERVANTS DRINK TO THE HEALTH OF DUKE AND DUCHESS

The climax of a happy day in the lives of the Duke and Duchess of Windsor and the servants at the Chateau de Candé is marked in the above photographs. Servants at the Chateau are shown drinking a toast in champagne to the health of the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, who had just been married, inset is the Duke and Duchess, each giving a hearty laugh at a newspaperman's quip. They were photographed as they were about to enter the Chateau after posing for newspaper photographers.

JOHN KATAN WINS BUT AL DUNLOP PROTESTS AWARD

Loser Claims Referee Wells Interfered With Action Near Ropes

GOOD PRELIM BOUT

Although protesting crowds stormed the ring and shouted their objections relative to Al Dunlop's defeat under questionable conditions in the main bout of last night's promoted wrestling bouts at the Belleville Arena, John Katan, the former Canadian heavyweight champion, was declared the winner, after winning the first and third falls of last night's main bout before some 400 faithful fans. Dunlop protested vigorously, after having won the second fall, with Katan taking the initial nod, contending that Referee Wells had interfered with his opponent and inadvertently assisted Katan in ultimate victory. So avenuous was Dunlop object to his defeat that he carried the fight into the aftermath, that resulted in the fans across the finishing line well in front of Maurice Callaghan's "After You" in the major or "A" Class racing.

In the "B" Class Keller's Scrapper won the day's honors defeating the Dorothy, as the latter craft developed difficulties with a broken gaff. In the Scow class the Allegro finished out in front of the Presto, after some keen sailing.

The cups set-out by the Belleville Yacht Club has been extended and resulted in much better times being registered by the contesting craft. Although there has been a general diminishing of contesting boats up until the present this season, the competition has much increased in the minor classes and thoroughly enjoyed by those interested. That the cups of the government dock, Victoria Park and the bay bridge road to witness a sailing.

With such ideal facilities available and the increased number of sailing craft in the Belleville harbour, it is only a matter of time until aquatic sports, featuring sailing races will attain its former prestige in Belleville. The addition of one or two more craft in the dinghy class would materially help

TENNIS

Rain mitigated the opening of the Bay of Quinte Tennis League yesterday at the Bay of Quinte courts, although the Belleville Club ultimately took two of three available points possible, prior to the precipitation, over Lord Nelson rivals. The Belleville tennis players won the ends of a mixed doubles tournament, while Point Anne took the ladies' doubles games of the day. The men's doubles were hailed by the downpour with each contesting club being in the lead in two separate doubles.

The results of the day's play at the Bay of Quinte Country Club courts were:—

Mixed Doubles—Grace McCreery and Art Cole, Belleville defeated Ethel Wilson and Arthur Van Order, Point Anne, 6-2, 5-1.

Shiloh Burrows and Cord Edwards, Belleville, defeated Pearl Tulk and Jack Hart, Point Anne, 6-0, 6-1.

Ladies' Doubles— Hilda Callaghan and Donalda Young, Point Anne, defeated Jean Catcher and Kay Hensley, Belleville, 8-1, 3-6, 10-8.

Men's Doubles—Dawson MacLean and Bud Odell, Belleville defeated Rod Rossberry and Tom Bowler, Point Anne, 6-1, 3-1. (Rain).

Clark Fraser and Art Genereux, Point Anne, defeated Murray Mitchell and Howie Kerr, Belleville, 6-1, 1-6, and led 7-6 when match halted by rain.

IDEAL WEATHER FOR PUNT RACES

'Alaska' Defeats 'After You' in The "A" Class Contest

Under ideal sailing conditions the Belleville Yacht Club presented an outstanding boat racing during their weekly contests off Victoria Park yesterday. With a stiff off-land breeze filling the sails the best times of the year were reached as Harry Scarth's Alaska raced across the finishing line well in front of Maurice Callaghan's "After You" in the major or "A" Class racing.

In the "B" Class Keller's Scrapper won the day's honors defeating the Dorothy, as the latter craft developed difficulties with a broken gaff. In the Scow class the Allegro finished out in front of the Presto, after some keen sailing.

The cups set-out by the Belleville Yacht Club has been extended and resulted in much better times being registered by the contesting craft. Leonard McGaffery of Corbyville is entry No. 1 for the Kinsmen's Club annual "Kid Kar Derby" on Dominion Day. If our memory serves us right Leonard was in the money last year when this "Kid Kar" business was first introduced into Canada by the Belleville Kinsmen. Entries are not being received quite as fast as they might be, the tiddlies missing out on chances of getting special prizes for alert and prompt qualifications.

"Kid Kar Calling" chairman of the event ran into an abrupt snag the other day. Negotiations had been opened with a Toronto broadcasting station to put the final heap of the race over the air waves at a nominal fee, quite natural to all concerned. At that time the broadcasting station naturally believed the race was sponsored solely by the Kinsmen, but upon learning the Derby was under the auspices of the Kinsmen and sponsored by commercial houses, for the Kinsmen's eye clinic, that was a very different story and the price of the broadcast was immediately raised over 50 per cent.

Not to be daunted, however, the Kinsmen's Club is sending a delegation to Toronto and hope to complete arrangements next week to secure the broadcasting of their Dominicl Day "Kid Kar" race without difficulty. Several interested parties have also been assured the Kinsmen, so "Derby" in Belleville is getting recognized widely. Incidentally it is a friendly race of its kind held in this country.

It is queer how the pendulum of time changes things. A few years ago baseball and hockey were the only major sports that could be depended upon to click at the turnstiles. Today the citizens seem to favor one day features, such as the "Kid Kar Derby" the 26 mile Canadian motorcycle race, the Municipal Band's band (also although hockey still reigns supreme as the major team game played locally. Other lines of sporting endeavors are only eking out a bare existence, with the exception of lawn bowling which is fast reviving into its former prominent position and golf, that can be played as a non-competitive sport and for recreation purposes only.

In hopes of interesting the general public into supporting and morally encouraging baseball among the boys and youths of our community, the Kiwanis juniors have fostered the financial base and will merely pass the bat for silver collection during the refreshander of their game in the South-Hastings League. The Kiwanis kids meet the league leading Canniflon club at the Fair Grounds Friday evening. Nobody the players or the fans should lose track of the fact that the Kiwanis juniors are affiliated with the O.B.A. and Belleville fans will be afforded a really worthwhile baseball even if they do have to wait until next August before the kids get into provincial competition. More especially the players should not get discouraged with this feature of out-of-town games before, the month of July which may be a trip to Toronto to meet the T.A.B.A. winners.

Frank Sedore's Point Anne softball outfit took the Napanee softballers into camp yesterday to the tune of 14 to 7 in an exhibition game, while the Aajmaa-Bell-Sargent game was rained out. There is much ado about Friday night's Point Anne versus the Corbin Hardware tilt in the local city loop with the cards being down and plenty of the coin of the realm on the line, wagered by both sides of the fence. So much so that the boys that contributed arguments are the issue of the day relative to who the umpires will be.

Jake Biddle lefthanded the Kingston Ponies into submission yesterday as the Oshawa squad dowsed Ponies for a 5-1 victory. It was a case of Jack "Chief" Williams versus Joe Motorcar, Williams hurling a splendid game until the eighth, when he was necked fairly hard for three runs. Dorey, in Napanee Wall Gerow's newly acquired hurler, Jack Spratt, went fine for eight frames dppite the fact there was plenty of loose baseball played around the home base to knot the score. Spratt was obviously ready for the cleaners in the eighth, as he was tiring fast, although some rallies poor baseball did eventually put him on the spot after the great "Gunner" Whitehill walked out of the box, leaving Joe Jakally to finish for the victorious Peies, who won 10-4 after scoring six in the ninth.

Long after the wrestling fans had left the arena last night Al Dunlop was protesting awarding his defeat at the hands of John Katan. Dunlop surprised even the most hopeful fan when he wrestled even with the former Canadian titleholder for over 50 minutes, each taking a fall up to that time. Coupled with Dunlop's protest by the swarthy Dunlop as soon as possible. The lightning bolts and the patrons plenty of action and at times verged on the hysterical. The veteran "Red Boy" Brown, a bewhiskered gent of no mean ability in the wrestling way much disliked with the result that the referee decided with glee when he was defeated. Brown has plenty of color and would be a welcome visitor for a return match with any person. The final two bouts last night supplied plenty of action, speed and agility interspersed with some real clever wrestling.

Up and around the Niagara district, the baseball moguls are watching with interest the Kingston and Peterboro tie in the C.O.B.L. especially after Kingston and Oshawa won the senior provincial title in 1935 and 1936. In St. Catharines the senior baseball team "Athletics Peelen", bat down east it's a different story, the city fathers knowing they have the best senior baseball league in the province...

J. BIDDLE WINS MOUND DUEL OVER JACK WILLIAMS

Oshawa Ties Ponies For C.O.B.L. Lead With 8-1 Win

NAPANEE SWAMPED

Peterboro Scores Six Runs in Ninth to Win 10-4

Peterborough paraded to bat in the final stanza of their Central Ontario Baseball League match with Napanee yesterday and six of the ten runs they scored in the Napanee's mound crossed the plate to break a four-all tie and win 10-4.

It was the second time in a row the Napanee outfit failed to stop Peterborough. Last Saturday four doubles and five singles gave the Petes a 7-3 victory, but yesterday's win was their third in five starts. Jo-Jo Jakally relieved Whitehill in the fifth yesterday after Spratt from Gerow's single retired the Petes in order.

Ontario senior champions, Oshawa, tied Kingston for first in C. O. B. L. when they handed Kingston Ponies their first defeat this season. Jake Biddle, Oshawa's lanky lefthpaw, held the Ponies in the pinches and came away with a 5-1 win to wind up the only other Central League game.

Three games in the Niagara District Senior Baseball League saw Merritton Alliance snap its losing streak, Port Colborne drop losses and Welland and Niagara Falls turn in victories.

Six errors behind Laurier Howe spoiled the Thorold hurler's seven-hit effort and allowed Merritton to take an 8-4 win in a drizzling rain. Four runs in the first and another in the seventh followed by three in the final gave the Alliance the decision.

Welland faced the loop champions, St. Catharines, and took a 6-3 win. Vaughan made a poor throw to the plate from his shortstop position and permitted two Welland runs in the seventh. Jack Goss clinched the decision in the eighth when his single allowed two mates to cross the plate.

The Cataracts trailed 3-2 up to the end of the seventh frame, where a four-run rally gave Niagara Falls a 5-3 win over Port Colborne and stopped the Sailors' winning streak. The latter outfit hit the Cataracts 8-4, but couldn't contact in the eight spots

CEMENT MAKING SUBJECT OF TALK

T. R. Durley, E.E., of Point Anne Guest Speaker at Luncheon

The process by which cement was made was interestingly described at the Kiwanis luncheon on Tuesday by T. R. Durley, E. E., assistant superintendent of the plant of the Canada Cement Company at Point Anne. Riddle Logan, the president was in the chair, while George Northrup acted as song leader, but the sergeant-at-arms was not very busy as the members were on their good behaviour. There was little business transacting at the meeting but at a director's meeting at the close of the luncheon, they voted some money to provide a small place on the new beach for the boys and girls to undress before going swimming. The cost will be about $60.00 and it is presumed the children will appreciate this act of kindness on the part of the club.

The President reminded all of the open night at Lindsay on June 21st and looked for a large delegation from this club. There will be a ladies night at Albert College on Tuesday night next and as great care is being given for an excellent program, president Riddle asked for a hundred percent attendance. The attendance was not good enough to win the shield in May but the boys have been out in full force for the past two meetings and it is expected they will be back in the running for the June prize.

Plant Changed Over

Mr. Durley was introduced by Ross Shriver and the speaker gave a brief account of how the plant was changed over at Point Anne from a dry process plant to a wet one. He told of the proportions of clay and limestone used and how the rock is crushed in two separate crushers and then ground into a fine dust with the clay wted and then placed in the kiln, that kiln was set up at the plant. The kiln is 456 feet long and when properly heated inwardly one foot. Mr. Durley told of the care that had to be taken in heating this limestone and clay so that the proper substance would result. The speaker did not have time to go into detail on the subject but it showed the members the work that is being done in their own section and more economical of the Canadian industries, their surrounding Belleville.

Len Pozard, member of the club was wounded three times during the England during the Coronation and the members were among one of the finest sights he ever witnessed, although it was not made possible to find a position to view the proceedings. Mr. Pozard stated England was in a disturbing condition with business at a high peak and with little war talk, the majority feeling if war had to come England was ready. He told of the buildings along the route all being boarded up in front and seats placed for on the 3rd floor and the highway system over in England stating that the main highways were 90 feet wide with boulevards and no stoplights and the driving was faster in the cities than on the open highways. The member attended a Derby Day and saw the Trocadero, an eating place well known to veterans of the war, and the enjoyable time that was had as there were members from practically every state in the United States and many clubs in Ontario.

Little Benny's Note Book

Ma and Shorty Judge was sitting on my front steps talking and arguing and my nose started to itch fearse and I started to rub it around to save myself the trouble of scratching it saying Good nite, did your nose ever feel as if it had a fly on it when it didn't?

Sure, that's one of the ofteness things it does, Shorty said. Ain't here comes Reddy—Merfy, this is swell chance for you to make faces at him cause you'll have a good excuse on account of your nose, and if he says anything I'll back you up he said.

Sounding like a perfect idea, and Reddy Merfy sat down saying Hello, you couple of hambones.

When I seen I rigged my nose at him fearse, and he said, Hay, you must be looking for trouble than you're looking for, aint you?

If it itches? I said, and he said, Not as me you aint, and

I wasn't wiggling it at you, I had to wiggle it and it happened to be pointing my way, I said.

And I did it again only worse, Reddy said, and now I got it here. I aint going to stand for that and this is my last warning.

Well good nite how can I help it if it was itching even before you came up, I said. I'll leave it to Shorty, I said, and Shorty said, Sure, thanks, Reddy.

Then don't point it at me the next time, that's all, Reddy said, and I said, Well, O Winnickers, it itches so zudden I haven't not time to turn it.

Don't worry, I'll turn it for you, and I'll turn it permanent, Reddy said and I said, O well, It's stopping itself now.

When it had, partly on account of being itched out and partly on account of being scared to itch,

"Sea Devils"

Riding the swirling waves of adventure and romance, Academy Award winner Victor McLaglen as the chief gunner's mate in the United States Coast Guard and Preston Foster as his rival score a bull's eye with stellar entertainment in RKO Radio's stirring drama, "Sea Devils."

Sharing spotlight honors with McLaglen and Foster in this thrilling romance of love and adventure on the heroic branch of the government service, is Ida Lupino with Donald Woods heading the supporting cast.

Seaman Foster, a globe-girdling adventurer, no sooner joins the crew of McLaglen's ship, than trouble starts between the two. Boasting of his prowess with the weaker sex, Foster begins courting McLaglen's daughter, Ida Lupino. Foster is about the last man in the service McLaglen would choose as a son-in-law, but it happens that his daughter has a mind of her own, so McLaglen initiates a battle first with the lover.

Terrific combats between this pair of Titans vie with thrilling rescue from submarine ships as dramatic highlights of this action-crammed photoplay.

Using the United States Coast Guard Cutter Tahoe and its crew a perilous rescue of passengers from a burning vessel is affected, and later other lives are saved from a hurricane-grounded boat, in which full beach equipment including surf boats, a tyle gun, a breeches-buoy and other apparatus, is brought into play in a revealing demonstration of life-saving technique.

An authentic reproduction of Coast Guard procedure was assured by the selection of Lieutenant H. G. Moore as technical adviser throughout the production.

Both McLaglen and Foster played together in RKO Radio's prize-winning film of 1936, "Informer," and it was on account of his performance in that film that McLaglen won the Academy Award for the outstanding male performance of the year.

Outstanding in supporting roles are Gordon Jones, Helen Flint, Murray Alper and Billy Gilbert.

Three Short Treats

"Songs of the Danube" a refreshing harmony treat; "Ztl-Ya Doo" a funny nutlight-reel star personality comedy, and a novel screen Oddity precede the exhibition of the feature attraction.

THE OLD FASHIONED PICNIC

—Still Holds Its Ancient Charm

NEW fashions, new methods, new people, new desires come and go with the changing years and the introduction of swift transportation, airplane, motor car, and speed boat, and folks travel many miles a day for pleasure—and do not always get it.

Just a glance at the picture on this page will bring pleasant memories of the old-fashioned picnic of the long ago—and not so long ago.

Evidence there is a-plenty that the old-fashioned picnic is due for a revival and survivors of the picnic era will welcome back an old friend while the younger generation that knew not Joseph will soon warm to this intimate friendly gathering of lovable home folks.

Glorious Grand Trunk Picnics

Not so long ago the Grand Trunk basket picnics were a feature of every summer, both in Belleville and Brockville, divisional points, and the eats under the trees, the health and the happiness generated at these events left a memory ever pleasant. Even the little boy who was not provided with a basket, or a lunch box, or a family, or anything that faintly resembled Folks of his own, fitted into the picture when he was claimed by several picnic groups and filled to bursting with those wonderful home-cooked viands which never gave an ache or a pain of indigestion but generated that mellow friendly feeling which goes with well-cooked food of the simpler kind.

Grand Picnic Pies

Do you remember the picnic pies? Oh, Mother o' mine, what a pie you used to dish up, and how much better they tasted at a picnic than anywhere else.

Do you remember the dancing? No fancy city orchestra. Just a fiddler and a piano, and how that fiddler could fiddle, especially if irrigated regularly with Corby's Special or Wiser's Red Star.

As we intimated before the old-fashioned picnics are coming back because they are too splendid a thing to pass out of the picture.

Charlie Hanna's Picnics

One of the most enthusiastic promoters of Get Together Picnics was the late Charlie Hanna, who served as Mayor of Belleville and Alderman, and also as member of the Dominion Parliament. Charlie's greatest picnic achievement was probably the Civic Picnic, representing the city officials and their families and friends. This picnic, held at Massassaga for several seasons was a great success and a great promoter of Good Fellowship. It will be remembered that Alderman Robinson was one of the Moving Spirits of the Civic Picnics, ably assisted by Alderman Woodley, one man whom age does not wither nor the years destroy. Charlie Hanna was also an active member of the city band and promoted several band picnics which were most enjoyable affairs. His services as Director and President of Belleville Fair were more successful, perhaps, because he had the picnic spirit of Good Fellowship.

There will be picnics galore, and there will be more genuine enjoyment at these old-fashioned picnics than anything else could offer.

Famous Old Picnic Places

Massassaga used to be a favorite place for picnics, but there were others at Oak Lake, Moira Lake, Twelve O'Clock Point, Presqu'Ile, and dozens of others not far from Belleville.

This year being a Dominion Election year there will, no doubt, be political picnics, and the mind reverts back to notable events of comparatively recent history when public policies of great importance first reached the public from the lips of Dominion statesmen at Stirling and Marmora.

The Country Fair

The return of the old-fashioned picnic as pictured on this page is an evidence that the best that is in people cannot remain submerged forever and keeps returning to the surface, and the picnic, like the country fair, is one place where good fellowship reigns supreme, only the picnic is less strenuous than the fair, which holds its important place in the scheme of things as they are in this day and age—and the little country fair survives despite the growth of great national and international exhibitions, for the country fair is founded upon Good Fellowship and Neighborliness, and the fact that George meets Bill and Henry meets Fred and Anne meets Minn, and Julia meets Mary Ann and the folks from way down below the creek bottom.

No getting away from it folks, it's Good Fellowship which gets to the roots of human nature, and which if rightly applied can solve every vexing problem which is giving this old and ever new world such tremendous growing pains now.

It's just a little friendly co-operation that is needed to combat incipient selfishness, greed and lack of co-operation, elements which have combined to make trouble for everybody. Just the friendly soul-warming conception of the immortal Burns' fiat "A Mon's a Mon for a' that and a' that."

Harking back to the old-fashioned basket picnic wherein each family brought a big clothes basket full of good things to eat—enough for themselves and any friends who might drop in—enough for several meals in fact. A peculiarity of the picnic atmosphere was always the constant desire to eat—what with swimming and running races and climbing here and there a tremendous appetite was aroused.

A Juvenile Tragedy

The writer remembers a Grand Trunk basket picnic of the long ago, where he went au solitaire, that is to say, unattached. A paper box crammed full of eats promised protection against incipient starvation, and all was well in the juvenile heart with visions of a day of great joy.

Also on the boat were some of the tough lads who always crash the gate, carry no lunches, toil not, neither do they spin, but never miss a meal—you know the lads that used to live down near the gas works, or somewhere.

These lads were all fine swimmers and divers so when the boat reached the picnic place almost the first suggestion was a place to swim. Trailing the lads from down under, the writer decided to swim himself—first carefully hiding the cardboard box of eats, thinking no one witnessed the act.

A glorious hour high diving and swimming feats, and an appetite just as big as all outdoors, seemingly, a rush to get into our pants and shirt the uniform of the day and off to the cache where the eats awaited.

A Raided Cache

Sad to relate the eats were gone, so, suspiciously so, were my erstwhile companions, and so, a hungry, disillusioned lad with tears almost reaching the bushes, crept sadly back to the park proper where many groups were enjoying delicious looking eats. Rows of luscious pies caught the eye and almost stopped the breath—but while grown-ups profess to be able to drink to someone only with their eyes, to a hungry lad, eating when confined to eye service was very inadequate.

Sunshine Again

However, the sun broke through the gloom, when one particularly jolly family party, with lads and lassies about the age of the hungry lad, summoned him to the banquet spread out on a clean white table cloth on the grass, and told him to pitch in and see how much he could eat.

God was in His heaven and all was well with the world after that.

A Girl in the Picture

When boyhood days were past and gone the old-fashioned picnic still held its charm, but generally there was a girl in the picture—dancing in the moonlight, and holding hands all the way home in the back of the boat—perhaps a hastily snatched kiss or two—strictly contraband, but all the better for being stolen amid protests.

Next to the old-fashioned basket picnic the rural fair held a large share of our affections—not the great, hurly burly, midway noise-generating fair of the larger centres, but the quiet, little country fair where we knew everybody, and everybody knew us, and where one might reasonably be expected to be invited back of the pavilion occasionally to try a snort of some neighbor's mountain dew, or Corby's Special Selected—all in good-natured fun.

Stepping in 3 Minutes Flat

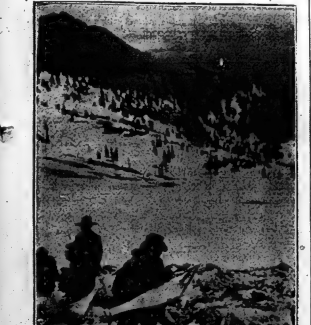
The trials of speed, the name applied to the trotting races so as to come under the fair law and not jeopardize the government's grant, were more exciting than the two-minute trotters of today because you knew the owners and the horses—knew them since they were knee high to a colt, man and beast. The three-minute trot brought out the fast ones and oh! Boy! how they did burn up that three-to-a-mile track, with all the neighbors yelling for their particular favorites and bedlam let loose when the leaders came down the home stretch and the winner led by an eyelash or a boot-lace under the wire.

And how those old boys in the judges' stand did strut their stuff—how they paced back and forth in the small space and discussed horse and horse handlers by and large. Occasionally their optics rested on the crowd, but just to see that their high position was duly recognized and fully admired. Occasionally some of the judges would duck down out of sight, and those in the know said that there was always some liquid refreshment for the officials at the foot of the ladder. At any rate they would bob up serenely, seemingly refreshed and with lustier voices than ever.



PAYS HOMAGE TO THE QUEEN MOTHER

Once a member of royalty herself, Grand Duchess Xenia of Russia (in the days of the czars) is shown kissing the hand of Dowager Queen Mary, mother of King George VI. The occasion was when the queen mother patronized a theatre benefit in aid of Duchess Xenia's camp for children.

GOING BACK TO THE JUNGLE

Completely recovered from injuries sustained in the aeroplane crash which took the life of her famous husband, Mrs. Marvin Johnson is shown in New York as she packed her trunks in preparation for her departure to Hollywood, where she will make final arrangements for another trip into the African interior.

FIND AEROPLANE WRECKED LAST YEAR

Above is a general view of the spot where the passenger and mail aeroplane, missing since Dec. 15, 1936, crashed with a loss of seven lives. The men in the foreground are carrying bits of the wreckage. The Airliner crashed into Lake Hardy peak, near Alpine, Utah, with such force that the wreckage was strewn over a considerable area.

Letters to the Sports Editor

"June 9, 1937.

To the Sport Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer,
City.
Dear Sir,—

Will you kindly publish the following in order to clear up any misunderstanding that may be in the minds of the Belleville public as regards Intermediate Lacrosse locally.

In the first place we had expected to play our home games in the Belleville Arena but the management could not see it that way as that was out. Secondly, it was decided to build a box at the Fairgrounds. We received every consideration from the Parks Board but upon securing estimates for fence, bleachers, and lighting to undertake, $1,500.00 was beyond us.

We are now making efforts to secure the local Armouries, failing this we will complete our other arrangements which is to play in Trenton Arena, Wellington Arena, and one game on July 3rd at Picton Centennial. Now indeed it is a lovely situation when local sport has to be played in outside towns!

As regards the team, they will be performing in a highly creditable manner and as four out of the five teams reach the playoffs, Belleville will be in.

The composition of this team will be of good news to our local supporters.

From Belleville— Dick Logie, of O.G.J. and 252 Goodier, Hap Day, Speedy St. Louis, Honey Tompkins, Deseroby; Ken Murphy, Hap Anse, all of the Belleville Intermediate Championship Hockey team.

Lorne Wells of Napanee, formerly with Fergus seniors.

Clarence Burley, Trenton, Keslr.

Nine players of the district. To augment these we have seven high class juniors from Kingston, should the R.C.A.F. players not join us. If the R.C.A.F. players join us the team will be distinctly Belleville. Furthermore if the R.C.A.F. players come with Belleville, the Kingston players are to be offered a bye into the O.A.L.A. playdowns they being able to secure aid from the Signal Corps of the R.C.A.F. who are shortly being transferred to Kingston.

Therefore there was no burning question of the hour. President Moore cancelled the game Monday afternoon due to lack of playing field and the personnel of the local team. Furthermore Peterboro is not the only club ready to play and willing to fulfill its part of the league as Cobourg has played three games, Peterboro, Norwood and Oshawa each one.

I may also add that the Picton Centennial Committee have turned down Softball for lacrosse as which there will be the Intermediate game on July 3rd and a bantam and midget game on July 3 from our local school group.

Yours truly,
Wm. A. Fry, Secretary-Treasurer
Belleville Lacrosse Association.

Fiery Itching Skin Gets Quick Relief

No Need to Suffer Another Day

There is one simple yet inexpensive way to stop the itching and torture of Eczema instantly, and that is to apply Moone's Emerald Oil night and morning and people who suffer from any embarrassing or disfiguring skin trouble would be wise to banish it before it reaches a more serious stage.

Ask Doyle's Drug Store or any first-class druggist for an original two-ounce bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full strength) and refuse to accept anything in its place. It is such a highly concentrated preparation that two ounces last a long time, and furthermore, if this wonderful discovery does not give you complete satisfaction you can have your money refunded.

GOO CHILDREN ATTEND PICNIC

Home And School Club in Trenton Hold Enjoyable Frolic

Trenton, June 10 (Special)—Annual Home and School Club picnic attracted also hundred Dufferin Public School children and their mothers yesterday afternoon in picturesque Hannah Park. North Trenton public school pupils also were present and took part in games along with their Dufferin friends. The smaller children took part in swinging softball games while the older scholars competed in running, bicycle and obstacle races. Feature of the game was the senior boys' mile bicycle race, which was won by Robert Greer, who finished the speedy seven mile course with a considerable margin. Girls' champion was Lillian Taft with a grand total of 12 points. G. All present were served a lunch after the races and the yearly get-together was concluded with mass community singing. Danny Smith's wandering guitarist played the music for the songs.

Golf Winners

Yesterday afternoon, ladies and men of the Trenton Golf Club played mixed foursomes. The weather was ideal for the games and good scores were recorded by the winners, Mrs. W. B. McClung was awarded the ladies prize and Mr. R. H. Stunner took the men's prize. The consolation prize was given to Miss K. Dadswell. Tea was served after the tourneys and ladies of the club acted as hostesses.

EXEMPTIONS WILL BE LOOKED INTO

At the first meeting of the local Board of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association as an Enlisted Board under the newly appointed Farm Products Control Act, held in the Ferry Street office of Mr. S. E. Joss, provincial secretary, Tuesday afternoon, full discussion of the matter of exemptions of boarding cheese was held. It was the unanimous opinion of the Board that, as this compulsory boarding has been approved to such an extent, and has improved marketing conditions so noticeably, that the question of exemptions should be most rigidly supervised and examined before applications for exemption are granted.

In the matter of exemptions, it was pointed out, all applications must be made to the secretary of the county association, and will be thoroughly investigated by officials of the county associations who will work in conjunction with cheese board officials. Their recommendations will be passed on to head office from which final decisions will be announced.

As regards compulsory boarding, a circular letter now being sent out, calls attention to the fact, that all cheese must be sold through the medium of an organized board. One exception to this rule is that a factory may dispose of an average of five boxes per month locally in order to supply patrons, or retain a local grocery trade. Another exception would be a factory, that had been granted exemption.

"All cheese manufactured in the exception must be sold through the medium of an organized board, except such cheese as may be recommended for exemption by the cheese board officials and the County Cheese Patron's Association, after due consideration of the central board's duties in the circular."

As chairman of the local Board, A. W. MacIntyre Finch of Finch, Ontario, presided over yesterday's meeting. Members of the Board are H. B. MacKerry, Ingersoll; E. J. Pryar, Stirling; George Gardiner, Seeley's Bay; J. F. Bertram, Hammond, and S. E. Joss, the city.

How To Overcome Piles And Rectal Soreness

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, don't neglect the same or run the risk of infection. For any itching, soreness or painful misery of the anus or rectum, burning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from J. S. McKown or any druggist a package of Pyramid Pile Ointment. This is a doctor's formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender spot. Hemroid is a physician's prescription and is highly recommended. It is easy to use and it seems the height of folly to suffer when relief is at hand. In addition where a simple remedy which is pleasant to use may be had at such a reasonable cost.

STEEL WORKERS BEING HOUSED IN PULLMAN CARS

The order of Mayor Edward J. Kelly, of Chicago, forbidding the Republic Steel Company to house men on their premises was evaded when a train of pullman sleeping cars were pulled into the steel plant yard. These cars are being used to house steel workers who have remained within the strike-bound Republic plant.

"THE BRIGHT HILL"

by Clarissa Fairchild Cushman

Also December succeeded November, and Gregory's car, defying snow and sleet, had been parked four times before Kerin's door, its cleanness disdaining the grimy valley for town four times by Christmas. He found Kerin with each visit gay, companionable, but elusive. When they were together, the moment always came when she would slip away and didn't see him. You can't talk of love to a person who doesn't wholly, complimentarily, or you could not know that his visits hit with unerring accuracy between the frost Sue, letters which reconsidered with zest and with glee bids sent to Annie, that rebuff to Ori. Equal freedom had not brought Kerin solace.

Gregory came on Christmas Eve, only to find her in the midst of a gay revelry at her house—at least it born all the evidences of a gay revelry, although it was made up of those persons, students, who would much rather have been the last year at home, Gregory perceived through the window the way things were, and he turned and went back to wait (and it was Christmas Eve) till the next day. And the next day he called up and found her engaged every minute—"but do come for tea." And at tea she was alone—miraculously alone, and dressed, shining in the light of fire and candles, in a close dress of gold silk. And she held to her hands and to her neck, except where a wide ruff of stiffened gold lace opened to frame her throat and her warm brown hair.

She was like a medieval princess, and Gregory, in the proper spirit of it, dropped on one knee and took her hand and kissed it, and said in mock-reverential tones: "Behold me, lady, your liege knight. I come my knightly armour hid under this common grey tweed, to ask your hand in marriage." And she laughed and replied: "Arise, sir knight. For conscious though we are of the exalted favor of the esteem in which you hold our humble person, we have to admit to you that our favor belongs, alas! to another. Greyer, how nice of you! I do feel just like a princess in this dress. That's the bell. Probably Valentia again. Sit down, Gregory, and in a minute I'll give you tea."

February succeeded January, March blew in and out, April sprinkled down rain-optimistic rain in dresses, and the bright hill was again picked out in tender green and a slithery of budding scarlet. And every day was the grey roadster had rested before Kerin's house; so often indeed, that the town no longer guessed but waited expectantly, and smiled indulgently, and spoke of romance. And Gregory listened to Kerin sing and helped her arrange furniture and helped her to drive and helped her to buy a little roadster and made her promise to let it wait when she went out. Somebody—might want to find her unexpectedly.

Impossible, with the continuances of those visit of Gregory's that for, to should not, at last, have perceived their personal import, and have reached the stage of wondering, humbly, unbelievingly, what they might mean. But she had not heard him say, in that night after she had returned from the west, that he loved her; and no woman no matter how young in years and young in heart, who has been married for seven and has a growing baby is certain to think of herself as a sentimental creature. As large as the same age would inevitably do. She had not the way of thinking; it was impossible to see it without comment. It raised Kerin from a quiet little thing in which to the point of receiving, sidelong, the glances of all the men, and with a little pursed envy, the regard of the women.

Through the dinner Kerin responded with ready acquiescence to first one and then the other of her neighbours, falling into smiling silence when the talk became general. Jay Adamson was a good-looking, friendly-headed gentleman who had expected to be bored; and had dean was a slightly built man of great dignity, with young eyes and whitening hair. His name was Archibald De Rooche, but since his undergraduate days he had been joyously known as Cockroach, shortened, more lucidly to Cocky. A large student body referred to him affectionately as Cocky; his daughter, now a freshman, partly called him Cocky; Jay Anderson treated even Kerin now and again and called him Cocky; all the world thought of him as Cocky; the nickname made him more, rather than less, a person. Kerin turned from what thing you let it alone, all the way, by itself first.

Kerin found herself, with the passing winter, gradually taking a place in a new world, the world of simple, well-served luncheons, of small nice dinners, and her casual but surprisingly worldly knowledge of the wines of the world did almost more than her right clothes, her blessing flattering eyes, even more than the still speculative attention of Gregory Leighton, to establish her in these broadening contacts. Hers was a simple receipt for popularity; she loved every tea, every luncheon, every dinner party; she loved listening to people, and talking a little, and just being part of the life around her. Often old men—brother or uncles—had to be entertained; it came to be customary to invite Mrs. Kingsbury to round out the table—and don't be so ridiculously narrow minded, Andrew as to stick up your nose because she is the dean of women, if Gregory Leighton can waste his time at a thousand dollars a minute on her I guess you can just barely endure her for a dinner partner. For visiting dignitaries she was ideal, her position then making her an unimpeachable object, and thank heaven she was certainly no flapper.

It was, therefore, a rather accustomed Kerin that took her place, one spring night, at a dinner that included, on her left, Jay J. Adamson, a trustee of the state university, and on her right, his close friend, the dean of that university's law school and a brother of the bosses, Kerin sat on for this occasion a new dress, while face of sheer a weave that it was like frost, and cut to cling to her and yet fall in ripples at her feet. To offset its simplicity, for it was almost grimly simple, she was wearing for only the second time in her life an enormous collar and a bracelet of red coral—heritage from the trunk—of which the centre rose which lay low in the lace of her throat, and was as large as the double-up fist of a child. The collar was unusually elaborate; it was impossible to see it without comment. It raised Kerin from a quiet little thing in which to the point of receiving, sidelong, the glances of all the men, and with a little pursed envy, the regard of the women.

To offset its simplicity, for it was almost grimly simple, she was wearing the subject of stamps.

"Are you interested in stamps, Mrs. Kingsbury?" And why, he thought, had he dug up that topic? She'd probably say that as a child she—

"The family fortune," said Kerin, "came from early American stamps."

Jay Adamson sat up in his chair as straight as his prodigious waist would allow.

"Your fortune!" But a dean of women doesn't have any fortune. "Do explain yourself, Mrs. Kingsbury. Your hobby can pay not know, is American stamps."

"I shouldn't really have said stamps. I should have said stamp. For really all the value was in one stamp. J. James Buchanan postmaster's signature—you do know about stamps?"

INSTALLMENT 40

The man turned and regarded her. Did he know about stamps? His look would have withered her, except that he was so unfortunate as to have a peculiarly vacant, lifeless, expressionless eye. But it was a very seeing eye. It saw Mrs. Kingsbury now, for the first time. It saw her: it made a note of her; it would never, now forget her. "You mean, Mrs. Kingsbury, that you yourself, personally, own one of the Buchanan provisional issues?"

"No, my father did."

"Really! He was a collector?"

"No—oh, no. We just got it. In a very odd way. Perhaps you'll recollection.

The man kept staring at her, with that expressionless look that had deceived many a fly. "What an astonishing thing, if he wasn't a collector. Was it black—the signature?"

"Black. Very perfect. I believe and the letter—you know what I mean, the letter was folded up to make an envelope—was a faded blue."

Jay Adamson shot forward "A letter—can't! On blue? Yes? Why—that must be the one Alexander McGregor owns! Addressed to Abigail Spencer on the outside? Really? Why—of all things! And you mean your father just found it—did paper or something?"

"Oh—it was—Would you really like to know? Well, it was like this."

Kerin turned toward him, her face sparkling with color, and for one dinner party Jay Adamson forgot to be bored.

"We had an aunt—cousin—cousin Freddie, we used to call her, her name was Frederica, and I think I was about seven at the time, so I can't be sure, but that was—very day lifting it out, every day putting it back—most of her life," she looked mischievously at Mr. Adamson, who was grunting audibly.

"And old McGregor keeps it under his desk. Go on—go on, my dear lady. This recital me of watching the ticker tape in twenty-nine. Only I know this story has a happy ending. Well, how did you father get hold, of it?"

TORONTO STOCK EXCHANGE CLOSE

Toronto, June 10.— (CP)—Gold shares were offered down in substantial volume today in the conflicting viewpoints regarding the future of the metal and base shares also were irregularly lower in sympathy. These recessions were off-set by a strong tone for some of the industrial group, particularly the liquor issues, the implements and some of the Utilities while the Junior Oils were consistently steady in heavy trading.

Distillers-Seagrams pushed along to 23 for a gain of nearly two points and Walkers common, after touching 46, closed unchanged at 3-4 for a net gain of 1 1-2 points. Canadian Industrial Alcohol A firmed ahead a point to 6 1-4.

The Base Metals stocks firmed 3-8 to more than a point, and Waterloo Manufacturing added a minor fraction. In the Utilities closing prices were up for Beauharnois and Brazilian, Montreal Power and Shawinigan. Union Gas and Winnipeg Electric A were off.

The Bay Gold, Lake Shore, McIntyre, Dome and Hollinger were down fractions to 1 3-4. Losses of 10 to 20 cents were recorded for Wright Hargreaves, Teck Hughes, Pickle Crow, Macassa, Little Long Lac, O'Brien, Read-Authier and Kerr-Addison.

WALL STREET CLOSE

New York, June 10 (AP)—Buyers nibbled at selected steels, rails and specialties in today's stock market and exhibited little appetite for many other issues.

Early gains of fractions to two or more points were reduced later and mixed losses were the result as distributed near the final hour. Dealings were even slower than yesterday. Transfers were at the rate of about 550,000 shares.

Livestock

Toronto, June 10 (CP)—The light cattle offerings sold readily at steady prices at the Toronto union stock market today. Calves, sheep and lambs traded near previous levels while the hog division was unsettled by early afternoon. There was no cattle holdover in the pens Monday.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Livestock Branch, were: Cattle 160; calves 100; hogs 250; sheep and lambs 200.

A few good butcher steers and heifers sold between $7.35 and $8, common ranging down to $2. Good cows went as high as $5.75 with canners mostly $2.25. Good to choice stock calves brought $4.50 to $6. Good veal calves were priced at $7.50 to $8 with common grades as low as $4.50.

Previous close on off-truck bacon hogs was $9.

Good lambs traded at $12.50, culls at $9. Light sheep brought $3.50, culls moving between $1.50 and 2.

HOG QUOTATIONS

Toronto, June 10—(CP)—Gains of 15 to 25 cents were posted for bacon hog prices at all Ontario points, London and Guelph today. Other repeating markets were steady.

Liveweights: Brantford $8.75; London $8.50; Hull $8.15; Chatham $8; Stratford $8.25; Guelph $8.50.

Produce Prices on Montreal Market

Montreal, June 10—There was a slightly stronger trend on the local butter market today. Eggs and cheese were barely steady. Potatoes and poultry were unchanged. Receipts were 1,616 cases of eggs, one box of butter and 4,221 boxes of cheese, at the Montreal Board of Trade. The Canadian Commodity Exchange was closed for the King's holiday. Trading generally was quiet with some observing a partial holiday.

The usual weekly auction was held as usual at the Board of Trade at 11.30 when 871 boxes of No. 1 Quebec butter sold at 24 1-4c; 1128 boxes of No. 1 Quebec white cheese sold at 14 9-16c; 247 boxes of No. 1 Quebec colored cheese sold at 14 5-8c with minor quantities of No. 2 butter and cheese also disposed of.

The butter market in the afternoon was 24 1-4c to 24 1-2c up 1-4c from previous day. Small lots to the retail trade were quoted by jobbers at 25c to 25 1-2c for solids and 25 1-2c to 26c for prints.

The cheese market was 15 1-2c to 15 3-4c for No. 1 Ontarios, with the auction prices taken for Quebec cheese.

Graded shipments of eggs in used cases were generally selling at 20 1-2c for A-large, 19c for A-medium and 18 and 18c for C.

TRIBUTES

Acting Premier's Tribute

Ottawa, June 10 (CP)—Senator Raoul Dandurand, Acting Prime Minister, paid the following tribute to Sir Robert Borden:

"I closely followed Sir Robert Borden's career from the day he entered parliament.

He had not the eloquence of Sir Wilfrid Laurier nor of Sir George Foster, but his mind was clear and logical. His arguments were marshalled in he was trained to present them to the Bench.

At Head of Bar

He stood at the top of his profession at Halifax and his legal attainment fully prepared him for the role he was designed to play in his public life.

I noticed that when he assumed the leadership of his party his pronouncements were carefully prepared. They were always temperate in form and guardedly cautious, leaving few openings for a reply. In an electoral program in 1904 or 1908, he coined that happy and indefinable expression of policy: "Adequate protection," which left him considerable leeway.

Militant Imperialist

He was leading a party which had an important group of militant imperialists. His early training was that of the Liberal school, to which he was born. This perhaps explained how, after the war, his attitude and action were for an enlarged Canadian autonomy.

Following in the footsteps of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, he affirmed the equality of our Dominion with that of the Motherland and he moved for the creation of our first legation at Washington. Imperialist following shook their head in fear at this bold step.

In social life he was a most agreeable and interesting companion. He had a humorous turn of mind. Many a time in our conversations would we revert to past days and when I would tell him that I had not found an argument to justify his conscription policy, coupled with the Wartime Elections Act, and we, as always, gently agreed to disagree. He will be known, in Canadian history as the war time Premier.'

Mastering of French Language

Sir Robert when 50 years of age, decided to master the French language. He was quite persistent, although at times somewhat depressed at his progress. When my wife died in 1925, Sir Robert wrote me a most sympathetic letter, telling me he owed her a debt of gratitude for her advice and encouragement, because he would have abandoned the task if she had not heckled him in his uphill effort. I was then President of the Senate and we had frequent occasions for social contacts. He claimed he had often been shown the number of French words which he was using daily in his own mother-in-law and he was grateful to them.

I desire to express to Lady Borden my deepest sympathy in her great loss. They owed a happy life to each other and I am sure the admiration of all those privileged to approach them.

Sir George Perley's Tribute

Sir George Perley, a close associate of Sir Robert Borden as a member of his Cabinet and later for many years His Majesty's Commissioner for Canada paid the following tribute to his chief:

"The whole empire mourns today the passing of an outstanding Canadian—one of the greatest men found in our history. As our war time Prime Minister Sir Robert Borden showed fine qualities of leadership and commanded the respect and confidence of every one with whom he came in contact. He was a tower of strength in the conferences and discussions of the Empire representatives and of the Allies, and history will record a very high appreciation of his splendid work in that connection.

Hon. Earl Rowe's Regrets

Cookstville, Ont., June 10.—(CP)—Hon. Earl Rowe, Ontario Conservative leader, today paid following tribute today of Sir Robert Borden:

"I regret deeply the death of Sir Robert Borden. By his passing, Canada has suffered a great loss. The soundness of his judgment for so long since been recognized by every thoughtful Canadian. He was also known of his great service to our country. He was honest, able and courageous.

"By meeting efficiently the gigantic task of war-time sovereign as Prime Minister of Canada, his faith has been most highly justified in the life of the Empire. I mourn with others in Canadian life the loss of his wise counsel and advice. In extending my deepest sympathy to Lady Borden, I express to her the heartfelt concern of the Liberal-Conservative Party of Ontario."

Senator Meighen

Toronto, June 10.—(CP)—Senator Arthur Meighen, Conservative Senate leader, today paid tribute to Sir Robert Borden under whom he served as Minister in Parliament and succeeded as Dominion Conservative Leader. Sir Robert died today in Ottawa.

"The past month has been darkened by anxiety over Sir Robert Borden's illness," said Senator Meighen. "Though he had ceased to be an active figure in public life, his friends feel the sense of a mighty void and all who knew him were his friends.

"We are much inclined to think our own times are most difficult but years of Sir Robert Borden's Premiership were the heaviest in Canada's history. Every morning's day was full of trouble and anguish. The whole experience was new. One problem was crowded on the heels of another.

A Strong Leader in Dark Days

"His country had a strong steady leader in those dark days. The British Government had a valued counsellor on whom its Ministers could rely. No other Canadian ever deserved the title of statesman more truly.

"His mind was comprehensive his line of reason direct, his decisions carefully achieved and firmly followed."

SPEEDERS FINED IN LOCAL COURT

Thirty Mile Limit in City Must be Observed Says Magistrate

Speeders, who were apprehended violating the newly instituted traffic law of 30 miles per hour in Belleville, were arraigned in local police court today, held before Magistrate E. J. Butler K.C., and pleaded guilty as charged. The minimum fine was imposed. His Worship issued a strict warning regarding the practice of this violation in the future.

"The government has increased the speed limit inside of the corporations sufficient to appease the driving desires of the majority of drivers," he said, "30 miles an hour should be sufficient for any driver to operate his motor car on city streets in safety. Motorists should bear this in mind and future cases of speeding will be dealt with in this court, I assure you," stated His Worship in a stern address to the court body.

Police court was held in Belleville today instead of the customary Monday court, His Worship Magistrate Butler, being scheduled to preside at an important preliminary hearing in Napanee on Friday, which concerns a murder charge laid against one Robt. Woodman, of Wellington.

In a Juvenile Court, held in camera, two local delinquents, lads under both in their teens. The robber-like incident in the theft of Feeley's automobile, the theft of the Walker Hardware truck and other minor offences.

Home-grown Berries Feature Market Today

"If we get more rain, the strawberry crop should rank with the best in years," stated Mrs. W. Frink, Crofton, who offered the first strawberries of the current season at the city market this morning. Mrs. Frink, of course, had wintered over responsible for the lushness of the initial crop in the patch of Mrs. Frink's, as she handed out the fruit to customers at the rate of twenty cents per box. "Water running over the patch in the early Spring helped the ground to keep it cool, and this in turn helped when the spring sun got hot," Mrs. Frink said with a lot of good. The plants are in heavy blossom, with the early fruit coming well. Mrs. Frink says she should get a fine crop."

Other prices on the market showed little variation from, those of the past week-end with asparagus, beet greens, onions and vegetables selling at steady prices. Broiler chickens were offered at from fifty-five to sixty cents the pair, with a few fowl being offered at from sixty to seventy-five cents each. Cabbage plants were quoted at fifteen cents the dozen with tomato plants selling slowly at one cent each. Eggs were quoted at 19c selling cost for "A" selects and mediums at eighteen and nineteen cents. Small offerings of new potatoes and red cut flowers rounded out a sluggish Thursday morning market.

WOODMAN HEARING OPENS AT NAPANEE

Missing Man's Mother Tells Court Her Son Visited Her Frequently

R. Beattie Swears Woodman Stated He Had Looked Thru Swamp

MAP OF FIRE SHOWN

All Witnesses But Professional Witnesses Excluded

Napanee, Ont., June 11 (CP)—Preliminary investigation in the charge of murder against Robert Woodman, 23-year-old Kaladar Township trapper opened here today before Magistrate E. J. Butler of Belleville.

Woodman was charged in connection with the death of Aubrey Secore of Hinton whose charred bones were allegedly found 400 yards from his north county shanty.

H. A. Cronk, Ontario land surveyor of Kingston who made a survey of the property and land adjacent to Secore's house, showing the spot where the smouldering bones were found, was the first witness.

Robert Beattie testified he had known Secore since he was six years old, but had not seen him since last Christmas.

Deer Found Looked.

On April 16 last, he went to Secore's house but found it locked. Entering, Woodman said, three and six discussing the possibility of Secore's whereabouts. Woodman said he had looked through the swamp thinking Secore might be there but no trace could be found.

Evidence of Secore's mother, Mrs. Robert Beattie, and his sister Miss Blanche Secore, substantiated his practice of spending the winter in the city every month and he frequently gave her $10 or $15 when he returned. She testified given him a deed of the property where he lived and recognized the deed when it was produced in court. His mother said that he had a pump shotgun and 30-30 rifle and was in the habit of dealing and trading firearms but she could not definitely say when he had acquired them.

When Robert Lloyd was called Crown Attorney Ham explained the nature of the evidence he was about to give and defence counsel J. M. Simpson suggested that all witnesses except professional witnesses be excluded. Magistrate Butler concurred and gave that order.

STALIN'S MOTHER DEAD

Mme. Catering Dzugashvilli, above mother of Josef Stalin, dictator of the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics, who died at Tiflis, Russia, from pneumonia. The dictator's mother who was 74, died on June 4, though her death was not reported for almost a week.

Great Gentleman, Great Patriot, Great Statesman

London, June 11 (CP Cable)—The press of the United Kingdom made its tribute today to Sir Robert Borden, the Canadian statesman who died in Ottawa yesterday. Representative extracts from editorials in leading dailies follow:

The Daily Telegraph:

"History will decide whether Sir Robert Borden's life and work have left a permanent mark on the thought of the Dominion which he served so well in a critical hour. . . It was his privilege to live for half a generation in honored retirement and see his reputation grow through the years. Canada knew he had united her as few men before him and none since. His secret lay in understanding average Canadian opinion."

The Times:

"A great gentleman, a great patriot, and a great statesman, he was one of the few remaining survivors of the spacious days of Canadian politics. He will always be remembered in Canada as the statesman under whose leadership the Dominion played a notable part in one of the supreme crises of the world's history and who secured power, concrete and practical recognition of her full nationhood. Sir Robert Borden's name was regarded as belonging not to Canada alone but to the whole Empire."

JAMES MERCER, IMPERIAL SOLDIER, WIDELY MOURNED

Regimental Q.M.S. of Hastings-Prince Edward Regiment Passes

SERVED WITH 'DERBIES'

His Service Recognized as Instructor During Great War

Picton, June 11.—James Mercer, Regimental Quarter-Master Sergeant of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, and one of Prince Edward's most colorful military figures, died in Kingston General Hospital on Thursday following a major operation for an intestinal disease. Word of his passing was received here as the family were making preparations to visit him.

A living exemplification of the best British military traditions, the late S. M. Mercer was a splendid type of the famous imperial soldier. He was born in a military atmosphere, grew up with the army and died in the army. His presence on the parade ground instilled many a young recruit with a pride of regiment, while his gentle manner and colorful personality made him a general favorite with all walks of life in and about his own district. The men beneath him regarded him as a soldier and a man. His superiors officers looked upon him not only as a perfect soldier but a personal friend both on and off the military scene.

Served In Many Fields.

For many years he trained the school cadets, Boy Scouts, and Girl Guides, and it was his splendid knowledge of training rifle clubs was generally responsible for the splendid showing made over Dominion the years by not only the members of this regiment but the whole organization of the town and county in which he lived.

The final figure of "Jim" Mercer, with his breast agliter with the medals for meritorious service in the service of his King and Country will be greatly missed both in military circles and those of social and fraternal natures. Possessed of a splendid speaking ability, he was always relied upon to detail the many aspects of his regiment as well as those of a civilian nature.

Born in Scotland, young Mercer soon followed his military tendencies and in 1899 joined the Royal Scots Regiment in Edinburgh where he was transferred to the Argyle and Sutherland Highlanders and from there to the Princess Pats. In this regiment he saw active service on the slopes of South Africa during the months blazing Indian suns. He took part in many major engagements for which he was decorated. Demobilized from the Imperial army he came to Canada in 1910 to settle down but broke out immediately offered his services to the King. In 1915 he was assigned to the 80th Canadian Infantry Battalion as a sergeant-major. When his battalion was broken up on the training grounds of England he was transferred to the 59th and took charge of a training school at Cape Town.

Qualifications As Instructor.

Here his sterling qualities as an instructor placed him on a pedestal high in the esteem of his superior officers. His efficiency on the parade grounds was such that army officials refused to send him to the battle fields of France. Following the war he joined the Hastings and

Dumber You are the Better, Doctors Tell Nervous Folk

Pre-frontal Lobs of Brain Removed And Worry Lessens

20 CASES REPORTED

By STEPHEN J. McDONOUGH

Atlantic City, N.J., June 11 (AP)—The dumber you are, the better off you are, a group of nerve specialists told the American Medical Association today and cited cases to support their praise of stupidity.

Specialists on nervous diseases of the body cited results of a group of operations on humans and experiments on the higher apes in which large portions of the pre-frontal lobes of the brain, lying just back of the forehead, were removed.

Disorders Out of Control.

These lobes, they explained, are the centres of intelligence and reasoning but, apparently also are the areas where many nervous disorders run out of control.

Dr. Ward A. Halstead of Chicago told of a stock broker who led a much happier and more successful life without a large portion of his pre-frontal brain area, which was removed because of a brain tumor. Afterward the broker went temporarily insane but recovered and made a success of managing a gold mine.

Later he became a salesman for a bond house and "sold" them by knowing nothing, said $250,000 worth the first year and $500,000 worth the second age ever since, Dr. Halstead said. The only complaint has come from his wife who believes he should worry more about the things he used to.

Dr. James W. Watts and Dr. Walter Freeman of Washington, D.C., reported similar results in decreased worry and improved mental efficiency in twenty extremely nervous and suicidal patients after operations on the pre-frontal lobes.

ONTARIO'S VETERAN JURIST STRICKEN

Veteran of a lifetime of service in Canadian public life's and on the high court bench of Ontario, Sir William Mulock, former chief justice of this province and known across the Dominion as "Ontario's Grand Old Man" was quite ill at his Toronto home. Sir William is 93 years old, and, until a slight indisposition forced him to his bed, was active and healthy. He visited his Holland Landing fishing retreat only a few days before he was stricken. ## Apology of Mrs. Sutherland Accepted by Ernest Simpson

Stated Under Oath He Received no Money For Silence

SORRY FOR ACTION

London, June 11 (AP)—Mrs. Joan Sutherland apologized to Ernest Aldrich Simpson today after he took the witness stand in his slander action against her and stated under oath he never received any money or other consideration for not defending the divorce suit which gave his wife her freedom to wed the former King Edward VIII.

Sir Patrick Hastings, K.C., Mrs. Sutherland's counsel, said she had "not the slightest intention of injuring Mr. Simpson any more than the thousands of other women who were talking about the matter."

"She did not know Mrs. Simpson," he added.

Sir Patrick declared Mrs. Sutherland was extremely sorry she was among those who repeated the slander for which the shipbroker brought action against her.

H. J. Wallington, Simpson's counsel, announced to the King's Bench Division the action was consequently withdrawn. Mrs. Sutherland, wife of Lieut.-Col. A. C. Sutherland, accepted the court costs.

After Wallington had described how Mrs. Sutherland had repeated "irresponsible gossip" to the effect "that a sum of money had been accepted by Mr. Simpson as a price for his silence," he said his client wanted to swear on oath there was not the slightest foundation for the rumor.

Simpson Takes Stand.

Simpson immediately strode with long steps from his front row seat to the witness box.

Wallington asked him if there was any truth in the rumor he had accepted money for his silence.

"Most certainly not," Simpson replied.

"Was there any promise of payment to you?" Wallington asked.

"None whatever," Simpson replied firmly.

Wallington warned if anyone repeated the rumor henceforth, Simpson would prosecute. He described it as "the most ordinary action of slander", but added "the circumstances out of which it arose have been rather unusual."

"For that reason it has attained a significance and importance that otherwise it couldn't possibly have had," he added.

Mrs. Sutherland, counsel said, repeated the statement the divorce had been bought at a luncheon party at which Simpson's sister was present.

Pittsburgh—S.W.O.C. wins 90 per cent. vote in exclusive bargaining agency election among nearly 6,000 Pittsburgh Steel Corp. workers.

Youngstown, O. — Youngstown Sheet and Tube closes Nemacolin, Pa., and Dehue, W. Va. mines, laying off 2,000 miners because of steel strike; Robert Burke, C.I.O. organizer, arrested on charge of shooting to "wound or kill".

EVERYONE WORKING AT W. HUNTINGDON

West Huntingdon, June 11th.—(Special)—Depression and unemployment are two expressions that are much out of date and almost forgotten in this quiet little hamlet.

With practically the entire available supply of labor being utilized on county roadwork, the Marmora highway and the Ridge Road construction projects, farmers are encountering difficulty in securing sufficient help.

One of the signs of returning prosperity is noted in the fact that a large number of residents have exchanged the cars which have done duty for a number of years for those of more recent date.

Implement agents, in this vicinity state, that the demand for new machinery by farmers of this district greatly exceeds the available supply.

HIGH TREASON IS CHARGED AGAINST HIGH WAR LORDS

Soviet Union Strikes With Drastic Suddenness in Treason Plot

ALL TO BE EXECUTED

Soviet Alleges Officers in League With Germany or Japan

Moscow, June 11 (AP)—The Soviet Union, striking with dramatic suddenness, placed eight of its highest ranking war lords on trial for their lives today, charged with high treason and conspiring with a foreign power "immediately" in the government.

Among those summoned before the secret military tribunal was Marshal Michail Nikolaievitch Tukhachevsky, one of the five Red army marshals, who was vice-commissar of war prior to his arrest and only Wednesday was broken from his command of the important Volga Military Garrison.

An official communique said all had pleaded guilty to the charges governing the trial this means certain and immediate execution on conviction with the right of appeal denied.

It was the Soviet's third great treason trial within less than a year. Sixteen prominent Bolsheviks were being tried in July, 1936, and thirteen were executed after a trial last January.

In addition to Tukhachevsky, the tribunal went:

General Kazimirovitch V. Putna, former military attache in London.

General A. I. Kork, former Commandant of the Frunze Military Academy.

General I. E. Yakir, Commander of the Leningrad Military District.

General I. P. Uborevitch, Commander of the Red Army in White Russia.

General Robert P. Eideman, former Chief of the Training Division for Army Reservists and Civilians in Aviation and Gas Defence.

General B. M. Feldman, Chief of the Personnel Section of the General Staff.

General V. M. Primakoff.

General Putna was arrested last August; the others were imprisoned only within the last few days. Generals Yakir and Uborevitch were removed from their commands June 9 at the same time that Marshal Tukhachevsky's downfall was announced.

The indictment fell under secrecy when his name was mentioned in the January trial by Karl Radek, one of the defendants.

The government announced that General Jan Gamarnik, former Vice Commissar of Defense, charged in the communique with the actual role in plotting with the foreign power, had killed himself June 1 after having been denounced as a traitor.

On addition to being leagued with a foreign power, preparing to deliver to Germany or Japan, the communique charged the accused with the act of violation of their military oath, treason to the fatherland, treason to the people of the R. S. F. S. R. and treason to the workers, peasants and the Red Army.

Man, Woman in Black Sedan Sought in Latest Kidnapping

Husband of Woman Being Allowed to Contact Kidnappers

NEWSMEN WITHDRAW

Stony Brook, N.Y., June 11 (AP)—An intensive search for "a man and a woman in a black sedan", suspected of kidnapping Mrs. Alice Parsons, O. Donell Parsons, Long Island heiress, was broadcast today to eight eastern and middle-western states.

Federal agents labelled the disappearance of the woman as an abduction for the first time as they sounded a call for the wide-spread search, more than 24 hours after discovery of a ransom note and threatening death for failure to pay. Police also were arrayed in the worries of the woman's husband, William Kunyanova, Russian-born and retired New York business man, who, before an eight-hour police alarm was broadcast, had appealed for an opportunity to deal directly with the kidnappers for the safe return of his wife.

Bracing for the broadcasting of the alarm, all police movements were closely guarded, secrecy was clamped down after arrival of agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Believed a Kidnap.

After a full day of investigation by more than fifty local, state, and federal officers and secret service officials, at which a murder theory was probed and apparently dropped, the first report was broadcast that "a man and woman in a black sedan were wanted for the kidnapping of Mrs. Alice Parsons, of Stony Brook, Long Island."

Shortly before, Rhea Whitley in charge of the G-Men on the case, had broken his silence to say:

"There is only one thing we know —that it was a kidnapping."

The ransom note, found tucked in the Parsons' car on the Long Island estate, and the home of Mrs. Anna Kupryanova, Russian-born woman friend with Parsons and family and helped with the work, apparently were the principal leads in the case.

The couple sought were the middle aged Mrs. Kupryanova and Mr. Kupryanova to have called at the Parsons' home at 11 a.m. Wednesday, spoken to Mrs. Parsons and driven away with her, ostensibly for a drive, run to Huntingdon, about fifteen miles away.

At the farm, the way was cleared for a direct contact between the kidnappers and Parsons. Except for two local policemen, all law officers and newspaper men withdrew in answer to Parsons' plea.

NEWS BRIEFS AND ODDITIES

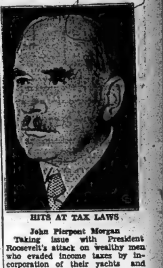
New Haven, Conn., June 11 (CP)—Sinclair Lewis, Nobel Prize Novelist, has given the manuscript of his novel "It Can't Happen Here" to Yale University Library, Sinclair, former newspaperman, graduated from Yale in 1907.

The manuscript discloses Lewis' at first intended to call the book "It Can't Happen in America."

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., June 11 (CP)—Girls here just won't fall for dares at the next pet. Four fair anglers went fishing and admitted their first two efforts were fruitless or is it fishless. But the third trip is to Echo Lake they were each successful and bagged eight perch among them.

Markstay, Ont., June 11 (CP)—Only June 11 (CP)—Farmers of this northern district think the government should place a bounty on bruins. They claim the bruins are taking a far heavier toll from the farmers than wolves on which there is a bounty. Sheep herds are suffering particularly.

Sudbury, Ont., June 11 (CP)—A man is entitled to be drunk a few times in the opinion of Magistrate J. S. McKinnon who freed Archie Welch, 52, on an intoxication count after it was shown a year had elapsed since the accused last appeared in court.



Kitchener, Ont., June 11 (CP) —Females may be rightly termed the weaker sex but in some ways the fair ones of Kitchener prove heavier than the males. On chilly days girls outnumber boys by far at the Bridgeport swimming pool, Manager Bob Cardy said.

CECIL WARREN IS GIVEN HIGH POST

Becomes General Chairman of Grievance Committee of Brotherhood

Cecil Warren, 191 Lingham St., Belleville, was recently elevated to the position of general chairman of the Grievance Committee of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and the Canadian Region in Canada. Prior to election of general chairman Mr. Warren was Secretary of the General Grievance Committee of the Brotherhood for some years, a position which he held with prominence and efficiency.

The Central Region, which Mr. Warren will serve as General Chairman, composes that district of the Canadian National Railways from Montreal to Sarnia and Windsor, and the Canadian Pacific and the United States and C.N.R. lines in Northern Ontario. Local railway employees feel that the election of Mr. Warren as his general chairman, the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen have bestowed upon both Mr. Warren and the Belleville district of the organization a signal honor.

HITS AT TAX LAWS

John Pierpont Morgan

Taking issue with President Roosevelt's attack on wealthy men who evaded income taxes by incorporation of their yachts and similar measures, John Pierpont Morgan, the financier, told newsmen that taxation is purely a legal and not a moral question. Mr. Morgan is shown above as he made his statements upon his return from England.

SUN LOOKS QUEER IN VARIED SHAPES ACROSS PROVINCE

Meteorologists Puzzled by Phenomena Seen Today

SUN CENTRE BLACK

Ring Reported Seen in Some Centres About Orb

Toronto, June 11 (CP)—Ontario residents saw a strange sun today. It appeared in varied shapes and various sizes across most of the central part of the province.

Some centres reported merely that there was no sunspot and the sun but Peterborough citizens saw a rainbow and for a time the centre of the heavenly body was black.

Officials of the Dominion Meteorological Service here were just a little mystified by the phenomenon but they said it was not entirely unusual. They often are called on to explain something similar and last year a like exhibition prevailed when dust blew east from the prairies.

Ice Crystals Cause?

Observers believed the rainbow and the inner rings were caused by the refraction of light through small ice crystals in the atmosphere. The prongs of the sunspots are also believed to be explained of a rainbow through rain, it was explained.

Officials of the service were at a loss to explain why there should be so many more ice crystals in the atmosphere today than usual.

FIRE SPREADING IN MINING TOWN

Beardmore, 125 Miles North of Port Arthur in Danger

Port Arthur, Ont., June 11—(CP) —Several buildings are on fire at Beardmore a mining town 125 miles west of here. A request for fire fighting apparatus and pumps was sent here.

The office building of the Leitch Lumber Company, Kinlan's jewelry store, Nugent's drug store and a pool room were reported destroyed by the fire.

A strong wind was blowing and the town was in danger, it was reported.

Why the Weather?

By Major A. H. Thiessen

Science Service Meteorologist

Meteorologists call the "weather" cyclist has the advantage over the walker in the manner especially if he has a good road and in the right direction. This is because the cyclist can generally get away from thunderstorms. Moderns observe with the wind and generally become a bit unruffled. If the cyclist sees a storm brewing and wheels to the northward or southward he can generally escape a good wetting. Or he can slip into a wood and shelter himself and wheel under the lower trees.

to the local and district returned war veterans at the regular meeting of the local branch of the Army and Navy Veterans in Memorial Hall last evening by Staff Sergeant Major Samuel Johnson who has just returned from England.

Thrilling descriptions of the journey over by the contingent, the arrival in London and the parades before the cheering crowd-lined streets by the colonials; preparation for the visit Coronation, and the Coronation itself, were all given in the speaker's live talk by Sergeant Major Johnson, who revealed also many amusing sidelights of the event.

The gathering which was largely attended was entertained by members of the Royal Canadian Air Force from the Trenton camp, headed by Sergeant Major Wibberley, entertainer supreme. He was assisted during the evening by fellow members, including Staff Sergeant Shotwood and Corporal Baker who presented several individual efforts.

After considerable discussion, the annual picnic which will be attended by members and their families, was decided to be held at Cedardale on July 1st. The meeting which was well attended was presided over by President George McIntosh. No meetings will be held during the months of July and August.

ALLAN VANCE RESCUES CHUM FROM DROWNING

8-Year Boy Hauls Playmate From Deep Water of Stone Quarry

USES LONG BRANCH

Presence of mind of Allan Vance, 8-year-old son of Gerald Vance, assistant-Fire Chief of the local department, 42 Murney Street, was responsible for saving the life of his chum, Edgar Steed, 8-years, 43 Murney Street from the old water-filled stone quarry on Coleman Street yesterday afternoon.

While his fellow playmate floundered feebly in the deep water after accidentally tumbling in from the shelving stone bank, Allan stripped a long branch from the edge of the bank and waded perilously to the rescue. Grasping one end of the wavering branch, Edgar after some difficulty and with imminent danger to both, was hauled to shore, choking from the effects of his submersion.

Offers of reward by the thankful parents were waved aside today by Allan, receiving the plaudits of his school mates.

Obituary

E. A. MORDEN (Picton)

Picton, June 11 (Special)—E. A. Morden, a printer for over fifty years, died at his home here after a lengthy illness. Graduating from Picton High School in 1873, he served his apprenticeship with the Picton Gazette, later conducting a job printing business. In 1906, he was with North Vancouver, B.C., where he was associated with his brother, George H. Morden, in the ownership of the North Shore Press published in that city. He retired in 1926, and returned to Picton. He served two terms as reeve on Picton Council, four years as alderman, and several years on the school board. North Vancouver friends living are his wife, two brothers, George and Roger, in North Vancouver, and a sister, Mrs. Walter Powers, Picton.

LATE MRS. MARGARET HAGERMAN

Eldorado—There passed away on Sunday, June 6th after a lingering illness, at her home in Eldorado, Mrs. John Hagerman, whose maiden name was Margaret Long. She is the last member of a family of eleven and was in her seventy-eighth year.

She was born in Madoc Township and has lived there all her life. As an early age she was united in marriage to John Hagerman, and went to reside on a farm at Cooper, where she lived up until her husband's predecessor her nine years ago. Then she moved near Remington and about three years ago moved to Eldorado. To this happy union were born eleven children, six of whom predeceased the deceased. Those living are (Annie), Mrs. A. (Graham of Cooper, (Mary), Mrs. Oscar Wannamaker of Bannockburn; (Myrtle) Mrs. L. McKinnon, of Tweed, (Mrs. Hazel), Mrs. Arthur Shore, of Stirling, John, of Deseronto and Orrin at home. Those deceased are William, Percy, Delbert, Freda and Ruth. She is also survived by twenty grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

The funeral service was held from her late residence on Tuesday, June 8th, at 2.30, to Cooper Church of which she has been a member for many years being a member of the Presbyterian church and after Union a member of the United Church.

The church was well filled with neighbours and friends who came to show their last respects to one who had lived so long among them and shared with them joy, neighbour with another.

The service was in charge of her pastor Rev. W. G. Fletcher, assisted by Rev. M. Price of Actinolite, who spoke on this text—"How are the dead raised up? And with what body they come?" During the service the choir rendered two Anthems. The casket was banked with flowers from her many friends.

The bearers were— Messrs. W. J. Irwin, Wm. Fitzgerald; Ernie Moore; E. J. Moore; Clarence Carman and James Fox.

Interment took place in the family plot in the Cooper Cemetery.

MISS JANET L. SIMONDS (Consecon)

After being in failing health for a considerable time, Miss Janet Lesila Simonds passed away at the family residence at Five Mile Creek, Prince ward County on June 4th in her 19th year. Prior to her illness she attended the local high school where she was popular with her young friends.

Surviving her are her parents and one sister, Leora.

The funeral took place on June 7th, the service in the house and at the graveside in Hillier Cemetery was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Sanders.

The bearers were Messrs. Cecil Moreland, Clayton Weir, Ross Spencer, Vernon Almy, Melvin Almy and Ronald Simonds.
